

This scene shows the big problem one faces if he wants to go down the eighth grade hall during fifteen-minute break.

Our loyal flag-raisers (left), Timmy Wilkes and Skippy Clarkson, take care of the "Stars and Stripes." Meanwhile, one of the typing classes (above) starts the morning off industriously.

This little piggy didn't go to market but ended up in the biology lab.

