

AND TESTAMENT

Wayne Wilson and James Jeffcoat will their superior intelligence to Bobby Smith and David Shull. Be serious!

Brenda Humphries and Barbara Drew leave their buses, broken-down, wrecked, or otherwise, to Betsy Yarborough and Sarah Fuller, respectively.

Berkeley Palmer wills his guitar to Jimmy Ogburn for his one-man band.

Mary Pat Nichols and Shirley McFadden will their shorthand awards to any rising Seniors who think they can make the grade.

Lonnie Branham and Haskell Smith will their winning personalities to Mack Christenbury.

Annette Cogdill and Darnell Branham leave the Dairy Bar to Linda Rutland.

John Powell, Jimmy Boyter, and Johnny Glisson will the dragstrip in front of Winnsboro High to Bobby Cooper and Heyward Burley.

Barbara Miles, Nancy Blair, Jennye Littleton, and Patricia Branham are glad to leave, for their futures have already been decided.

Janet Fellers leaves her good English grades to Tommy Taylor. He'll need them next year.

A. T. Thigpen wills his water guns to Van Collins and Grady Yarborough.

Bill Wilkes bequeaths his nickname "Jap" to Kenneth Hudson. Jolene Mattox wills her consistency and dependability to Francine Sikes.

Brenda Myers, Joyce Braziel, and Juanita Davis leave their business courses to Twila Wilson and Patsy Boulware.

Jerry Douglas, Cecil Tanner, Richard Johnson, and William Kennedy will the electrical shop building, partially burned, to Jerry Boykin, Robert McCaston, Rodger Branham, and Spencer Watts, respectively.

Patricia Dove and Brenda Rabon leave Mrs. Thomas in hopes that she can get along without them. It will be hard, girls.

Wade Macfie wills his assorted casts and crutches to Coach Prevoznik in hopes that he won't need them next year.

Mary Burley and Stella Boulware leave their wild and witty personalities to Betty Fort.

Linda Davis and Linda Huggins will their natural blond hair to anybody who wants it.

Leona DeHart wills her Psychology exam to Pat Ford and Suzanne Strange. Maybe they can understand it.

Marsha Hackle, Beverly Brown, and Melba Cail are leaving everything but themselves.

Rusty Price leaves his place on the tennis court to Rudy Harrington and a suitable partner, if he can find one. Also, he leaves his inspiring conferences with Miss Faucett to Steve Connor, who will, no doubt, need her guidance next year. Also, he leaves the presidency of the Senior Class to Jimmy Blackwelder. Rusty is a very important person.

Vickie Boulware wills her muscle-building kit and all her feminine assets to Jane Finley.

Harold Baker leaves his chemistry workbook to any Juniors taking chemistry next year. May it help them more than last year's Seniors' workbooks helped Harold.

The Physics Class leaves Mr. Stoudemayer at the mercy of next year's physics class.

And last but certainly not least, Skipper Sims leaves—well, we're sorry that Skipper didn't have anything to leave because we know that he wants to take it all with him to Camden or wherever he goes.

Signed, sealed and delivered this 25th day of May, 1964 by Vickie Boulware and Harold Baker, Witnessed by Donna Sue Gunter and Phil Nichols.

"But I can't change my tassel; it's sewed to this side!"

"It's our turn next."
