

We books want to get on the scene, too. After all, where would you students be without us.

I'll just stand here and let the cameramen think I'm a senior.

Mr. Kinard has me building sculptures when I should be posing for this picture.