

The Future Is Yet to Come

Fresh in my mind are the memories of our yesterdays: the laughter, the tears, the discovery of ourselves. Now my heart waits with anxiety to see our tomorrows. I look forward to our tomorrows because our yesterdays have given us so much. Holding on to yesterday, living in today, I impatiently await my chance to meet tomorrow.

Janet Johnson