Notes for Andrew BLAIN
1883 South Carolina State Gazetteer and Business Directory - page 102 lists Andrew Blain as owing a cotton gin; page 512 Andrew Blaine found on a list of prominent Planters and Farmers of Blackstock, SC.
-from Stirling typescript compiled by Mrs. Maggie Marion Garrett: "They established a comfortable home near Concord, Fairfield Co. S.C. which became a center of influence for good in that community. He was a prosperous farmer, intelligent and upright; she, sweet and prepossessing in manners, cooperated with him in rearing and training a happy family. The daughters were educated at "Salem Female Academy" -- one of the best boarding schools for girls of the south in their day."

Will of Mary McQuiston dated 22 May 1832; probated Aug 1832; speaks of brothers (not bro-in-law) Andrew, Hugh and William McQuiston AND "my husband." Evidence in the will of Archibald McQuiston calling Hugh McQuiston "my brother-in-law" (not brother) leads me to believe she was a McQuiston both by birth and by marriage.

Notes for John Wagner STERLING Sr.
-various sources say John W. Sterling was born in Scotland but his family relocated to Ireland before coming to America - tombstone reads: "He was a native of Ireland" -sources say John W. Sterling Sr. gave land and the labor of slaves to erect a church that became known as "Stirling's meeting house" and later was named Little River Presbyterian Church. The church was near the Sterling Cemetery.
Notes for Jane (Child 1)
-referred to as "Jeannette" in handwritten notes
Notes for Samuel S. (Child 2)
-made their home just south of Blackstock, SC on the Chester-Columbia Highway.
Notes for James (Child 3)
- 1 May 1851 Hopewell ARP Session minutes show that a James Stirling was brought before the Session for "being overtaken with liquor" -home was near Hopewell Church
Notes for William Dixon (Child 8)
Hopewell ARP Cemetery book shows birth as 5 March 1816

-from Stirling typescript compiled by Mrs. Maggie Marion Garrett: "They established a comfortable home near Concord, Fairfield Co. S.C. which became a center of influence for good in that community. He was a prosperous farmer, intelligent and upright; she, sweet and prepossessing in manners, cooperated with him in rearing and training a happy family. The daughters were educated at "Salem Female Academy" -- one of the best boarding schools for girls of the south in their day."
