Hello Betty,

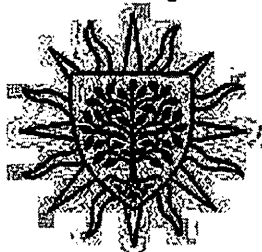

It was a map of Ireland showing the counties and/or families.
I will resend the map. It will come as a separate email.

I live an hour and 15 minutes from the library and usually here during the week days.
I will check my calendar when I get home, as far as I know for now, I will plan to be here.

Eddie

Hi Eddie,

Can you share with me where you found the reference to a Cork Family and did it say where in Southern Ireland. This really blows my mind because I was convinced John Cork was from Northern Ireland, County Antrim.

Will you be at the Research Library the afternoon of Friday, July 5th and Saturday morn, July 6th. I hope to come back to talk with you.

I intend on going to the home site and I want to attend Concord Presbyterian Church on Sunday morn.

Thanks,

Betty Armstrong

Hello Betty,

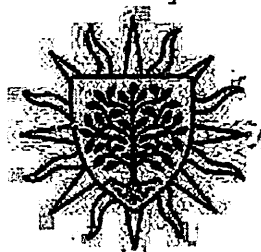

We found a reference to Cork Family in Southern Ireland; hope this helps you.

Please let us know if we can be of any assistance in the future.

I am trying to find out were John Cork (1745-1798) was born in possibly Ireland.
He sailed with Rev. Martin's ships on the Lord Dunluce arriving in Charleston in 1772.
He is buried in Fairfield County at Concord Pres. Church Cemetery.
