Steven--

I did NOT send the questions to the group expecting research but rather to keep the group in the loop. I live in Winnsboro & very much appreciate your volunteer time being very limited. Should I forgo including the group in email notices about family to avoid confusion? I am researching multiple lines w/in my family & multiple lines w/in my husband's family. Pelham & I are OLD friends & I serve on historical board---but I work full time & cannot make your meetings. I will gladly share any info that I have---just don't know what you have & what you don't have. Some of the families that I am researching include the following?

• Husband's lines: Douglass, Gibson, McMeekin, Free, Crosby, Rabb, Chaplin, Stevenson

My lines include: McMaster, Buchanan, Mobley, Delashmet, Waggoner, Mellichamp, deTreville, Atkinson, Davis, Brock, Norvelle/Norval, Nelson/Neilson, Waring, Scott, Lehre, Witsell, Capers, Beamor, Wilkinson

Needless to say, multi-tasking is NOT my forte!!! Sorry I forgot the questions. They are below. Please forgive.

Trev, Do you know where Sarah Jane Crosby Douglass is buried?

Also, I think I have her death wrong. I have it as 12 Dec 1864, but I see that she was alive in the 1870 census records and listed as living with her youngest son, Charles (18 years old), and also with Joseph (31), Martha 24) and Lula (1 year) McMeekin. The correct year might be 1874, but don't want to guess at it.

I know that Charles Brown Douglass, the husband of Sarah Jane Crosby Douglass, is buried at Jackson Creek Cemetery and that he lived in the Jenkinsville area, but I don't know where the house was or is, do you.....?

Subject: one response to Douglass questions

Dear Trev,

This is a question that I've been trying to solve for quite some time. Sources differ as to her death date and place of burial. Some say Dec. 12, 1864 and others say Dec. 12, 1884. Some say that she is buried at Old Lebanon (Jackson Creek or Old Stone Manse Cemetery) with her husband and others say she went back home to live with the Crosbys and is buried in the "Crosby Cemetery" (There are two) in Northern Fairfield County off Hwy 215. I can't find a stone to her in any of the three places.

As your researcher stated, she couldn't have died in 1864 as she is in the 1870 census. I can add a little. I believe that she is also in the 1880 census with her son, Charles Brown Douglass, Jr. Here is the transcription from ancestry.com

I don't know where the Dec. 12 date came from. Apparently, someone had a tombstone inscription, Family Bible, or newspaper obituary at one time to get an accurate date. No one seems to be able to pinpoint a source. I'm guessing that the 1864 was a copy of the 1884 date. I have decided that Dec. 12, 1884 is the most likely date, but unfortunately can't confirm it. I can only say that she died after 1880.

Charles Brown Douglass, Jr. has a tombstone at Shiloh Cemetery near Jenkinsville. Findagrave.com states that his stone was moved to this cemetery when Lake Monticello was flooded. It does not say where it was originally placed. Maybe Sarah Jane Crosby Douglass was buried wherever he was originally interred, but her stone wasn't moved. Maybe she is buried at one of the other cemeteries and never had a stone.

Let me know if anyone else has anything that would shed more light on the subject.

I have no idea where their home was. I always thought it was in the Jackson Creek area since he is buried at Old Lebanon and that the Jenkinsville area is where she went after his death.

Gene Zierogel provided the below information.

This John Douglass is one (1) side of my family tree. His wife was Sarah Dunn, born 1763 and died 20 Feb 1813 and is buried in Ebenezer Presbyterian Church in York County, S.C. Their son Dr. John Douglass married Mary Letherd Lunsford, born 14 Aug 1798 and died 7 My 1873. Both are buried in Hopewell Preb. Church cemetery. They had 10 children. Their 3rd child, Sarah Rebekah Douglass married Dr. James Cloud Hicklin 8 Dec 1847 in Blackstock, S.C. They had 12 children. Are you not glad you were not living back then? Their 11th child, Rebecca Isabelle Hicklin married James Byers Douglass who was the son of Alexander Scott Douglass and Mary Evers Byers Douglass. I am going to send you by Pony Express the article I have on Dr. John Douglass. From James Byers and Rebecca came my father-in-law, Zachariah Hicklin Douglas and my now ex-wife Rebecca Zachariah Douglas. Have a good day. Gene

Do ANY of you have information about the Alexander Douglass mentioned below? Wonder if he is related to the Alexander Douglass who settled in Fairfield County--South Carolina?

Understand that the Chester Historical Society has an article on an Alexander Douglas of Lancaster County, SC. It is continued into a second bulletin. (I have NOT seen either bulletin but was told of them.)

This Alexander Douglas was born in the North of Ireland in 1754. He had two wives. (1) Jane Elliott and 2) Mary Stapleton. This Alexander Douglas died and is buried in Jackson, Tennessee.

Hey! I knew he had been ill over the years, but Susie had visited Mary recently and hadn't thought he seemed too bad. It was not self-induced, was it?

I think I forwarded the request on to the genealogy room, but as you know, we have backed up queries due to the need for more active volunteers to help with the work. I'll forward this one to Eddie. Can you resend your original query, along with the information you had on this Alexander (dates, etc.). I think you said he came on a particular boat with Rev. W. Martin's Covenanters, right?

Wanted to check with you to see if you have been able to locate the 2 Chester bulletins that discuss Alexander Douglass of Lancaster.

As for Johnny Martin (Wah)---he had been sick for some time---diabetes, peripheral neuropathy, etc. I was not surprised but saddened to hear the news.

Trev,

I am relaying this to Eddie upstairs in the genealogy room. We have a searchable file on the Chester County Bulletins. Have you asked Doug Marion about this---copying also to him.

Do ANY of you have information about the Alexander Douglass mentioned below?
Wonder if he is related to the Alexander Douglass who settled in Fairfield County?

Understand that the Chester Historical Society has an article on an Alexander Douglas of Lancaster County, SC. It is continued into a second bulletin. (I have NOT seen either bulletin but was told of them.)

This Alexander Douglas was born in the North of Ireland in 1754. He had two wives. (1) Jane Elliott and 2) Mary Stapleton. This Alexander Douglas died and is buried in Jackson, Tennessee.
