

Funeral Held Here Monday for Miss Glenn Douglas, Artist

The community was saddened by the passing of Miss Glenn Douglas of Washington, D. C. Miss Douglas was a native of Winnsboro.

Daughter of the late Alexander Douglas, lawyer, and his Sally McCants Douglas, of Winnsboro, she was born in the home on South Congress, the building now known as the Fairfield Country Club. She was predeceased by a sister, Isabelle Douglas Morand McCants Douglas.

Miss Douglas spent her childhood in the Douglas home. Her parents were early staunch Presbyterians who played an important part in the building up of Presbyterian congregations in the county and town, and also had a keen interest in civic affairs.

Through the years displaying a leaning towards the artistic, she attended the College for Women in Columbia, studying painting. Later she went to more advanced classes under well-known teachers in New York City. For several years she was tutored by famous painters in Italy and France. In France she exhibited as the only foreign student in important French showings, thus earning for herself an international reputation as well as gaining an international reputation in her own country.

In recent years Miss Douglas lived in Washington, D. C., where she had a private art school and taught in the Y.W.C.A. She was known for having one-man shows of her work in cities over the country.

Possessing the characteristics of thoughtfulness for her fellowmen, charm, deep human affection, and a constantly abiding interest in the welfare of others, she drew to her people a wide circle of life. She had a wide circle of close friends.

She is survived by five nephews: Moultrie D. Douglas of Winnsboro; Dwight Douglas of Milford, New Jersey; William Douglas of Harleysville, Pa.; John Douglas of Jacksonville, Fla.; and Gordon Douglas of Gainesville. Also surviving are six nieces: John C. Buchanan of Winnsboro; Mrs. John N. LeMaster, Columbia; Miss Isabelle Morand of Washington, D. C.; Mrs. Robert Harrington of Kingsport, Tenn.; Mrs. Barry James of Winnsboro, N. C.; and Miss Mildred Smith of Gainesville.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at seven o'clock at Sion Presbyterian Church, Winnsboro, with the pastor, the Rev. Robert Smith, officiating. Interment was in the Presbyterian Cemetery. Active pallbearers were James H. Doty, Jr., H. Norwood Obeard, Albert Doty, Sr., I. Nettie, John Tabb Heyward and Hugh Roberts.
