Do you want me to send you old correspondences between us that are saved on my program?

Do you have any information on Grubbs other than the church property?

Which Woodward? I have never figured out the relationship with the Thos. W. line and some of the others who were in the area, except that they were probably cousins from VA who came down separately.

Did you know I got copyrights to have Buford Chappell's book on the Winns and his unpublished manuscript North of the Broad River published online with the digitization project USC Libraries are doing? There is much genealogical information in the Broad River book tied in with Chappell's extensive land research.

Bill,
Bill Gregory of Chester came in today looking up multiple families, one of whom is Grubbs. We pulled Enoch's will information and see that a Chappell was a witness, so the find-a-grave site must have misspelled it. I am here connecting you to Bill and also to Virginia Turner, who is very connected with that church and families of the area. Hope you get the time to contact them before you get on the road. Bill suggests you call him. The attached file has information on Enoch Grubbs giving the land for Beaver Creek.

Sending you Jon Davis's address for trying to locate the grave of Enoch Grubbs. I hope your mother can come next Wednesday, as you thought she might, to look at the materials we have on the Grubbs family.

By the way, I remember an old couple living across the street from my grandmother in Winnsboro in the 1950s when I was a child. I think they went also to our St. John's Episcopal Church in town. My father at 93 can probably tell me their given names if you think this is information that would help.

I have entered your address in my contacts list as Bill Brazell. Is that right?
