

PHOTO CREDITS

FRONT DUSTJACKET AND FIRST PAGE OF
ENDPAPERS*Top row, left to right:

Col. J. R. R. Giles, 5th SCVI, killed May 31, 1862, at Seven Pines. Courtesy of the Union County Museum through the South Carolina Confederate Relic Room and Museum.

Major John S. Hard, 7th SCVI, killed September 20, 1863, at Chickamauga. Courtesy of J. S. Taylor through the South Carolina Confederate Relic Room and Museum.

Capt. Robert H. Hawthorne, Co. F, Orr's Rifles, died June 27, 1862, at Gaines' Mill, Va. Courtesy of the South Caroliniana Library through the South Carolina Confederate Relic Room and Museum.

Middle row, left to right:

Pvt. Joseph Wesley Amick, Co. I, 15th SCVI, killed September 14, 1862, at South Mountain, Md. Courtesy of Earl Eargle through the South Carolina Confederate Relic Room and Museum.

Pvt. Bartos J. P. Jeffcoat, Holcombe Legion, Co. B, 7th S.C. Cavalry. Prisoner of war, died at sea during exchange. Courtesy of W. C. Smith through the South Carolina Confederate Relic Room and Museum.

Pvt. John Fraser, Co. B, 21st SCVI, killed in action, September 16, 1864, at Petersburg, Va. Courtesy of Horace Rudisill through the South Carolina Confederate Relic Room and Museum.

Bottom row, left to right:

Pvt. Edward Henry Mellichamp, Engineer Corps, died as a prisoner of war May 25, 1865, at Pt. Lookout, Md. Courtesy of Edward H. Mellichamp IV through the South Carolina Confederate Relic Room and Museum.

Pvt. James Hunt Taylor, color bearer for 1st SCVI (Gregg's), killed June 27, 1862, at Gaines' Mill, Va. Courtesy of the South Carolina Confederate Relic Room and Museum.

Pvt. J. Robertson Davis, Co. E, 6th SCVI, died as a prisoner of war, September 16, 1864, Point Lookout, Md. Courtesy of the Darlington County Historical Society through the South Carolina Confederate Relic Room and Museum.

BACK DUSTJACKET AND SECOND PAGE OF
ENDPAPERS*Top row, left to right:

Pvt. George Clark, Co. G, 7th SCVI, died of disease. Courtesy of the South Carolina Confederate Relic Room and Museum.

1st Lt. Edward B. Clinton, Co. I, 5th SCVI, died of fever at Warrenton, Va., December 24, 1861. Courtesy of Dr. Gaillard Waterfall through the South Carolina Confederate Relic Room and Museum.

Pvt. Thomas W. Fowler, Co. E, 5th SCVI, killed at 1st Manassas, July 21, 1861. Courtesy of the Union County Museum through the South Carolina Confederate Relic Room and Museum.

Middle row, left to right:

Pvt. Isaac H. Hargrove, Co. I, 1st SCVIH (Jenkins's), killed January 17, 1864, by an artillery shell at Morristown, Tenn. Courtesy of Jack Marlar through the South Carolina Confederate Relic Room and Museum.

Capt. Langdon Cheves McCord, Co. H, Hampton's Legion, died of wounds, January 23, 1863, at Richmond, Va. From the collections of the South Carolina Historical Society.

Major William C. Preston (painting from photograph as captain), CSA Artillery, killed by cannon shot at Peachtree Creek, Ga. Courtesy of the South Carolina Confederate Relic Room and Museum.

Bottom row, left to right:

1st Lt. Adj. William Mason Smith, 27th SCVI, died of wounds, August 16, 1864, at Richmond, Va. From the collections of the South Carolina Historical Society.

Corp. Thomas J. Wilson, Co. C, 3rd SCVIBn, died as a prisoner of war, February 28, 1865, at Point Lookout, Md. Courtesy of Erskine Eugene Traynham through the South Carolina Confederate Relic Room and Museum.

Pvt. Young H. E. Hitch, Co. I, 16th SCVI, killed June 19, 1864, at Kennesaw Mountain, Ga. Courtesy of Mrs. Nan Barmore through the South Carolina Confederate Relic Room and Museum.