Our Alabama Hendersons

Descendants

of

Cynthia Henderson (1815-1870)

Griffin Cockrell (1813-1879)

FOREWORD

Volume V documents vital statistics for more than 250 families who are direct descendants of Cynthia Henderson (1815-1870) and Griffin Cockrell (1813-1879). The book is a compilation of vital statistics for those families who are direct descendants of this couple. The author strove for accuracy but there can be no guarantees - in some cases, there are missing family members and/or vital statistics. This book is specifically intended to have Henderson family researchers get started with their own genealogical research by identifying most of their ancestors and relatives they will be dealing with. One effective way to get started would be to complete 'filling in the blanks' for any individual of whom you have knowledge.

Author compiled Henderson family information from a variety of sources including ancestry.com, find-a-grave.com, Mormon database, plus a variety of other online query sites. There was literally hundreds of individuals who contributed to the completeness of this material. In effect, if the information was available online, the author likely reviewed it while compiling this reference book. Author particularly wishes to thank several Henderson family researchers who granted him 'guest privileges' to their family tree on ancestry.com such that he could view information of living individuals. Without such access, it would have been impractical for author to identify the large number of younger Henderson families. Hopefully, this series of Henderson family reference books will encourage other Henderson descendants to learn more about their hard-working grandparents who were early pioneers in Alabama and Mississippi.

One caveat: There can be no assurance that any specific vital statistic in this book is either complete or accurate. For certain, there are some descendants not listed because author was unable to locate any online information regarding them - especially younger family members. For any error or omission the author apologizes and solicits your help in improving the book's accuracy and completeness. After all, family members are usually the most reliable source of information regarding their relatives. Author has learned (the hard way) that all genealogical information should be taken with that proverbial 'grain of salt'. There are frequent errors and inconsistencies in the information - it is up to the reader to analyze the information presented and compare it with other reliable sources - e.g. verify with a knowledgeable family member.

This volume (Volume V of V) is organized to maximally assist the individual researcher with descendants of Cynthia Henderson and Griffin Cockrell. As such, the reader should keep the following in mind:

1. Author read somewhere that the Henderson surname was the 13th most popular surname in America during the early 1800s. By 1820, author's research indicates there was likely to be at least one Henderson family in every county in America. The earliest Henderson death in Greene County of which author is aware occurred in 1826 - apparently, he was not one of our 'Alabama Hendersons'. Further, extended families (e.g., our Alabama Hendersons) tended to cluster as neighbors and multiple families emigrated together as they moved westward in the 1800s and early 1900s. Another common practice was to name their children using the same names (e.g., William).

Result is that modern researchers are faced with the task of differentiating between multiple first cousins named 'William Henderson' who might have lived in Greene County in the 1840s. In order to cope with this situation, the author adopted practice of identifying an individual by his/her full legal name plus birth and death year (e.g. William Franklin Henderson (1811-1890)). Even that differentiation has proven inadequate in a few cases - in those cases, author had to use actual date of birth or date of death to differentiate between individuals. Worse, author has learned (the hard way) that he MUST also associate an individual with other family members in order to ensure that he has the correct 'William Henderson' - frequently there are multiple Henderson individuals with same name, living in the same area, and have birth/death dates which are in the same year.

2. The book is organized similar to a family tree with Cynthia Henderson and Griffin Cockrell as its starting point (i.e., Paragraph 5.0) and each family unit includes its relationship with this couple. The significant difference with author's approach is that each 'node' in the family tree includes three generations (i.e., children, parents, and both sets of grandparents) of family members. By looking at vital statistics (on a single page) for all three generations simultaneously the researcher can easily perform his/her own 'sanity check' regarding accuracy of the information.

3. Author's career was spent as a systems engineer responsible for design of complex electronic systems. Typically, we were faced with ensuring that a large number of design products were both consistent and timely as we approached a milestone design review. Author became skilled at taking one last overall look (we informally called this review a 'sanity check') at each of our design products considered as a whole. Author performs a similar 'sanity check' on genealogical data by considering all of the vital statistics for three consecutive generations of the family at the same time. All of the names and dates must be consistent - any inconsistency highlights need for further research. This book is organized around such 3-generational family units to enable the reader to perform his/her own version of a 'sanity check'. Author achieved a significant improvement in readability by dedicating (at least) one page to each family unit - unfortunately, the result is a huge book.

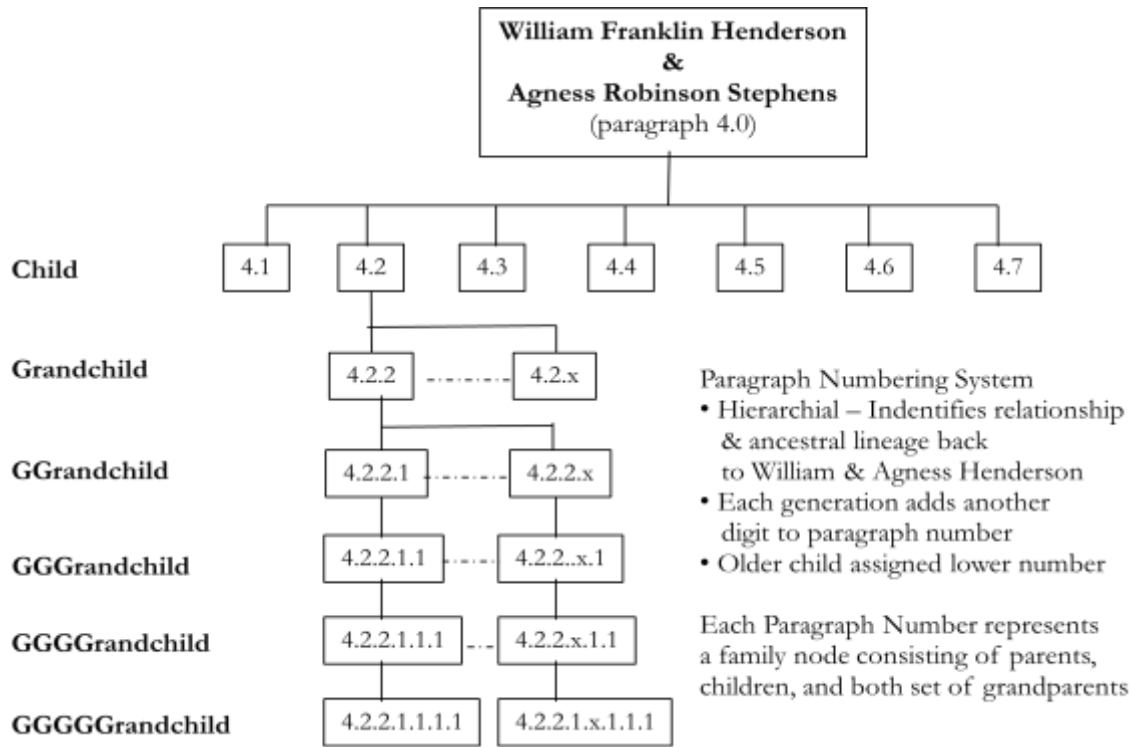

4. A reference book such as this one can never be complete (or 100% accurate). There is always further information (e.g., residence) which could be learned about your parents and grandparents. Also, there will be continuing births, weddings/divorces, and deaths along the way. Author specifically designed this book such that individual reader can update and maintain his/her own version of Henderson family tree as his/her family situation changes. The book is available both as a hardcopy notebook (i.e., one family unit per page) and in digital form (using standard MS software) such that you can easily make needed modifications or additions to your family's node(s). You can also easily print one or more pages and substitute them in the hardcopy version of this book. In this manner, you can maintain your own personal copy of the Henderson family tree.

5. Several families (i.e., Henderson, Stephens, Wardlaw/Wardlow, Logan) lived as neighbors near Abbeville, SC prior to 1820. Members of each of these families emigrated to Greene County, AL in the 1820s - where they again settled as neighbors. Researching Henderson family genealogy often uncovers another relationship between members of these families.

Paragraph Numbering System

Author has identified approximately 250 direct descendants of Cynthia Henderson and Griffin Cockrell. Author estimates there are an average of nine individuals (i.e., 4 grandparents, 2 parents, plus 3 children) associated with each direct descendant - he arbitrarily assigned the name "family node" to this grouping of family members. In order to show relationships among this many people, the author chose to arrange the "family nodes" in a hierarchal fashion as illustrated below. All paragraph numbers were assigned based on hierarchal relationship of the direct Henderson descendant (i.e., Child).

Note: One implication of this hierarchal arrangement is that name of any one individual (e.g. your name) will appear ONLY in one 'branch' (or perhaps 'twig') of the Henderson family tree. This reliance on "family nodes" means that one's name can appear as a grandparent, a parent, or a child only within that individual's close family unit. Your first question should be "Where does my immediate family fit in this Henderson family tree?" Tracing lineage of an individual will be as simple as following the paragraph numbers.

Note: This same hierarchal numbering system applies to each sibling's family tree as follows:

- Vol I Overview of Henderson Family Lineage
- Vol II Descendants of Samuel Taylor Henderson and Sydney Mayo Head
- Vol III Dexcendants of David D Henderson and Vianna Nix
- Vol IV Descendants of William Franklin Henderson and Agness Robinson Stephens
- Vol V Descendants of Cynthia Henderson and Griffin Cockrell

NOTES		NOTES
Author's Hypotheses: 1) Mr Henderson was a poor Irish immigrant who died in SC about 1820. Evidence: Later Alabama census rolls indicate that families of Samuel, David, and Cynthia could not read or write which would tend to confirm family's poverty. 2) William Franklin Henderson agreed to 7-year indenture contract - probably w/ Benjamin Stephens - in late 1824. He was to receive 80 acres of land in Greene County in return for 7 years of labor - which William purchased in Jan1832. 3) David and Samuel Henderson agreed to 7-year indentured contract - probably w/ Benjamin Stephens - in Sep 1828. They were each to receive 80 acres of land in Greene County in Oct1835 - which each purchased on 1Oct1835. Cynthia may have also agreed to a 7-year indentured contract in return for cash. David and Cynthia were married in Dec1835.		Family lore says that Widow Henderson with four children migrated from SC to Greene County, AL. Presumption is this migration occurred between 1820+ (when her husband died) and 1830 when the family was listed in the Greene County census. Family lore indicates the Widow Henderson was born in 1764 but author considers this to be unrealistic. She married and had 4 children between 1803 and 1818, migrated to Alabama in the 1820s, and died in 1845. Author believes her birth was in the 1780-1785 time period. Given birth dates of the four siblings, author suspects there were at least two additional infant deaths about 1808 and 1813.
		Given the family ties to Bethel Baptist Church, author believes that the Widow Henderson was buried in the (Old) Bethel Baptist Church Cemetery. Her tombstone would have disintegrated within a few decades because of acidity of the soil in that location. The author has surveyed this old cemetery - there are at least 50 depressions along a slope which are typical of what one sees from 1800s graves which have collapsed.

Note: Author recently attended a genealogical history presentation during which researcher indicated that perhaps 60% of the new (mostly Irish) settlers in Maryland prior to American Revolution were indentured. In effect, the wealthy immigrated first and purchased all of the property after which they imported manual labor from the 'old country'. Indentured contracts was the primary method by which potential laborers could become citizens of the new lands in America. Author is aware of the fierce determination of 'Our Hendersons' to become landowners - even the poor ones. Author is convinced that all four of the Henderson siblings spent seven (7) years of indentured toil in Greene County, AL in the 1820s-1830s in order to achieve their dream of land ownership. As of 2017, author is still searching for documentation that would prove such indentured contracts were common among these early emigrants to Alabama and Mississippi.

5.0 Cynthia Henderson and Griffin Cockrell
Child	Marriage	Spouse
Cynthia Henderson	Date: 23Dec1835	Griffin Cockrell
DOB: 10May1815	Location: Greene County, AL	DOB: 10Apr1813
City/State: South Carolina (likely Abbeville County)	Married by William Hutton JP	City/State: Nash County, NC
Residence: 1842+ - Clay County, MS	Children	Residence: 1842+ - Clay County, MS
Date of Death: 24Nov1870	1. Julia A Cockrell (1836-1932)	Date of Death: 26Nov1880
Cemetery:	2. Mary Jane Cockrell (1839-1868)	Cemetery: Cairo Cumberland Presbyterian Church Cemetery at Cairo, MS
City, State: Cairo, Clay County, MS	3. Martha Cockrell (1841-1868)	City, State: Cairo, Clay County, MS
Father: Unknown	4. Milly Cockrell (1845-1868)	Father: William Haywood Cockrell (1790-1834)
Mother: Unknown	5. Cynthia Frances Cockrell (1849-1925)	Mother: Catherine "Theny" Bagley (1790-1834)
	6. Sarah Cockrell (1851-)
	7. Jacob Cockrell (1854-1869)
	8. Samuel Jefferson Cockrell, M.D. (1856-1936)
	9. Lalia Cockrell (1858-)

Following Cynthia's death in 1870, Griffin married Martha C Burchfield (1838-1900) on 20Dec1871 in Oktibbeha County, MS. This couple had three children: Mary Etta Cockrell (1873-1874); William H Cockrell (1875-1943); and James Cockrell (1877-1878).

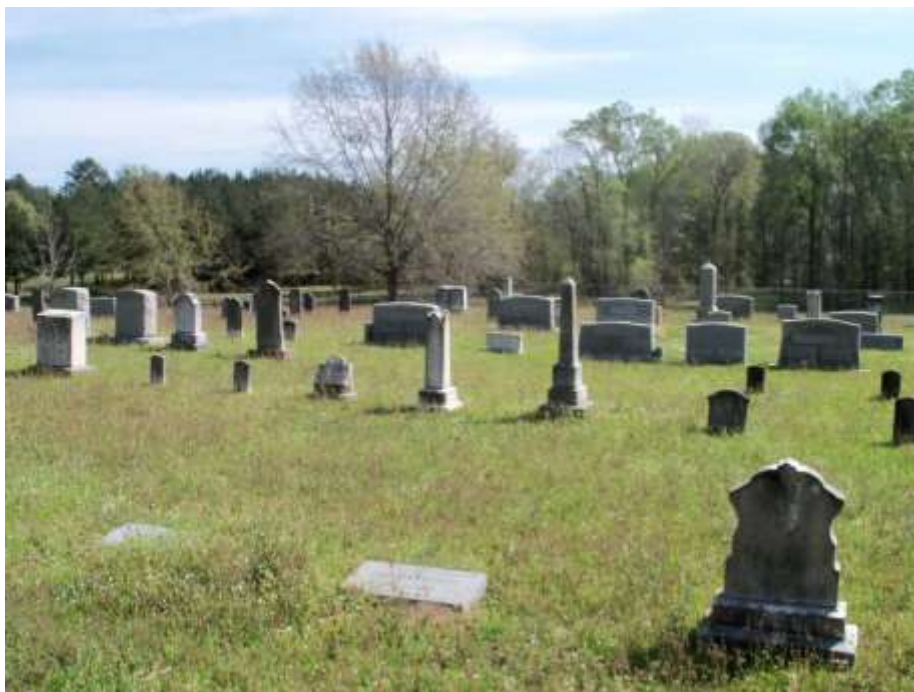

Author's research suggests that Cynthia Henderson emigrated from near Abbeville, SC to Greene County, AL in 1827. Apparently, the Cockrell family also emigrated during this same time period and settled in Greene County, AL. Cynthia (as well as her mother and brothers David and Samuel) were likely part of the same caravan which brought newlyweds Benjamin Waller Stephens and Margaret Only Wardlaw from Abbeville County, SC to Greene County, AL in 1827. Further, author's research indicates that the three Henderson brothers (i.e., Samuel, David, and William) agreed to a 7-year indentured contract (probably) with Benjamin Waller Stephens in return for 80 acres of land in Greene County. Author suspects that Cynthia agreed to a similar contract with promise of cash ($1.25 x 80 acres = $100) instead of 80 acres of land.

The family of Griffin Cockrell emigrated from Nash County, NC to Greene County, AL between 1818 and 1821. Griffin's sister Pernina was born in 1818 in NC - his brother William was born in Greene County in 1821. The family of Griffin Cockrell were apparently poor because land records do not include any purchase of land patents in Greene County in the 1820s and 1830s by any member of the Cockrell family. Tragically, both of Griffin's parents died in 1834. Within a few years after he and Cynthia were married in Dec1835, they moved to Clay County, AL - where they lived out their lives.

Author's Comment: Author was pleasantly surprised regarding the collective determination of Cynthia Henderson and Griffin Cockrell to better their family's future. Author's analysis suggests that Cynthia Henderson worked for seven years (i.e., Oct1828-Sep1835) under an indentured contract - probably for the sum of $100. Both of Griffin's parents died in 1834 and were apparently not landowners in Alabama - even though the family had been in Greene County for at least 13 years. Further, later census indicates that the parents and children could neither read nor write. However, one of their sons became a doctor who died in the Civil War plus one of their daughters married a doctor - which resulted in those descendants embracing the benefits of education. In summary, author is highly impressed by this course of events.

Quote from girardz10 ancestry.com memorial: Robert Cockrell of Cedar Bluff, MS, says that Griffin is a legend in Clay County, MS. He supposedly served with an elite calvary unit during the Civil War. Every man who joined this unit had to be an excellent shot and rider, and own a good horse. After the Civil War, it was difficult to find Griffin in the census reports. Robert thinks this is because he was an unreconstructed rebel. The legend goes that during Reconstruction, one of Griffin's friends was going to be hanged by the occupying army. The man was standing on the gallows with a noose around his neck when Griffin galloped up, shot the rope in two, rescued his friend, and went into hiding. Robert is distantly related and lives just a few miles from Griffin's old home place in Clay County.

Family moved from Clay County, MS to Cairo, Crockett County, TN during the 1872-1880 time period. One researcher on ancestry.com indicates that Julia married husband #2 ?? Turnage (-) by whom she had one child. Author has been unable to locate any other reference to this 2nd marriage.

Note: Researchers have a difficult time with the 'William Henry Turnage' family. Apparently, there were two individuals named William Henry Turnage - one born in 1832-?? and one in 1833-1896. One was born in South Carolina and one in North Carolina. The problem becomes even more difficult because both individuals moved to Crockett County, TN about the same time. Author has not researched this family but suspects that these two were (first?) cousins - author would not be surprised to learn that they made the difficult journey to Crockett County, TN as part of the same caravan. One differentiator between them is that their children were given different names.

According to one ancestry.com researcher, Martha died of Yellow Fever.

According to one ancestry.com researcher, William & Martha gave birth to John Ellinian Cantrell (1854-1904). Author has difficulty believing this because William would have been 18 and Martha only 15 at time of John's birth. John's birth would have biologically possible but when/where did William find opportunity for his medical training.

	7. Mavis Mary Henderson (1882-1889)
	8. James Ike Henderson (1886-1955)
	9. David Jefferson Henderson (1891-1910)

Samuel Newton Henderson and Cynthia Frances Cockrell were first cousins. Cynthia was a daughter of Cynthia Henderson and Samuel was a son of her brother David D Henderson. See Volume III, paragraph 3.6 for information on about 130 families who are descendants of Samuel Newton Henderson and Cynthia Frances Cockrell. Author chose to record this information only in Volume III to avoid duplication for this large amount of information.

	Sarah Frances Cockrell	Never Married
	DOB: 1851

	Date of Death: 16Oct1872

	Father: Griffin Cockrell (1813-1879)
	Mother: Cynthia Henderson (1815-1870)

Note: Researchers have (mostly) confused the genealogy of Sarah Frances Cockrell and that of her sister Cynthia Frances Cockrell. Per 1860 census, both Cynthia (age 11) and Sarah (age 9) were living in the household of Griffin & Cynthia Cockrell. There is documentation which indicates that Cynthia married her first cousin Samuel Newton Henderson (i.e. son of David & Vianna Henderson) and they raised a family of nine children. However, author has been unable to locate any later reference to Sarah than her potential death on 16Oct1872. Without additional documentation, author accepts that Sarah did not marry and that she died in 1872.

Note: Author would not be surprised to learn that Sarah died of Yellow Fever (or its complications) as two of her siblings died of this scourge - Milly in 1868 and Jacob in 1869.

Thomas allegedly married for a second time and had several additional children - author did not attempt to document this alleged second family. One researcher on ancestry.com indicates that William Faver legally adopted Cynthia's two children (i.e., Mary and Mildred) after they were married - author has not tried to verify their adoption.
