

A TRIBUTE TO MR. FRANK MCKINSTRY (1907-1995)

MORE THAN A FATHER

By Jessie M. McKinstry

Daddy, we will always remember you,
You were with us for so long;
It was you who kept the family together,
Even after our Mother was gone.

You brought joy into so many lives,
And added 'a touch of class';
Fond memories of you will never cease,
They will forever last.

Although your work was finished here,
And you slipped away in the night;
Your children know within their hearts,
That you put up a gallant fight!

God now looks down on you with a smile,
Because you have withstood the test;
Now you can join our Mother again,
As you both enjoy eternal rest.

WE LOVE YOU!

Lord, when Thou seest that my work is done,
Let me not linger on with failing powers,
A workless worker in a world of work
But, with a word, Just bid me home,
And I will come right gladly,
Yes, right gladly will I come.
