

ONE WINN'S PATH TO TEXAS

by: Winston W. Winn (1986)

The first native American of this family is known to be Captain John Winn, who was born in Virginia, in 1627 or 1632. He was a descendant of the Wynn's of Gwydir House, located in Llanwrst, Gwynedd, Wales, but the exact connection is unsure. He was probably a son of Captain Owen or Captain Thomas Gwinne (Winn) who are listed as Adventurers in the Virginia Company lists of 1620 and 1623.

The Wynn's of Gwydir are of illustrious and ancient Celtic stock, and trace the family line in an unbroken chain back to Owain Gwynedd (c1110-1169), Prince of North Wales, who reigned after 1137 AD. Descent is through Owain's son, Roderick, Lord of Anglesey. Owain was the descendant of Rodri Mawr (Roderick the Great), King of Wales, killed by the Danes in 876 AD, and his grandson Hywel Dda (Howell the Good), King of Wales, who died in 950 AD.

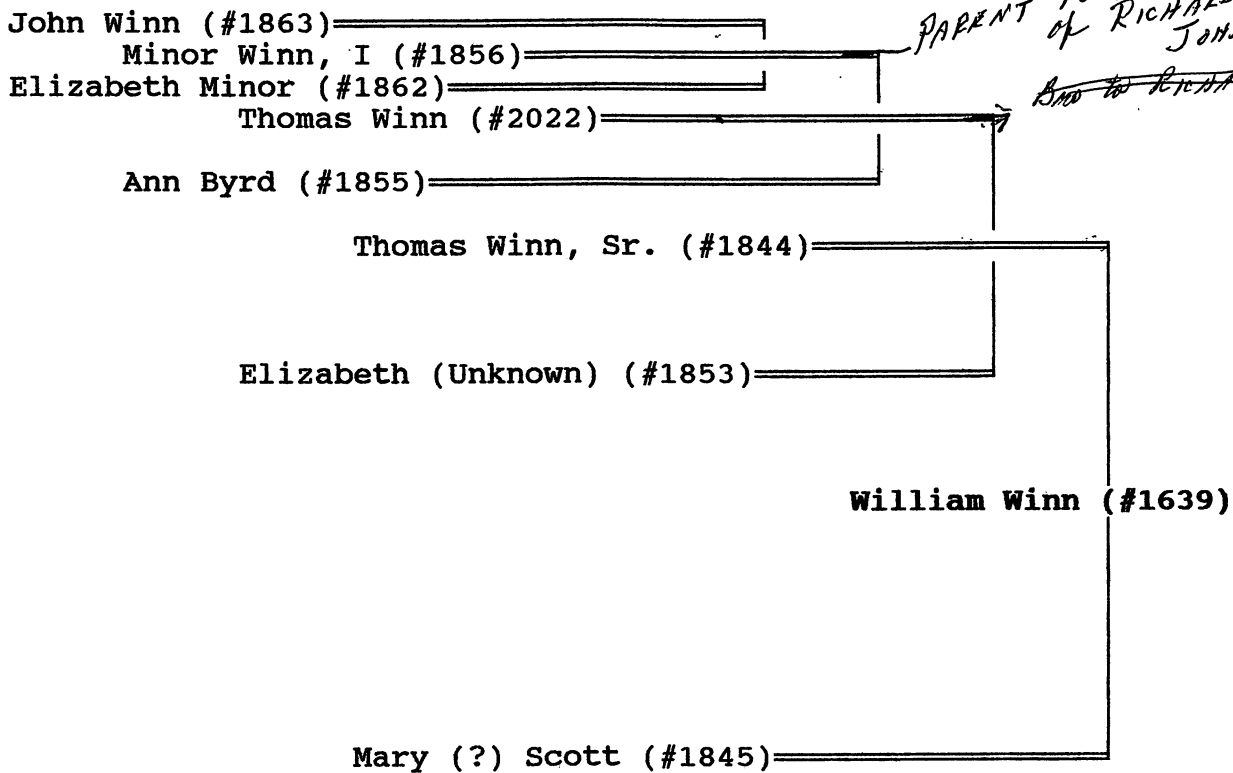

Wynn as a surname, first came into use in the lifetime of Meredith ap (son of) Evan who died in 1525, and was buried at the Church at Dolwyddelen Castle. The modern spelling of Winn seems to have appeared early and was used by descendants who left Wales and settled in England (Yorkshire among others). American usage of the names spelled Wynn or Wynne usually mean that these families ancestors immigrated directly from, or shortly after leaving Wales. The spelling Winne is usually associated to Dutch immigrants into New Amsterdam (New York), and have no known connection with the Wynn's of Wales. Misspelling by poorly educated persons in early records greatly complicate this issue. Gwynedd, the ancient name of North and Central Wales, is the root of this name, as in Owain Gwynedd is actually Owain of Gwynedd. Gwynne is said to be the ancient Celtic word meaning White but I have discovered no real connection, unless Gwynedd is meant to be called "The White Area", or some similar meaning. The mountain "Snowdon" is a prominent landmark of this part of North Wales.

Captain John Winn₁ (1627/32-1694), who settled in Westmoreland County, Virginia, married Elizabeth Minor₁, about the year 1650. She was the youngest daughter of John and Ellenor Minor, and was probably a descendant of the Mynor's of Treago, located at St. Weonards, Hereford, England. This family is of Norman stock and is included in "The Roll of Battle Abbey" as a follower of William the Conqueror, at the battle of Hastings in 1066. The family name derives from the Normandy Village of les Minieres. John and Elizabeth Winn had 9 children, of which Minor Winn I (b1668) was one of the younger.
