

The children of Dr. John Creighton and Minnie Adger (Mrs. George Buchanan are: Henree Catherine (Mrs. George Coleman), Minnie (died at 10 years); Claudia Rebecca

South Carolina. the South Carolina College, now the University of Court of Fairfield County, and one of the first trustees of was also a teacher at Mount Zion Institute, Clerk of Creek and Wateree Presbyterian Churches. Rev. Yongue (Parson) Samuel Whorter Yongue, pastor of Jackson Alex William Yongue and his grandfather was Rev. Yongue). William Ellison Yongue's father was Colonel (daughter of Amanda Pickett and William Ellison Creighton Buchanan, married Minnie Adger Yongue Robert Augustus Buchanan. Their son, Dr. John their daughter, Claudia Rebecca Woodward, married Dr. (the daughter of Ailsey Wyche and Roland Williamson); Donald; their son, Osmond, married Martha Williamson Collins; their son, John Woodward, married Esther Mc-Thomas Woodward, the Regulator, married Jemima

John Woodward

Submitted By: Nelle McM. Sprott

to the patriot, Thomas Woodward, the Regulator. Many Fairfield County residents trace their ancestry Regulator, Thomas, was born near Annapolis, Maryland. Calvert, Baron of Baltimore about 1634. The father of the Abraham Woodward, who came to Maryland with George Thomas Woodward the Regulator's Grandfather, was motto Suave Et Brave (Gentle and Brave).

with a shield of gold bearing the family Arms with the 25, 1415). King Henry V presented the gallant Knight tactical skill and vigor in the Battle of Agincourt (Oct. Richard Woodward distinguished himself for great name being Warden of the Woods, or the Royal Forests. Wodeward and Wodward, the literal significance of the In the Doomday Book, the name was spelled built to commemorate the Battle of Hastings. William the Conqueror in the Battle Abbey, which he names were preserved on the tapestry which was hung by DuBoisgarde, were enrolled among 648 Knights whose County, England. Their names, Guilliamme and Richard der Royal seal of the Conqueror to manors in Lancaster fought in the Battle of Hastings and were chartered un- name in the Garde Du Corps of William the Conqueror Wode Warde (or Woodward). A Knight and Armiger of the their Norman name, DuBoisgarde, anglicized to England with William the Conqueror in 1066. They had Members of the Woodward family came originally to Georgia, Alabama, and Mississippi.

Muscogee Indians, in which he records much history of was the author of a book, Reminiscences of the Creek and drew Jackson at the Battle of New Orleans in 1814. He became a Brigadier General and was with General An-

Thomas Simpson Woodward's son, Thomas Sylvester, a daughter who married a Riley or a Freeman. McMorries, Jr.; Lucy married William J. Augustine; and Howard, Richard; Burbage; Elizabeth married William Their children were: Thomas Simpson married Mary Elizabeth Stokes May, who was part Indian and French. who married James Andrews. His second wife was Rabb; Rebecca married Phillip Raiford; and a daughter Margaret married James Nelson; Nancy married Robert McDonald; William married Nancy Elizabeth Barrette; Virginia. Their children were: John, who married Esther Thomas Woodward's first wife was Jemima Collins of first school in the Up Country in 1777.

member of the Mount Zion Society which founded the was a Robertson. Thomas Woodward was an original which he named for his mother, whose second husband, near Rockton and he had a race track near Simpson, on May 12, 1779, at Dutchman's Creek. His home was Revolutionary War. He was killed by British and Tories Colonel William Thomson of the Continental Army in the British, the Eighth Company of Rangers, commanded by one of the first companies in South Carolina to resist the South Carolina Up Country in 1767. He was organizer of which brought about the establishment of courts in the Woodward was a leader of the Regulation Movement and came to Fairfield County prior to 1760. Thomas with George Washington in the French and Indian War Thomas and Elizabeth Simpson Woodward. He served fax County, Virginia, around 1729. His parents were Thomas Woodward, The Regulator, was born in Fair-

Woodward Family

This picture of the family of John and Amanda Woodward was taken at the family home in Winstonsboro on April 19, 1974, the fiftieth anniversary of the Woodwards. From top left to right are: Lee Alexander, John Jr., Mossalee, Katie Albarce, Esther and Helen. Bottom, Carter, John and Amanda, and Ruby.

The Woodward Family

Edward
ted by:
Fairfield
comes it has
To be or ce-
me out
ve God
low of-