

DANIEL RAVENEL CLAIMED BY DEATH

Special to The State.

1931
Spartanburg, Mar. 30.—Daniel Ravenel, 76, died at his home here at 7 o'clock tonight after an illness of two weeks.

Funeral services will be conducted from the residence at 11 o'clock Wednesday morning by the Rev. W. H. K. Pendleton, rector of the Church of the Advent, and burial will follow at St. Paul's Episcopal churchyard, Pendleton.

Mr. Ravenel was a native of Charleston but had resided at Clemson College for ten years until the death of his wife last January when he moved to Spartanburg. He is survived by two daughters, Miss Henrietta Ravenel, La Grange, Ga., Miss Ellinor P. Ravenel, Minneapolis, Minn.; one son, Daniel Ravenel, Jr., Spartanburg; one sister, Miss Elizabeth Ravenel, Spartanburg; two brothers, H. E. Ravenel, Spartanburg, and Dr. Mazyck P. Ravenel, Columbia, Mo.

MRS. H. E. RAVENEL.

A beautiful life passed into glory when Mrs. H. E. Ravenel, of Spartanburg, S. C., fell asleep on Sabbath morning, March 9, 1924. She was without sham or affectation, always kind, generous, hospitable, and above all an earnest, consecrated Christian woman. For many years she had been active in the work of the First Presbyterian church. It was through her personal efforts that the John S. Watkins School, in Korea, was founded, and the splendid work that has been accomplished there is a fitting monument in human lives to her memory, as well as to the one whose name the school bears. We love and revere Mrs. Ravenel for her own sake, and we honor her as the mother of our missionary, Mrs. Darby Fulton.

The Woman's Auxilliary has passed the following resolutions:

"Whereas, it has pleased God to take from among us our beloved member, Mrs. Agnes Adger Ravenel, be it therefore

"Resolved, that we acknowledge His infinite love and wisdom in calling His servant, after many years of faithful service, to her Heavenly Home.

"That we, though missing greatly her gracious and inspiring presence, yet praise God for the memory of her consecrated life, and dedicate ourselves anew to the great cause in which she spent herself so freely—that of advancing the Kingdom of Christ.

"That to the husband, daughters, sister, and other relatives we tender our heartfelt sympathy and love.

"That copies of these resolutions be sent to the family, a copy be incorporated in the minutes of the woman's auxiliary, and a copy be sent to "The Messenger" for publication.

Mrs. W. R. Carr, Mrs. W. B. Lyles, Mrs. W. L. Pugh, Committee on Resolutions, First Presbyterian church, Spartanburg, S. C.

Above the clouds;
But not such clouds as darken earth and sky.
The cloud is in the troubled limitation
Of mortal eye.

Soaring on wings!
Though never feeble wings that beat the sluggish air.
They are the wings of spiritual beings
Where angels fare.

The raptured soul
Sees face to face the Lord in Heavenly state;
Here we but sense in utmost aspiration
The outer gate.

And if we might Break through this shade that holds earth's children down.
We should foretaste the glory unimagined
Around the Throne.

1931
Winnsboro, Jan. 19.—Special: Mrs. James Orr Boag, 88, of Winnsboro, has planned and personally supervised the digging of her own grave.

Day by day she sat upright in a chair by the excavation, for hours as the digging, brick work and cement work went on. Calmly she looked on, taking the deepest interest in the minutest details of the work. Needless to say the grave is one of the best dug and most carefully supervised in this section.

The work continued four days. After metal cover was supplied for the top of the grave and the red clay was spaded over it, the old lady, feeling that something was amiss, came back bringing with her a laurel wreath which she calmly and complacently placed, then walked slowly and solemnly away. It was a task of Christmas week and must be done before the New Year, she thought.

Not a few passed the Associate Reformed Presbyterian church in Winnsboro when the grave was being prepared and saw with their own eyes the dignified form of Mrs.

Boag, calmly seated beside the excavation in a straight-back chair directing the solemn task. On the faces of the grave diggers, was an awe that could not be concealed. How anybody could sit there and look at their own grave being dug, they could not see, and they cast furtive glances at the one who sat with such a calm exterior under the gruesome circumstances.

The grave is beside that of the late James Orr Boag, her husband, who died a year ago. Mr. Boag came to South Carolina from Scotland some years previous to the War Between the States. He had an active part as lithographer in the Confederacy. Later, he and his wife built up a large mercantile business in Winnsboro. Mrs. Boag at the present time in active management of it. She is in her usual state of health, and is wonderfully well preserved for one of her years. Her mind is as alert and clear as it was when she was a young woman.

She and her late husband have amassed a considerable amount of real estate in Winnsboro and one street in the town bears their name.

1932
Mr. James M. Steele, 81, died at his home in the Horeb section of Fairfield County about two a. m. on Thursday morning. He had been in declining health for about a year. On Wednesday afternoon he came to Winnsboro to consult a physician, and had to be carried home. He never fully recovered from the attack of the afternoon and died soon after midnight. He is survived by two sons, Graham G. Steele and Lee Steele. He was a consistent member of the A. R. P. church with his membership at the old Brick church at which church the funeral was held Thursday afternoon at five o'clock. Services were conducted by Rev. Oliver Johnson.

Respected Couple in Winnsboro Married Just 65 Years Ago Today

*James Orr Boag Ran Blockade Through Wilmington
From England to Engrave Currency Plates for Confederate Treasury.*

MR. AND MRS. JAMES ORR BOAG.

Special to The State. ^{1929.}

Winnsboro, Sept. 14.—Not many communities can claim the distinction of having as citizens a couple who have lived together 65 years.

Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Boag of Winnsboro will celebrate their 65th marriage anniversary tomorrow.

James Orr Boag, son of Agnes Orr and John Boag, was born in Paisley, Scotland, June 10, 1843. Mary Ann Lemmon, daughter of Jane Russell and Montgomery Lemmon, was born in Winnsboro, January 16, 1844.

They were married in Winnsboro, September 15, 1864, by the Rev. C. B. Betts, pastor of the Associate Reformed Presbyterian church.

Mr. Boag was one of 19 or 20 young men who offered their services to the Confederate states as engravers and lithographers, at the solicitation of Major Hicklin and Colonel Evans, who went to England in search of such craftsmen.

Mr. Boag and his companions left England on the steamship Giraffe, expecting to run the blockade and land at Charleston.

They were intercepted by a federal gunboat, chased and fired upon, but succeeded in landing from their crippled ship at Wilmington, N. C.

Mr. Boag worked for the Confederacy in Columbia until forced to leave, when Sherman reached the city.

From this time he refuged from place to place with the treasury department, until Stoneman's raiders destroyed the presses and lithograph plates at Anderson, where Mr. Boag was mustered out of service.

About this time Mr. Boag and his young wife went to live in New York, where their first and only child, a daughter, was born. In 1866 they returned South and located in Chester, S. C., where he was engaged in the mercantile business three years.

In 1870 they came to Winnsboro, buying the house in which they now live, and in which they have carried on their general mercantile business without a break until this day. Their only daughter died many years ago, leaving one son, who died a few years after his mother.

Mr. Boag, largely because of failing vision, can not look after his business as formerly, but Mrs. Boag is still active in looking after their large real estate holdings in Winnsboro, and the affairs of her home and store.

They are faithful members of the Associate Reformed Presbyterian church, attending the Sabbath day services and the midweek prayer service. Many are the congratulations and well-wishes which they will receive from their many friends tomorrow, throughout Fairfield county.

X. X. X.

HANNA RION DIES IN BERMUDA HOME

Columbia Woman Had Brilliant Varied Career.

NOT TURNED FIFTY

Artist and Writer, Pioneer in Twilight Sleep and Other
Use of Scopolamin.

Hamilton, Bermuda, May 5.—Hanna Rion, American artist, author and newspaperwoman, died today. She was a native of Columbia, S. C. The funeral will be held here and the burial also will be in Bermuda.

Had Brilliant Abilities.

Hanna Rion (Mrs. Alpheus Baker Hervey in private life), noted in her Columbia girlhood for her beauty and her wit, had in less than 50 years a remarkable career, achieving distinction as a painter in water colors, as an expert in gardening, as a writer of fiction, as one of the earliest practitioners in twilight sleep and finally as one of the foremost in the group which made that system known to the public and extended it recently to the testing of credibility in examining witnesses and persons suspected of crime.

Daughter in England.

Her only child, Mrs. Teresa Treweller, the daughter of her first marriage, is the wife of a captain in the British army and resides in England with her little son. A sister, Mrs. Lucy Rion Clark, lives in Lakeland, Fla. Mrs. Hervey was a sister also to Miss Maggie Rion, many years librarian at the University of South Carolina, Mrs. Jacob T. Barron and William C. Rion, all of Columbia and all now deceased. Several nephews and nieces survive her in South Carolina.

Born in Winnsboro, July 11, 1875, the daughter of Col. and Mrs. James Henry Rion, Hanna Rion was educated at the College for Women in Columbia, going on for advanced work to Berlin. She was probably one of the first women to travel in a dirigible

THERESA RION DIES AT HOME OVERSEAS

Wife of Captain Trewhella and Only Daughter of Hanna
Rion. 1929

Mrs. Theresa Rion Trewhella, wife of Capt. Charles Bernard Trewhella and only daughter of Hanna Rion, died at her home, Braeside, Woking, England, June 5. Besides her husband, she leaves a son and infant daughter. She was buried near Cornwall, the old home of Captain Trewhella.

airship, which she did in the Black Forest.

Several years ago before the outbreak of the World war she went with her daughter to live in England, doing literary and art work and eventually becoming interested in the early experiments with twilight sleep. Her book on twilight sleep, published by Laurie of London in January, 1915, was the first on the subject to appear in England or America.

Interested Northcliffe.

Through her writings the late Lord Northcliffe became interested in twilight sleep as a probable boon to humanity and at his request she did a series of special articles upon it for him, which ran for five months in 1916 in his Weekly Dispatch. The result of this campaign was the establishment under Hanna Rion's direction of 11 twilight sleep maternity hospitals in England. Thereafter she herself took the required full training of a maternity nurse and personally assisted in bringing 46 twilight sleep babies into the world—among them her own grandson.

Long before the experiments by Dr. Blake of San Quentin prison, California, which astonished America last summer, Hanna Rion had anticipated in published works the technic and even the dosage of scopolamin used for eliciting truth and also for solving those curious and often trying cases of amnesia which often present themselves under the stresses of modern life.

Remarried in 1921.

Since her marriage June 1, 1921, to the Rev. Alpheus Baker Hervey, D. D., of Bath, Maine, she has spent her summers in Maine at Bath and her winters in Bermuda, where she had a charming home, "The Cocoons," at Warwick East.

Her first important literary work was the contribution of the verses printed with Frank Ver Beck's drawings in his Book of Bears and the writings of two notable works on gardening, "The Garden in the Wilderness," 1909, and "Let's Make a Flower Garden," 1912, with "The Smiling Road," 1910, intervening. She wrote in 1916 the verses for Ver Beck's "Bears in Mother Goose Land." Her only venture in biography was "The Real Michael Strange," 1917. Her works on twilight sleep include at least three volumes.

Mrs. Trewhella was a granddaughter of the late Col. James H. Rion and a niece of Miss Margaret H. Rion of Columbia, with whom she made her home for some years and attended the University of South Carolina, where she made many friends, who will be pained to hear of her untimely death.

Hanna Rion

When a man or woman achieves distinction and success in one line of creative work he or she is satisfied, as a usual thing, to continue along that line—working sometimes to greater heights, and sometimes striking the same note so often that the path of work becomes a deep rut, out of which there is no climbing.

Occasionally, however, one hears of an exception, an author who draws the illustrations for his own books, an actress who writes her own plays, a millionaire railroad man who writes novels for recreation or a queen who writes children's books and plays. But rarely does the creative worker acquire facility in so many branches of artistic endeavor as Hanna Rion of Warwick East, Bermuda, who has written a book every summer, painted portraits to order, held an exhibition of her oil paintings of land and seascapes every February, composed delicately hunting melodies when the inner urge required that sort of expression, and besides all this, found time to care for one of the most beautiful and interesting gardens on the island of Bermuda.

"Writing, painting, composed and gardening are all expressions of the same inner urge to show others the visions one sees," she once explained. "The same desire to share one's visions with others prompts each of these expressions. True, one goes about each differently. Writing, for instance, is to me a deliberate matter of the brain. Painting blots out to such a degree one's personality that the artist is entirely unconscious of self. It is as 'unselfed' a procedure as holding up a mirror so that others may see a reflected picture. Nothing means anything to the artist but the scene he is trying to reproduce. Composing music is just as impersonal, for everything is forgotten in the joy of catching and jotting down the melody one seems to hear faintly, like the far away notes of an organ. But gardening is exquisite joy. A flower garden, especially in Bermuda, is the sum total of all other joys."

Flowers and Vegetables.

Standing in the midst of these gardens, the visitor felt the great outpouring of inner wealth that makes all of Hanna Rion's work so sought after. It never occurred to this woman to spare herself labor or to conserve the precious reservoir of energy that is day by day manifested in beauty. Four or five gardens on different levels, each walled with the whitewashed coral rock that is the only building material used in Bermuda, were a riotous, rollicking mass of bloom. Vegetables and flowers grew to maturity in the same bed. Tupils and hyacinths among the strawberries brought forth the comment, "I never disturb a self invited guest. If a hyacinth wants to live among the strawberries, why shouldn't it?" Potatoes and beets and narcissi grow together in happy confusion. Even sunflowers and sweet peas, which most gardeners consider enemies, blossom in twining embrace.

For 15 years The Cocoon had been Hanna Rion's home, and here it was that she did her best work. Here she lived, except for the occasional visits to Europe, and the time she spent doing war work in England.

Her first literary work was the writing of the verses for Ver Beck's "Book of Bears," which was published in 1906. Then she wrote "The Garden in the Wilderness," published in 1909; a novel called "The Smiling Road," published in 1910, then another garden book in 1912, called "Let's Make a Flower Garden." Her latest published book is a novel called "Fate and a Marionette," and the novel she wrote last summer is in the hands of her publishers.

Visitors to Bermuda in February have vied with one another for her paintings of Bermuda's beautiful places. There never were enough to go around, although this energetic woman was at work at 5:30 each morning. By January, this year, she had finished 18 paintings for her February exhibit, and on the day of our last call, two portraits were waiting to be delivered. Because of the heat of the summer, she found it comfortable at that season to work indoors, and then it was that her writing was one, but with the gentler days of the winter months came the ability to work beside the sea in comfort, and she spent long, happy hours with her easel and canvas and paints, preserving the shifting colors of the marvelous blue water and the semitropical vegetation.

On the Value of Lessons.

Hanna Rion had college training, but no especial training in the arts, except music. She had more faith in vision than in technique, and she said: "I have the great advantage of never being compelled to live down the experience of going to art school. It is my opinion that art school training is a blow to personality. Any artist, in any line, can acquire technique if he is willing to fight for it, and in so doing he will develop individually that he can't get otherwise. The same applies to musical composition. I had one lesson in harmony, and for the next, I wrote a terrible dirge to show the teacher how I felt after the first lesson. And the teacher advised me never to take another lesson!" She explained that these were her opinions, which she was willing to admit might have value only to herself.

Probably her life as a child gave her more of a background in the arts than she realized for her mother was an accomplished pianist, and a writer as well. She left her home, where creative work was considered all in the day's work, to study under Heinrich Barth in Berlin, and did her first professional work as a concert pianist. Subsequently she began to write and to paint, and combined the three kinds of work ever since. Her published music and books and her paintings are all signed with her maiden name—Hanna Rion, and it is America's loss that these works are better known in England than here. In private life she was Mrs. Alpheus Baker Herve, the wife of an internationally known American who is an authority on algology—the study of seaweed. He was at one time president of St. Lawrence university, Canton, N. Y. Hanna Rion was an American, who was born in Winnsboro, S. C., who received her education, with the exception of her musical training, here. She traveled extensively, and learned to love the tropical and semitropical climates, and said that if she ever left her present home in Bermuda it would be for an island further south.

Gault, L. Johnson, died October 27, 78; Union county.
Greer, Jason M., died June 21, 81; Union county.

Todd, John T., died January 5, 83; Williamsburg county.

Buchen, Fred Nash, died March 8, 84; York county.

Ferguson, William S., died June 3, 83; York county.

Deaths During 1930.

Robert O. Sams, died March, age 89; Cherokee county.

William Turner died February 1, age 81; Greenville county.

W. J. Aiton died February 9, age 90; Greenwood county.

J. F. Vereen died February 17, age 90; Horry county.

J. A. Martin died January 2, age 90; Soldiers' home.

Albert A. Guise died February 21, age 86; Soldiers' home.

H. S. Cunningham died March 11, age 83; Lee county.

Drayton I. Epting died February 6, age 84; Lexington county.

J. M. O. Wannamaker died February 25, age 83; Lexington county.

John F. Taylor died January 13, age 86; Newberry county.

B. F. Shealy died January 13, age

86; Newberry county.

Mitchel Bowman Grant died March 1, age 83; Orangeburg county.

James Martin died February 24, age 82; Richland county.

David P. Bouknight died February 2, age 85; Saluda county.

John G. Clayton died January 13, age 90; Spartanburg county.

W. E. Kirby died February 22, age 88; Union county.

J. R. Findly died March 2, aged 86; Laurens county.

SAMUEL C. CATHCART

Special to the State.

Winnsboro, March 23.—Samuel C. Cathcart, prominent planter, merchant and dairyman, died suddenly from a heart attack at his home here this morning, following an illness of several weeks.

The funeral services will be held at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon. They will be conducted by his pastor, the Rev. Oliver Johnson, D. D.

Born in County Antrim, Ireland, 1862, son of William and Elizabeth Stewart Cathcart, he was first married to Miss Ella Doty of Winnsboro April, 1898. Of this union four children survive him: Miss Elizabeth Cathcart of Columbia university, Mrs. Gaston Moffatt of Syracuse, N. Y., W. D. Cathcart of Blackshear, Ga., and S. D. Cathcart of Winnsboro.

He was married the second time to Miss Tirzah Ketchin of Winnsboro, December 17, 1908. She and the following children survive him: Sam C. Cathcart, Jr., Joe Cathcart and John W. Cathcart, 2nd; also one brother, John W. Cathcart of Winnsboro, and several sisters in Ireland.

Mr. Cathcart was a man of sterling character and prominent in the social and religious life of the community. He was a member of the Associated Reformed Presbyterian church.

Tale Of Son Being Reared By John C. Calhoun Is Not Countenanced

Columbia, July 8.—The story that the lost Dauphin of France, son of Louis XVI, was smuggled to America and had a son who was reared by John C. Calhoun was discounted yesterday by A. S. Salley, secretary of the South Carolina historical commission.

"The story is an old one," Mr. Salley said, "but there is no foundation for it."

It originated, he said, when James Henry Rion, of Winnsboro, S. C., made a death-bed statement in which he asserted his father, Henry Rion, was the Dauphin.

Several days later, one of James Henry Rion's sons, Preston Rion, declared his father had been under influence of an opiate and was not responsible for the statement he made on his death-bed.

James Henry Rion died December 12, 1886, after a brilliant career as a lawyer.

Little is known of his parentage, Mr. Salley said, except that his mother was a brilliant woman whom Calhoun met in Savannah and secured to become his housekeeper and act as companion to Mrs. Calhoun.

Rion attended school at South Carolina College, now the University of South Carolina, and became a practicing lawyer in Winnsboro.

During his entire career, he refused to accept any political office, although he was one of South Carolina's most prominent men. This has been used, Mr. Salley said, in the argument to show he believed he was heir to the French throne and had no right to be an officeholder in America.

Newspapers of South Carolina carried the story of Mr. Rion's death-bed statement and of his son's denial.

Dispatches from Clearwater, Fla., yesterday quoted Mrs. Madeline Buchanan Gill as telling of the smuggling of the Dauphin from France and how he settled in Canada, where he died before his son, who was given the name of James Henry Rion, was born.

CONFEDERATE DEATH ROLL

Capt. M. M. Buford Submits Roster for 1929 and to Date for 1930.

Capt. M. M. Buford of Newberry furnishes to The State a roster that he has kept, showing deaths among Confederate veterans in South Carolina during 1929 and to date during 1930. His list shows the name of the veteran, the date of his death, his age, and the county in which he died. The roll follows:

Deaths During 1929.

Maddox, Mark, died December 21, 86; Abbeville county.
 Williams, Newcomb W., died May 19, 84; Abbeville.
 Burns, J. J., died January 1, 83; Allendale county.
 Barker, John G., died September 30, 87; Bamberg county.
 Hunter, A. J., died October 27, 85; Bamberg county.
 Dyches, Isaac, died July 2, 84; Barnwell county.
 Walling, Benjamin, died December 15, 82; Calhoun county.
 Peeler, Isaac M.
 Messeny, P. H., died January 12th 85; Charleston county.
 Campbell, T. C., died April 22, 84; Chester county.
 Darby, A. W., died November 3, 82; Chester county.
 Wise, A. W., died June 11, 90; Chester county.
 Breland, S. L., died December 30, 83; Colleton county.
 Catterton, J. T., died December 30, 87; Colleton county.
 Patterson, A. A., died June 4, 83; Colleton county.
 Williams, Benjamin, died August 12, 100; Colleton county.
 Galloway, W. L., died March 5, 88; Darlington county.
 Ward, William, died August 20, 84; Darlington county.
 Sheppard, Orlando, died December 14, 85; Edgefield county.
 Whitlock, James, died December 11, 85; Edgefield county.
 Rabb, W. C., died August 27, 87; Fairfield county.
 Braziel, W. E., died May 31, 86; Fairfield county.
 Bengier, S. S., died February 21, 86; Florence county.
 Gole, W. P., died March 29; Florence county.
 Ham, J. P., died January 8, 84; Florence county.
 Bradham, M. M., died November 14, 81; Greenwood county.
 Moore, L. M., died November 15, 83; Greenwood county.
 Pope, G. A., died February 16, 84; Hampton county.
 Preacher, H. M., died November 24, 82; Hampton county.
 Bethune, N. A., died October 22, 82; Kershaw county.
 DeLoach, J. R., died December 14, 85; Kershaw county.
 Moseley, G. N., died October 22, 82; Kershaw county.
 Bragg, Miles, died May 4, 83; Laurens county.
 Chandler, J. O., 83; Laurens county.
 Moore, George E., died December 27, 82; Laurens county.
 Newman, Judge D., died July 22, 83; Lee county.
 Harmon, M. D., died January 4, 85; Lexington county.
 Jumper, Daniel A., died March 15, 85; Lexington county.
 Meyer, George N., died August 9, 95; Lexington county.
 Roof, Ben J., died February 8, 85; Lexington county.
 Elgin, Matthew T., died January 11, 84; Newberry county.
 Goggans, B. F., died January 5, Newberry county.
 Graddick, John T., died June 25, 83; Newberry county.
 McCullough, T. W., died May 12, 83; Newberry county.
 Hayes, T. J., died June 4, 83; Newberry county.
 Ruff, D. A., died February 4, 85; Newberry county.
 Harley, P. F., died December 23, 87; Orangeburg county.
 Millford, T. P., died December 10, 83; Orangeburg county.
 Pound, John W., died January 12, 82; Orangeburg county.
 Sauls, James, died November 20, 87; Orangeburg county.
 Thompson, M. G., died October 22, 82; Orangeburg county.
 Goodarns, C. T., died December 20, 82; Richland county.
 Jones, E. J., died January 5, 83; Richland county.
 Haltiwanger, J. C., died January 20, 84; Richland county.
 Wise, A. M., died November 14, 85; Richland county.
 Evans, W. W.; died June 4, 83; Richland county.
 Pope, W. S., died February 16, 85; Richland county.
 Helman, Emanuel, died November 3, 85; Newberry county.
 Corley, James P., died October 23, 82; Saluda county.
 Watson, Robert B., died November 23, 86; Saluda county.
 Chapman, M. D., died January 10, 85; Spartanburg county.
 Bunch, John B., died December 31, 85; Spartanburg county.
 Lawson, W. B., died January 2, 87; Spartanburg county.
 Mitchell, W. H., died January 29, 85; Spartanburg county.
 Pearson, L. F., died September 6, 81; Spartanburg county.
 West, W. T., died November 2, 83; Spartanburg county.
 Cain, W. O., died June 17, 85; Sumter county.
 Thompson, James W., died July 17, 84; Sumter county.
 Elson, J. C., died March 5, 87; Union county.

Confederate's Letter Home Comes Into Family Possession

Note From Silas W. Ruff to His Mother, Written in Virginia in 1865, Has Recently Reached Hands of His Survivors.

The family of the late Silas W. Ruff has recently come into possession of an interesting letter written by Mr. Ruff from Petersburg, Va., January 7, 1865, to his mother, Mrs. Judith Weston Elkin Ruff. Mr. Ruff was a soldier in the Confederate army, being the Twelfth South Carolina regiment, in the first company leaving his section. He served the entire four years with distinction, and was wounded twice. For a number of years Mr. Ruff was sheriff of Fairfield county. Both he, and his wife, have passed away, but two sons and two daughters survive: T. D. Ruff and

S. P. Ruff of Columbia; Mrs. W. B. Stuart of Charlotte, and Mrs. P. J. Wright of Hopkins. Of nine sisters and brothers Mr. Ruff, only one, William H. Ruff of Jenkinsville, survives.

The letter is given in full.

Petersburg, Va., January 7, 1865.

Dear Mother:

With pleasure I write you a few lines. I have received Sister Mat's and William's letters, also one from Lizzie of a later date. I am glad my clothing is on the way I look for them about the twelfth if they do not be detained. Large cargoes of boxes are received every week, but few are lost for the quantity shipped. Mother I had a fine dinner today as well as a breakfast this morning, rice, coffee, fried ham, cornbread,—dinner, backbone, and corn bread, you see I have something to be thankful for at Petersburg. Received a nice little box a few days ago which came in good time. The rations that we draw now is corn meal, pickled beef or pork or fresh beef some times rice and coffee and occasionally a little soap. Wish I had written for a piece;

Mother we have had lots of wet and freezing weather. It is fair now but the ground is very wet and muddy. Mother I will keep my old clothes and will try and send them home. We have been swapping off some of them for meal out in the country, but I hope we will not get that low down in the line of provisions again this winter. I have walked as far as nine miles and back for one peck of meal and then it was hard to get, but the old citizens had to clothe their Negroes.

For anything like a good garment we could get a peck of meal, or they would sell the same for $10 and in Petersburg you could only buy it for $2 a quart.

There have been some troops sent to Charleston from this army, but I don't suppose it will be our lot to go. I would be glad if our brigade would be sent South though I doubt whether it would be well for us, as the summer season would give us the fever, here as a general thing we are healthy. It is rumored here that the prisoners are being moved from Florence to Doko and Newberry, though I doubt the truth of it, but it is reasonable to suppose they will be moved from Florence if Wilmington be attacked.

Mother I will not get a furlough this winter at the rate they are furloughing now, four to the hundred are getting 21 days' furlough. I think it will be increased more still, but there are about nine to go in the company before I will come in. I hope though I may be able to some way to get come before the spring campaign opens, though I know not in what way. Mother times look a little gloomy as regards our independence, though I guess you can see all of this. Gold in Petersburg is worth 50 for one, and Yankee currency 15 for one. That is putting our currency pretty low down.

Mother our old cook is coming home soon as we are paid off so as we can pay him and it may be that I will send a knap sack of things by him, if so I will write what I send. I have a Yankee canteen to send to Billie the first chance, I will send it home and you can send it to him the first chance. Mother I wish I could send you a mule but it is out of my power unless I was in the enemies' country and had a good trusty boy of my own. I would buy one if I were you and could get it reasonable. I have often thought you were fortunate in buying George, what sort of crop did he make and how much meat did he raise. Did father have enough to do him? I was sorry to hear his corn crop was short though I know he is getting lots of old hands to feed and very few young ones to fill their places.

Mother I must close as dark is coming. I will write immediately after receiving the box, if I should be so fortunate as to receive it. I enjoy fine health.

Love to father and the family.

Your devoted son,

S. W. R.

dering of ties of kindred and life-long comradeships. Locally he was always a power, and personally he beamed with warm-hearted love for his fellow man.

His wife died July 6, 1930, and his remarkable buoyancy of mind and body began to give way from this disruption of his lovely home life. Yet on the Fourth of July, this year, he said to a friend, "I am as well as I ever was." His sudden illness came on him in less than two weeks, and on the 20th he was taken to the Columbia hospital, death ensuing from uremic poison, because he was too old to risk an operation.

He leaves four sons and two daughters, 12 grandsons, and six granddaughters, seven grandsons of the Lyles name: William Boykin Lyles, M. D., of Spartanburg, Thomas Minter Lyles, lawyer, of Spartanburg, J. Morris Lyles, cotton merchant of Winnsboro, Stoney English Lyles, merchant, of Winnsboro; Mrs. Bessie (W. C.) Boyd of Charlotte (formerly of Ridgeway, and Mrs. Eliza Peay (Senator Fay A.) DesPortes of Winnsboro. Of his older grandchildren, W. Clarence Boyd, Jr., is a lawyer in Columbia, and John Lyles Boyd is with the Central Hanover Bank of New York; Lucy Bryant Boyd is the wife of Speight Adams of Graham, N. C. A grandson, Thomas Lyles, has graduated at Wofford College, and is a musician of talent, organist of the Baptist church for a number of years.

No brother survives him but his living sisters are: Mrs. Mattie (Amos E.) Davis of Winnsboro, Mrs. Rebecca (Thomas W.) Woodward of Winnsboro, and Mrs. Carrie (J. Feaster) Lyles of Steedman, Lexington county.

The children of his brother, Belton English Lyles are: Austin P. and Estelle Lyles of Blairs and Mrs. William Hicks of Greenville. In Columbia are many relatives through the Woodward connection, and also the families of his first cousins, the late William H. Lyles and Mrs. Florence (M.

L.) Kinard, and the children of his deceased brother, James Septimus Lyles: James Lyles and Mrs. J. M. Mobley, Mrs. William M. Mobley and Mrs. Charles T. Bradford.

Thus has passed a man long to be remembered by his friends, a product of the old school of friendship, hospitality and patriotism.

Funeral at Residence This 0-1 Afternoon. 1933

Mrs. R. H. Edmunds after a long illness died yesterday afternoon at the home of her sister, Mrs. J. Wilson Gibbes, 1410 Washington street. The funeral services will be at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon at the residence and will be conducted by the Rev. James Wyly Jackson, D. D., her pastor, of the First Presbyterian church. The interment will be in the family plot in the churchyard. She will rest beside her husband and near her daughter and her son, Miss Callie Lamar Edmunds and Capt. Lamar Edmunds, who was buried there last year. The pallbearers will be: R. S. DesPortes, Jerome V. Wilson, Dr. Reed Smith, Walter T. Love, J. E. Hunter and S. B. McMaster.

She is survived by her son, Harry N. Edmunds, and a step-son, Pierre Edmunds; a son of her husband and his first wife, Mrs. Anna Thomas Edmunds of Ridgeway; three sisters, Miss Ella Lamar of Columbia, Mrs. William M. Moore of Spartanburg and Mrs. J. Wilson Gibbes, with whom Mrs. Edmunds had made her home for a number of years.

The maiden name of Mrs. Edmunds was Miss Mattie Peay Lamar. She was the daughter of Col. Robert S. and Mrs. Caroline Jones Lamar. She was born in Camden January 31, 1852. She received her finishing education at the school of Miss Ellen Elmore, which was at the site of the present Columbia high school. She married R. H. Edmunds of Ridgeway August 14, 1874. In 1879 her husband as a partner with the late Capt. R. S. DesPortes came to Columbia and opened a large mercantile establishment on the southwest corner of Main and Hampton streets.

Mrs. Edmunds had a long line of distinguished and wealthy ancestors in South Carolina. She had a gentle and sweet disposition which endeared her to all who knew her. She was a devout Christian woman and most devoted to the First Presbyterian church, of which she had been a member for more than 50 years. She was on the first committee with Mrs. D. R. Flenniken in charge of the cemetery of the church and so long as her health permitted she gave faithful service. Mrs. Flenniken still carries on the loving care of the cemetery.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR CAPT. JOHN W. LYLES

1935
E. G. Baker
Funeral services for John Woodward Lyles, 87, of Winnsboro, who died at 4:30 Friday afternoon at the Columbia Hospital, were held at 4:30 Saturday afternoon from the First Baptist church of Winnsboro, conducted by the Rev. H. Floyd Surles, pastor of the church. Interment was in the Episcopal cemetery by the side of his wife. Mr. Lyles died after an illness of about ten days, although he had been in failing health for over a year.

Born September 2, 1845, Mr. Lyles was nearly 88 years old at the time of his death. He was a son of Capt. Thomas M. and Eliza Peay Lyles, and was one of 11 children, there being seven sons and four daughters in the family. He was a descendant of Aromanos Lyles, first white settler in Fairfield county.

At 16 years of age, Mr. Lyles volunteered his services to the Confederate army and served throughout the conflict with Company K, Angus P. Brown's company in cavalry. Moving to Winnsboro from the family home in Fairfield county about 1900 he took the position of clerk of court, a post he held for 28 years, filling it with credit and ability.

He was married at the age of 23 to Miss Sue Morris of Fairfield. Surviving him are the following children: Mrs. W. C. Boyd, Charlotte; Thomas M. and W. B. Lyles, Spartanburg; J. M. and S. E. Lyles and Mrs. F. A. DesPortes, Winnsboro; three sisters Mrs. R. V. Woodward, and Mrs. A. E. Davis, Winnsboro; Mrs. J. Feaster Lyles of Steedman, and a number of grandchildren.

John Woodward Lyles of Fairfield county was born September 2, 1845 near Lyles Ford, where the brothers John and Ephraim Lyles, made the first settlement of the county—coming from the Roanoke valley of Virginia through Butte county, N. C., a family noted for virility and longevity. One of the sons, Aromanos, the first white child born in the county, became a leader in the Revolution, influential in the legislature and left seven sons. He is known as Colonel Lyles; his eldest son, Thomas, was Major Lyles, in the active militia of Nullification days, and had married Mary Woodward, granddaughter of Thomas Woodward, the "Regulator." His son, Capt. Thomas M. Lyles, married Eliza Peay, daughter of Col. Austin Peay, with extensive holdings on the Wateree river, and they had seven sons and four daughters to live to mature life. Of these seven sons, John W. Lyles, not 16, with five brothers, entered the Confederate army, two of his brothers being killed in battle and two wounded. He served in the Seventh South Carolina regiment. His only surviving comrade now is Samuel T. McKeown of Cornwell, Chester county.

Returning from the war after Johnston's surrender, the 19-year old veteran farmed, went to the newly opened university in 1867, and after visiting his brothers, Thomas in Louisiana and Nicholas Peay in Alabama, bought from Dr. Jeff Lyles, then moving to Columbia, the plantation formerly of Col. William Strother near the station named after him. There Capt. John W. Lyles made his home, noted for hospitality, having married Susan Carolina Morris, daughter of Isaac Morris, near Monticello.

Mr. Lyles was of genial disposition, generous beyond measure, and intensely interested in public affairs, always zealous for the cause in which he believed. He was an intensively bred South Carolinian and Fairfield patriot gentleman. When quite young he was elected to the legislature by the largest majority ever given to a candidate in the county. Later he served on the board of directors of the penitentiary and from 1900 to 1928 was clerk of court of the county.

For a generation he was the most popular man in the politics of the county, though making many enemies by his fire-eating zeal. He was active for the redemption of the state in the period around 1876, ardently embraced the farmers' cause in the various movements for economic relief the Alliance, Free Silver, all the measures made memorable by the advocacy of William J. Bryan, and he bore the brunt of the Tillman revolution in his county, suffering the sun

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD FOR WILLIAM HENRY RUFF

Jenkinsville, June 1.—William Henry Ruff died at his home here at midnight, May 31, after a long illness borne with remarkable fortitude.

He was born June 21, 1847, in Fairfield county, only a few miles from the place where he spent most of his life. His father came to Fairfield from Richland county, where his family had settled before the Revolution, coming originally from Holland. On his mother's side he was descended from the Pearson and Raiford families, who were English. They also were among the earliest settlers in South Carolina. He married Annie Stearns of Duluth, Minn., whose family was prominent in the early history of South Carolina and Massachusetts.

At the age of 16 he enlisted in the Confederate army and was a member of Company F, South Carolina regiment, Gibbes' battalion. He was a brave soldier and was beloved by his comrades. After he returned from the army he became a planter and fruit grower. Because of the war he missed the educational advantages that his brothers and sisters had enjoyed, but a naturally bright mind, a splendid memory and a love of reading remedied this to a great extent. He was well informed and took a keen interest in questions of the day. He was a man of genial social disposition and cordial manner and numbered his friends by his acquaintances. His fund of good good stories seemed inexhaustible. In spite of the fact that he had been quite deaf for years, one of his outstanding characteristics was his cheerfulness.

Mr. Ruff is survived by two daughters, Stella M. Ruff of Jenkinsville and Eunita M. Ruff of Columbia.

Funeral services were held at 6 o'clock Thursday afternoon at Shiloh Methodist church, Jenkinsville, conducted by his pastor, the Rev. T. F. Reid, assisted by the Rev. W. L. Mullikin of Washington Street Methodist church, Columbia. Interment followed in the churchyard.

Serving as pallbearers were: Silas McMeekin, Robert McMeekin, Foster

DR. O. Y. OWINGS DIES IN NORTH

Well Known Druggist Passes in Philadelphia.

Dr. O. Y. Owings, 74, long time one of the leading druggists of Columbia, died yesterday at the home of his son, Dr. B. B. Owings, in Philadelphia.

Doctor Owings had not been in robust health for several years, and some time ago went with his wife to the home of his son, Doctor Owings. A telegram announcing his death was received yesterday. The interment will be in Philadelphia.

Doctor Owings was a native of Fairfield and for some years was in business in Winnsboro. He came to Columbia about 35 years ago and for a number of years had one of the leading drug stores in the city. He also had a farm and an ice cream factory and some years ago retired from the drug business.

His widow, who before marriage was Miss Pauline James of Cheraw, but for some years one of the teachers in the Columbia schools, survives him, as do two sons, Dr. B. B. Owings of Philadelphia and O. Y. Owings, Jr., and one daughter, Mrs. Raymond (Mary Mitchell) Owings of Pennsylvania.

Doctor Owings was a deacon of the First Presbyterian church of Columbia, a member of the Quill club and of other organizations. There are many to regret the passing of the citizen who spent most of the mature years of his life here, making many friends.

CLOWNEY FUNERAL
HERE THIS MORNING

Funeral services for Robert Young Clowney will be held at the Dunbar Funeral home at 10:30 this morning, and will be conducted by the Rev. Ray Riddle, pastor of the Shandon Presbyterian church. The interment will be in Elmwood cemetery. The pallbearers will be: Active, J. C. Jackson, D. S. Waters, Harry Desportes, W. A. McCain, R. F. Broom and C. N. English; honorary, Marion Rich, W. M. Mobley, T. A. Heise, A. P. Richardson, T. P. Norton, S. S. Shorter, J. B. Nettles and Sam Scott.

He was a native of Fairfield county and moved to Columbia in 1905. He was a Mason, a member of the Woodmen of the World and a member of Arsenal Hill Presbyterian church. He was married February 15, 1883, to Miss Sally Susan Crosby, who died April 29, 1915.

Mr. Clowney is survived by seven daughters: Mrs. White of Jonesville, Misses Mary, Roberta and Sarah Clowney of Columbia, Mrs. Earle M. Tuttle of Farmington, N. H., Mrs. J. W. Foster of Whitestone, and Miss Anna Clowney of Spartanburg; six sons, M. C., C. E. and R. C. Clowney of Atlanta, Ga., and D. C., J. Y. and S. W. Clowney of Columbia; a brother, Sam Clowney of Winnsboro and 18 grandchildren.

Sept. 1933

The honorary pallbearers were: Campbell Madden, J. E. McDonald, C. A. Robinson, James Macfie, A. M. Owens, R. C. Gooding, S. D. Dunn, J. M. Harden, Sr., G. H. Lokey, Rhett Sanders, Mr. Bennett, J. S. Ketchin, C. W. Bolick, H. L. Elliott, A. C. Timms, C. M. Timms, T. M. McMaster, John Ameen, Ernest Gladden, J. E. Coan, W. D. Douglas, George Lauderdale and Dr. C. S. McCants.

The out of town relatives attending the funeral were: Mrs. Corrie Cathcart, Mrs. Emma Cathcart, Mr. T. S. Ellis, Mr. Allan Gordon, of Due West; Mr. and Mrs. John S. Cathcart, Mr. Thomas Cathcart and Mrs. Richard Cathcart, of Hartsville; Mr. Robert Clowney, Columbia, and Mr. Carroll McKay, Wrens, Ga.

Mrs. Caroline Hagood Matthews 1933

Mrs. Caroline Matthews, 83, died Tuesday, January 17th., at her home in the Union section of Fairfield where she had lived all her life. She was before her marriage, Miss Caroline Hagood, and is survived by one sister, Mrs. J. L. Collins. She was the oldest living member of the Brick church.

Funeral services were conducted at four o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the Brick church by Dr. Oliver Johnson, assisted by Dr. G. G. Mayes. The pallbearers were: G. G. Steele, R. L. Steele, J. M. Park, J. W. Harrison, Young Park, Floyd Robertson and Bob Pratt.

Mrs. Matthews is survived by two sons, Arthur Matthews, of Elberton, Ga., and Joe Matthews, of Winnsboro.

MISS LILY STANTON

Winnsboro, Jan. 28.—Miss Lily E. Stanton, 80, died at her home here early today. Funeral services will be held Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock at Old Long Run church in Fairfield county.

Miss Stanton is survived by a number of nieces and nephews.

Pallbearers will be: Calvin Young, Samuel Young, Raymond Young, Ravenel Shedd, Hugh Timms and Chalmers Timms.

MRS. STROTHER FORD BURIED AT HOPEWELL A. R. P. CHURCH

Chester, Sept. 4.—Mrs. Susan Hemphill Caldwell Ford, wife of Mr. Strother Ford, of the Mitford neighborhood, died at the Pryor Hospital Saturday morning, following an illness of several weeks. Prior to being stricken down, Mrs. Ford had appeared to be in her usual good health, and worked in the engrossing department of the State Legislature at the past session as she had done for several years.

Funeral services were conducted yesterday afternoon at Hopewell A. R. P. church by Dr. Paul Pressly, assisted by Rev. James Neil, of Great Falls, and Rev. J. Oscar Mann, of Chester, with a large concourse of friends present.

Mrs. Ford was a daughter of the late James M. Caldwell and Mrs. Janie Brice Caldwell, and was united in marriage to Mr. Ford November 7, 1925. She was born in the Wellridge community, but spent most of her life in Chester. She was educated at Erskine College and Winthrop College. She was a member of the Chester A. R. P. church, and was deeply interested in religious work. At the time of her death she was the president of the Mitford Home Demonstration Club, and since moving to that community had taken an active part in social, civic, and religious activities. Friends were drawn to her on account of her many outstanding qualities, and join with bereaved husband and sorrowing brothers and sisters in mourning her loss.

Mrs. Ford, in addition to her husband, is survived by the following brothers and sisters: Messrs R. B. Caldwell and J. Steele Caldwell, of Chester, and J. M. Caldwell, of Wellridge; Mr. W. F. Caldwell, of Atlanta, Ga.; Mrs. W. S. Hall, of Gaffney; and Mrs. R. J. Lindsay, of Chester.

Jan 29 - 1935

MRS. WOODROW DIES AT HOME

Venerable Columbian Was Past Ninety-one.

ILL SEVERAL WEEKS

Gave Lot for Y. M. C. A. Building and Otherwise Was Generous.

Dec 12 1928

Mrs. Felie Baker Woodrow, widow of Dr. James Woodrow, died at 6:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon at her residence, 1301 Washington street.

The funeral services will be held at the residence at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Woodrow had been ill for several weeks. A few days ago pneumonia developed and the end came yesterday afternoon. Thus ends the life of one of the oldest women of the present day in Columbia. She was born in Milledgeville, Ga., November 27, 1837, hence was 12 days past her 91st birthday. She was the daughter of the Rev. John W. Baker, a Presbyterian minister of Georgia.

Doctor Woodrow's Widow.

She married Dr. James Woodrow at Dalton, Ga., August 4, 1857. To them four children were born: Mrs. Jeanie (Samuel I) Woodbridge, James Hamilton, Marion W., and Mrs. Charlotte (Melton) Clark. All have preceded her to the grave save Miss Marion W. Woodrow. Fifteen grandchildren survive her: Samuel Woodbridge, Charlotte Louise Woodbridge, Mrs. Grace Woodbridge Roys, Capt. Woodrow Woodbridge, John S. Woodbridge, Mrs. Jeanie W. Duff, the Rev. Charles J. Woodbridge, James Woodrow of Kansas, Fitz William McMaster Woodrow of Washington, D. C., Miss Katherine H. Woodrow of Rock Hill, W. A. Clark, Jr., Dr. James Woodrow Clark, Miss Felie Woodrow Clark and Miss Marion Woodrow Clarke. She also leaves 13 great-grandchildren.

Dr. James Woodrow, her husband, was one of the most remarkable men who has ever lived in South Carolina: theologian, scientist, banker, editor, teacher. A native of Scotland, he was a devoted adopted son of South Carolina. He was the actual head of the Confederate States laboratory in Columbia, Doctor LeConte was the nominal head, but Doctor Woodrow's profound knowledge of analytical and synthetic chemistry made his the master mind of the laboratories, which were in a building on the old fair grounds, north of Elmwood avenue and west of the Wardlaw junior high school. It was here that Doctor Woodrow worked in the day time with his assistants, but it was in the chapel on the Columbia Theological Seminary grounds that he had another laboratory and where he worked at night with his wife as his only assistant, and it was due to her efforts that the apparatus of his laboratory was saved when Sherman's army took the city. Through her solicitations General Logan furnished wagons on which the chemical apparatus was moved, part of which is now in her late residence. She was a devoted wife and helpmeet indeed to that distinguished man, her husband. And it may be said of her as was said of him at his death:

"Who revered his conscience as his king;

And we see him as he moved,
How modest, kindly, all accomplished,
wise,

With that sublime repression of himself,

And in what limits, and how tenderly,

... Through all his tract of years,
Wearing the white flower of a blameless life."

"He had done his work, and held his peace, and had no fear to die."

Woodrow Wilson's Aunt.

President Woodrow Wilson was her nephew, and to her he was devoted, and always spent much of his time with her when in Columbia.

Mrs. Woodrow has been a shut-in for many years, but her benefactions have been numerous and large. She gave the lot upon which stands the Y. M. C. A. of this city. She gave the bell which hangs in the steeple of the First Presbyterian church of this city, and in that of the Presbyterian church in Florence. It was her expressed thought that while she could not go to church herself she would call others to do so through her donated bells. Another pretty idea was expressed in the maintenance of an electric light at what was then the Smith Memorial chapel, now the recreation building of the First Presbyterian church, before the days of paved sidewalks. She said she wished to make it as easy as possible for people to go to prayer meeting.

Many other gifts for the service of God and humanity doubtless are noted in the Book of Life, and will give her an abundance entrance into the kingdom of her Lord.

She was a member of the First Presbyterian church of this city and of the Girls of the '60s, an unique patriotic organization of this city, the members of which had served the Confederate States in the Confederate war and the United States in the World war.

R. Y. CLOWNEY DIES IN SPARTANBURG

Body Brought Here for Burial.
Funeral Announcement Later.

7-13- An Old Citizen. 1933

Robert Young Clowney, 74, died at the General hospital in Spartanburg at 5:40 yesterday afternoon after an illness of two weeks. He had been on a visit to his daughter, Mrs. W. G. White, at Jonesville, and was taken ill there. His body was brought to Columbia last night. No funeral arrangements have been made. He was the father of Miss S. C. Clowney, who died several weeks ago. He is survived by several children.

W. J. ELLIOTT IS FOUND DEAD

Succumbs to Self-Inflicted Wound. 1929
Sept 14

William Julian Elliott, 71, prominent resident of North Columbia, was found dead with a pistol wound in his head about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon by his son, Joseph Elliott and two neighbors.

Mr. Elliott, who made his home at 4601 Monticello road, was missed about 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon from the residence. His sons and neighbors started a search for him which resulted in the finding of his body in an old tenant house situated about 100 yards to the rear of the family residence.

Coroner W. A. McCain and Deputy Sheriff William T. Thompson were called to the scene and decided that no inquest would be necessary.

Mr. Elliott had been in bad health for the past five years and was known to have suffered from melancholia at intervals.

He was born in Winnsboro January 25, 1858, his father being James McKinney Elliott, who married Ann Black of Charlotte. There were 11 children and eight brothers, of whom only one, Henry C. Elliott of Winnsboro, survives.

Mr. Elliott married Miss Minnie Lee Evans of Monticello in 1889. He is survived by four sons and daughters: Joseph McKinney Elliott, John Evans Elliott, Miss Mary Elliott and Miss Elizabeth Wilson Elliott. Three grandchildren also survive.

Coming to Columbia a number of years ago, Mr. Elliott was appraiser for the British American Mortgage company. He later represented cotton gins and manufacturing concerns. Recently he dealt in farm lands and insurance. He was an elder in the Associated Reformed Presbyterian church of Columbia.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 Monday afternoon at the residence and will be conducted by the Rev. Robert C. Betts. Interment will be in the Associated Reformed Presbyterian churchyard at Winnsboro at 4:30 and services at the grave will be conducted by the Rev. Oliver Johnson of Winnsboro. Pallbearers will be announced later.

Mr. Elliott had a wide circle of friends and was a prominent member of a large and prominent family. His passing will be generally regretted.

MRS. R. C. AUGHTRY

Dies at Hospital After Long Illness.

Mrs. R. C. Aughtry of Lykesland, widow of R. C. Aughtry, formerly Miss Lydie Evans Lykes, died at midnight at the Baptist hospital, where she had been a patient for the last several weeks. She had been an invalid for several years.

Mrs. Aughtry was the daughter of Maj. Jesse Goodwyn Lykes and Caroline Trapp Lykes. She was born at Lykesland, was educated at Columbia college and spent most of her life in Columbia, where she has many friends who will mourn her death. She was a devoted member of the Church of the Good Shepherd. Mrs. Aughtry was a woman of charming personality, gracious in her manner. She had high Christian ideals and her life was characterized by unselfish service.

Mrs. Aughtry is survived by two sisters and two brothers, Mrs. Andrew Patterson of Lykesland, Mrs. Chauncey Wilson of Jacksonville, Fred Lykes of Lykesland and William Lykes, who is ill in the Columbia hospital, also a number of nieces and nephews.

Funeral services will be held at 11 o'clock Tuesday morning at Dunbar's with interment to follow in Mill Creek cemetery. Pallbearers will include five nephews.

MRS. M'MASTER DIES FROM FALL

7/10/1930
Mother of Columbians Passes in Charleston.

News was received in Columbia early this morning that Mrs. Louisa Penn McMaster 80, of Winnsboro, widow of the late George H. McMaster, died at the Riverside hospital in Charleston at 11:30 last night.

Mrs. McMaster suffered a fall, in which she broke her hip, three weeks ago, and since that time has been confined to the hospital.

She was from one of the most prominent families in South Carolina, and had many connections throughout the state. She was the daughter of the late Dr. Reece C. Gregg and Mary Ann McIver Gregg, of Mars Bluff, in Florence county.

Surviving her are one son, Dr. John Gregg McMaster, of Florence; five daughters, Mrs. Samuel H. Hay, of Morristown, Tenn.; Miss Louise McMaster, Miss Bessie G. McMaster and Miss Flora McMaster, of Columbia, and Mrs. Clarence W. Legerton, of Charleston; two step-sons, Fitz Hugh McMaster of Columbia and George B. McMaster of Winnsboro, and one step-daughter, Mrs. Thomas H. Ketchin of Winnsboro.

Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at Winnsboro, and interment will be in the old family burying ground of the Associate Reformed Presbyterian church there.

LAST RITES TUESDAY FOR BLAIR WOMAN

March 5 - 1930
Mrs. Sallie Lyles Feaster Was Interred in the Family
Burial Ground.

Funeral services for Mrs. Sallie Lyles Feaster, widow of John C. Feaster, who died at Blairs, Fairfield county, Monday, were held at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. She was interred in the family burial ground near the residence.

Mrs. Feaster was the second daughter of Maj. William S. Lyles, a signer of the Ordinance of Secession, who died in 1862. She was educated at the school of Misses Jane and Sophia Reynolds in Columbia and at Limestone Springs. Her great-grandfather, Aromanus Lyles, was the first white child born in Fairfield county and was a colonel in the Revolutionary war. He also served in the legislature which ratified the United States constitution. Her mother was Sallie Woodward and her grandmother, Mary Woodward, both descendants of Thomas Woodward, the Regulator.

She was a woman of much charm and high intelligence, devoted to the Confederacy and to the ideals of the South. She was a faithful Christian and a member of Rock Creek Baptist church for more than 70 years. She was greatly loved by the people of her neighborhood.

Surviving her are one adopted daughter, Mrs. Gussie Salyer Crowder; Mrs. Crowder's husband, Bon D. Crowder, with whom she lived; one brother, William H. Lyles of Columbia; her nephew, Melvin L. Kinard; nieces, Mrs. Miriam Kinard Wildinson and Miss Susie Kinard; cousins, Mrs. J. M. Mobley, Mrs. W. M. Mobley, Mrs. Charles F. Bradford, James S. Lyles, Mrs. Sarah R. Bynum, Mrs. W. A. Gunter, and a grand-niece, Mrs. Ira T. Kale, all of Columbia. She is also survived by a grand-nephew, James B. Goodlett of Dawkins.

HEAD OF QUARRY DIES IN ACCIDENT

Benjamin H. Heyward
Killed at Rion.

FUNERAL SATURDAY

Well Known Citizen to Be Laid to Rest in Columbia
Today.

Benjamin Huger Heyward, 70, president of the Winnsboro Granite corporation, was killed in the Anderson quarry of the corporation, near Rion, yesterday afternoon when a chain on

DEATH OF MISS FLORENCE FEASTER 1930

Jan 12 -
News was received in Winnsboro of the sudden death of Miss Florence Feaster, well-known and much beloved resident of Fairfield County, at her winter home in Daytona Beach, Florida, Tuesday morning. Funeral services were held at the old Feaster burying ground at Feasterville Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. Many from Winnsboro attended the services.

Miss Feaster was a prominent business woman of Fairfield County and was one of the biggest land owners.

a derrick snapped, and the mass of granite which the shovel held was precipitated in the quarry below.

Mr. Heyward was caught under the falling mass and badly crushed, dying instantly. A Negro man, at work in the quarry, was also caught in the falling stone, but was not fatally injured. The body of Mr. Heyward was brought to Columbia and taken to McCormick's.

Mr. Heyward was the son of Daniel Heyward, a planter near the Savannah river, and Elizabeth Rhett Heyward. He was born at Charleston, August 24, 1860. He received his elementary education in the municipal schools of Alexandria, Va., and later attended the University of Virginia.

When he was 24 years old he married Marianna Tabb Barksdale, daughter of Randolph Barksdale, a major in the medical corps of the Confederate army.

Mr. Heyward had operated the Winnsboro granite quarry for the past 30 years. He was a member of the Trinity Episcopal church in Columbia and was well known throughout the state.

Winnsboro Granite corporation owns extensive deposits of the "younger," extruded and effused granites. Its principal workings are the Anderson quarry, blue and gray monumental stone, and the Rion quarry, structural stone. The properties are served by a spur of the Southern railway which joins the Columbia-Charlotte line at Rockton, about two miles below Winnsboro.

He is survived by his widow; two daughters, Misses Mary Heyward and Betty Heyward, both of Rion; two sons, Daniel Heyward of Rion and John Heyward of Charlottesville, Va.

Funeral services will be held at noon Saturday at Trinity Episcopal church in Columbia with the Rev. Henry D. Phillips in charge. Interment will be in Elmwood cemetery.

Pallbearers at the funeral today will be: Walter Thomas, Waller Bailey, S. T. Pender, L. Brannon, A. M. Blair, W. M. Estes, Ernest Myer and James S. Clarkson.

S. G. DELLENEY

1933

Special to The State.
Chester, Sept. 23.—Stark Gains Delleney, 61, died today at his home here following an illness of Brights disease, heart trouble and complications. Funeral services will be conducted from the home Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock by his pastor, the Rev. L. P. McGee, pastor of Bethel Methodist Episcopal church of this city, and the Rev. Dr. J. L. Daniel, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church of Winnsboro, after which the body will be taken to the Greenbrier Methodist Episcopal church graveyard, approximately seven miles from Rion, in Fairfield county, where the burial will be made.

Mr. Delleney was married to Miss Mary Cadwell, who died a number of years ago, and from this union two sons survive, S. Gaines Delleney, Jr., and Jesse Caldwell Delleney, both of Chester. He is also survived by two sisters, Mrs. J. L. Robinson of Winnsboro and Mrs. D. C. Ruff of Columbia, and one brother, John D. Delleney of Rion.

Mr. Delleney was a native of the Rion section of Fairfield county, being a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Delleney. He was a devoted member of Bethel Methodist Episcopal church. He was a member of the Woodmen of the World.

MRS. MARIAN CROSBY BOULWARE DIES SUDDENLY

In the death of Mrs. Marian Crosby Boulware, age 57, which occurred on Monday, October 2nd., at her home in Salem, the community, family and friends have sustained an irreparable loss.

Mrs. Boulware was a native of Fairfield County, having spent her childhood and early youth in the vicinity of Leeds.

The end came suddenly as an extreme shock to even her immediate household. At an early age Mrs. Boulware acknowledged her relationship to God as the Divine Savior, and became a member of Cool Branch church. Since that time she has proven faithful to the sacred responsibility of exemplifying, through her life and personal contacts, the love of Him whom she chose as her guide. As a wife, as a mother, as a Christian of the highest type, it may be said fittingly of her: "She has done what she could."

"Not in cruelty, not in wrath the answer came that day."

Mrs. Boulware was the daughter of the late William Walker Crosby and Elizabeth Estes Crosby. About 1892 she married Thomas Boulware, who died eight years ago.

She is survived by the following sons and daughters: Messrs Boyce Boulware, Charlotte; Ernest Boulware, Norfolk, Va.; Talmadge Boulware, Trezvant C. Boulware, Strother; Curtis Osborn Boulware, Clemson College; Mrs. Lemmon Turner and Mrs. J. A. Wertz, Winnsboro; Mrs. E. L. Kelly and Mrs. Joe Burley, Strother; Mrs. A. C. Estes, Bookman; Misses Ella Rae, Thomasine, Mildred and Mary Boulware, Strother. She is also survived by seventeen grandchildren, one sister, Mrs. W. T. McDaniel, Leeds, S. C.; one brother, Dr. Curtis E. Crosby, Greenwood; and a number of nieces and nephews.

The funeral services were held at 3:30 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon at Cool Branch Baptist Church, conducted by her pastor, Rev. Owens, in the presence of scores of friends and relatives from Fairfield and adjoining counties. The elaborately beautiful floral tributes expressed kindly the high esteem in which Mrs. Boulware was held. Interment was in the family plot of the church cemetery.

The pallbearers were: Messrs Charlie Mack Boulware, George Boulware, Raymond McDaniel, Charlie McDaniel, Crosby McDaniel and Sims McDaniel, nephews of the deceased.

MISS M. M. DURHAM

Special to The State.
Wolfton, Jan. 9.—Miss Marion Mobley Durham died the last day of the old year after having been in failing health for several years.

She was born in Fairfield county, near Blackstock, August 17, 1863 but spent most of her childhood at the old Mobley homestead, "The Oaks."

She was a daughter of the late John Woodward Durham and his wife, Mary Wagner Mobley Durham.

She was a graduate of Hollins college, and a woman of exceptional intellectual attainments.

For a number of years she was a teacher in the schools of the state.

She was a member of Thomas Woodward chapter, D. A. R., Winnsboro, and the Michael Brice, U. D. C. chapter of Blackstock and Woodward.

She was a member of Blackstock Baptist church.

For many years she had made her home with her sisters, Mrs. Edgar L. Culler. She was buried at Limestone church in Orangeburg county.

The following relatives survive: Two sisters, Mrs. Mary D. Hughes, Los Angeles, Calif., and Mrs. Edgar L. Culler, Orangeburg; one brother, Dr. Frank M. Durham, Columbia; five nephews, Hal Hughes, Woodward, Edgar and Oscar Zeigler Culler and Frank Durham, and one niece, Miss Anna Durham.

MRS. C. BINDER SUCCUMBS TO LINGERING ILLNESS

Mrs. Lou Danna Rabb Binder, wife of Mr. Christopher Binder, passed away at Martin Memorial hospital, Mount Airy, N. C., Wednesday about 1:00 P. M., following a serious illness of a few weeks, though Mrs. Binder had been failing in health for more than a year.

In the passing of Mrs. Binder Mount Airy loses one of her most progressive women, a woman with boundless energy, a friendly woman and one with a spirit to public interest. She was an active member of the First Baptist church, and has been active in Red Cross work serving as county chairman of the Surry chapter American Red Cross in 1932 and continuing her interest in the organization until ill health forced her to turn it over to others. She was a member of the Pilot Mountain chapter No. 23 Order of Eastern Star, and a Past Matron of the Mount Airy chapter No. 18, of the same order. She was also affiliated with the United Daughters of Confederacy and the Mount Airy Woman's club.

Mrs. Binder had an operation about a year ago, in an effort to combat disease which was sapping her strength, and has been forced to have hospital treatment a number of times prior to her last illness. In the meantime she maintained her usual cheerful and wholesome attitude, and when able to get out mingled with her friends, without complaint. For some weeks her loved ones and friends have watched for some ray of encouragement, but during the past week her children gathered here to await the end, which was known to be inevitable.

Mrs. Binder was born in Fairfield county, South Carolina, January 1, 1882, a daughter of the late W. Clarence Rabb, and Mary C. Holley Rabb. She was married to Mr. Christopher Binder July 27, 1902.

She is survived by her husband and nine children: Mrs. Flora Frances Jones, of Philadelphia, Pa., Miss Lou Danna Binder, of Philadelphia, Miss Mary Carolyn Binder, Christopher, Jr., Harry Wood Binder, Miss Martha Anne Binder, Miss Nina Kincaid Binder, Edith Marian Binder and Nora Leach Binder. Miss Nina is a student at Meredith College, Raleigh and Miss Martha a student at Salem College, Winston-Salem, the others make their home here. Other surviving relatives are three sisters, Mrs. Lilla Rabb Gadsden, Rockton, S. C., Mrs. A. A. Myers, Pamplico, S. C., Mrs. John McNalley, New York, and two brothers, Eugene Rabb, Augusta, Ga., and Horace Rabb, Rockton, S. C.

Besides the children, who have been in attendance at the bedside of their mother several days, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Binder, of Allentown, Pa., and Mr. Leonard P. Jones, of Philadelphia arrived for the funeral.

The funeral was held Friday afternoon from the First Baptist church in Mount Airy with her former pastor Rev. E. I. Olive in charge of the services, assisted by the pastor Dr. I. T. Jacobs. Interment was made at Oakdale cemetery.

MR. C. E. CATHCART PASSED AWAY THURSDAY

Mr. Charles E. Cathcart, 67, died suddenly at his home here Thursday evening, March 30th., about 7 o'clock. He had been paralyzed for several months, but had been able to be up and to attend to business until the day before his death.

Mr. Cathcart was born and reared in Winnsboro. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Mary Clowney Cathcart; three sons, C. E., Jr., Moses C., and Andrew Melvin Cathcart; one daughter, Mrs. Margaret McKay, all of Winnsboro; one brother, John S. Cathcart, of Hartsville, and eight grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at four o'clock Friday afternoon at the Associate Reformed Presbyterian church, conducted by Dr. Oliver Johnson, pastor, assisted by Dr. G. G. Mayes, of the Presbyterian church. Interment was in the A. R. P. cemetery.

The active pallbearers were: D. A. Crawford, R. T. Haynes, W. A. Robinson, C. H. Bloodworth, J. W. Horne and A. C. Parrish.

MONTICELLO MAN CLAIMED BY DEATH

Funeral Services for S. G. McMeekin at 3 O'clock This Afternoon.

Stephen Gibson McMeekin, 67, of Monticello died suddenly at his home Wednesday night. He had been in declining health for a number of years.

Mr. McMeekin was born January 22, 1866, the son of Capt. Hayne McMeekin and Sarah Gibson McMeekin.

He is survived by the following sisters and brothers: Mrs. Margaret Rabb of Monticello, Mrs. Buford Jackson of College Place, Mrs. William H. Gist of Carlisle and Gus McMeekin of Monticello, with whom he lived.

He was a man of strong character and high integrity. His passing is lamented by many friends.

Funeral services will be held from Monticello Methodist church at 3 o'clock this afternoon with his pastor, the Rev. T. F. Reid, assisted by the Rev. M. L. Banks of College Place, in charge. Interment will be in the churchyard.

MRS. MARY E. BUSBY RESTS NEAR SHELTON

Mrs. Mary E. Busby, 86, of Monetta died at 9:30 Wednesday evening. She was the widow of Prof. D. B. Busby, who was a well known educator in the state.

Mrs. Busby was reared in Fairfield county and was the daughter of Maj. Charles W. Faucette and Mary McConnell Faucette.

She is survived by the following nieces and nephews: Misses Julia E. Faucette and Mary I. Faucette of Shelton, Mrs. M. D. Ogburn of Spartanburg, Mrs. Lula Durham of Columbia and A. McC. Faucette of Columbia and Harry C. Faucette of Baltimore, Charles W. Slater and Robert W. Slater of Washington.

Interment will be at Antioch church cemetery, near Shelton, Fairfield county, at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

MR. J. M. EDRINGTON PASS- ES AWAY LAST SATURDAY

Mr. J. M. Edrington, 83, died Saturday afternoon at his home, near Blairs. He suffered a stroke several months ago and had been an invalid ever since. Mr. Edrington was one of the few Confederate veterans left in the county.

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at Rock Creek church, near Strother.

Mr. Edrington is survived by three sons and one daughter, J. W. Edrington of Winstboro, J. G. Edrington, of Columbia, D. T. Edrington of Jacksonville, Fla., and Miss Jennie Edrington, who made her home with her father near Blairs.

MR. WILLIAM B. WRIGHT DIES MONDAY AFTERNOON

Mar. 27 1933

Funeral services of Mr. William Brooks Wright, 77, who died Monday afternoon at his home at Shelton, were held at 11 o'clock Wednesday morning at the Cool Branch Baptist church with the Rev. James Henry Yarborough, Baptist minister of Chester officiating, assisted by his pastor, the Rev. S. P. Cogburn. Burial was in the graveyard of the church.

Mr. Wright was a native of the Halsellville section, son of the late Vincent Brown Wright and Jane Cockrell Wright.

Mr. Wright is survived by his widow, Mrs. Lizzie Kerr Wright, and by one daughter and five sons: Mrs. V. H. Kittles, W. B. Wright, Jr., H. Grady Wright, John B. Wright, James K. Wright, all of Shelton, and J. Earle Wright of Franklin, Va. He is also survived by one brother, Samuel Wright of Leeds and eight grandchildren.

The following served as honorary pallbearers: T. H. White, J. E. Cornwell, John Wise, Dave Coleman, Jr., R. A. Feaster, John L. Dickey, Will Long, Jim Frazier, Sr., M. B. Martin, J. R. Shelton, W. Y. Coleman, W. B. McDowell, Clarence Jeter, J. D. Boulware, Julian Welch, H. Y. McKeown; active: Billy Kittles, Hugh Kittles, Henry Wright, Irby Wright, Vincent Wright, Wilks Wright, Dewey and Henry Waters.

April 28 - 1933

G. B. M'MASTER DIES WINNSBORO

Succumbs Heart Attack. Funeral This Afternoon.

Special to The State.
Winnsboro, Aug. 22.—George Buchanan McMaster, 63, after an illness of nearly eight months, died at his home here at 9 o'clock tonight. Mr. McMaster had been warned about a year or more ago that his health was seriously impaired and the first part of January he suffered a heart attack. Since then he had been confined to his home and had gradually grown worse until today when he quietly passed away.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Genie Anderson McMaster; two daughters, Miss Eugenia McMaster, now in Winnsboro, but a teacher in Statesville, N. C., Mrs. James T. Quattlebaum of Columbia, and one son, Edward Anderson McMaster of Winnsboro; two brothers, Fitz Hugh McMaster of Columbia and Dr. John Gregg McMaster of Kingstree; six sisters, Mrs. Thomas H. Ketchin of Winnsboro, Miss Bessie G. McMaster of Columbia, Mrs. Sam H. Hay of Morristown, Tenn., Miss Louise McMaster of Rock Hill, Mrs. C. W. Legerton of Charleston and Miss Flora McMaster of Winnsboro.

Mr. McMaster was the son of the late George Hunter and Mary Flenniken McMaster of Winnsboro, and his ancestry goes back to the early settlers of the town. His home is on a part of the site of the home of Gen. Richard Winn, for whom the town of Winnsboro was named. He had been a deacon of the Associate Reformed Presbyterian church of Winnsboro for many years and was a consistent Christian. During the 12 years of President Wilson's administration he was postmaster at Winnsboro. He was a member of the Masonic lodge of Winnsboro and for some years was one of its officers.

Funeral services will be held at 5 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the residence.

DR. THOMAS B. WHATLEY

Special to The State.
Jenkinsville, Sept. 17.—The friends of Dr. Thomas Benjamin Whatley will be saddened to hear of his death Wednesday, September 14. Doctor Whatley had been ill for several months at the home of his daughter, Mrs. D. G. Yarborough, of Jenkinsville and it was there that he passed away. He was laid to rest in the cemetery of Little River Baptist church beside his little grandson. Funeral services at the church were conducted by the Rev. J. P. Isenhower of Winnsboro, long time friend of the doctor, and at the graveside by the local Masons. Doctor Whatley was a member of the Masonic lodge of Yemassee.

Doctor Whatley was in his 76th year, having been born in 1856 in Edgefield county, one of ten children. He lived most of his life in Hampton and Jasper counties and at one time was a member of the legislature from Hampton county. It was in Augusta that he finished in medicine and at St. Luke's hospital of New York City that he did special work and study. Then he returned to his home county to practice his profession and for nearly fifty years he served the people as physician and friend. He was a great lover of music, possessing a rich bass voice and having the ability to play organ, piano and violin.

In 1888 Doctor Whatley was married to Miss Jessie Mole, member of a prominent Hampton county family, who died several years ago. He leaves besides Mrs. D. G. Yarborough of Jenkinsville, two other daughters, Mrs. W. H. A. Terry of Fort Worth, Texas, and Mrs. Guilford Burdick of Atlanta, Ga., and one son, Vasco Whatley of Elkin, N. C. Seven grandchildren also survive.

SAMUEL S. CURRY FATALLY STRICKEN

Funeral Services Will Be Held This Afternoon for Resident of County. 1932

Special to The State.
Newberry, Dec. 31.—Samuel Stafford Curry, 76, prominently connected Newberry county citizen, died suddenly this afternoon at the home of Callie Boyd Parr, about five miles west of Newberry, where he had made his home for the last several years.

Funeral services will be held Sunday afternoon at 1 o'clock at McSwain's Funeral home, conducted by his pastor, the Rev. J. W. Carson. Interment will be at the Brick A. R. P. church near Jenkinsville.

Mr. Curry was on the street this afternoon talking with friends and his death came as a shock to the community.

Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. John Swittenberg, Newberry; Mrs. Thomas Smoak, Branchville; Mrs. J. L. Lancaster, Savannah, Ga., and a brother, J. B. Curry of Greenville.

MRS. A. M. McMEEKIN

Special to The State. 1933
Jenkinsville, Dec. 5.—Mrs. A. M. McMeekin died at her home near Jenkinsville after a long illness.
She is survived by her husband and by three daughters by a former marriage, Mrs. W. S. Reynolds of Charleston, Mrs. J. W. Cockerill of Sumter and Mrs. George Chappell of Pompeys Pillar, Mont. Two sisters also survive, Mrs. R. T. Roach and Mrs. Archie McNeil of New York City.
She will be mourned by a large circle of friends and relatives.

R. Y. TURNER DIES THURSDAY MORNING

All Winnsboro and Fairfield county was saddened Thursday morning by news of the death of Mr. R. Y. Turner. Stricken with a heart attack some ten days ago, he failed to rally, and died at three fifteen o'clock Thursday morning. Mr. Turner was one of the best loved and most useful citizens in this section of the state. His business judgment was almost uncanny in its soundness, and he succeeded in all his undertakings. For twenty years he was an influential director of the Bank of Fairfield, for more than thirty years he was in charge of the Express company in Winnsboro and at the time of his death, he was receiver of The Winnsboro Bank. Confidence in his ability and integrity was universal. His presence in any business undertaking assured its success.

But it was not in business alone that he was an outstandingly successful man. Any project for the betterment of the community was sure of his hearty support. For thirty years he was a member of the Board of Trustees of School District No. 14, and its Secretary and Treasurer. In him the schools found a friend in season and out of season. Conservatively progressive, he helped to build on sure foundations. Wise in counsel and courageous in action, he will be sorely missed.

Mr. Turner is survived by his widow, Mrs. Belle Turner, and ten children: R. Y. Turner, Jr., of Rutherfordton, N. C., Andrew, Charles, Alex, Grady, Harold, Fred, Betty and Isabel Turner, all of Winnsboro, and Katherine Turner, of Atlanta, Ga.

Serving as pallbearers will be: William M. Shand, R. B. Herbert, J. P. Taylor, Deems Haltiwanger, Eugene McNulty, Robert Moorman, Dr. William S. Lindsay, Amos Davis, Ehrlich Thomson and E. L. Craig.

Mr. Lyles, prominent in the business, religious and social life of Columbia, was at one time president of the state bar and the Richland bar. He had a long and distinguished legal career.

He was the only son of William Strother Lyles and Sarah Haynsworth Lyles, coming from families prominent in the history of South Carolina.

Growing up immediately after the Confederate war, he attended Furman Fitting school one year and spent two years at Mount Zion institute at Winnsboro, where he read law in Col. James H. Rion's office.

He opened a law office in Columbia in 1875 and took an active part in the redemption and reconstruction of the state and ever since had been prominent in the leading enterprises of the upbuilding of the city.

Mr. Lyles was one of the promoters and builders and original directors of the Columbia, Newberry & Laurens railroad, the Columbia Street railway, the Granby and Olympia system of cotton mills and the first suburban development company and the Columbia Land & Investment company. He was president of the old Commercial bank and later organized the Palmetto Bank & Trust company, later the Palmetto National bank, and remained its president for a time. During the early years of The State he was a stockholder and director.

At the time of his death he was associated with his son, J. B. S. Lyles, in the law firm of Lyles and Lyles. He continued actively in practice until about a year ago when ill health incapacitated him. Three months ago he suffered a stroke of apoplexy and failing to rally, died peacefully Friday in the bed in which he was born.

In Mr. Lyles' death, Columbia lost one of its most valuable citizens and the First Baptist church lost one of its most beloved members.

Mr. Lyles married Miriam Mays Sloan of Anderson and she survives with six children, Miss Mary Earle Lyles, Mrs. Francis R. Boyd of Cambridge, Mass., Jo-Berry Sloan Lyles, William H. Lyles, Jr., Preston Earle Lyles and Mrs. J. Sproles Lyons, Jr., of Landrum; also the following grandchildren: Harriet Earle Boyd, Francis Boyd, Jr., Wallace Lyons, May Lyons, William Sloan Lyles.

LAST RITES TODAY FOR W. H. LYLES Jan 24 1932 Venerable Columbian to Be Buried in Elmwood.

Last rites for William Haynsworth Lyles, 78-year-old Columbia attorney who died Friday at his home, 1401 Blanding street, will be held at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the First Baptist church with the Rev. John H. Webb, pastor, in charge. Interment will be in Elmwood.

1932
MRS. RAGSDALE DIES AT HOSPITAL HERE

Widow of Prominent Lawyer.
Funeral This Afternoon in 1934 Winnsboro. 1932

Mrs. Inez McMeekin Ragsdale, widow of the late Senator Glenn W. Ragsdale, died at 6:30 yesterday afternoon at the Baptist hospital after an illness of one week.

Mrs. Ragsdale was before her marriage the former Miss Inez McMeekin, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McMeekin of Jenkinsville, Fairfield county.

She was born November 1, 1866, and was married March 16, 1877, to Glenn W. Ragsdale, a prominent attorney of Winnsboro, who preceded her to the grave September 11, 1931.

Mrs. Ragsdale was a devout Christian woman and active member of the First Methodist church of Winnsboro. She was a devoted wife and mother, untiring and unselfish in her services for others. Her kind and lovable disposition endeared her to all who knew her, and she leaves a host of friends to mourn her death.

She leaves the following children: Mrs. Jack H. McLaurin and Mrs. Gordon G. McLaurin of Dillion, William G., Robert W. and Miss Edith Ragsdale of Winnsboro. She is survived by the following brothers and sisters: J. C. McMeekin and T. L. McMeekin of Jenkinsville, Mrs. J. K. Ragsdale of Greenville and Mrs. Carrie Glenn of Jenkinsville. Eleven grandchildren also survive.

Funeral services will be held at the Methodist cemetery in Winnsboro at 4:30 this afternoon.

The following nephews will serve as active pallbearers: Silas McMeekin, Glenn McMeekin, W. T. Glenn, Jr., C. H. Ragsdale, J. R. Ragsdale and Tom Glenn. Honorary pallbearers will be: Dr. J. C. Buchanan, Sr., Dr. J. C. Buchanan, Jr., Dr. C. S. McCants, Dr. J. D. McMeekin, A. Lee Scruggs and George Lauderdale.

MRS. LILLIE PROVENCE
RABB PASSES AWAY

(From The Evening News, Gainesville, Florida, March 28, 1932.)

An the early hours of the morning, Monday, March 28th., the sweet spirit of Mrs. Lillie Provence Rabb passed into eternal life. After many months of suffering, peace came to this saintly woman.

Mrs. Rabb was the widow of the late Charles Kincaid Rabb and daughter of Col. David Provence, and his wife, Elizabeth Hall Provence, both of Fairfield County, S. C. She was married while very young and united early in life with the Salem Presbyterian church, near Monticello, S. C., but has been a member of the Presbyterian Church of this city since coming here to reside. She was educated in old Williamston College, South Carolina.

Mrs. Rabb was a charter member of the Wade Hampton Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, of Columbia, S. C., and an honorary member of J. Finley Chapter, U. D. C., of this city.

She is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Ethel Rabb, this city, Mrs. J. Slater Hodges of Waycross, Ga., and Mrs. H. LeRoy Witherspoon of Sumter, S. C., and six grandchildren. One sister, Mrs. M. P. Lynch, Winston-Salem, N. C., one half-brother, Samuel McCormick, Great Falls, S. C., one brother-in-law, Rev. Horace Rabb, Due West, S. C., and one sister-in-law, Mrs. W. P. Castles, of Winnsboro, S. C., and other relatives in this city and South Carolina also survive.

The interment will take place at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the Melrose Cemetery, Dr. U. S. Gordon, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, officiating.

C. G. BOULWARE DIES

Fairfield Wearer of Gray Crosses River.

Special to The State.

Chester, April 17.—Chesley G. Boulware, 88, Confederate veteran, prominent citizen and large landowner of Fairfield county, died last night at the Pryor hospital, following a week's illness of asthma.

The funeral services will be conducted from the Cool Branch Baptist church Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, after which the interment will be made in the graveyard of the church.

Mr. Boulware possessed a large circle of friends, both in Chester and Fairfield counties. His death caused much sorrow. He was interested in religious, educational and civic activities. He was an extensive planter. For some time he had been making his home with his daughter, Mrs. R. V. Gist, at Carlisle. His farming interests were located over 14 miles from Chester.

He is survived by two daughters and by two sons, as follows: Mrs. T. M. Traylor of Leeds and Mrs. R. V. Gist of Carlisle; G. L. Boulware of Farmersville, La., and Chesley G. Boulware, Jr., of Shelton. He is likewise survived by a number of grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

April 17 - 1932

ment in Elmwood cemetery. The body was taken to Columbia this afternoon.

The services will be conducted by the Rev. A. N. Brunson of Rock Hill, who will be assisted by the Rev. C. C. Herbert of the Washington Street Methodist church in Columbia.

Active pallbearers will be: Howard Reid, W. J. Roddey, Jr., J. B. Jackson, R. B. Cunningham, Jr., Will Evans, all of Columbia; John Roddey, Jr., Dunlap Roddey and Benjamin Dunlap of Rock Hill.

Surviving are one brother, Thomas Davis Macfeat, and one sister, Mrs. L. D. Yarborough, both of Columbia. Another brother, who died some years ago, was W. H. Macfeat, well known court stenographer, and founder of the Macfeat Business school.

Four nieces also survive: Dr. Minnie Claire Yarborough of the English department of Hunter college, New York city; Miss Clara Glenn Yarborough, clerk in the governor's office; Miss Annie Erwin Macfeat of Columbia, Mrs. Harry McLeod Moorehead of New York City, and one great-niece, Dorian Macfeat Moorhead of New York.

For a number of years she was a first grade teacher in the city schools of Columbia, beginning this work during the superintendency of the late Dr. D. B. Johnson, after her graduation from Winthrop college. She was a member of the second-year class, that of 1887-1888.

Goes to Macon.

Under the regime of Superintendent E. S. Dreher, Miss Macfeat went to Macon, Ga., to take up the study of kindergarten work, completing her course in the Patty Hill school, Louisville, Ky. Upon invitations of the Winthrop board of trustees, Miss Macfeat came to Rock Hill in 1903 to be head of the newly organized Winthrop kindergarten, which position she held until her death.

Miss Macfeat was born in Columbia, the daughter of the late William Tucker Macfeat and Mrs. Dorian Hurst Macfeat, member of a well known family of Richland county. She was educated in the famous Doctor Martin school and came to Columbia as a bride and all of her family were reared there.

Miss Macfeat was the eldest daughter and was educated under Miss Marjorie Rollinger, well known teacher of her day, and at the old Reynolds academy in Columbia, followed by her course in Winthrop training school.

She was a life long member of the Methodist denomination. A fitting tribute to the statewide esteem in which Miss Macfeat was held was the unveiling of her portrait and its presentation to Winthrop college, the ceremony taking place in May. The portrait was the gift of friends from all over South Carolina, many little children contributing of their pennies to the fund.

Well Known in Columbia.

Announcement in Columbia yesterday morning of the death of Miss Macfeat brought many expressions of sorrow. Though it was known that she was desperately ill following the stroke of apoplexy she suffered about two weeks ago, hope had been expressed that she would recover.

Miss Macfeat was widely and intimately known in Columbia. It was in this city that she established the Columbia Kindergarten association, an organization composed of outstanding educators of Columbia, whose prime object was to establish kindergartens in textile mill centers.

It was under her wise guidance and direction that the first kindergarten for children of parents working in a textile mill was organized—the kindergarten at the Richland Cotton mill.

She served the childhood of the state not only with wisdom and knowledge but with love and devotion. The appeal of all children moved her deeply and she spent herself in their service.

Nor did her service go unrecognized. In 1928, at the completion of a quarter of a century of work at Winthrop college, she was awarded a medal for 25 years of distinguished service as a member of the college faculty.

In the latter part of May of this year tribute was paid her in fitting fashion at Winthrop. With impressive and unique ceremonies her portrait was unveiled, the first of a woman to grace the administration building of Winthrop or the halls of any college of this state. A large audience of Winthrop alumnae, members of the faculty and other friends had assembled to do Miss Macfeat honor and she was moved by their presence. Also the children of the Winthrop kindergarten and visiting kindergartens were present, some so tiny that when they covered her with flowers, they called her "Miss Macpeat," and her eyes filled with tears at the evidences of their affection. They sang to her the songs they had learned in kindergarten and it was indeed a happy day for the teacher. Numerous speakers joined in paying her tribute on that occasion.

Miss Macfeat was an author of note, two of her works were "The Artist Mother" and "Everybody's Child," both dealing with childhood. Among the offices she held were:

Vice president of the kindergarten department of the National Education association.

Chairman of the child welfare department of the South Carolina Federation of Women's Clubs.

President of the kindergarten department of the South Carolina Parent-Teacher association.

Field secretary to the National Kindergarten association.

Died, July 2, 1931.

MISS MINNIE MACFEAT.

Miss Minnie Macfeat Dies at Rock Hill.

LONG AT WINTHROP

For More Than Quarter of Century Had Served Cause of Education—Funeral Today.

Rock Hill, July 2—(AP)—After an illness of two weeks, Miss Minnie H. Macfeat, pioneer in kindergarten work in South Carolina, died here today. Miss Macfeat, who was 68 years of age, was one of the best known educators of the state. She had been at Winthrop 28 years.

Funeral services will be held in Columbia at the home of Miss Macfeat's sister, Mrs. L. D. Yarborough, 917 Henderson street, Friday afternoon at 6 o'clock.

Miss Macfeat was graduated from Winthrop training school when it was still located in Columbia and took further training in kindergarten work in Louisville, Ky.

While teaching in Columbia schools she organized the first kindergarten in a textile mill community in South Carolina at the Richland cotton mill.

Both during her stay in Columbia and after her move to Rock Hill in 1903, where she became head of the kindergarten department of Winthrop college, she spent much of her time in organization of kindergartens in textile mills.

Miss Macfeat was a member of the Methodist church and was prominent in Sunday school work. She also was interested in the parent-teacher work of the state and at the time of her death was chairman of the pre-school circle of the South Carolina Parent-Teacher association.

Among offices she held were vice president of the kindergarten department of the National Education association and field secretary to the National Kindergarten association.

Funeral This Afternoon.

Special to The State.

Rock Hill, July 2.—Funeral services for Miss Minnie H. Macfeat, head of Winthrop college kindergarten and widely known for her educational work, will be held in Columbia Friday evening at 6 o'clock with inter-

HENRY L. PARR DIES SUDDENLY

Prominent Citizen of Newberry Fatally Stricken.

1931
AT HOME OF SON

Played Leading Part in Development Parr Shoals—Funeral Services Today.

Newberry, Oct. 7—(AP)—Henry Larkin Parr, 61, a native of Fairfield county and one of the original promoters of the Parr Shoals Power development, died suddenly today at the home of his son, C. B. Parr, near here.

Mr. Parr, who came to Newberry approximately 25 years ago and since then has been prominently identified with local business interests, was stricken with a cerebral hemorrhage while talking with his son.

At the time of his death, Mrs. Parr was in Concord, N. C., attending a convention of the Associate Reformed Presbyterian church. In addition to Mrs. Parr, who was Miss Mary Boyd before marriage, Mr. Parr is survived by his son and two daughters, Mrs. Ralph D. Baker and Mrs. A. J. Patrick, both of Newberry.

For 20 years, Mr. Parr was president of the Exchange bank here, which recently closed. He had other important business connections and was a large landowner.

Funeral services will be held at 4 p. m. tomorrow from the Parr residence here. Burial will be in Rosemont cemetery.

Mr. Parr, who was well known in Columbia, was a son of Maj. Henry Wilson Parr of Virginia and Edna Smith Parr of Mississippi. He was born in Fairfield county and moved to Newberry more than 25 years ago. Mr. Parr served for a time as a member of the Newberry county board of commissioners.

It was largely to his vision and enterprise that the development of the water power at Parr shoals came into being.

Mr. Parr was a member of the Associated Reformed Presbyterian church of Newberry.

RIDGEWAY LOSES LEADING CITIZEN

Ridgeway, Nov. 24.—Charles D. Tidwell, 56, of Ridgeway, died at 9:40 Monday night at his home following an illness of about one year.

Mr. Tidwell was one of Fairfield county's most prominent merchants and planters and for 30 years had been a leader in the community. He was a man of many sterling traits of character and held in high esteem by all those who knew him.

He was a devoted member and deacon of Aimwell Presbyterian church, a Mason and a member of the Knights of Pythias.

Mr. Tidwell was the son of the late W. O. Tidwell and Mattie Myers Tidwell of Fairfield county.

He is survived by his widow, the former Miss Annie Walker Kennedy of Fairfield county; and one son, Charles W. Tidwell of Ridgeway; six daughters, Mrs. Pauline T. Williams, Miss Nannie Tidwell, Miss Ellen Tidwell, all of Ridgeway; Mrs. Boyd Brown, of Winnsboro, Mrs. S. C. McMeekin, of Columbia, Mrs. F. D. Watkins of Asheville; five brothers, W. D. Tidwell of Columbia, J. A. Tidwell of Columbia, M. M. Tidwell of Ridgeway, J. M. Tidwell of Columbia, S. L. Tidwell of Fountain Inn; one sister, Mrs. N. L. Galbreth of Columbia, and grandchildren, Walter Brown, Grady Williams, Miss Elizabeth Williams, Grace Williams.

Funeral services were held from the home at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, conducted by the Rev. S. R. Guignard of Columbia and the Rev. B. H. Franklin, his pastor. Interment was in Aimwell cemetery at Ridgeway, in charge of the masonic order, Ridgeway lodge.

Serving as active pallbearers were: Arthur Hines, Clarence Edmunds, D. W. Ruff, Jr., W. G. Whitlock, L. E. Hooten and Julius Bowen.

Honorary pallbearers were: R. C. Thomas, W. B. Kennedy, J. S. Parker, R. M. Bolick, W. H. Kennedy, N. W. Palmer, Dr. J. F. Dobson, Dr. J. C. Buchanan, Jr., the Rev. A. L. Willis and S. P. Thomas.

SEPTEMBER 12, 1931

STROKE IS FATAL TO G. W. RAGSDALE

Prominent Attorney and Former Legislator Dies at Home in Winnsboro.

Special to The State.

Winnsboro, Sept. 11.—G. W. Ragsdale, prominent member of the local bar and outstanding and recognized in his profession throughout the state, died at his home here last night. Several months ago Mr. Ragsdale suffered a stroke of paralysis and since that time had been declining, although until recently his friends had hopes that he would recover.

Mr. Ragsdale was born at Jenkinsville, Fairfield county, June 3, 1858. His academic education was received at Furman university, after which he prepared for his profession in the law offices of James H. Rion, and was admitted to the bar in 1882. Shortly after this he served in the legislature for several terms, and was a member of the constitutional convention of 1895. He again served in the general assembly as senator from 1920 to 1924, during which time he was nominated for a vacant judgeship, the contest finally resulting in the election of Judge J. K. Henry. Since that time he had devoted his time to the practice of his profession. Throughout his career he has been a student and philosopher, more interested in seeing that justice was done than personal success, often taking cases which involved a principle rather than for reasons of financial reward.

His parents were Elijah Ragsdale and Nancy Ragsdale. March 16, 1887, he married Miss Inez McMeekin who survives him. From this union the following children were born, Mrs. J. H. McLaurin and Mrs. G. G. McLaurin of Dillon, W. G. Ragsdale, R. W. Ragsdale and Miss Edith Ragsdale of Winnsboro.

Funeral services will be from the home Saturday morning at 10:30 o'clock, with interment in the Methodist cemetery.

D. COALTER MEANS

1931

Man Well Known in Columbia
Dies in Savannah.

David Coalter Means, 61, died in Savannah, Ga., the night of Thursday, July 16, from a heart attack sudden and without warning, sitting talking with friends apparently entirely well.

He was born in Fairfield county near Salem church, second son of Dr. David Coalter Means and his wife, Elizabeth Mobley Means, and was the grandnephew of Governor John Hugh Means.

He was buried at 6 p. m., last Monday, at Connelly Springs, N. C., where his mother was buried. He had been in the United States railway mail service for 33 years, and was retired the first day of December, 1930, receiving a most complimentary letter from the department. He had made his home in Savannah, and at times in Jacksonville, but spent much time in Columbia, where he had many friends. He attended the university here. He was of gracious manners and generous genial disposition with fine intelligence and character.

He had many relatives in Columbia, having been first cousin of the late David Harper Means and James Hagood Means, Beverley Means English, Harriet English Gillespie, and of Mrs. Dr. Theodore DuBose. Two of the sisters of his mother still survive, Mrs. Kate Mobley Southerland of Connelly Springs, and Mrs. Ellen Mobley Screven of Spartanburg. His brother, Robert Harper Means died in Asheville, N. C., five years ago, whose son, Butler Clifton Means, had just predeceased him but left a son now eight years old. Another son of Robert Means now lives in Lynch, Ky., Barton Bates Means.

The nearest relative, Miss Marion Mobley Means, a graduate of Winthrop college and an M. A. of the University of Texas, teaches in the West but makes her headquarters at Lynch with her nephew. She will be in Columbia for two weeks visiting relatives, Miss Alice Means, Mrs. Joseph L. Nettles and Mrs. Charles D. Arthur.

D. C. Means was an active Mason, life member of the Morocco temple of the Shrine in Jacksonville, the Royal Arch Masons, the Council of Royal and Select Masters, and Damascus commandery, Knights Templars.

MRS. YARBOROUGH 1932 IS LAID TO REST

Services for Beloved Woman at Jenkinsville Yesterday.

The funeral of Mrs. Louise Swygert Yarborough was held at the residence in Jenkinsville at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. It was conducted by the Rev. J. P. Isenhower, assisted by the Rev. Mr. Reed of Shiloh church and the Rev. J. H. Yarborough of Chester. The interment was at Little River cemetery.

The pallbearers were: J. C. Chappell, T. C. Chappell, P. D. Chappell, C. J. Shealy, Willie Heron and John Brittle.

Mrs. Yarborough is survived by her husband and the following children: Howard, Mary Louise, Lottie Foster, Henry, Bessie and Katie and J. F., Jr.; her mother, Mrs. Mamie Swygert; two sisters, Mrs. T. S. McMeekin, and Mrs. W. T. Glenn, and one brother, J. G. Swygert of Columbia.

and three daughters, Mrs. Dave Crawford, Mrs. Thomas W. Ruff, Jr., and Miss Beck Macfie of Winnsboro, Wade H. Macfie, Jr., of Brooklyn, N. Y.; one sister, Mrs. Agnes Anderson, of Columbia; three brothers, Sheriff James Macfie and R. R. Macfie, of Winnsboro, and S. R. Macfie, of Brevard, N. C.

Mr. Macfie was related to the McMasters, Andersons and McGregors, prominent Columbia families.

Funeral services were held at the Winnsboro Associated Reformed Presbyterian church Wednesday afternoon. The Rev. Oliver Johnson, pastor, officiated, assisted by Rev. G. G. Mayes. Interment was in the A. R. P. churchyard.

Pallbearers were: Active—S. R. McMaster, Ernest Crawford, A. E. Davis, J. S. Ketchin, T. K. McDonald, W. A. Robinson. Honorary—T. W. Brice, J. L. Brice, J. B. Doty, T. M. McMaster, K. R. McMaster, Ernest Gladden, Dr. Samuel Lindsay, C. F. Elliott, R. C. Gooding, J. E. McDonald, J. W. Cathcart, J. H. Cathcart, W. H. Flenniken, H. E. Ketchin, G. R. Lauderdale, J. E. Coan, W. P. Castles, C. A. Robinson, Sr., W. L. Holley, W. R. Elliott, Sr., W. M. Quattlebaum, George B. McMaster, T. M. Haynes. JUNE 12th., 1931.

OCT. 30th., 1931.

Mrs. John G. Wolling, 85, native of Columbia, but who for many years lived in upper Fairfield county and Winnsboro, died at 11 o'clock Tuesday night while on a visit to the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. T. Fletcher in Raleigh, N. C. Mrs. Wolling, despite her advanced age, had been in good health until last week when she became ill. Her husband died six months ago.

Funeral services were held Thursday from the Antioch Methodist church in Fairfield county.

Mrs. Wolling is survived by four daughters, Mrs. Fletcher, Mrs. E. L. Clowney, of Columbia, Mrs. H. D. Coleman, of Shelton and Mrs. R. G. Fletcher of McColl; one son, John G. Wolling, Jr., of Shelton; two sisters, Mrs. Emmie Tribble, of Anderson, Mrs. Hattie Davis of Greenville, and an uncle, J. P. Rawls, and an aunt, Miss Mary Rawls, both of Columbia. Numerous other relatives live in Richland and Fairfield county.

NOV. 13th., 1931.

Mrs. John C. Buchanan, Sr., died at her home here Tuesday morning at three o'clock. She had been in declining health for a number of years, and had been seriously ill for several weeks. Mrs. Buchanan was before her marriage to Dr. Buchanan, Miss Minnie Adger Younge, and had spent her early life at the old family home in upper Fairfield County. When quite young, she was married to Dr. John Buchanan, and he and the following children survive: Mrs. G. F. Coleman, Montgomery, Ala.; Mrs. F. P. Snowden, Waycross, Ga.; Miss Ethel Buchanan, Dr. J. C. Buchanan, Jr., and Mr. William Buchanan, all of Winnsboro. Three grandchildren also survive.

The funeral was conducted at 3:30 Wednesday afternoon at the Presbyterian Church by Dr. G. G. Mayes, assisted by Rev. Floyd Surles, and interment was in the Presbyterian cemetery.

MR. DAVID R. MARTIN ¹⁹³² DIES LAST THURSDAY

~~Nov 24, 1932~~
Mr. David R. Martin, 51, died at his home near Winnsboro last Thursday, two weeks after he had returned from a Charleston hospital, where he had been undergoing treatment for the last six months.

Funeral services were held at Salem Presbyterian church Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock, conducted by the pastor, the Rev. Charles Harris.

Mr. Martin is survived by two daughters, Miss Elizabeth Martin and Miss Julia Martin; two sons, David R., Jr., and William Martin; two sisters, Miss Florence Martin and Miss Elizabeth Martin; three brothers, W. E. and E. E. Martin, of Monticello, and Dr. A. C. Martin of Greenville.

GEORGE W. COLEMAN

Funeral services for George W. Coleman, Confederate veteran, who died Thursday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Jessie Chappell, 1830 Henderson street, will be held at 11 o'clock this morning from the graveside in Feaster cemetery, Shelton. The funeral cortege will leave the McCormick mortuary at 9 o'clock this morning.

Mr. Coleman was a member of the South Carolina volunteers, regiment 17, having served under Colonel McMaster. He entered the Confederate service in 1861 and returned home at the close of the conflict.

He is survived by the following sons and daughters: George W. Coleman, Jr., and Mrs. Jessie Chappell, both of Columbia; S. A. Coleman and J. F. Coleman, both of Lakeland, Fla.; Mrs. M. N. Frasier, Titusville, Fla.; L. A. Coleman, Daytona, Fla.; R. C. Coleman, Waco, Texas; H. L. Coleman, Mandarin, Fla.; Mrs. J. R. Shelton, Shelton; W. L. Coleman, Pensacola, Fla.; V. P. Coleman, Peebles, Ohio. He also leaves 37 grandchildren and 15 great-grandchildren.

DEATH CLAIMS JOHN WOLLING

Funeral Services For Prominent South Carolinian to Be Held
Today. 1931

Special to The Charlotte Observer

CHESTER, S. C., April 2.—Funeral services for John George Wolling, 78, prominent planter, retired merchant, and one of upper South Carolina's outstanding citizens, who died Wednesday night at the home of his son, John George Wolling, Jr., at Shelton following a brief illness, will be conducted Friday morning at 11 o'clock at the Antioch Methodist church near Feasterville.

Mr. Wolling is survived by his wife, Mrs. Lula Feaster Wolling of Shelton, and the following children: John George Wolling, Jr., of Shelton; Mrs. H. D. Coleman of Shelton; Mrs. E. L. Clowney of Columbia, S. C.; Mrs. J. P. Fletcher of Hamlet, N. C.; Mrs. Galloway Fletcher of McColl, S. C., and by two sisters, Mrs. Courtney Kennedy of Charleston, S. C., and Mrs. Christian Edens of Louisa, N. C.

D. CROSBY RUFF CLAIMED BY DEATH

Funeral Services for Former Fairfield County Man Will Be Held Wednesday.

D. Crosby Ruff, 55, died at his late residence, 3214 Duncan street, Shandon, at 10:30 Monday night following an illness of about six weeks.

Mr. Ruff, a well known road contractor is survived by his widow, who was formerly Miss Mary Delleney of Fairfield; four sons, Claude, George, Delleney and David, all of Columbia; and two grandsons, Robert and John David, all of Columbia; and the following brothers and sisters: Mrs. T. J. Perry, Miss Agnes Ruff, W. P. Ruff and Mrs. Pope Brook, all of Fairfield, and D. George Ruff of Greenwood.

Mr. Ruff was a native of Fairfield county but had been living in Columbia for the past three years.

Funeral services will be held from Greenbrier Methodist church, Fairfield county, at 11 o'clock Wednesday morning.

DEATH OF MR. WADE H. MACFIE

Mr. Wade Hampton Macfie, 63, one of the most prominent citizens of Fairfield county, died at his residence here at 1 o'clock Wednesday morning following an illness of several months. A heart attack was the direct cause of his death.

Mr. Macfie was the son of Capt. James Pringle Macfie and Agnes Rice Macfie and had lived in Fairfield county during his entire life. His father commanded a cavalry company in the Hampton Legion and was a personal friend of General Wade Hampton for whom Wade Hampton Macfie was named.

As a lad of 10 years, Mr. Macfie rode with his father and General Hampton in the Red Shirts parade through the streets of Columbia in 1876. He was a splendid horseman as a boy and the manner in which he rode with the Red Shirts created no little attention throughout the state.

Mr. Macfie was prominently identified with church, civic and social activities of his county. He was considered a leader in his community and was for many years an elder in the Associate Reformed Presbyterian church at Winnsboro.

He is survived by his widow, who before her marriage was Emelyn Rosborough of Fairfield County; one son

She is survived by three sons, Andrew Patterson, for a number of years county supervisor, and Ernest Patterson and Frank Patterson, both of Lykesland; two daughters, Miss Jessie Goodwyn Patterson, popular Columbia teacher and Mrs. Bolton; a brother, Fred Lykes of Lykesland; a sister, Mrs. C. S. Wilson of Jacksonville, Fla., and a number of grandchildren and other relatives.

William Lykesland, secretary of the Columbia chamber of commerce, is her nephew. There has been three recent deaths in the family, his father, Williams Lykes, Sr., and another aunt, Mrs. E. C. Aughtry, having both died only last June.

Funeral services will be held from the home of her daughter, Mrs. Bolton, about seven miles from Columbia on Garner's Ferry road, at 4 o'clock this afternoon with the Rev. J. F. Shuler in charge. Interment will be in the Lykesland Methodist churchyard.

Pallbearers will be: James E. Bolton, Jr., Andrew Patterson Bolton, Eugene Patterson and Charlton Ragain, all grandsons, and F. W. Lykes and William Lykes, both nephews.

JOHN H. MURPHY BURIED IN ELMWOOD

Jan. 14 - 1931

Funeral Services Held Thursday
Afternoon From McCornick Mortuary. 1931

Funeral services for John Hancock Murphy, senior member of the J. H. Murphy and Brothers, wholesale and retail fruit and produce dealers, who died Tuesday evening at his home, 1530 Laurel street, were held from the McCornick mortuary at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon with the Rev. John McEachern, assistant pastor of the First Presbyterian church, of which he was a member, in charge. Interment was in Elmwood cemetery.

People from far and near who knew Mr. Murphy attended the services. The floral tributes were beautiful and profuse and consisted of many attractive designs.

Mr. Murphy is survived by his widow, formerly Miss Florence Green of Port Henry, N. Y.; his mother, Mrs. Mary F. Murphy of Columbia; two brothers, H. C. Murphy and J. A. Murphy, both of Columbia; three sisters, Mrs. J. H. Davis of Columbia, Mrs. G. D. Hahn of Charleston and Mrs. Blanche Chewing of Columbia.

Serving as active pallbearers were: Frank G. Davis, J. O. Crout, B. A. Hinnant, Dr. J. G. McCauley, Gaines W. Harrison and Dr. T. E. Morgan.

Honorary pallbearers were: J. J. Hope, C. E. Hinnant, H. G. Metropole of Sumter, J. C. Roberts, C. H. Baldwin, Dr. G. K. Nelson, E. L. Reeves, Bruce Roberts, Dr. T. M. DuBose, Sr., G. C. Kirby, W. R. Hartin, T. L. Roy, J. P. Richardson and H. H. Hinnant.

E. DOUGLAS BRICE

1931

Special to The State.

Winnsboro, Jan. 16.—E. Douglas Brice died here at his home Tuesday afternoon after a week's illness. Mr. Brice had always lived in and near Winnsboro. He was born at Woodward, July 26, 1868.

He is survived by his widow, who was Miss Laura Jamison of this county, and nine children, six boys and three girls. He is also survived by a sister and brother who reside in Lakeland, Fla.

Funeral services for Mr. Brice were held Wednesday at the Associate Reformed Presbyterian church, Winnsboro, of which church he was a member, and interment was in the church cemetery. Dr. Oliver Johnson, his pastor, conducted the services. The following served as pallbearers: Active, H. E. Matthews, C. F. Elliott, W. J. Seigler, J. E. Stevenson, Dr. J. E. Douglas, Jr., and Wade Aiken; honorary, J. E. McDonald, Jr., Dr. J. E. Douglas, Sr., J. M. Macfie, Sr., R. C. Gooding, John W. Cathcart, H. E. Ketchin, W. H. Macfie, W. D. Douglas, H. C. Elliott, S. C. Johnson, R. I. Turner and J. E. Coan.

DEATH OF MRS. JANIE MOORE STEELE 1931

Mrs. Janie Moore Steele, wife of Mr. James M. Steele, died Wednesday night at seven o'clock at her home in the Union community of Fairfield County. Mrs. Steele was born in Ireland July, 1855, and came to this country when very young. Funeral services were conducted Thursday afternoon from the Old Brick Church of which church Mrs. Steele was a member from early childhood. Interment was (in the church yard. The services were conducted by Dr. Oliver Johnson, her pastor, assisted by Dr. G. G. Mayes, of the Presbyterian church. She is survived by her husband and two sons, G. G., and R. L. Steele, two grandchildren and an aunt, Mrs. M. A. Murray.

The pallbearers were: John W. Cathcart, Ernest Blair, A. L. Scruggs, Rice Macfie, Ralph Lemmon and Grover Brown.

MRS. LILLIE PROVENCE RABB.

1932

The many friends of Mrs. Lillie Provence Rabb will regret to hear of her death which occurred in Gainesville, Fla, March 28th.

Her remains were taken to Melrose, Fla., and buried by that of her husband, Charles Kincaid Rabb.

T. D. RUFF LEAVES MORE THAN $50,000

Late President of Ruff Hardware Company Wills $2,000 to A. R. P. Church.

An estate valued at $53,004 was left by T. D. Ruff, late president of the Ruff Hardware company, it was revealed in his will filed yesterday in the office of Probate Judge G. Duncan Bellinger. Most of the estate was left to his widow, son and daughters. Other beneficiaries were the Associate Reformed Presbyterian church in Columbia, three children of J. Macfie Anderson, his business associate, and his "old cook, Grace."

The estate was itemized as follows: Cash on hand and in banks, $299; monies due testator on bonds, notes and stocks, $6,250; Ruff Hardware company stock, $7,100; open accounts due testator and accrued dividends on stock, $3,000; household goods, $200; automobiles, $150; jewelry, silver plate, watches and other personal effects, $5; insurance payable to estate, $26,000; real estate, $10,000. Mr. Ruff's home, 2019 Park street, was the personal real estate.

The bequest to the A. R. P. church was $2,000; to each of Mr. Anderson's children, $100, and to Grace, the cook, $50. The balance of the estate was left to Mrs. Mary R. Ruff and the following children of Mr. Ruff: Douglas Ruff, Charlotte, N. C.; Thomas K. Ruff, Columbia; Mrs. Eugenia Killingsworth, Pontiac, Mich; Miss Sara L. Ruff and Miss Cordie Ruff, Columbia.

T. D. Ruff died December 7. His will was written November 19.

T. D. RUFF DIES IN COLUMBIA EARLY WEDNESDAY

Columbia, Dec. 17.—Thomas Douglas Ruff, president of the Ruff Hardware company and otherwise prominent in Columbia, died at 2 o'clock this morning at his home, 2019 Park street. He had been in ill health for several years but critically ill only two or three days.

No funeral plans had been made early today.

Mr. Ruff, who was 56 years of age, moved to Columbia 30 years ago from Fairfield and was connected with T. B. Aughtry and company until he organized the Ruff Hardware company in 1909, which company he successfully headed until his death.

A man of many splendid traits of character, upstanding, just, generous and kind, he made many friends and his death will be widely regretted. He was a man of excellent business judgment.

Mr. Ruff was twice married. His first wife was Miss Cordie Bessie Anderson, who died about ten years ago. Of that union the following sons and daughters survive: T. K. Ruff, Douglas Ruff, Mrs. Marion Killingsworth, Miss Sarah Ruff and Miss Cordie Ruff. His second wife, who survives was before marriage Miss Roberta Roseborough.

Mr. Ruff is a brother-in-law of Mrs. George McMaster, of Winnsboro.

LYKESLAND LOSES MRS. PATTERSON

Well Known Woman Ill Few Days, Pneumonia.

Mrs. Andrew Patterson, Sr., a member of the first graduating class of Columbia college and one of the oldest and best beloved residents of Richland county, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. E. Bolton, Lykesland, shortly after noon Saturday following a short illness of pneumonia.

Mrs. Patterson received her early education at Mrs. Zimmerman's private school. She later attended Columbia college and had the honor of being a member of the first graduating class there.

Born in Lykesland July 20, 1845, she was the daughter of Maj. Jesse Goodwyn Lykes and Margaret Goodwyn Chappell and the granddaughter of Maj. Hicks Chappell of Revolutionary fame.

Shortly after the close of the Confederate war she was married to a young Confederate soldier and all her life she was greatly interested in anything which pertained to the Confederacy. Her husband served with Hampton and Lee in Virginia.

Just last February Cedar Lane, her home in Lykesland, was burned and since that time she had lived with her daughter. Citizens from every section of Richland knew the home as one which abounded with hospitality. Always beautiful flower gardens surrounded the house for she took an unusual interest in this phase of nature. Plants of all species and "old fashioned" flowers were among her collections in and out of season.

Until about a week ago when she became ill she was very alert and the news of her death will no doubt bring grief to her friends throughout Richland county.

She was a devoted member of Lykesland Methodist church and was active in all its activities.

Miss Douglas' Picture in Washington Paper

Special to The State.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13.—The Washington Herald today carried a large picture of Miss Patsy Douglas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Douglas, formerly of Columbia, and announces her social plans for this winter.

"Miss Douglas," it said, "has turned 'thumbs down' on a formal coming-out party, but her her parents have already given small parties for her. There will be others as the season draws on and already her calendar is crowded with engagements.

"Miss Douglas is a graduate of the Cathedral school and spent last winter abroad as a student at Mlle. Brissier's in Paris and traveled a bit on the continent before returning to Washington in the early autumn. An up-to-date maid, she plays golf and rides well. Miss Douglas has musical and literary tastes. She has planned to take a course in literature at George Washington university, but for the moment this has been crowded off her schedule.

"Mrs. Herbert Adair, who was Miss Margaret Douglas, is a sister of Miss Douglas, but the two present a piquant contrast in appearance. Although both are fair, with blue eyes, Mrs. Adair is a tiny person and her sister is a good head taller." P. H. McG.

MISS DOUGLASS WASHINGTON HOSTESS

Washington, Nov. 9.—Among the leading society events of the season here was the dinner given tonight by Miss Patsy Aiken Douglas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Douglas, formerly of South Carolina, at her home on Columbia road. There were 11 guests at the dinner which was followed by the "black and white" ball at the Mayflower hotel.

Miss Douglas recently spent some time at school in Europe and during the past summer toured abroad with her father and her uncle, the Rev. John William Douglas, of Baltimore, Md.

She will be one of the prominent young Washington women in national capital society this winter.

STEVENSON-MACFIE

Mrs. Alva Stevenson announces the marriage of her daughter, Alva Elizabeth to Rice R. Macfie, Jr. The ceremony was performed Saturday evening, June 17th., at nine o'clock at the home of the bride, with only the immediate members of the family present. Following the ceremony, the couple left for a short trip to the mountains of North Carolina, and upon their return will be at home to their friends at the home of the bride's mother.

Mrs. Macfie is a graduate of Mount Zion Institute and of the Greenwood Business College, and for several years has been the popular and efficient stenographer of the Home and Farm Demonstration office of Fairfield County.

Mr. Macfie has been connected with the police department, both of the county and town, and is a very popular officer.

MISS ELIZABETH MARTIN/ MARRIES CLIFFORD F. DABNEY

Special to The State.
Monticello, Aug. 12.—Of interest to friends in the Monticello section and Rock Hill is the marriage of Miss Elizabeth A. Martin to Clifford F. Dabney, which was solemnized Friday, July 21, in Lancaster.
Mrs. Dabney is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Martin, deceased, of this neighborhood.
She received her education at the Monticello high school and at Winthrop college.
The bridegroom is a resident of Rock

Hill and is associated with his father in business.

The young couple will make their home in Rock Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. Dabney and friends in Rock Hill motored Sunday, July 30, to the ancestral home in Fairfield county of Mrs. Dabney's aunt, Mrs. J. A. Sims, of Winthrop college, where a lovely dinner party was given in honor of the newly wedded pair.

A large number of relatives and friends were gathered to meet Mr. and Mrs. Dabney and to extend to them congratulations and best wishes.

July 21 - 1933

Crawford—McMeekin

1930

Of interest to their many friends is the announcement of the marriage of Miss Mary Crawford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Crawford of Saluda, to F. R. Meekin, Jr., of Columbia, formerly of Monticello, which was a quiet event taking place Thursday afternoon at the First Baptist parsonage of this city. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. H. Webb, D. D., in the presence of only a few close friends.

Mrs. McMeekin has made Columbia her home for the past several years, having attended Draughon's Business college and for the past three years has held a position with the mercantile agency, R. G. Dun and company.

Mr. McMeekin, a graduate of Clemson college, has made his home in Columbia for the past few years, where he is employed by the Broad River Power company.

Mr. and Mrs. McMeekin will make their home at 1531 Blanding street, this city.

STONE—McMEEKIN.

1931

Special to The State:

Chester, Jan. 3.—John S. Stone, Jr., of Shelton, near Chester, and Miss Ruby McMeekin of Jenkinsville were married Saturday at Beaver Creek Baptist parsonage by the Rev. D. H. Owings. Mr. and Mrs. Stone are well known throughout this section.

STACK—GLENN.

1931

Special to The State.

Pinewood, Mar. 1.—Miss Letitia Stack and W. A. Glenn were married Saturday, February 14, at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. M. F. Williams.

Mrs. Glenn is the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Stack of Pinewood. She is a graduate of Columbia college and for the past few years has taught with success here and elsewhere.

Mr. Glenn has charge of large farming interests here.

BELL—McMEEKIN.

1931

Special to The State.

Winnsboro, April 11.—Of interest to their many friends is the announcement of the marriage of Mrs. Fannie H. Bell and Dr. J. D. McMeekin, which took place Easter Sunday afternoon at the Baptist parsonage in Chester. The couple left immediately for a wedding trip. They will be at home to their friends at Winnsboro after about ten days.

Mrs. McMeekin was a popular saleswoman for the Propst company for many years and Doctor McMeekin is one of the town's prominent dentists.

BELL—McMEEKIN 1932

Special to The State.

Winnsboro, Feb. 13.—Miss Daisy Bell and Joseph D. McMeekin, Jr., were married Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of the Rev. and Mrs. Charles K. Harris, uncle and aunt of the bride. The Rev. Mr. Harris performed the ceremony in the presence of a very few relatives.

Both Mr. and Mrs. McMeekin are members of the younger crowd in Winnsboro and their friends are glad that they will continue to make their home here.

FUNERAL SERVICES MRS. MARY BOOKMAN

Last rites for Mrs. Mary Ann Bookman, 81, widow of Algernon G. Bookman, who died Wednesday, were held yesterday morning at the residence, 2725 Wilson street. Services were conducted by the Rev. R. F. Morris, presiding elder at Columbia. Interment followed in Cedar Creek churchyard in Upper Richland county.

A devoted member of Cedar Creek Methodist church, Mrs. Bookman leaves many friends who regret her death. She was the daughter of Col. Daniel D. Finley.

She is survived by four daughters, Mrs. E. K. Phillips of Augusta, Ga., Mrs. W. A. Harris of Abbeville, Miss May Bookman and Miss Salome Bookman of Columbia; three granddaughters, Miss Comer Phillips, Miss Elizabeth Phillips and Miss Mary Salome Harris; also one grandsor, Augustus Phillips of Augusta, Ga.

MISS M. DURHAM CLAIMED BY DEATH

Sister of Columbia Physician Passes Away at Mayesville
Sunday Morning.

Special to The State.

1932

Sumter, Dec. 31.—Miss Marion M. Durham, 70, Orangeburg, died at the home of Mr. and Mrs. McCoy Shaw, Mayesville, this morning. Miss Durham had been in ill health for the last four years but her death came as a shock to her many friends and relatives as she was only seriously ill for a few hours.

She was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Woodward Durham.

She is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Mary M. Hughes, Los Angeles, Calif., and Mrs. Edgar L. Culler, Orangeburg; one brother, Dr. F. M. Durham, Columbia.

Funeral services will be held at Limestone Methodist church, Orangeburg, Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Interment will be in the churchyard.

FEB. 12 - 1932

Dec 1933

Dec 1933

and more, for the Sunday School room was filled, and white and colored friends stood on the outside. Dr. Gordon Quattlebaum sang "Abide With Me", after which the choir gave two selections. At the cemetery, despite the fierce winds, the entire crowd stood with bared heads paying their final tribute. One song was beautifully rendered before the final prayer, after which the grandchildren and nieces of Mr. Elliott placed the flowers on his grave. Never has there been such a floral offering as the one displayed at this funeral.

Crowds from Columbia, Chester, Rock Hill, Hartsville came to pay their last respect to him whom everyone loved. Directors and employees of The Winnsboro Bank of which Mr. Elliott was president, were the honorary pallbearers while his nephews were the active pallbearers.

THOMAS K. ELLIOTT.

The Columbia State.

Thomas Ketchin Elliott, who died at Winnsboro yesterday, was an outstanding man among the bankers of South Carolina. As a business man, a banker, a public citizen and a consecrated churchman he stood in the forefront of his community.

In a county not noted for its wealth or for any large growth in business, the bank which he headed was successful from the first due to his able management, his high sense of honor and his liberal and fair dealings with its customers. He held the interests of his stockholders and depositors as a most sacred trust. Everybody trusted him because he had shown himself worthy of confidence in a long life of usefulness—a banker with a heart, yet with sound judgment which made his every business undertaking a success. The world is better for his having lived.

MR. J. BUTLER BURLEY

DIES SUNDAY NIGHT

Mr. Joel Butler Burley passed away here at his residence Sunday night at 12 o'clock, following an illness of some months. Mr. Burley had lived in Winnsboro for the past 26 years, coming here from the Bethel section of Fairfield where he was born in March, 1859. In 1888 he was married to Miss Mary Sue Perry, of Fairfield, daughter of Captain T. J. Perry. He was County supervisor and also Auditor of Fairfield for a number of years, Clerk to the County Supervisor and Town Clerk, alternately, and was in office for 24 years. He endeared himself to the people of the town and county who bemoan his passing. He is survived by his widow and the following children: Mrs. D. R. Coleman, Jr., of Winnsboro; Mrs. Vance Norwood, of Lexington, S. C.; Mrs. H. G. Wylie and Miss Gladys Burley, of Winnsboro; H. H. Burley, of Waynesboro, Ga.; and Ernest Burley, of Florida; and Thomas Burley, of Winnsboro. Several grandchildren also survive.

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday morning at 10:30 o'clock from the Winnsboro Methodist Church of which the deceased was a zealous and faithful member and were conducted by Rev. W. A. Fairey, pastor of this church. The interment was in Bethel cemetery. Mr. Burley was an ardent Mason and was buried with Masonic honors.

The following were the pallbearers:

Honorary: Jno. W. Cathcart, A. Lee Scruggs, J. M. Jennings, W. D. Douglas, J. E. McDonald, Chas. A. Robinson, James M. Smith, Dr. Samuel Lindsay, W. R. Elliott, Sr., J. W. Hanahan, Dr. J. E. Douglas, T. C. Camak, Alex Robinson, W. M. Estes, Musco Robinson.

Active: James Macfie, Jr., Dr. J. H. Cathcart, T. K. McDonald, M. D. Douglas, James Aiken, Ernest Blair, Andrew Turner and Fleming McMaster.

MR. T. K. ELLIOTT
DIES TUESDAY MORNING
1930.

The death of Thomas Ketchin Elliott at his residence in Winnsboro at 3 o'clock Tuesday morning has cast a deep gloom over Winnsboro and Fairfield county. Mr. Elliott died from an attack of pneumonia. He had been in the best of health until a few weeks ago. He was in his 76th year, and had pneumonia only a few days.

Mr. Elliott has been president of the Winnsboro Bank since 1896, and prior to that time was cashier of the Winnsboro National bank for many years. The National bank was merged into the Winnsboro Bank in 1896. To Mr. Elliott's sound judgment and conservatism is largely due the strength of the Winnsboro bank at the present time. He got very next to the hearts of the people; he won their confidence and love and has kept it in all his business dealings. His sympathetic nature has ever been one of his outstanding traits, and he is universally beloved by all who knew him. He has been known as "the Father of Fairfield" in financial matters.

On November 27, 1879, Mr. Elliott was married to Miss Carrie Aiken, of Winnsboro, daughter of William E. Aiken and Patsy Woodward Aiken, of Winnsboro. His 51st wedding anniversary was on Wednesday, November 26th.

He is survived by his widow and the following children: Mrs. K. R. McMaster, Miss Carrie Elliott, Chas. F., and H. Laurens Elliott, all of Winnsboro; Mrs. F. S. DuPre, of Spartanburg; T. K. Elliott, of Long Island, N. Y.; William A. Elliott, of Washington, D. C., all of whom were at his bedside at the time of his death. Several grandchildren, one brother, and five sisters also survive.

Mr. Elliott was a true Christian, an elder in Sion Presbyterian church of this place, a teacher of the Bible class. His many charitable works were quietly done but far reaching and his going is a great loss to the town, to his church, to Fairfield county and to the whole state.

Mr. Elliott graduated from the Virginia Military Institute in 1875, and returning home immediately took his place in points of danger in the redemption of his state and county. He became an officer in the Gordon Light Infantry of Winnsboro, which was one of the crack military companies in the State, and which had large influence in quieting matters in Fairfield county.

At one time he was president of the Winnsboro Cotton Mills and of the Wylie Cotton Mills of Chester.

He was a son of the late Henry Laurens Elliott and Mrs. Tirzah Ketchin Elliott, of Fairfield. His father was one of the grand old men of Fairfield, a large planter before and after the Confederate war. He and his wife were rich in good works and were universally beloved.

His brother, William R. Elliott, is now mayor of Winnsboro, and another brother was the late Henry Laurens Elliott, a most respected citizen of Columbia, for many years.

Funeral services were held at 11 o'clock Wednesday at Sion Presbyterian church and interment was in the Presbyterian church yard. The exercises were conducted by his pastor, the Rev. G. G. Mayes, assisted by the Rev. Oliver Johnson, pastor of the A. R. P. Church, who is a brother-in-law of Mr. Elliott.

All business houses of the town were closed during the funeral hour. The students of Mt. Zion Institute were also released at 10 o'clock, as Mr. Elliott was president of the Mt. Zion Society, which institution was the founder of the school and still takes an active interest in its operation.

The following served as pall bearers: Honorary, J. F. McMaster, W. D. Douglas, M. W. Doty, J. E. Coan, J. H. Cathcart, F. A. DesPortes, M. D. Douglas, C. S. McCants, G. R. Lauderdale, J. R. Cribb and P. A. Matthews; Active, W. R. Elliott, Jr., T. K. McDonald, H. E. Caldwell, H. E. Matthews, L. E. McAlpine, H. E. Gooding, H. E. Johnson and A. F. Ruff.

Beautiful and fitting comments were spoken of Mr. Elliott at his funeral, showing the true worth of Fairfield's most influential and much beloved citizen.

The church was filled to capacity,

Honorary (meet at First Presbyterian church at 10:50 a. m.): T. K. Elliott of Winnsboro, McIver Williamson of Darlington, John P. Thomas, Jr., Yates Snowden, W. K. Duffie, Willie Jones, W. A. Pringle of Summerville, Preston Darby, T. B. Stackhouse, Stephen Elliott, L. W. Boykin, George W. Waring, Alex Taylor, George Melton, Frank Haskell, John J. Seibels, Frank Green, Henry T. Thompson, Reed Smith, C. Y. Reamer, H. J. Gregg, E. P. Davis, W. Hampton Gibbes, E. C. L. Adams, Dr. Robert W. Gibbes, Thomas Taylor, Sam S. Boyleston, James H. Fowles, Christie Benet, William M. Shand, Claude Girardeau, George L. Dial, Dr. Fred C. Williams, F. A. Jacobs, Pierce Rucker of Greensboro, Gadsden Guignard, Dan Crawford, Crawford Clarkson.

She is survived by three sisters, Mrs. James H. Woodrow of Rock Hill, Mrs. Joseph R. Foard of Baltimore and Miss Agnes McMaster of Columbia; by three brothers, Thornwell McMaster, Col. George H. McMaster and S. B. McMaster, all of Columbia, and by the following nephews and nieces: Douglas McKay of Columbia, James H. Woodrow McKay of Lexington, N. C., Mrs. Robert Glasgow of Charlotte, F. W. McKay of Lexington, N. C., Miss Katherine H. Woodrow of Rock Hill, F. W. McMaster Woodrow of Washington and James Woodrow of Kansas.

PRINTED HISTORY FATHER'S REGIMENT

To the Editor of The State:

I recognize, as does every adult Columbian, the loss this city sustained yesterday in the death of Miss Helen G. McMaster, who spent her life doing good, and was always one of the leading spirits in every movement for educational advance and reform, social betterment, Christian endeavor and ardent patriotism.

In the published tributes to the memory of this noble woman appreciative mention has been made of her wide range of activities, and I would ask attention to her publication of "A Condensed History of Seventeenth Regiment, S. C. V.-C. S. A."

The regiment had been organized in Columbia in November, 1861, with former Governor J. H. Means as colonel and Fitz William McMaster as lieutenant colonel. Upon the death of the heroic Means in the Second Battle of Manassas, Colonel McMaster succeeded to the command, and so continued until he was captured at Petersburg, March 25, 1865.

Miss Helen McMaster was a little girl during the Confederate war and incapable all her life, I imagine, of writing military history. Her gallant father after the fruitless struggle, had not the time, or possibly the inclination, to prepare regimental annals, for he was a very busy lawyer, and probably devoted any spare time to the cause of education of which he was the outstanding advocate in Columbia.

Miss McMaster all her life looked forward, her eyes were to the morning, but blended therewith was a fervid Scotch loyalty and devotion to the cause for which her father had fought with distinction.

In 1906, but one field-officer of the Seventeenth South Carolina survived, and he was 75 years old, and so she appealed to Capt. W. H. Edwards, one of her father's trusted officers and friends to prepare the work. Captain heartily responded and the little "condensed history" (55 pages), was only published in Columbia.

On the title-page appeared the unusual announcement: "Completed by Captain Edwards, Fall, 1906. The property of Miss H. G. McMaster. Printed January, 1908."

So far as I know, there have been published three Brigade, and a number of Company "histories," but only three Regimental histories of South Carolina troops in the Confederate war.

I know, as well as most men, of the patriotism of South Carolina women; but I think the filial devotion of Miss Helen McMaster to her soldier father is unique in the annals of our state.

Y. S.

AN APPRECIATION OF MISS McMASTER

To the Editor of The State:

Columbia mourns today the death of Miss Helen McMaster, one of her best beloved and most highly esteemed citizens.

There can be no other "Miss Helen." Her place was unique in this community.

Born the second daughter of Col. Fitz William and Mrs. Mary Macfie McMaster, she was that rather unusual individual—a native Columbian.

Coming of an old Southern family she was a typical Southern gentlewoman—gracious, hospitable, refined, cultured, patriotic, religious.

She was known as an educator as a public spirited and patriotic woman, and was beloved for the graces of her lovely Christian character.

Only last week she was "carrying on" with her usual vigor and love of life. Today she has gone into the country beyond.

A few years ago she worked with untiring energy and patriotism to suitably mark the graves of Confederate soldiers that are buried in the First Presbyterian churchyard.

Today that shaft stands as a monument to her as truly as if she lay at its base.

She needs no such memorial, however, for her memorial is in the hearts of Columbians.

PAULINE JAMES OWINGS.

FEBRUARY 27, 1930

MISS M'MASTER DIED YESTERDAY

Second Death in Family
This Week.

SERVICES TODAY

Funeral and Interment at First Presbyterian Church This Morning.

Twice in less than three days, death has entered the McMaster home.

Sunday afternoon, Porter A. McMaster, popular attorney, died of pneumonia. Early yesterday morning Miss Helen Graham McMaster passed away at the Columbia hospital of the same malady, unaware of the fact that her brother had preceded her to the great beyond.

Services for Miss McMaster will be held at 11 o'clock this morning at her dearly beloved First Presbyterian church, of which she was a lifelong member, and interment will be in the churchyard in the Macfie plat, beside her grandmother, Catherine McGregor Macfie, whose service as a nurse on the battlefields of Virginia was one of Miss Helen's proudest heritages, and for whose mother, Helen Graham, (whose husband was killed at the Battle of Waterloo), Miss McMaster was named.

Much Beloved.

In Miss McMaster's death, a truly noble woman has passed away. Her more than three score and ten years were filled with beautiful deeds, no kindness being too much trouble for her, and Columbia is filled with people who have been befriended by her as she passed their way. With lofty ideals, with staunch allegiance to all that is good and true, with love for God, country and fellow man, Miss McMaster, the Southern gentlewoman, so lived, that Columbia is the better for her life.

She was born 71 years ago in Columbia, in the McMaster home at 1429 Laurel street, where she spent her days. She was the daughter of Col. F. W. McMaster and Mary Jane Macfie McMaster, and was one of 14 children of this union. She first went to Miss Elmore's school, and then to Columbia college, from which she was graduated more than half a century ago. She taught in the primary department of the college and later opened a private school, in which she was eminently successful. However, when the first city schools opened, she went to teach in the public system, but after a short time returned to her first love and continued to give instruction up until about 15 years ago, when her hearing interfered, except for a time spent in North Carolina, where she did a notable work at Mars Hill college. Having gone to Asheville for the climate, Miss Helen heard of teaching needs at an old school in the mountains, and so went there—Mars Hill—and through her gracious, charming manner and her zeal for teaching, endeared herself to all. Yesterday, a telegram was received at the McMaster home from the faculty and officers of the present Mars Hill college: "Our college particularly will stand a living monument, ennobled by the impress of her life."

Fine Teacher.

Miss McMaster, recognized as a leader in primary teaching, taught with enthusiasm. She loved it. As far back as the world's fair she went to Chicago to study with Dr. Horace Mann, and was one of the first to recognize the Montezorian method. She always included in her teaching "the Bible and the Confederacy." She was the first to suggest a statewide monument to Wade Hampton, and it was she, with Mrs. Harriett Crawford Clarkson and Mrs. Leora Sims O'Neal, who saved and erected the beautiful shaft which now stands in the First Presbyterian yard as a memorial to the men of that congregation who went to the Confederate war, and to the men of the Confederacy who afterwards came to serve in that church. She was a great admirer of Woodrow Wilson, a family connection, started the movement to save his home in Columbia as a memorial.

Coming along in Reconstruction, Miss McMaster knew Columbia as only the older residents do. The new city rose from the ashes, and she watched it grow. She loved Columbia, and her interest extended to the gardens, to the trees, to the people, to the progress of the city, and its citizens. She was a great friend to those in distress; she did so many little kind acts, of which the world knew nothing. When sorrow came, Miss Helen comforted the bereaved with her flowers and her presence.

But with all her varied interests and the many calls made upon her time, she headed the hospitable McMaster home on Laurel street and was never more delighted than when the house was filled with guests. She was a home-lover, and her flowers and her books claimed much of her attention. During late years she had spent many happy hours among the father's valuable papers.

She was a member of the Assembly, and despite her 71 years attended the ball last month. She was interested in the Orphan society, an organization that does great good. Likewise in the Columbia College Alumnae association, the American Legion Auxiliary, church organizations.

Much Sorrow.

So it will be seen that Miss McMaster's death will bring sorrow far and wide in Columbia. Among those who mourn are her former pupils, and the active pallbearers this morning are from young men who attended her private school (to meet at house, 1429 Laurel street, 10:30 a. m.): Robert G. Childs, Ambrose Hampton, LeGrand Guerry, Jr., F. Ehrlich Thomson, Preston E. Lyles, Frank E. Owens, Robert W. Cain, Jack O'Neal, Charles J. Cate, Jr., J. Quitman Marshall.

stock; Mrs. T. W. Brice, Mrs. Sam Brice, Mrs. Macie Brice, Laurence Brice, W. B. Patrick, all of Woodward; Miss Mattie Julia Craham, Lake City; Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Durham, Boston, Mass.; Mrs. C. R. Durham, Columbia; Miss Eva Durham, Winthrop college; Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Kelly, Rock Hill; Dr. A. E. Estes, Miss Carolyn Estes, Winnsboro; Miss Margaret Free, Miss Ann Mabrey, "Monkey" Price of Barnwell, Mrs. Graham, Larry Graham, Miss Enuita Ruff, Mr. and Mrs. S. C. McMeekin, Glenn McMeekin, Walker Chappell, Mr. and Mrs. Leule, all of Columbia, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Ragsdale, Dr. J. D. McMeekin, Mr. and Mrs. Everette Poole and children, Enoree; Mrs. Bland, Miss Carolee Bland, Sumter; Mrs. Marion Killingsworth, Detroit, Mich.; Mrs. Lottie Wright, Hopkins; Mrs. Gus McMeekin, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Tidwell, Misses Thel and Nan Tidwell, Oscar Wilson, Miss Elizabeth Williams, Ridgeway; Miss Anne Brown, Cullowhe, N. C.; Mr. Counley, Camden; Miss Mattie Chappell, Bethel; Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Hedgepath, Mrs. Lula Chappell, Bethel; Mr. and Mrs. Willoughby Shedd, Monticello; Mrs. Essie Holloway, Chappells; Mr. and Mrs. John Ragsdale and family, Blair; Mrs. Porter Roberts, Monticello; Gladney Glenn, Claude Jeter, Detroit, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. T. R. McMeekin, Greenville; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Wicker, Mrs. Joe Feagle, Mrs. Willie Wicker, Miss Louise Wicker, all of Newberry; Mr. and Mrs. Rogers Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Mann, Mrs. D. O. Jones.

Rehearsal Party.

Following the rehearsal the evening before the wedding, the McMeekin-Durham bridal party was entertained at "Fairfield Inn," where a three-course dinner was served. Each member of the party was presented with a charming gift. After dinner dancing was enjoyed for the rest of the evening. "Charlie" Tidwell gave several vocal and instrumental selections.

MRS. J. G. GLENN

Funeral services for Mrs. Maude McMeekin Glenn, 41, Lexington, who died at the Columbia hospital Wednesday night, will be held from the Glenn home in Fairfield county at 11 o'clock this morning with the Rev. J. P. Isenhower in charge. Interment will be in the family burial ground.

Mrs. Glenn, the wife of J. G. Glenn, is also survived by four daughters, Ida, Dorothy, Etta and Kitty; three sons, J. M. Glenn, Jr., David and Norman; three sisters, Mrs. E. H. Roberts, Mrs. G. H. Blackman of Columbia, Mrs. J. S. Swygert of Lexington and her father, J. A. McMeekin, of Parr Shoals.

Serving as pallbearers will be: E. H. Roberts, G. H. Blackman, J. S. Swygert, W. T. Glenn, H. Y. Glenn and J. C. McMeekin.

DEATH OF MRS. MARY HOLLEY RABB

Mrs. Mary Holley Rabb died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. F. M. Gadsden, near Winnsboro, Wednesday, September 17th., at 10:30. Mrs. Rabb was 81 years of age. She had been in bad health for a number of years.

Mrs. Rabb is the widow of W. C. Rabb who preceded her to the grave just one year ago. She was the daughter of Nathaniel B., and Charlotte C. Holley, of Revolutionary fame.

The following children survive:

Mrs. F. M. Gadsden, Winnsboro; E. L. Rabb, of Augusta, Ga.; Mrs. A. A. Myers, of Pamplico, S. C.; Mrs. Christopher Binder, of Mt. Airy, N. C.; H. M. Rabb, Winnsboro and Mrs. J. McNally, of Long Island City, N. Y. Two brothers also survive, D. M. Holley, of Shandon, Miss., and Walter Holley, of Winnsboro.

Mrs. Rabb was a consistent member of the Winnsboro Baptist church for many years. She will be laid to rest at Little River Baptist church.

COLUMBIA LOSES FORMER TEACHER

Miss Eugenia Douglas Dies
S&PT. at Residence. 1130

Miss Eugenia Douglas died at 7:30 Tuesday morning at her home, 1530 Senate street, following an illness of about two years. She took a sudden turn for the worse recently and the news of her death will come as a great shock to her many friends.

Surviving her are three brothers, Charles A. Douglas, prominent attorney of Washington; A. G. Douglas of High Point, N. C., formerly a merchant in Columbia, and the Rev. John W. Douglas, pastor of Roland Park Presbyterian church at Baltimore.

Miss Douglas had taught in the schools of Richland and Fairfield counties and was principal of Hyatt Park high school several years ago. During her illness numbers visited the home, lending their assistance and sympathy whenever possible. She was graduated from Due West Woman's college and was well known over the entire state.

Funeral services will be held some time Thursday, the hour and other arrangements depending upon the arrival of brothers.

McMeekin-Durham Wedding Tuesday One of Unusual Beauty

Special to The State.

Jenkinsville, Jan. 11.—A wedding marked by simplicity and charm was celebrated Tuesday afternoon at 5:30 at Shiloh Methodist church, when Miss Mamie McMeekin became the bride of Paul Estes, Durham of Chester. The ceremony characterized by beauty, dignity and impressiveness was performed by the Rev. Mr. Jones, pastor of the bride, before a large assembly of relatives and friends.

The color scheme of white and green was tastefully carried out in the decorations. The background was of white garlanded with Southern smilax. In the center of the pulpit and on each side of the altar stood candelabra holding burning white cathedral candles. The soft glow from numerous white candles completed the light and added charm to the impressive scene. Two large baskets of pink carnations and maiden hair fern tied with pink tulle were carefully placed on pedestals on each side of the center candelabra.

Preceding the ceremony a beautiful musical program was rendered. Melody in F was softly played while the candles were being lighted. Mrs. D. P. Crosby of Chester, sang sweetly an old English song "Beauty's Eyes," accompanied by Mrs. S. C. McMeekin. Following this Mrs. S. C. McMeekin sang "O Promise Me," accompanied by Charlie Tidwell of Ridgeway, who also played the wedding march. The strains from the Lohengrin bridal chorus ushered in the bridal party. "The World Is Waiting For the Sunrise" was softly played during the ceremony.

First came the groomsmen, who were Thomas, Silas and Bob McMeekin, brothers of the bride, and Edward Fant Durham, nephew of the bridegroom.

Then came the bridesmaids, who were, Miss Floride Durham, sister of the bridegroom; Miss Elizabeth Glenn, cousin of the bride, and Miss Ruby McMeekin, sister of the bride. These wore graceful gowns of chiffon featuring the extreme princess silhouette. The long skirts were characterized by an uneven hem line. Miss Durham, in green; Miss Glenn, in dahlia; Miss McMeekin, in lavender. Their slippers matched their dresses and they carried arm bouquets of mixed flowers.

Mrs. T. R. McMeekin entered next as dame of honor, she wore a becoming dress of egg-shell chiffon with slippers to match and she carried an arm bouquet of Madame Butterfly roses.

Miss Louise McMeekin, maid of honor and sister of the bride, wore a rose chiffon dress in the same graceful style as those worn by the bridesmaids and she carried Columbia roses.

Little Joe Durham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Ross Durham of Columbia, entered carrying the ring on a white satin pillow.

The dainty flower girls were twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Chappell of Jenkinsville. Nancy wore pink crepe de chine and Lois wore blue crepe de chine, their slippers matching their dresses.

The bride entered with her father, by whom she was given in marriage, and met the bridegroom and his best man, Jet Smith of Chester, at the altar.

The bride's lovely brunet beauty was greatly enhanced by her wedding dress of pale green crepe romaine. Her accessories were of a matching shade and she carried an exquisite bouquet of bride roses showered with valley lilies.

The young couple left immediately after the ceremony for a wedding trip to Florida. After January 15 they will be at home in Chester.

Mrs. Durham is the eldest daughter of T. L. McMeekin and the late Mrs. Ida Ruff McMeekin. She has a large circle of friends who will be interested in her wedding. She is well known in Columbia, where she has often visited. She received her education at Columbia college where she was very popular. She was a member of the Tri Zeta sorority. Since her graduation she has been a successful teacher in the schools of South Carolina.

Mr. Durham is the son of Mrs. W. S. Durham and the late W. S. Durham. He received his education at Furman university and is now a successful merchant and planter. He has many friends who will be interested in his marriage.

The out-of-town guests were: Mrs. W. S. Durham, Misses Maude and Floride Durham, Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Crosby, Misses Sarah and Lucille Crosby, Miss Juanita West, Mrs. Ada Stone, Mrs. A. S. Plexico, all of Chester; Mr. and Mrs. Pierce Stone of Mount Holly, N. C., Mrs. John Stone, John S. Stone, Jr., of Shelton, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Durham, Chester, Mr. and Mrs. Will Durham, Blackstock; Mrs. E. M. Kennedy, Black-

J. HAGOOD MEANS DIES AT HOSPITAL

Injury From Fall Last Week Brings Death.

WIDE ACQUAINTANCE

Funeral Services Today for Citizen of Distinguished Ancestry.

James Hagood Means, Sr., died at the Baptist hospital early Wednesday afternoon having been brought there Sunday suffering from a broken hip. Saturday night Mr. Means slipped and fell, incurring the fracture which caused his death.

He was the second of the 13 children of Capt. Isach Hugh and Alice Hagood Means, and was born on their plantation in Fairfield county, January 23, 1858. November 21, 1889, he married Miss Emma Wright of Columbia, and to that union were born three children, James Hagood, Jr., Alice Hagood and Margaret Hagood, now Mrs. Ermon N. Nichols of Greensboro, N. C.

Mr. Means was the last member of his immediate family, his brother, David Harper, and sister, Mrs. Phockey Miller, having died a few years ago. He is survived by Mrs. Means and their three children, a little granddaughter, Emma Dean Nichols, Mrs. D. H. Means, and her two children, David Harper and Frances, of Columbia, and a niece, Miss Kate Latimer, of Clinton.

Mr. Means was a life-long citizen of Columbia. He retired from business on account of ill health, and for years bore with beautiful patience the malady which afflicted him. Courteous, modest, unassuming, a gentle, loving husband and father, and loyal friend, his long illness tended to narrow his circle of acquaintances, but those who knew him found in him all the noble qualities that would be expected in one of his lineage. His father's brother, Governor John Hugh Means and his mother's brother, Governor John Hagood, helped make the history of South Carolina during the Confederate war. His father, Isaac Hugh Means, was secretary of state before the war, a captain in the C. S. A., and librarian and treasurer at the South Carolina college until his death.

Mr. Means was a faithful member of the First Presbyterian church. Funeral services will be held at the First Presbyterian church this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock and will be conducted by the Rev. R. A. Lapsley, Jr. Interment will be in Elmwood cemetery.

Active pallbearers will be: Smith Harrison, Means Davis, E. S. Cardwell, the Rev. Mason Crum, John E. Black, E. S. McGee, Beverly English and S. L. Montgomery.

Honorary pallbearers will be: G. A. Wauchope, J. T. Gray, FitzHug McMaster, John J. McMahan, C. H. Baldwin, Duncan Bellinger, Dr. J. H. McIntosh, Dr. T. M. DuBose, Sr., E. W. Parker and Dr. E. L. Green.

The honorary pallbearers are requested to assemble at 4:30 at the

MRS. C. G. BOULWARE

DIES RIPE IN YEARS

1928

Special to The State.

Chester, Aug. 5.—Mrs. Ellen Stevenson Boulware, wife of Chesley G. Boulware, one of the best known women in this section of the state, died Friday at their home in the Cool Branch section at the age of 89. The funeral services were conducted Saturday by the Rev. James Henry Yarborough, Baptist minister. Burial was made in the graveyard of the Cool Branch Baptist church.

Mrs. Boulware in point of years was one of the most elderly women in upper South Carolina and was widely versed in the early history of the upper part of the state. She possessed a remarkable memory. Her husband, who is 85, was a Confederate Veteran.

Mrs. Boulware, in addition to her husband, is survived by two daughters, Mrs. T. M. Traylor of Leeds and Mrs. R. V. Gist of Carlisle; by two sons, James L. Boulware of Louisiana and Chesley G. Boulware, Jr. She is likewise survived by two sisters, Mrs. Belle Hancock of Hickory, N. C., and Mrs. M. C. Boulware of near Wimsboro; a half-sister, Mrs. T. B. Castles of Cornwell; two brothers, George Stevenson and Robert Stevenson; a half-brother, J. E. Stevenson of Chester.

SOUTH CAROLINA WOMAN

IS DEAD AT ONE HUNDRED

COLUMBIA, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Nearly three months after she had celebrated her hundredth birthday, Mrs. Eliza Gladen Powell died at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. William Lykes, Sr., Lykesland, last night.

Mrs. Powell was born in Fairfield county August 4, 1929, and lived there until the death of her husband some years ago.

She was a sister of Gen. Adial H. Gladen of the famous Palmetto Regiment, which served in the Mexican War.

MRS. HORACE RABB

Due West, Dec. 31.—(AP)—Mrs. Horace Rabb, 73, died at her home here tonight of pneumonia induced by injuries she had received in an automobile accident at Lyons, Ga., Thursday.

Mrs. Rabb was the mother of S. W. Rabb of Greer, Mrs. Lucile Wilkerson of Due West and Mrs. Walter McCiellan of Seaman, Ohio. Funeral services will be held here at 2 p. m. Tuesday in charge of the Rev. James C. Pressly, D. D.

Dec 31 - 1933

D. GEORGE RUFF
DIES IN GREENWOOD

Greenwood, Jan. 9.—D. George Ruff, 53, traveling salesman and former Greenwood merchant, died at his home here late last night after a long illness.

Funeral services will be conducted at Main Street Methodist church Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock by his pastor, the Rev. R. L. Holroyd, assisted by Dr. R. Rhett Turnipseed, Greenville, the Rev. William B. Garrett, Columbia, and the Rev. D. E. Camak, Rock Hill, and interment will follow in Edgewood cemetery.

Mr. Ruff was a native of Fairfield county, a son of Daniel George Ruff and Sallie Crosby, but had made his home in Greenwood since 1904. He is survived by his widow, who was Miss Willie Wells, Greenwood; one daughter, Mrs. W. J. Haselden, Lexington, N. C.; two sons, William W. Ruff and George Harper Ruff, Greenwood; two grandchildren, Willis and Dan Ruff Haselden; one brother, W. P. Ruff, and three sisters, Mrs. T. J. Perry, Mrs. Pope Brooks and Miss Agnes Ruff, all of Winnsboro.

T. J. RABB IS CALLED BEYOND

Much Esteemed Rock
Hillian To Be Buried
Tuesday

In the passing early this morning of T. J. Rabb, Rock Hill lost one of its most highly esteemed citizens.

Although Mr. Rabb, who was 75 years old, had been in declining health the past three years he had been confined to his home for only the last few days, his condition becoming critical Saturday.

Funeral services will be held at the First Baptist church tomorrow at 11 a. m., with Dr. R. A. MacFarland, his pastor, in charge of the rites.

Mr. Rabb was born in Fairfield county on February 9, 1859. He was married to Miss Mamie Yarborough, also of Fairfield county, in 1885.

A devout christian, Mr. Rabb was loyal to the First Baptist church in which he was a deacon. The christian example he set in business, civic, and religious life of the city was an inspiration to his friends and associates. He was faithful in his attendance of Sunday school and church and was present at each service as long as health permitted.

Many who knew Mr. Rabb only through meeting him at church will recall his sincere and cheerful greeting and warm handclasp. Others who came in contact with him elsewhere or in a business way held Mr. Rabb in the highest esteem.

Here 24 Years

Engaging in the sale of marble and granite successfully for many years, Mr. Rabb built up a large and substantial business connection with many throughout the section. He lived in Rock Hill for 24 years.

Surviving are his widow and the following children: Thomas Y. Rabb, Mrs. S. O. Houck, Mrs. H. T. Houck, of Augusta, Ga., Mrs. Katherine Harley, of Columbia, and Mrs. Stuart W. Rabb, of Lexington, N. C. There are eight grandchildren surviving as well as a brother, W. L. Rabb, Dallas, Texas and a sister, Mrs. D. P. Hamilton, of Monticello.

Active pallbearers will be: J. B. Talbert, W. P. Sibley, T. C. Davis, L. F. Waldrop, G. A. Dobbins, and R. C. Burts.

The honorary pallbearers include all the deacons of the First Baptist church: A. E. Willis, J. E. Bass, E. B. Johnson, L. D. Pitts, W. D. Willis, L. F. Wadrop, L. W. Johnson, W. P. Sibley, L. W. Fouche, D. M. Murchison, H. G. Neely, E. S. Wallace, A. B. Thackston, and G. H. Harrell and M. G. Bryant.

ADMINISTRATOR'S NOTICE

All persons holding claims against the Estate of Lizzie J. Crosby, deceased, are hereby notified to present them within the time prescribed by law, and all persons indebted to said estate are requested to make payment to the undersigned.

ANGUS H. MACAULAY,
Oct. 16, 1933. Administrator.

Whatley
Dr. Thomas B.	21
Dr. Thomas Benjamin	21
Wolling
John	13
John George	13
Mrs. John G.	14
Woodrow
Felie Baker	27
Wright
William B.	22
William Brooks	22
Yarborough
Louise Swygert	15

121
120
119
118
117
116
115
114
113
112
111
110
109
108
107
106
105
104
103
102
101
100
99
98
97
96
95
94
93
92
91
90
89
88
87
86
85
84
83
82
81
80
79
78
77
76
75
74
73
72
71
70
69
68
67
66
65
64
63
62
61
60
59
58
57
56
55
54
53
52
51
50
49
48
47
46
45
44
43
42
41
40
39
38
37
36
35
34
33
32
31
30
29
28
27
26
25
24
23
22
21
20
19
18
17
16
15
14
13
12
11
10
9
8
7
6
5
4
3
2
1

121
120
119
118
117
116
115
114
113
112
111
110
109
108
107
106
105
104
103
102
101
100
99
98
97
96
95
94
93
92
91
90
89
88
87
86
85
84
83
82
81
80
79
78
77
76
75
74
73
72
71
70
69
68
67
66
65
64
63
62
61
60
59
58
57
56
55
54
53
52
51
50
49
48
47
46
45
44
43
42
41
40
39
38
37
36
35
34
33
32
31
30
29
28
27
26
25
24
23
22
21
20
19
18
17
16
15
14
13
12
11
10
9
8
7
6
5
4
3
2
1

Macfie
Wade H.	13
Wade Hampton	13
Macfie Jr.
Rice R.	10
Martin
David R.	14
Elizabeth	10
Matthews
Caroline Hagood	28
McMaster
G. B.	21
George Buchanan	21
Helen G.	6
Helen Graham	5
Louisa Penn	26
Porter A.	5
McMeekin
Dr. J. D.	9
Joseph D.	9
Mamie	3
Mrs. A. M.	21
Ruby	9
S. G.	22
Stephen Gibson	22
McMeekin Jr.
Joseph D.	9
Means
David Coalter	15
J. Hagood	2
James Hagood	2
Murphy
John H.	12
John Hancock	12
Owings
Dr. O. Y.	29
Parr
Henry L.	16
Henry Larkin	16
Powell
Eliza Gladden	2

Rabb
Lillie Provence	12, 19
Mary Holley	4
Mrs. Horace	2
T. J.	1
Ragsdale
G. W.	15
Inez McMeekin	19
Ravenel
Daniel	38
Mrs. H. E.	38
Rion
Hanna	35, 36
James Henry	34
Ruff
Andrew Patterson	11
D. Crosby	13
D. George	1
Judith Weston Elkin	32
Silas W.	32
T. D.	11
Thomas Douglas	11
William Henry	29
Stack
Letitia	9
Stanton
Lily	28
Lily E.	28
Steele
James M.	38
Janie Moore	12
Stevenson
Alva Elizabeth	10
Stone Jr.
John S.	9
Tidwell
Charles D.	16
Trewhella
Theresa Rion	36
Turner
R. Y.	20

19 20
 21
 22
 23
 24
 25
 26
 27
 28
 29
 30
 31
 32
 33
 34
 35
 36
 37
 38
 39
 40
 41
 42
 43
 44
 45
 46
 47
 48
 49
 50
 51
 52
 53
 54
 55
 56
 57
 58
 59
 60
 61
 62
 63
 64
 65
 66
 67
 68
 69
 70
 71
 72
 73
 74
 75
 76
 77
 78
 79
 80
 81
 82
 83
 84
 85
 86
 87
 88
 89
 90
 91
 92
 93
 94
 95
 96
 97
 98
 99
 100

19 20
 21
 22
 23
 24
 25
 26
 27
 28
 29
 30
 31
 32
 33
 34
 35
 36
 37
 38
 39
 40
 41
 42
 43
 44
 45
 46
 47
 48
 49
 50
 51
 52
 53
 54
 55
 56
 57
 58
 59
 60
 61
 62
 63
 64
 65
 66
 67
 68
 69
 70
 71
 72
 73
 74
 75
 76
 77
 78
 79
 80
 81
 82
 83
 84
 85
 86
 87
 88
 89
 90
 91
 92
 93
 94
 95
 96
 97
 98
 99
 100

Index of Contents

Aughtry
R. C.	26
Bell
Daisy	9
Fannie H.	9
Binder
Lou Danna Rabb	23
Mrs. C.	23
Boag
James Orr	37
Bookman
Mary Ann	9
Boulware
Chesley G.	2, 19
Ellen Stevenson	2
Marian Crosby	24
Mrs. C. G.	2
Brice
E. Douglas	12
Buchanan Sr.
John C.	14
Burley
J. Butler	8
Joel Butler	8
Busby
Mary E.	22
Calhoun
John C.	34
Cathcart
C. E.	23
Samuel C.	34
Clowney
R. Y.	27
Robert Young	27, 29
Coleman
George W.	13
Confederate Death Roll	33, 34
Crawford
Mary	9
Crosby
Lizzie J.	1
Curry
Samuel S.	21
Samuel Stafford	21
Dabney
Clifford F.	10
Delleney
S. G.	24
Stark Gains	24
Douglas
Eugenia	4
Patsy	10
Patsy Aiken	10
Durham
M. M.	24
Marion M.	9
Marion Mobley	24
Edmunds
Mrs. R. H.	31
Edrington
J. M.	22
Elliott
T. K.	7
Thomas K.	8
Thomas Ketchin	7
W. J.	26
William Julian	26
Estes
Paul	3
Feaster
Florence	25
Sallie Lyles	25
Ford
Mrs. Strother	28
Susan Hemphill Caldwell	28
Glenn
Maude McMeekin	4
Mrs. J. G.	4
W. A.	9
Heyward
Benjamin H.	25
Lyles
Capt. John W.	30
John Woodward	30
W. H.	20
William Haynsworth	20
Macfeat
Minnie	17
Minnie H.	17

Deaths

My TREASURE
SCRAP BOOK

Richard Wirtz Chap. DAR