QUERIES

KLEINKAUF: I have been chasing a missing Hessian soldier for a long time now. His name was Heinrich Kleinkauf. He was reported as captured at battle of Ft. Moultrie and later reported as deserted from his unit the Garrison Regiment Von Huyn in May 1871 while in the "Carolinas". I have found evidence of his grandchildren 70 years later but have not been able to find him. If you can help, please contact me: Barbara Jarvis, 13940 Vesper Rd., Valley Center, CA 92082 Tel. FAIRFIELD'S HERITAGE - HISTORIC HOMES INFORMATION*

Hunstanton - Home of Mr. and Mrs. C.E. Strange

"Hunstanton", located two miles south of Winnsboro on the Columbia Highway, according to a map of Fairfield executed by John Allen Tharp in 1820 belonged to a Robertson, Esquire. The house was in existence then but how long before this date it was built is not known. In Colonial days it was known as "Sweet Briar" which was changed to its present name by C.E. Strange, Sr., after he purchased it in 1906 from W. R. Rabb, so called "Hunstanton" from the ancient family seat of the Strange family in Norfolk, England. The family lived there until 1922.

In 1946, C.E. Strange, Jr., began the restoration of the place to its former plan. It is typical in design of the Colonial plantation house, showing a definite French influence seen in so many dwellings of the period in South Carolina and the lower Mississippi section. The front with its gabled roof and large square columns supported by tall pedestals belonging to the basement floor shows the early approach to the classical style in architecture. The house is built high above the ground and is a typical example of the "Mosquito Cottage" (from the superstition of malaria fever). Although referred to as a cottage, the plan of the house is in eighteen rooms.

It is legendary that the leaves are never still at "Hunstanton". It is in the wind trough of the ridge which bisects Fairfield County, so that the wind is fed/through it by several twenty-mile creek valleys on either side.

Valencia - Home of Mr. & Mrs. Edward Gendron Palmer, III

Valencia was built by Edward Gendron Palmer, first Low Country planter to come to Fairfield, in 1824. The widow of Edward Gendron Palmer, 3rd, is now the mistress of the home, and while numerous family divisions and other causes have greatly reduced the holdings, still some 400 acres and more of the original 6,000 appertain to the ante-confederate war home, and many of the original furnishings are to be found therein.

Early in 1824, Edward Gendron Palmer, 1st, of St. James Parish, Santee, Charleston District, having married Carolina, the daughter of Dr. James Davis, of Columbia, was induced by his father-in-law to move from the Low Country to Fairfield County, near Ridgeway, then called "New Lands." James Davis, 2nd, brother of Mrs. Palmer, had just returned from extensive travels in Europe. The view which he saw from his sister's new home reminded him so much of a view he had from his hotel window in Valencia, Spain, that he suggested to his brother-in-law that he name the home Valencia.

This home is not one of the mystical "stately buildings with tall white columns". It is a twostory frame building, with large halls through the center – five rooms on the first floor and four on the second. The mantles are high, hand-carved wooden ones, and beneath them are deep, wide fireplaces where hickory and oak logs once crackled. In the drawing room are yet the red and gold cornices above the windows, from which hung brussels lace curtains with overdrapes of rich damask. On the floors in winter were carpets with rich pile. In the summer, Chinese matting replaced the carpets. Some of the mahogany furniture of Colonial design still remains. One piece is a small table, gotten by Col. Wm. C. Preston, in Washington, which had been a table in Thomas Jefferson's study. Over the mantle formerly hung the portrait of Mrs. W.C. Preston, the sister of Mrs. Palmer. On the walls were rare pictures and prints. Of those, which remain, are profiles of Napoleon I and Josephine. These were brought from Paris by Edward Gendron Palmer, 2nd, who lived there for seven years before the Confederate War and was presented at the Court of Napoleon III.

Cedar Tree Plantation - Home of Mr. and Mrs. Van Exem

House at Cedar Tree Plantation was built Circa 1853 on elevation by Eedard G. Palmer of Valencia for his son Dr. John D. Palmer of Ridgeway, S.C. The smoke house and kitchen are still standing, with original farm bell. This house was built from lumber off place, 18-inch boards from heart pine. Foundation is still in excellent condition. Old cemetery with tombstones over 100 years old is located near home of this plantation. Colonel Dunbar of the Revolutionary War is buried there. Part of old brick wall still stands. Around the wall is a Cherokee rose that is over one hundred years old.

Mayfair - Home of Mrs. R. C. Bruce

Mayfair, now in the process of being restored, was built in 1824. Col. William Alston, the architect, presented the house and the plantation to his daughter, Mrs. Burrel Cook. Members of the Cook family lived here until 1883 when the place was purchased at auction by Thomas Chappell.

Thomas Chappell's wife and daughters occupied the home until 1945 when Mrs. R.C. Bruce, a granddaughter, purchased it.

The house, built in the Charleston manner, has two fine doorways, excellent staircase, mantels, and paneling. The enclosed back staircase has an amusing story connected with the reason for its construction. It is said that the daughters of the household were required to use the protected stairway in order that no one would be able to see their ankles.

The name of the place, Mayfair, is compounded from the given name of Mary Douglas Chappell and the first syllable of Fairfield.

Heyward Hall, Formerly Andersonn or Kincaid Manor Home of Mrs. Dan Heyward

This manor house was built in 1774 by Captain James Kincaid. The large square house was built in Old English style with porticos at the entrance. The brick, the rails, and the unusual ornamentations for this home were brought from England. Its fusive hand-carved mantels and solid mahogany stairway make it a place of unusual beauty. In recent years, this old house has been restored and beautified to the splendor of the days of yore by Mrs. Dan Heyward and is now called "Heyward Hall," known far and wide for its beauty, charm, and exquisite furnishings.

The gardens or terraces of the Kincaid plantation are, from the standpoint of landscaping, among the most effective in the Piedmont. They are extremely simple, being merely a series of six to ten feet below the other.

Near the house, in the back yard, is a small house built on a floor of solid rock. This was said to have been the ice-house, where ice was stored when cut from the river in winter, and used the following summer. On the opposite side of the house is a round old stone lined well.

In front of the house still stands the old horse block, hewn from solid stone. And blocks of solid stone are placed to form a walk, swinging in a curve from the front door to the road, through the woods.

Few men ever accomplished by their own energy and with their own ideas more for humanity than Captain James Kincaid. He thought out, put together, and operated successfully the first cotton gin, and the story is told that Eli Whitney, on the way to Augusta, Georgia, spent the night in his home, stole the model, and took it with him next day, patenting it as his own invention. Captain Kincaid bought the tomato to America and developed it for food. He served in the War for Independence under Generals Sumter and Marion. He and his wife are buried at the Old Brick Church, Eebenezer, near the home. And the Negroes of the neighborhood tell that on moonlight nights, the wife can be seen in her white nightgown, with long flowing hair, going from the house to the churchyard to her husband's grave.

• NOTE: This information was typed, as written, from the booklet entitled "OUR HERITAGE." The booklet I have does not have a publication date nor does it credit the author. However, there is a hand written note that suggests the booklet was published around 1950. This book also describes some historic homes that will be in future issues. If anyone knows who the author is, please advise.

Edgefield County, South Carolina Deed Books 27, 28 and 29

Abstracted by Carol Wells

In this book are mentioned the names of more than 3,700 free persons. They are sellers, buyers, orphans, widows, adjoining neighbors, previous owners, and donors of gifts to children and friends. Most deeds concern land conveyances. There are also prenuptial agreements, mortgages, powers of attorney, certification of documents completed in other states, and depositions made by witnesses to controversial events. More than 200 slaves are named, the majority being sold or given as gifts, some being granted freedom.

Although quite a few deeds were signed ten or twenty years earlier, chains of title lead back to the 1750s and 1760s. These deeds were not recorded until between 1806 and 1809. Deeds became shorter. The old lease and release system was nearly abandoned. Names of all persons, places and watercourses are included in the 26-page index.

Deed book activity shows that these were years of great change in Edgefield County. Large land grants were divided and subdivided. The price of land doubled and tripled. Increased profitability of cotton and the smaller size of holdings fixed slavery on the South. Quakers had moral objections; they sold out and moved. North. #W157

THINGS GENEALOGISTS SHOULD KNOW

(Thanks to the Hilton Head Genealogical Society)

Grave Photography – Graves normally face to the east, so take the pictures about 11:00 A.M. for the best shadow definition of the carved inscription or if facing west, about 2:00 P.M.

LDS Tutorial – Try on the Internet, http://www.firstct.com/fv/lds1.html, for a complete tutorial on what LDS has to offer.

Genealogy Book Publishers - Internet, http://heritagebooks.com

Cleaning Old Tombstones – Did you know that a block of Styrofoam will clean off moss and soil debris from old tombstones and will not damage the stone?

Faded Writing on Documents – If writing is too faded to read, use a 75-watt black light bulb in any lamp that casts light directly on the document. The writing will miraculously appear.

German Records – American researchers dealing with recent German records have a problem. In Germany, some records are not public property for 150 years. That isn't the only problem. In some cases, you will need to provide a legal document giving your reason for needing those records (genealogy doesn't count) such as open an account, establish credit, etc.

Emigrant Processing Places – Did your ancestor enter the US on the East Coast? If so, there are several places that he/she might have entered around the New York area:

1 Aug 1855 to 18 Apr 1890	Castle Garden
19 Apr 1890 – Dec 1891	Barge Office
1 Jan 1892 – 13 Jun 1897	Ellis Island
14 Jun 1897 – 16 Dec 1900	Barge Office
17 Dec 1900 – 31 Dec 1924	Ellis Island

SOUTH CAROLINA GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY, INC. BOARD OF DIRECTORS MEETING MINUTES APRIL 17, 1999

The Board of Directors meting was held at the S.C. Archives and History Center in Columbia, S.C. on April 17, 1999. President Mike Becknell calld the meeting to order and welcomed everyone. After roll call, the Treasurer's report was given. Terry told the Board about our problems with the IRS and the fact that many numbers have been assigned. The tax forms were submitted using the SCGS name in different ways. He is trying to straighten this out.

Doris Bateman, Recording Secretary, read the minutes for the January meeting. The minutes were approved with one correction – Margaret Bishop should be Marguerite Bishop.

The Board was informed that we do have a Publications Committee. The members are as follows: Betty Becknell, Chairman; Larry Ulmer; Terry Leverett, Business Manager; Sybile Pierce; Frances Osburn; and Randy Holcombe, Acting Editor.

Betty Becknell made the motion to elect Randy as Editor. Sybile Pierce seconded the motion. The motion was passed.

Johnny Andrews, Workshop Committee, informed the Board that the Archives will be charging us $500.00 for the use of the building on Saturday and $75.00 for Friday night. The cost of the workshop will be the following: Members - $17.00 Advance; Non-Members - $22.00 Advance; Walk-ins will be charged an additional $5.00; Lunch - $8.00 additional. Tyler's Barbecue will be catering the event. The Workshop has already been publicized in the Carolina Herald, National Genealogical Society Newsletter, S.C. Archives, The Family Tree and Caroloque. He had sent each Chapter a preliminary notice to be published in their newsletters. Lynn Lee will be the Registrar and registration should be sent to SCGS Workshop, P.O. Box 175, Hartsville, SC 29551. Brent Holcombe has taken flyers advertising our Workshop to different places. He suggested that each Chapter have a display table at the Workshop. He also invited the new African-American Genealogical Society and Friends of the Archives of Atlanta, GA. Members probably will cater Friday night's event. Hilton Head Chapter volunteered to provide the drinks. Any other volunteers need to contact the Workshop Committee.

Financial Chairman, Randy Holcome told the Board that the Heritage Library Foundation will donate a computer to SCGS. We will have to purchase the monitor and printer. Estimated cost for these two items will be $1,015.00. Mike Becknell made a motion that we purchased this equipment. Annette Burton seconded the motion and it was passed.

Randy stated that he had made a list of S.C. Genealogical Research Libraries for the newsletter. It is known to be in error and he did not mean to offend anyone. He asked that corrections or additions be sent to the Editor. Anne Sheriff thanked Randy for taking the job as Newsletter Editor.

Anne Sheriff, Projects Committee Chairman, reported that she was almost ready to turn the Surname Book to the Publications Committee to decide on how to publish it. The Finance Committee was asked to check on the cost and would turn the book over to them by May 1st.

Page Two SCGS Board Minutes April 17, 1999

Sybile Pierce, Nominating Committee Chairman, stated that she had sent a letter to each Chapter explaining the rules of the Nominating Committee and she has heard from two Chapters.

Jan Mahaffey told the group that the Domain Name registered for SCGS, INC. had to be changed to SCGEN.ORG. The site has had 6,356 hits since August 1st. There was a discussion on what type information should be put on the Web-Site.

Mike reported that Elaine Martin had turned over the information regarding our State Pins to the Finance Committee.

Randy asked about putting the old copies of the Carolina Herald on CD Rom. He and Mike will be at the NGS Conference and can talk with Ancestry about publishing them. The Board authorized them to check on this and then we would vote on whether to pursue it.

Johnny Andrews suggested that we get sponsors to help pay for our upcoming workshops. Randy Holcombe made a motion to accept sponsors as long as we do not change the name of our workshop. Marguerite Bishop seconded the motion and it was passed. Johnny said it would not be in effect this year.

Mike stated that the next meeting will be held on July 10th after the workshop and adjourned the meeting.

Respectfully submitted by: Daris W. Bakerean

German Funeral Sermons Source of Genealogy Information – An article that appeared in the German Genealogical Digest explains that funeral sermons were common in Germany from 1550 to 1750. It was primarily a Protestant happening although some Catholic areas used the practice. The important items to remember about these sermons are: they consisted of four parts: the actual sermon, the details about the life of the person, the renunciation, and poems and psalms written by friends and relatives. Obviously the second part is the valuable part for the genealogist. The Family History Library carries the film numbers for an index of many of the German funeral sermon. SHOOT WHAT PEOPLE WANT TO SEE

Keep your camera handy. Keep your camera or camcorder out, with working batteries and film or tape.

■ Decide how you're going to document your life this year. Be original. Choose a day, or a certain time of day, or a certain month or location to document. Focus on everyday activities washing dishes, doing laundry, using the computer, watching the Super Bowl.

Take time to label. Label the outside of your videotape and the backs of photographs with who, what, when and where in a permanent marker. If you don't have time to label all the pictures, choose your top three.

■ Give everyone a chance to be in the picture. Don't make one person the designated photographer of the family, or they'll never be photographed.

■ Focus on people, not scenery. In 100 years, the Grand Canyon will probably still be there. You won't.

Avoid the biggest mistakes. Don't force people to wave or pay attention to the camera. If you're using a camcorder, keep your scenes to five or 10 seconds before changing angles unless something fascinating is happening. With a still camera, use natural light. Use a high-speed film for indoor shooting without flash to avoid a snapshot look.

How long will your photos and videos look good? Henry Wilhelm and Jim Reilly give these estimates for images that are correctly stored in cool, dark and dry conditions, such as a first-floor closet. Don't put photos in the refrigerator or basement; they're too humid.

■ Kodachrome slides: Extremely stable, should last 200 years. Unfortunately, slides are out of fashion.

■ Black-and-white prints: Photos on fiber-based paper will last 100 years, but today's resin-coated photographic paper makes blackand-white prints less stable than color.

Color prints: Early color photos were prone to deterioration, but today's photos will last 100 years or more. Color photos printed on Fujicolor Crystal Archive paper will last longer than other photos on display. Negatives: With scanners that can read straight off a print, the importance of negatives is lessened. "The reality is, the negative will be there and retrievable in 100 years, but few people ever keep an index for them," Wilhelm says.

■ Ink-jet prints: Unstable format because of the waterbased dyes that fade relatively quickly. Extremely vulnerable in direct sunlight. You'll see major improvements for permanence in the next two years.

■ Videotape: All formats — VHS, 8mm and Hi-8 — experience a degradation of the plastic binder in the tape; estimates of stability are 20-40 years. Every time you transfer the image to another tape, you lose quality.

■ Digital images: Expected to be long-lasting but vulnerable to heat or careless handling. Biggest problem is that computers' ability to read current storage formats (disk, CD-ROM) may disappear.

A History of Rowan County, North Carolina. Containing sketches of Prominent Families and Distinguished Men, with an Appendix by Rev. Jethro Rumple

A must for those seeking information on the early history of Rowan Co., NC--- "the queenly mother of more than a score of counties." Rowan is situated in the western half of the state and is bounded on the North and East by the Yadkin River. The county was established in 1753; in its original state, it was an ample domain containing 30 present-day counties and was the stomping ground for many famed frontiersmen, including a young Daniel Boone. Rev. Rumple provides a detailed general and ecclesiastical history of the county from the initial meetings between European explorers and the Native Americans to the antebellum years of the 1850's. Special attention is paid to the role of the county in the American Revolution, with many incidents of the war reported and concise biographical sketches included for each member of the Provincial Congress representing Rowan. Two chapters provide sketches of notable families and distinguished persons, including 7th president of the United States Andrew lackson. There is also a fascinating section devoted to folklore, superstitions and traditions of the region. A detailed appendix reprints the Roll of Honor for Rowan Co., listing every officer and private from the county known to have served in the Confederate Army during the Civil War; the appendix is arranged by regiment and company, officers listed by rank and privates alphabetically by surname. The original index to the 1881 edition has been retained. #R856

Homecoming provides an opportunity for out-of-town members and visitors to come get involved in local research, as well as to gain new insights into our families from a historical perspective.

This year's Seminar will give us a look at the migrations southward and westward from VA and NC into TN, KY, SC, GA and points west. The format again offers an opportunity for expanding our knowledge and sharpening our methodology skills. Our local members look forward to seeing our out-of-town members and to meeting new friends from far and near who will join us for this stimulating weekend! This year also marks a special milestone for the Augusta Genealogical Society: the twentieth anniversary of our founding! It is difficult to realize how much AGS has grown and changed during those twenty years. Unbelievable events have taken place; the most visible being the unanticipated growth of our research library from a few bookshelves in the early years to a whole building today containing over 15,500 volumes plus microfiche, microfilm and CD-Roms.

Come share our feeling of pride in what has been accomplished and what is yet to be!
