MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

Robert Edward "Eddie, Ed" Killian, Jr. (DNA HG-L21)

I am not wearing a confederate version of a Santa Claus suit, but a 1861 Lynchburg Virginia Artillery uniform while at the 150th observance of the firing on Ft. Sumter, Charleston, SC

Hello everyone,

This past quarter we had elections and we will be having a few volunteer changes in officer duties. Please check out the officers under our website for specifics.

I (we) want to sincerely thank, Frances "Frankie" Lee O'Neal for all of her hard work and support this past two years. She will be stepping down to turn her energies and attention to story-telling and other important interest in our community; but we still will see her from time to time. Please stop by and/or thank Frankie when you see her.

Also I (we) want to thank, Larry Ulmer an associate member, who has been transitioning his duties as Social Media Chairman and Webmaster over to Steven White this past year. He has been turning his attention and efforts more toward his hometown society. Please drop Larry a line or let him know when you see him how much we have appreciated his help.

We want to thank Kadena Woodard, Janie Price and Rev. Eddie J. Woods in joining our team. Please make them feel welcome and a part of our team. We are looking forward to their contributions in meeting our common goals.

I also want to thank local membership that continue to step up, help with volunteering and support our society's efforts: Pelham Lyles, Shelbia Trotter, Linda Frazier, Ben Hornsby, Suzanne Johnson, Jon Davis, Debby Van Sant, Steven White, James W. Green III, Nancy Brown, Nancy Hoy, Dori Brandenburg, Kala Bell, Virginia Schafer, Jean Crawford, Ed Gates and Lee Walker.

I would like to thank our many contributors for their membership, gifts, hours of volunteer work, attendance in meetings and generosity in giving toward our society and its goals. Thank you! Remember our society is what we all make it. Please continue taking an active role in your chapter to help it to continue to grow, prosper, be helpful to Fairfield County descendants needing answers and assistance and be a source of pride and economic growth for our community.

We had a demo presented and we are evaluating our situation with the Microfilm Reader/Printer and hope to be able to decide a final course of action soon. The cost is coming in at twice what we had expected. Also, we are working toward getting our entire collection cataloged on BookCat; which will at the minimum provide a searchable database. We have submitted a grant request to obtain funds to meet both of these goals. Please keep these items in your thoughts and/or prayers.

We also participated in a joint venture with the Historical Society, Museum and local garden clubs to present the Museum Christmas Open House, December 8th. At times there were probably over 100 people enjoying the festivities. Thanks for everyone who had a part in making this time a great success and wonderful time.

We continue to work hard and diligently toward our goals to grow as friends and fellow workers toward a common goal of meeting our mission. We all are doing a great job and it does not go unnoticed. It is not uncommon for me to introduce myself to someone in the community and when I mention the Genealogy Society; they have nothing but good things to say and are glad that we are so active in our community.

I hope you all have a safe and enjoyable Christmas Holiday and thanks again!

Humbly in your service,

Eddie

ROOTS AND RECALL – Connecting people to the physical past.

MEMORIES BEGIN AT HOME...

The founders of RootsandRecall.com, Wade B. Fairey Sr., and James I. “Rusty” Robinson III, are historic preservationists who each view the preservation of architecture and local history as vital to their lives. They both grew up in York County, South Carolina, in a culture in which family stories and traditions are valued. Both Rusty and Wade were taken by their families to visit the local historic village of Brattonsville as children in the early 60’s.

Users of RootsandRecall.com will discover far more about who their ancestors were by linking documents related to specific addresses and structures than can be gained by simply reviewing a genealogical chart. Linking data with an address gives us a comprehensive image of our roots. Architectural Forensics, LLC has established the validity of this concept by filing a U.S. Patent, and also acknowledges the role a photographic image plays in stimulating recall of family and place. It is for this reason the website created by two great friends is called “rootsandrecall.com”, the realization of their dream to preserve and share local history one town at a time.

The mobility of modern life has undermined the ability to share family stories, yet the desire to record and preserve community, genealogical and family ties remains strong. RootsandRecall.com recognizes that technology offers the means to reverse this trend. By sharing our recollections, images, and stories, we can help preserve a place in time for each community while building our own family history sites.

Share your story!

SWEPT BY FLAMES!

Winnsboro fire of 1888

Winnsboro Visited by a Most Disastrous Conflagration.

A Number of Buildings in the Business Portion of Town Burned Down – Heroic Efforts of the Firemen –
Loss $25,000

The most destructive conflagration which has visited Winnsboro since Sherman burned the town, occurred on Thursday night about 8:20 o'clock. As Mr. R.J. McCarley was going home, just as he passed the Episcopal church he saw a small blaze in the rear W.R. Doty & Co.'s stable. He immediately gave the alarm, but before he reached the engine house and before the alarm bell had tapped a dozen times the whole building was a mass of flames. Some men who were in the immediate neighborhood rushed to the stable, broke down the doors and drove out what stock they could in the extremely short time they had. The stable was filled with fodder, hay and other combustible matter, and so rapidly did it burn that in five minutes it was doomed. The fire department was out promptly and soon had streams of water upon the buildings. So rapidly did the flames spread, however, that it was soon apparent that nothing could be saved. All the buildings in the neighborhood of the stable were wooden structures and afforded ready fuel for the flames. The stores occupied by W.R. Doty & Co., and L. Landecker & Co., were soon enveloped, and in an incredible short time were burned. The flames then spread on either side burning the Jenkins house on the north, and several tenement houses in the rear, the engine house of the hand engine company, and Timms' store.

As the fire originated in the rear of the stable which is immediately back of the Episcopal Church, this building was soon in flames. The fire raged so fiercely that for a time firemen and citizens were puzzled to know what to do. All the houses on the opposite side of the street are wooden buildings and as the wind was blowing in that direction it seemed almost impossible to save them. The firemen, seeing it useless to attempt to extinguish the burning buildings turned their efforts to saving the buildings on the opposite side. The buildings in immediate danger were the Harden building, the stores occupied by H. Landecker and HJ. Groeschel, the residence of B. Sugenheimer, the Lauderdale building and the store and residence of R.W. Phillips. All of these, at one time or another, were on fire from sparks and the intense heat. Notwithstanding this the firemen fought bravely, and with their faces scorched they nobly stood their ground and played streams of water upon the endangered houses. Companies of men were also stationed upon the houses and notwithstanding there was an abundant supply of water, the roofs caught from sparks and the heat, and, in some instances, burned holes in the roofs. Boag's store and opera house were also in imminent danger, but both were saved.

The wind was blowing almost in an easterly direction, and the sparks from the burning buildings were carried across the town into the county a mile or more out. From these sparks Crawford's stable, the Duval House, Jno. P. Matthews' residence, Mrs. Mobley's residence and probably others caught, but a force of hands on the different roofs prevented their destruction. Mr. Doty saved nothing from his store – except papers and money in his safe, which was found all right on opening the safe the next morning. In addition to the total loss of his merchandise, storehouse, stable and provender, five mules and three hogs were burned, and their piteous moans were heard above the roar of the flames. Mr. Timms succeeded in opening his safe before the total destruction of his store and secured his papers and other valuables. He saved about $1,000 in goods. Landecker & Co. succeeded in saving a small portion of their stock. The hearse, which was stored in the engine house, was consumed. T.W. Lauderdale had his goods injured by water and lost his plate-glass front, valued at $60, by the same means. The Jenkins house and the houses in the rear were totally destroyed, as were also most of the contents. The building occupied by John Russell was also in danger, but being new it did not so readily ignite as the old buildings. The losses and insurance are placed at the following, which is entirely within the correct figure:

Fairfield Genealogical Society 4th Quarter Newsletter 2013

Doty – store, stock, merchandise and stable	$15,000
Laudecker – merchandise and building	2,500
Timms – goods and store	3,200
Episcopal church	2,500
Jenkins – building and outhouses	1,000
Engine house and hearse	1,000
Total loss	$25,200

Against which there is only $1,100 insurance - $600 on building occupied by Laudecker & Co. and $500 on their stock. This makes the net loss $24,100.

The only accident was the fall of Jasper Gibson, colored, from the Harden house. The fall was over twenty feet, but in falling he struck another colored man standing on a ladder, which somewhat broke the fall, and he suffered only a contusion of the head.

Too much praise cannot be given the firemen who so nobly did their work, and to Mr. R.J. McCarley, the chief of the department, who so efficiently directed the work.

The origin of the fire is a mystery. Mr. Doty and others are inclined to believe it incendiary, while others contend that it may have caught from smoking in the stable. This is the third or fourth fire in the vicinity, which inclines many to the incendiary theory.

The destruction of the Episcopal Church is a heavy blow to that congregation, and leaves them without a place of worship. All the movables in the church were saved except some of the seats. The memorial window to the late Rev. J. Obear was destroyed. The congregation are not dismayed, but have already announced their determination to rebuild. Other places of worship have been offered, but it is not known at present what steps will be taken.

The fire was seen for miles in the country, many coming in with their laborers to assist.

The following telegram was received by Capt. J.A. Gaillard:

“Draw on me for one hundred dollars to help rebuild the Episcopal church.

“ R.S. DESPORTES.
