The mission of the Fairfield County Genealogy Society is to:

- Promote genealogy through education of its members and the general public;
- Improve access to genealogical information in Fairfield County by maintaining an educational research center;
- Foster collaboration among members;
- Assist those researching their Fairfield County ancestors;
- Conduct periodic educational programs and conferences to explore cultural, genealogical, and historical topics;
- Disseminate cultural, genealogical, historical and biographical information to members and to the general public.

Message from the President, Robert Edward "Eddie" Killian, Jr.

Hello y'all. Hope all is well with you and your families.

Boy has it been a very busy 4th Quarter, the last several weeks especially, with 5-7 researchers a day along with trying to research twenty plus email research requests a month. We have enjoyed meeting new friends and new members from all over the country this last quarter.

The county recently purchased from Kadena Woodard her collection of African American funeral bulletins, cemetery information and other information for the library collection.

Pictured to the right is Kadena Woodard showing Pelham Lyles and I the CD version that will be donated, along with the book collection to the library. She will keep this collection updated as long as she is able. Her 2012 collection, (one shelf) has helped tremendously with African American research. We are looking forward to using these additions, (four shelves), the county purchased for the library to greatly assist us in African American research requests.

Pictured to the left is new member George Collier. He is presenting us with a USB memory stick containing eight of his publications for our library collection. We are looking forward to using these to greatly assist us with Henderson family research requests.

We, (Betty Carol Luffman, Larry Ulmer, Jon Davis, and Ken Shelton), continue to add to our collection, digitized material from our Family Files, microfilm, yearbooks, etc. Progress is steady and we are all excited with how work continues to move along. Recently, the county purchased Plat microfilm for 1917 through 1970 and Ken Shelton is digitizing these plats. Jon Davis has been digitizing plats from 1842 through 1917 and a few others from the Fairfield County Courthouse. I am looking forward to the plat project being completed and having them available for our members.

We, (Greydon Maechtle, Jon Davis, Nancy Hoy, new volunteer Doug Keistler and I), continue to do research requests and have greatly improved our turn-around time in resolving/responding to these requests.

Betty Branham has been able to join us again and will be assisting me with cataloging books into BookCat and labeling these books for the collection. We still have some books from the "Robert Hill, Sr." and "Annie Lee Ratliff" collections to be cataloged, labeled and placed into the collection; as well as books that were already in the collection prior to getting BookCat.

Saying all of this and explaining some of our very busy times, I feel I need to remind our readers what our research status email states: Walk-in's and members have priority for assistance with research. Therefore, we thank everyone for their patience with us. We have been working as time permits on your requests, digitizing, updating collections and updating web pages. We would love to provide our services at no cost and hope one day to be able to provide this service. However at this time we are totally supported by volunteers and donations. Normally we encourage researchers to become members of our society, (see website). Members receive free priority research and free paper copies for their membership year. For non-members, we normally charge $15 per request (2 hours) and $.10 per copy. On our membership application you will see we provide a multitude of research tools and supplies for researchers.

With a new membership year quickly approaching, please consider being a member, renewing your membership, or supporting the society in other ways such as volunteering or donating toward the scholarship program, cemetery, DNA, and digitization projects, or giving toward expanding the library collection. Please share any information you have updated on your family lines. The information will be filed and made available in our family files and digitized and made available on our web pages. This will aide to expedite future requests for research, assist walk-in researchers and allow our members to do research online at their own convenience at home. Remember, we are a 501-C3 society and all donations are tax deductible.

Yes, you will read some of the same words from previous messages, but there are some things that are worth stating again and perhaps heard for the first time by others. Thanks, for all the support and efforts of our members and volunteers to make our/your society a success. Through all of our efforts, I believe we continue to meet our mission goals. Also, by successfully assisting each one of our members and walk-ins in expanding their family tree(s), our society objectives are being met. Many of our successes in finding our family genealogy and DNA roots is due to the efforts of many of our family and friends who have paved the family roads ahead of us. We always enjoy meeting these old genealogy veterans as well as assisting the new at heart, those beginning to start their journey.

Please take note of the Board of Directors, Officers, Support Personnel and Volunteers, send them a note of encouragement, thank you, or constructive suggestions on how we may improve the society and its venues of information. If you are in the local area we can always use additional research volunteers or assistance with the library collection, please continue to come in and give us a hand as you can. Members please send us an email letting us know your feedback or items you would like us to discuss at Board meetings or see in our upcoming newsletters.

Thank you once again everybody, for your patience with us and your many ways of support for our/your society! Hope you and your families have had a safe and happy Thanksgiving and have a safe and merry Christmas!

Thank You Notes and Cards

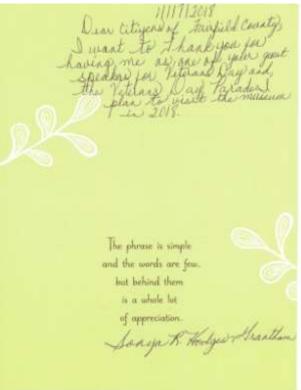

I just wanted to thank you guys for all the work you did for Mary and me. We finally got home from our trip and I'm almost ready to start going thru the papers you printed off for us. I'm enclosing the pictures we took on our excursion Eddie. That was so much fun and very interesting. I'm really sorry that we didn't have time (or energy) to go with James (W. Green, III) to the Powell place. A cousin who is thinking of doing Y-DNA has a question as to what more it would show than his father, Jess Willard's, DNA that we did thru Ancestry. I told him I would see if Nancy (Hoy) could answer that. Again, thank you so much for all of your help. Next email will include a photo of Thomas Mabry Willard (1846-1904), Roxana Williams. (see Query/Answer part of this newsletter)

Pictures to the left are at the Ag-Art Festival station at Oaks Farm in Blair, South Carolina of Roxana Duncan Williams from Oregon and Mary Louise Waller from California (cousins) researching Willard and Mabry families of Fairfield County. The Fairfield County Genealogy Society was assisting with the welcome station for the festival at this site along the tour.

Sonya R. Hodges Grantham will be our guest speaker, February 2018, for African American History Month.

Cemetery Report

Cemetery Committee –Jon Davis is working on a major project of digitizing 1842-1917 plats (advised that it is more than 1842-1917); stated that Ken Shelton digitized early plats up to 1842 and books 1-10 (which is 1917-1970 – may be further than that). This is a huge project and Jon is doing a great job digitizing this data. This will be a real asset to our library and our members! THANKS JON!

Follow up to DNA SUCCESS STORY, Dianne Greene 3rd Quarter, 2017 My Daughter's Discovery Story (Cammi McManus)

I met my birth parents for the first time last year, when I was 45. I grew up knowing I was adopted and I knew I wanted to someday find my adoptive family. I love my parents and they provided a wonderful life for me. They are the only family I have ever known. I also love a mystery and the mystery of where I came from and how I ended up being adopted was one I had to solve. I was adopted in the state of NC. There were very few options available to find my parents. I tried to locate my birth mother by her last known address through DSS in the county where I was adopted. That turned into a dead end. The only other option was to file a request with the court to open my birth certificate. This would require a lawyer and for best results for my parents to come along to show their support for my request. I was not able to make either one of these work. The lawyer was going to cost a few hundred dollars. My mother always said she would support me in my search for my birth parents, but was unwilling to accompany me in filing for my birth certificate through the court system.

This left only one avenue and it was a long shot. It was through DNA. In 2012, I had sent my DNA sample to Ancestory.com. When using Ancestry to find information on your birth family, the best case scenario is that one or both of your parents, or a sibling (half or whole) would also have had their DNA submitted. This was not the case. A 1st cousin would also be a blessing. A 2nd or 3rd cousin would mean that you are likely to share a great grandparent. I had a few 3rd cousin matches but no luck with them either having enough information to help me, or being willing to help me. In January of 2016, I had a new 3rd to 4th cousin match come through! Luckily, this 3rd cousin took an interest in my situation and wanted to help me. She said that I looked like one of her cousins she had recently found on Ancestry though searches building her family tree. This led me to a meeting with this cousin whom I thought may be able to help me find some answers. This cousin turned out to be my birth mother! What a surprise after many years of searching! More surprises were in store, as I also found out that my biological parents had gotten married a few years after I was born and that I have a full brother. I was able to meet my father, brother, and my 3 nephews as well! I have enjoyed spending time with them and getting to know them.

For anyone looking for a birth family member I recommend a DNA test. Having it on file with several companies is a good idea as well.

Query / Answer

Any help from the newsletter readers?

Randy Sears Q. A gentleman called this morning who is researching for pictures of the Vietnam War dead for the memorial in DC. Apparently, they are expanding a database for digital archives and/or museum setup. They are looking for a photo of Sgt. Sloan for their records. We have Sgt. Arthur Sloan's FindAGrave.com history and he is buried in Oaklawn Cemetery in Winnsboro. His wife was Sarah Emily Shirley Sloan and she is buried at New Hope ARP. It appears some of the Shirley families lived in the Blackstock-Halsellville area of northern Fairfield County. From what I could see in our older records on families, birth: Dec. 2, 1928, Winnsboro, SC death: Nov. 28, 1967, Phu Yen, Vietnam. Air Force Master Sergeant Arthur Sloan, Jr., 38 was born Dec. 2, 1928 in Winnsboro, S.C. and made his home in Graceville, Jackson County, Fla. He enlisted in the U.S. Army Air Corps/U.S. Air Force about 1947 (The U.S. Air Force became a separate military service Sept. 18, 1947) and had faithfully and honorably served his country for 20 years. He was of the Baptist faith and was married. His tour in Vietnam began July 31, 1967 and at the time of his death he was assigned to the 31st Aircraft & Equipment Maintenance Squadron, 31st Tactical Fighter Wing and the 7th Air Force. He died Nov. 28, 1967 in Phu Yen Province, South Vietnam, from injuries received in a motor vehicle accident. His name is on the National Vietnam Memorial at Panel 31E - Line 1 and on the Fairfield County Vietnam Memorial located in Winnsboro on the grounds of the Mt. Zion School. His awards and decorations were numerous and included the Air Force Good Conduct Medal, National Defense Service Medal, Air Force Longevity Service Award, Vietnam Service Medal, and Vietnam Campaign Medal among others. He is buried in the Oaklawn Cemetery, Winnsboro, S.C.

A. We do not have anything in our files here including an image of him. Would any of you have any idea where Mr. Byard can look for help locating family members or another source?

Damien Aragon Q. Quick question, do you all sell an abstracts of wills for Fairfield County? If so what years and what cost? Cockrell, Colvin, Crosby, Davis, Coleman, Jaggers, Sealy, Boulware, Feaster, Griffin, Price, Traylor, Wilkes. Some of these are Chester County names, but I'm researching the Cool Branch Cemetery, which is just in Fairfield County.

A. We do not presently have a book of wills for a donation. We plan to put wills online behind our member's only pages as soon as possible. If you tell me the surnames or people you are looking for, I will send what we have to you. Sent email with attached Boulware wills and the non-Boulware (rest of the) wills we have on file. You can check out the SC Archives online search site, also. Note: If you ask them for any documents, list them on one request.

Rebecca Root Q. A friend of mine is writing a book on Daniel Scott who was born about 1800 in Fairfield County to Benjamin Scott and Maria Shaver Scott. I have extensive research on Daniel, thanks to the help of Nancy Hoy. We are lacking deeds to property that Daniel bought and sold when he moved to Alachua County Florida. Is it possible that in your collection of books there would be deeds recorded? In particular, we are interested in those that concern sales to Daniel Finley.

Al Andrews Q. Thanks for talking to me today about my fifth great-grandfather James Andrews, Sr. I am trying to push his line back. He got his first land grant in Fairfield Co. in 1752, 150 acres on Morrison (Morris) creek of the Little River of the Broad River. Petition says. "That he came from the northward about 16 years ago. A little above 3 years ago he settled himself and family (3 children) on this land." This would have put him in this area around 1736. His will was proved 17 July 1798 in Fairfield Co. Wife name is Pricilla (I think she is Pricilla McGraw, daughter of Edward McGraw. James Andrews was a Regulator and his son James Jr. was also. James Jr., also married a Pricilla (I think Pricilla Woodward, daughter of Thomas Woodward the regulator). Do you have any records or information on John Andrew in Charleston County will book 1740-1747, page 282? John's last will and testament was proved on Jan. 22, 1745. He mentions a Daughter Ann and a Brother James Andrews.

A. There are many references to Pricilla McGraw marrying James Andrews, Sr., however, no documentation to prove this. Also there are many references to Pricilla Woodward marrying James Andrews, Jr., however, no documentation to prove this either. The McGraw will states Pricilla but not her married name. The Woodward will states Pricilla Woodward but not her married name. The Andrews will states only the given name Pricilla and not either one's maiden name. Sorry we cannot find any documentation to definitely prove this. Our collection does not have much before 1783. I found a will for Robert Andrews of Chester County (county just north of us). It states: from Robert, my brothers John and James, my father William. This is a link to Robert's will: http://www.archivesindex.sc.gov/onlinearchives/Thumbnails.aspx?recordId=296862. Any help from the newsletter readers?

David Raese Q. I have a request - not sure if you can help or not. If possible, I would very much like copies of two wills on file at the Fairfield County Courthouse. Names of the subjects and their death dates follow. 1. Henry Steele Yarborough, (born Jan. 05, 1898); died October 01, 1979 Fairfield Co., S.C 2. William Benjamin Yarborough, (born Feb. 19, 1881); died January 05, 1938 Fairfield Co., S.C Each of the above left wills that named their heirs, including names of children born outside of marriage - information I don't currently have. When I was at the museum last month, I mentioned a trunk filled with old Yarborough family photos and an old ledger about the family, complete with birth dates, etc. for all the family back into the early 1800s. Supposedly, one of the heirs mentioned in one of these wills has that trunk. I was unable to get to the courthouse during my last visit, and only discovered who might have the trunk the last day I was in Winnsboro, after the courthouse had closed for the weekend (of course!). If you could please send digital copies of these wills (and if no will on record, then any parts of the estate settlement that names heirs), I'd really appreciate it.

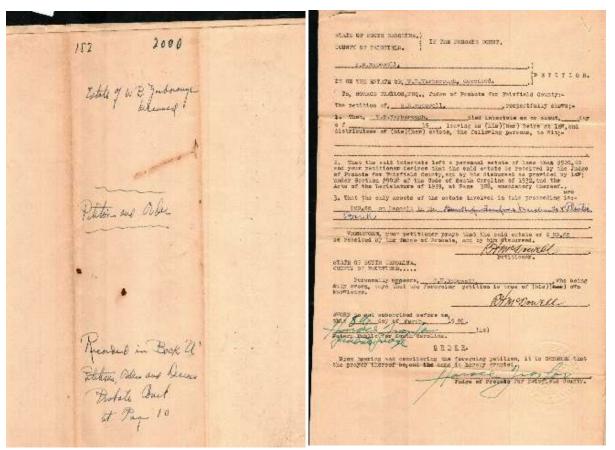

A. Here is what we found at the probate office. Neither Henry nor William left a will. Hope this will be a help to you. Mary Y. Cooper was the Administratrix who settled Henry's Estate. Here is part of the estate papers that list all the heirs of Henry.

Jennifer Leaver Q. Thank you so much! Yes, there are a lot of Coleman's! For a specific line, I would be interested to know if you have any information on Sarah Franklin (1800 - Fairfield, SC - 1872 - MS) who married David Henry Coleman. I believe her father was John Franklin (1780-1830). I do not know who her mother was. If you have any information on these Franklin's, that would be wonderful and would help me break through a brick wall.

A. David H. Coleman and Sarah Franklin: The link below is a Coleman book on the FCGS website that mentions them and their family on pages 246-256.

Looks like there may have been two John Major's; one married to Sarah Henry, possibly Fairfield County and another to Martha Epps, Newberry County. This info is from "Major/Majors/Mager/Majers/Maoir Family Information" by Herbert D. Hendrix; Vol. 1, Part 1; 1994-1995. Page 12 – Harry L. Watson of the Greenwood Index-Journal (newspaper of Greenwood, SC) is reported to have published John Perry Majors bible records. It was said that the name of his father, John Major, and John Perry Major's mother, Elizabeth Epps, was written in the bible in another's handwriting. Sandy Springs Methodist Church, Sandy Spring, SC, is the burying place of John Perry Major, his wife and many of his family. (In Leonardo Andreas's papers about Harry L. Watson's data on John P. In addition, to probably make things harder to figure out, the Fairfield County John Majore at Jackson Creek who died in 1805 would have been only 11 years old when Susan Major would have been born. Therefore, this John Majore is probably not Susan Major's father but maybe her brother.

James W. Green III Q. Eddie do you have our shared ancestors memorized? I checked Gov. Coleman's book and on page 59 (middle of page) he says "... Frances [Mathis] Coleman, the wife of 1764-1774, had died after signing the deed of the latter date, but we do not know when nor where [she died]." The "where" would be Halifax Co. NC or Fairfield Co. SC. On page 57 "Mrs. Jennie I. Coleman, writing in 1906, ... stated that Robert Coleman [Jr.], the husband of Elizabeth Roe, came from Halifax County, NC to Fairfield County, SC in 1775". I think this Tory family (Robert Coleman Sr. & Jr.), came to Fairfield Co. with wives Frances Mathis & Elizabeth Roe. I therefore THINK Frances Mathis is buried (in the Robert Coleman Sr., cemetery), with her husband later buried beside her) in Fairfield Co. The will of Thomas Mathis, Sr. (Frances Mathis Coleman's pa) was made & probated in Halifax Co. NC, so he died in NC. If any of his children came to Fairfield Co. esp. if his sons came, then my Mathis ancestral surname becomes a Fairfield Co. surname that I am justified in listing. Gov. Coleman records Frances Mathis Coleman's siblings via her father's will on page 63. Eddie can you check grants & deeds to see if any of her brothers had land in Fairfield Co.? They are probably in order of birth, Charles, James, Isaac, Thomas Jr., & Benjamin Mathis. I have lost or mislaid my index to the Union Historical Society Land Grant Atlas of the Enoree River valley or I would check it for Mathis's. I bet if I look a bit I could find a link on the society website to deeds and grants of Ken Shelton.

A. I have attached the Mathis lineage we have in our family files. Also, attached is the only deed record (Israel Mathis and wife), I was able to locate. There are no probate, plat or other deed records under spelling Mathis.

Any help from the newsletter readers?

But I am at a sticking point with one significant issue. It has to do with the children of Daniel H. Ruff Sr. (b. 1771) and Margaret (Margareta) Hamiter. Daniel moved across the Broad River from Newberry County to Fairfield County around 1800. They settled near Jenkinsville; their home is pictured and described in Julian Bolick's, A Fairfield Sketchbook. Every genealogy source I can find indicates that the couple had these four children: Silas Walter Ruff; David H. Ruff; Daniel H. Ruff Jr.; and Nancy Ruff. It is certain that Silas Walter Ruff was the direct ancestor of James Edgar Douglas III (Margie's father), and it is equally certain that Daniel H. Ruff Jr. (b. 1799) was the direct ancestor of Florence Rembert Scott (Margie's mother). What is blocking us right now is the status of the daughter Nancy. About half of the genealogy records I have looked at, indicates that Nancy's full maiden name was Nancy Savilla "Sibyl" Ruff. This Nancy is buried in the Bethel Methodist Churchyard, about nine miles from Jenkinsville. She was married to John Chappell. It appears that she also married a Benjamin Scott somewhere along the line, but the Chappell husband is the ancestor of my wife. And it looks like she married once more to a man named John B. Jenkins. The other half of the records I have found indicates that Daniel Sr. and Margaret's daughter Nancy ended up living in Ridgeway, along with her bachelor brother David H. Ruff. There she apparently married a man named Lauhon; a Lauhon family bible identifies him as Isaac Lauhon. According to this scenario, the three siblings David H. Ruff, Daniel H. Ruff Jr., and Nancy Ruff had earlier moved to the Blythewood area (Daniel Jr. is buried there). David moved up the road to Ridgeway and opened up the store we know today as Ruff and Company. That store was in the early days named Ruff and Lauhon. A typed copy of David's will has him leaving property to "Nancy Langdon, my sister", which I am guessing is a typographical mistake. David built the Ruff Chapel in Ridgeway, and in that little churchyard of 28 graves are the burial sites of David Ruff and Mrs. Nancy Lauhon. The descendants of Nancy and Isaac migrated to Alabama and Arkansas. We do not know anything about the death of Isaac. So the first question is: which Nancy was the daughter of Daniel H. Ruff Sr. and Margaret Hamiter? Was it Nancy Savilla "Sybil" Ruff Scott Jenkins or was it Nancy Ruff Lauhon? It seems to me that most of the evidence points to it being Nancy Ruff Lauhon. The Lauhon family bible and other records have it that way. David H. Ruff names Nancy Langdon [sic] as his sister. Mrs. Nancy Lauhon is buried close to David H. Ruff in Ridgeway. A Lauhon co-owned the Ruff Store enterprise in Ridgeway. Some of the Lauhon in Alabama and Arkansas carry the first names associated with the earlier David H. Ruff Sr. and Margaret Hamiter generations (e.g., Silas Ruff Lauhon and David Ruff Lauhon). So if that is the case, (this is the second question) whom did Nancy Savilla "Sybil" Scott Ruff come from? We are pretty sure of the lineage from her to people living today, but we are left without an understanding of who her mother and father are. It seems that it must be someone who descended from the original Dutch Fork Ruff's, since that seems to be the source of every Ruff we can find in Fairfield County. Interesting is the fact that her gravestone names her as "Sibyl Ruff Chappell", without any "Nancy" included. Might it be that this lady buried in the Bethel churchyard was never a "Nancy", and that the Nancy Ruff who married Isaac Lauhon was the only Nancy Ruff of that time? A footnote: you will see on the internet both direct and indirect references made to a story of the early Ruffs typed in 1955 by Edith Roof Doane. That narrative has the ancestor of the Ridgeway and Blythewood Ruffs being a third immigrant brother (we know that the brothers Sebastian and our George Jacob came from Germany to eventually settle in the Dutch Fork area of South Carolina). In that story Ms. Doane holds that a third brother "Daniel" first settled in North Carolina and then moved on to South Carolina, becoming the father of Daniel Ruff Sr. born 1771). That line of thinking was pretty well debunked by Michael Kitching Roof in his book The Roof-Ruff Family of South Carolina 1748-Present and other similarly titled books. Attached is Nancy [Ruff] Lauhon's obituary, which I found in the Wofford College archives. It was published in a Methodist Church newspaper, and agrees with the specifics you have found. So the question remains - who were the parents of Savilla/Sibyl/Sevelia/Saville/Seveleah Ruff Scott Chappell Jenkins? Many online family trees list her as another child of Daniel H. Ruff Sr. and Margaret/Margaretta/Margarette Hamiter. Here is one example: https://www.ancestry.com/family-tree/person/tree/105102621/person/290045358583/facts

But until some proof is found of Sibyl being born to Daniel and Margaret Ruff, I guess that it is a matter of conjecture.

A. Here is what we found and hope that it is of some help. On page 106 in the book "North of the Broad River" by Buford Chappell: Margarette Hamiter, daughter of Jacob Hamiter married Daniel Ruff; they had the following children: David-lived single; Silas-married Judith Elkins (Weston)?; Daniel-married Jane Kennedy and Nancy-married Isaac Lanhorn (Lauhon). From Bill 1839-1 and Petition 1837-7: Saville was the widow of John Chappell-he died in 1835. She then married John B. Jenkins. She was the mother of Charlotte Chappell-married Nathaniel B. Holley, John B. Chappell, Laban Chappell, Nancy Chappell and Hicks Chappell. From Bill 1820-2: There was an Isaac Lauhon who was the son of Samuel and Molly Lauhon. I have not had much luck finding these families in the census. In the 1850 Census there was a John B. Jenkins-47 and his wife Sevelia-60. States that John was born in Philadelphia and Sevelia was born in Newberry, S. C. From the book "The Chappell

Any help from the newsletter readers?

Family in Early South Carolina" by Buford S. Chappell: He has Seveleah (Sevilla, Sybil) being born in 1792 and died in 1867, this fits the grave in Bethel Methodist Church Cemetery. He does not give the name of her parents but thinks that she was the daughter of Daniel and Margaretta Hamiter Ruff (don't think this is true as he does not list her in "North of the Broad River" book. She first married Benjamin Scott, after he dies in 1814 she marries John Chappell and when he dies in 1835 she marries John B. Jenkins. Sybil is buried close to her son Laban C. Chappell and since the stone says "Mother" he did not put the names of her other two husbands. Here is what I think: From all the records, I find Seveleah, Sevilla or Sybil but no records of Nancy in her name. Based on the 1850 census she was born in Newberry County, but we could not find any indication of a parent. I think that the Nancy buried in Ruff Chappell Cemetery in Ridgeway is the daughter of Daniel and Margaretta Hamiter Ruff. Your conclusion is the same one I reached, in regards to the Nancy Lauhon buried in the Ruff Chapel Cemetery in Ridgeway being the daughter of Daniel and Margaretta Hamiter Ruff. And I also believe what you think in terms of Savilla/Sibyl Ruff probably not carrying the name of Nancy during her lifetime.

Roxana Williams Q. We know my great-grandfather was in the Fairfield Co 1850 census (Thomas Willard) living with a family by the name of Caleb Powell. His father, Thomas Willard, died in May of 1846 leaving a widow, Miranda, and a daughter, Alice. This is from a will that I found on line of Thomas Willard Sr. Thomas was born in Nov 1856. I'm assuming that the Powell family must be some type of relation to either Thomas or Miranda and that she left Thomas with them and went somewhere with Alice. I did find the family in the Missouri census in 1860, Miranda being a housekeeper for John Lay. On Alice's death certificate, the informant gives Miranda's maiden name as Newman, and her father as "John Thomas Duncan". This is as far as we've been able to get. Any helpful hints you can give us to help make our trip a success would be appreciated. We are really looking forward to seeing the part of the country where our ancestors lived. Please let me know if you can find Thomas Mabry Willard's Mabry family connection?

A. We can find no relationship between Thomas Willard and the Powell's in Fairfield County. Most of the Willard's lived in Spartanburg County. There was a Thomas Willard (1856) living in Cross Anchor, Spartanburg County, in the 1880 census. Also found a Miranda Willard (37) (1823) living in St. Louis County, Missouri, with children Alice (18) (1842) and Thomas (14) (1845), in 1860 census. You may also want to check with organizations or libraries in Spartanburg County also before your visit. Al Andrews Q. I have pictures from 1983 of "The old Andrews house" taken by a lady named Elma Thomas. She was shown the house by Mrs. Ellen Friday near Winnsboro. Do you know of the house and is it still standing? Do you know which Andrews originally owned the house? Here are the pictures I have of "The Old Andrews Family Home" near Winnsboro, S.C. in Fairfield Co. These photos were in my Dad's file and were taken by Elma Thomas from Baton Rouge, La. in 1983. Mrs. John (Ellen) Fridy took Elma to the house. I have forwarded this to Eddie Killian with the Fairfield County Genealogy Society to see if he can identify the house and tell us which Andrews member lived there and when. Son Matthew Andrews inherited the family farm from James Sr. when he died in 1798. Matthew stayed there until he sold 115 acres in Sept. 3, 1817 and 600 acres On July 28, 1818 to move to south Mississippi. These lands were on Morris Creek of the Little River- 100 acres of this I think were deeded to Owen Andrews and this land was next to land owned by Edward Andrews (two of Matthew's brothers). Matthew moved to Pike Co. Ms. in 1817 and lived there until he died.

I imagine it would be one of their sons, if anyone.... John Andrews' son of James Senior died in 1799 and left two sons also, Warren and Micajah. Micajah went to Pike County Mississippi too. I haven't found much on Warren though. Judi said: I did find Edward's home on the 1820 Mills map on Morris Creek- likely James Sr. old land. Mark Lucas Q. Do you have a copy of 'The Chappell Family in Early South Carolina'? It was also written by Buford S. Chappell. I'm descended from Laban Chappell (Rev. War veteran), Laban Henry Chappell (son), and William L. Chappell (his son). The first two are buried at the Old Brick Church; William is buried in Choctaw Co., Alabama.

A. Yes, we have a copy of the book, "The Chappell Family in Early South Carolina", by Buford S. Chappell. Is there a family you are interested in that I might be able to research for you? The book, "Chappell Family in Early South Carolina", by Buford S. Chappell, M.D., 1972, Chapter V (attached above) is devoted to Laban Chappell, his family and his descendants. Neither of the attachments pertained to George Seigler Sr. family. We have a family tree at New Index and also my DNA tree at Ancestry.com. Bob Seigler Family Tree. I have just about everything on George Sr and his descendants since 1758 his first Land Grant on Wilkinson Creek. I have not been able to get any info as to his parents or relatives before that time. I was hoping that some local writings might shed some light on him or his family there in Fairfield Co.; but nothing yet. I have found the following in our records and it may be new or something you already know and might even be yours: familytree.htm attached above; the earliest known Seigler tombstones (located at the Seigler Family Cemetery) attached above; Conveyee to conveyor, page 2 contains several Seigler Deed transactions; conveyer to Conveyee, page 2 contains a Seigler Deed transaction; Probate Seigler records referenced on page 80; estate Seigler records referenced on page 23. Also I attached will of Daniel Huffman Sr, sister of Wiseman Dickey and PDF of the Taylors of Tired Creek Road by Tom Taylor with Seigler family references. Again, you may have this information. In the above attached information from Historic Camden by Kirkland and Kennedy, you will find on page 11 mention of George Senior. Also included Chapter III about Pine Tree Hill where George Senior grant is shown (page 68, also enlarged on next page). Included all of Chapter III in case you want to see if you can get the feel of what was going on at Pine Tree Hill where George Senior lived. In the above attached information from Fairfield County South Carolina Minutes of the County Court 1785-1799 by Holcomb, you will find the court record of Priscilla Seigler being turned over by the Grand Jury for Bastardy charges. In the above attached information from North of the Broad River by Chappell, there are references to Jane Seigler, John Seigler and George Seigler. I will check some more today into 1749 land grant besides the drawing of it attached from page 68 of Historic Camden book. Found this information on SC Genealogy Trails, Fairfield County, Seigler Family:

http://genealogytrails.com/scar/fairfield/seigler family.htm. Information also listed below in case you have no internet access. Many years have been spent in trying to answer the age old question, where did we come from? As of 2011, we cannot fully answer that question. Note the spelling of the family name as we proceed through our lineage. These are not misprints. The spellings are those you will find in the actual governmental records such as census reports and Court Records. In 1729 S. Carolina was declared a Royal Colony and was ruled by King George until his death in 1760. Our conclusions are based on research and collaboration with a famous South Carolina Genealogist, Brent Holcomb, and many others. We believe that our fore-fathers came to this country from Germany in the early 1700's sailing from Rotterdam and landing in Philadelphia. We believe that they traveled down the Old Wagon Road into what then was "The Carolinas" and into Craven County which is now called Fairfield County, S. C. On the east side of the Broad River is Wilkinson Creek, running to the west of Monticello, Fairfield County, South Carolina. It is described as having settlers along its course as early as the 1740's. Eventually there were about 150 families there including a handful of settlers from Pennsylvania who were Thomas Owen, Jacob Canomore, and Lawrence Free, as well as the Conoways, Alders, and Handcocks...all among the first of them. The earliest verified date when George Seigler Sr., is known to be there was when in 1758 George Seglear petitioned the Governor of South Carolina, under King George II, for a Land Grant of 100 acres. The survey made for George Siglear is dated the 7th day of November 1758 for a tract of land containing 100 acres bounded on the S. W. by land of Conrad Kensler. This land is on Wilkenson Creek, a branch of the Broad River lying in Craven County, S. C. (Craven Co. later became a part of Fairfield County). The actual Land Grant was from George II King of England to George Seglear, a Plantation containing one hundred acres on the 20th day of February in 1760 and signed by the Governor of S. Carolina, William Henry Littleton Captain General, establishing the beginnings of the Seigler family of land ownership in this country. King George II died in 1760 and was followed in his position as King of England by his Grandson, King George III. As part of an effort to defray the burgeoning expense of running the empire, Parliament passed the Stamp Act in March 1765. The act provided for granting and applying certain stamp duties and other duties in the British colonies. The Townsend Acts were a series of laws which were passed by the Parliament of Great Britain beginning in 1767. They were relevant to the British Colonies in North America. The Boston Tea Party was the response of the patriots in Boston to the British attempt to impose a tax on tea in the colonies. On the 3rd day of March 1772 there was a survey completed for George Seigler, a tract of land containing one hundred acres on Seigler's Branch of Wilkenson Creek, a tributary of Broad River. Beginning on the IM. W. of Seigler's land in Craven County, South Carolina. The actual Land Grant was from George III, King of England, to George Seigler, a Plantation containing one hundred acres on the 26th day of September 1772 by His Excellency, the Right Honorable Lord Charles Montagu Captain General, Governor of South Carolina. Historically this country was in the process of emerging from British Rule to the Establishment of the United States. At the time it was already at war with the Indians in the Carolina colonies. The Declaration of Independence was formally adopted by the Continental Congress on July 4, 1776. Reading it today, not much has changed. The members of the Constitutional Convention signed the United States Constitution on September 17,1787 in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. The State of South Carolina ratified the Constitution May 23, 1788, and became the 8th state to do so. The Constitution was ratified by enough states that it became effective in 1789 and the United States of America and became a reality. We have not found the records but research shows George Seigler Sr. getting married (wife's name unknown) and bearing son, George Jr., in 1774, and daughters, Priscilla in 1776, and Judith in 1787. George Washington was inaugurated as our first President in New York City on April, 30, 1789. Minor Seigler is known to be the first Seigler of our line who was born in the United States of America in 1791. He was the first son of Priscilla Seigler and later he was joined by a brother, Robert Seigler. Priscilla married James Ogilvie in 1803 and they had two daughters. George Seigler Jr. married Mary and they had three children: John, Nancy and Elizabeth. According to the United States Census of 1800 of South Carolina, George Sr. and George Jr. both appeared with other un-named members of their household. George Seigler Sr. passed away in 1808 and his will was published in 1809 in the Court Records of Fairfield County, S. C. He gave to Son George Jr. the original 100 acres granted to him in 1760. To daughter Judith, he gave the 100 acres (acquired from Lewis Owen). He left a life estate to Daughter Priscilla Ogilvie of the 100-acre plantation (1772 Land Grant) and 45 acres acquired from John Mathews, a total of 145 acres, for her and her children to live on until their age of majority and left the same 145 acres to his Grandson Minor Seigler when his brothers and sisters were of age. Judith Seigler married William Free Aug. 27, 1810. In 1813 Minor acquired an additional 6-acre land grant for himself so the remaining Homestead Plantation for him became a total of 151 acres on which he lived. In the will of George Seiglar Jr. he left his entire estate to his wife Mary and upon her death to be divided between her daughters Nancy and Elizabethe Seiglar. In the event that Nancy married John Free, she would basically lose her part. In 1820 Nancy did marry John Free, the older brother of William Free, who had married her Aunt Judith Seigler Free. In the US Census of 1820 of Fairfield County appeared Minor Seigler and wife Rebecca Seigler with a son and daughter under five years of age. Their names are unknown. On March 23, 1823 they sold 57 acres of their land to William Mathews for $250.00. All of the above properties were in the Wilkenson Creek area which is just south of Monticello. Because of the large land holdings of the Free family in that area the official name of Wilkenson Creek became known as Free's Creek flowing into the Broad River. On June 27,1825, they sold 50 acres to Nancy Montgomery. It is not known when or to whom the balance of their homestead was sold. After they had sold the South Carolina Property, Minor, Rebecca, Edward and an older son, thought to be Charles, moved to Georgia to take part in the land lotteries there. On June 28, 1828 their son Thomas F. Seigler was born in Crawford County, Georgia. In the 1830 Census of Crawford Co. Ga. It showed one son (presumed to be Charles, Edward C, and Thomas F. with Minor Seigler and Rebecca. In 1838 the last child of Minor and Rebecca, Silas K. Seigler, was born in Crawford Co. Ga. And Minor died there about the month of March in the same year. At the time of his death, Minor and Rebecca owned 102 acres of land with their home on it. They owed a $200.00 balance on their mortgage and the Mortgagee immediately filed for foreclosure. Rebecca fought it in court and lost. She then sued for her Dower rights to keep the home and separate it from the rest of the property. In 1840 she lost that case and was told to "Quit and vacate the property". We do know that in 1839 Minor's Aunt Judith and her husband William Free had moved to Crawford Co. and we assume that Rebecca and her sons stayed with them for a while. Minor's estate probate was completed in 1840 where one lot in each of two other counties were sold. Minor's casket bill of $4.00 was paid plus other estate expenses. Rebecca netted a $36.50 balance from the estate. We are not aware of her whereabouts until 1850. Records show that Edward C. Seigler married Frances Gill in 1845 in Coweta Co. Georgia and had daughter, Matilda, born in 1848. In the Federal Census of 1850 we find Rebecca living next door to them in Coweta Co. with her sons Thomas F. and Silas K. Edward's wife, Frances, died in 1851 and thereafter the rest of them moved to Barnes Cross Roads in Dale County, Alabama sometime before 1860. Early settlers began migrating into this community during the decade from 1830 to 1840. Some of them came from the east along the road passing through the site which later became known as Barnes' Cross Roads; others came from the north along what was known as "Cooley's Trail" The Barnes family settled at the cross roads - hence the name Barnes' Cross Roads. During the period from about 1845 to 1860, other settlers began arriving in the area. They bought land, erected log cabins, and started the task of taming the frontier and creating a new community. By 1860, most of the section along the ridge surrounding the church site had been settled. Many of our Ancestors are buried there at Center Ridge Cemetery. In the U. S. Census of 1860 in Barbour County Alabama we find Thomas. F. Seigler as head of household, Silas K. Seigler, Rebecca, Matilda (daughter of Edward C. Seigler) and John and Henry (last names unknown). Also shown was E. C. Segler and his wife, Mary J. (Lewis) Segler, age 23. (the 2nd wife of Edward) married Feb. 14, 1853. In April 1861 Thomas F. Segler, from Dale County, Alabama, entered the Confederate Army and 1862 his brother, Edward F. Seglar from Barbour County, entered the Confederate Army and both served until 1864. While these two men were in the military, Silas K. Seigler stayed in Barnes Cross Roads caring for his mother Rebecca, his wife, Eveline Seigler, and their son Ben L. and Matilda, (the daughter of Edward C). Census 1870, Ozark, Dale County Alabama, Head of household is now Silas K. Seigler, age 32 (from Georgia), with wife Louisa E. (from North Carolina) 25, B. L. age 6, Laura F. age 5, Charles IM. age 3, Rebecca IM. age 1. Then there is Rebecca, age 68, from South Carolina. But wait, there's more. Lee Henry, age 9, is also listed, out of order, and from Florida. I believe that Lee Henry could possibly be the brother of Louisa. There have been a lot of conversations as to how the family name has been spelled in various ways. The final two spellings appeared in Alabama between 1860 and 1880. As far as can be determined only Ben L. Seigler (brother of Charley Monroe Segler) and Thomas Malcom Seigler (son of Charley Monroe) continued to use the Seigler spelling. In the Ben Lewis Seigler family tree there is a statement that there was a dispute much earlier in Alabama and about 1920 Ben's family were convinced that Seigler was correct. So if you are in the tree and spell your name differently from other relatives, now you know why. To give you some confusion, we found one legal document in the Court Records of Crawford County, GA where they spelled Minor Seigler's name four different ways. So just be proud of your name and heritage. In the family tree of Judith Free, there is an assertion that George Seigler came over with the Free family on a ship, the Princess Elizabeth, in 1735. In the Ben Lewis Seigler family they believed that Silas and Eveline got married on a ship and landed in Tampa, Florida. In the Charley Monroe Segler family (my grandfather) there were tales of his grandparents coming on a ship from Liverpool, got married and landed in Charleston, South Carolina. The Dr. Thomas F. Segler family story is that as a late teenager, he stowed away on a ship departing from Hamburg, Germany. After arriving in New York City, he eventually chose to attend a medical school, expenses paid, if he agreed to serve time in a rural part of the country where physicians were scarce. On completion of his school, he chose Dale County, Alabama as the area to serve his obligation. He was the area's first physician and stayed in the county until his death. To many of you this is the first actual researched document that answers the question "where did we come from ?". The answer, of course is, we don't know much before 1758, but we have been here ever since. All the other answers have no basis of fact. These facts are backed up with copies of official records in our family archives presently held by Robert E. Seigler in Sanford, Florida October 15, 2011 Again not sure if you have it already or you were the Robert Seigler that contributed information back in 2011. (Bob Seigler did write this article)

Heather Heath Q. I am still trying to find out about my great grandfather Sam Dove, b.1869. Do you know if there are two separate Dove Families in the Fairfield/Chester area?

A. There are several Dove families in Fairfield County. There are also more than one Samuel Dove. Please provide your family tree information from at least 1940 back. Perhaps your Father, Mother, Grandfather, Grandmother, any Uncles, Aunts or Great Uncles and Aunts. Samuel Dove's son Murphy Dove (wife Florence) had a son Eugene Dove living in 1940. Are these people in your family line?

Heather replies: Yes, Murphy and Eugene are in my line. I have already proven a second Dove family in the Blackstock area of Chester. I am related to Samuel K. Dove born 1869 and his father is Samuel Bryant Dove born 1839, whose grave no one can find!

Kimberlee Fordyce-App Q. Do you have a copy of the SC History and Genealogy Magazine Volume XIX (19)? I have no idea what marriage records exist in Fairfield County. Would there be any marriage records that might document a marriage between Thomas Baker and Sarah Winn? I'm thinking not because someone else would have posted them on line but thought I must ask the question. I'm happy to contact the county records office directly if you know that they exist. Sarah Winn Baker died in 1785 after at least two children so we're probably looking at the latter half of the 1770s or 1780-82. A. Marriage records by the SC government started about 1910. It is my understanding that the SC Archives or county clerk offices have 1910 up to about 1960. After 1959 up to present day records are at SC Department of Health and Environmental Control (DHEC). Therefore, most marriage records come from a probate record, a will, a Family Bible, an historic article or family information passed down. We have quite a bit of marriage records publications that have been produced for SC marriages, marriage from probate records and wills, some Bible records containing the marriage records and family records. However, I was not able to find record of Thomas Baker and Sarah Winn in those records that we have in our library. I have added this note found in a family tree about Thomas Baker. Note: The History of Crawford County, ARK c. 1896 at the Fort Smith, ARK public library notes in the Biographical index under John R. MEADORS that Thomas Baker "was a captain in Washington's Army and was killed in a duel with John Brown in South Carolina". "He was a member of the State Legislature, and met his death while fighting a duel with John Brown, a fellow colleague, friend, and neighbor." Also I have attached several other references about Thomas Baker and his duel to his death, but none mentioning Sarah Winn Baker. Kimberlee stated: How interesting that the marriage records start so late. Most of my research from early periods has been in Virginia and I've got records from the 18th century. Because of the connection with estates my understanding was that most states starting recording marriages/issuing licenses almost as soon as they were states or colonies. Answer: Sherman burned most of SC State Records. We have most of the Brent Holcomb books and others mentioned in this source. This source will also answer your questions without me retyping this content.

A. The museum generally does not undertake genealogical research outside of Fairfield County and South Carolina. I will attach some links that may be of interest to you. You may be aware of these already. If you really want to do in-depth research we can provide a list of professional researchers for you. Probably your name was spelled with an umlaut (the two dots) over the "a" in Europe. Otherwise the spelling would be the same as you spell it and pronounced with the a as a long a in English. You probably know a Schaffer (Schaeffer or with "a" umlaut) is a shepherd in German.

Lynn Alexander Pedigree View of Her Family Tree

Query / Answer

Any help from the newsletter readers?

Lynn Alexander Q. Thomas Gregg Yarborough is my paternal great grandfather who I believe was born in Fairfield County, SC in either 1881 or 1884. I also believe he died in 1949 but not sure about this. I am researching my father's side of the family for my family tree, and I'm hoping to connect any familial dots I can find. I am also hoping to find any information about his extended family if it is available, and any pictures that might exist of him and his family members. Thomas Gregg Yarborough (9/22/1882-8/21/1949) is my paternal great grandfather, he was in a relationship with my paternal great grandmother Ollie Alexander (1887-8/20/1955), they had three children together; Rebecca (1906-1975), Charlie (2/15/1911-11/14/1990) and Lottie Alexander (2/15/1913-12/12/1995) in that order Charlie is my paternal grandfather, he married Annie Bell Dye and they had two sons, James (12/25/1944) and Charles (4/6/46). He has other children as well as my dad and uncle, including Burie Linton (9/14/1934, Linton is her married name) and my great aunt Betty, however I do not have any information on her as of this time. James is my father and he is married to my mother Miriam Payne (8/22/46).

A. We have information on Thomas Gregg Yarborough and Ollie Alexander. Lynn: Great! Would that information include pictures as well? I am also hoping to find information about my Great Aunt Lottie as I've not been successful at all with regards to her. I know she served in the military during WWII, but even that information cannot be found. Yes, we will include any pictures or documents we can find; as well as family tree information. One of my cousins, Duke Johnson, informed me he spoke with you while in Winnsboro not too long ago, and you advised you'd been in contact with me about the family. We sent Thomas Gregg Yarborough tombstone picture from Union Memorial Presbyterian Cemetery. Also see below a couple of contacts Duke Johnson, Dewayne Scott and David S. Raese including information shared in the emails below. Dewayne Scott's email: The attached images (see below) give some background according to family lore. A William Alexander (white) fathered 2 children by a slave named Sophie Simmons. In the image there are other names tied to William Alexander but I am not 100% sure if that is accurate. What is accurate is the 2 mulatto boys, King Dock Alexander and King Solomon Alexander were sold or given to the Sconyers family. Later the boys changed their last name to Sconiers. My mother's line starts under the Luke Branch. Thank you for your time, Dewayne Scott. Eddie, see attached image. It's a snip showing my mother's line starting with me and working back towards King Solomon Alexander. I have attached a good many documents and tombstones. Below is a link to ancestry.com Johnson Family Tree (originally create for Duke Johnson your second cousin). You will find this link starts the tree with you (also your tree attached above). Don't forget there are documents attached to specific people in the tree that you can review.

Sent David S. Raese's email: All the puzzle pieces now fall into place. My own connection is similar to yours. My father was given up for adoption, born in 1930. It took me 10 years to solve the mystery of who my father's biological parents were (working on it more off than on during those 10 years), starting in 1990, solving the mystery in 2000. In 2001 I traveled to Winnsboro, Fairfield Co., SC for the 1st time, and my father came with me - his last trip flying on a plane from WA State. (He is now 87, and not exactly in the best of health.) We met some of the Yarborough family, and they gave us my father's biological parent's correspondence from 1930 that confirmed everything, plus copies of photos of my Dad's biological parents, grandparents, aunts and uncles, etc.; a real treasure trove. I promise to send what I have that will be of interest to you. I'll need to gather it together, first. My Dad's father was Albert Jasper Yarborough (1896-1940), son of Thomas Griggs Yarborough, Jr. (1846-1920) and his wife, Annie Elizabeth Steele. Albert never married, but had a devoted, long-term girlfriend, Nelle Tevepaugh of Charlotte, NC, my father's biological mother. Since then, my DNA test with FTDNA has verified the paper trail, family stories, etc. It is a definitive match - so no doubts at all. (After visiting Winnsboro in 2001, there really was no doubt then, but the DNA test done about 2010 just added complete clarity). Your great-grandfather, Thomas Griggs/Gregg Yarborough, III is the brother of my biological grandfather, Albert Jasper Yarborough. That makes us ... 2nd cousins once-removed, I think (if I understand correctly). Do you have digital photos of Ollie Alexander, Rebecca Alexander, Charles Alexander, and Lottie Alexander? Plus, digital photos of their families and/or descendants for each of the children of Ollie Alexander? I would be most grateful, if you are willing to share. FYI: I am also aware of another entirely different branch of the family that is African-American. They go by the name of "Yarber" having dropped the "ough" at the end of the name (seems sensible to me). I had the privilege of meeting some descendants several years ago at a wedding in Arlington, VA. I'll send a genealogy file for this branch of family too, complete with the photos that I have. The senior Rev. Yarber, since passed away, did a y-DNA test comparison with me (all male-line descendants, both his line and mine), and the results are an exact match. That's it for now. Thank you again so much for sharing the information in your e-mail. More to come. I look forward to hearing from you again. Best Regards, David S. Raese

Carolyn Sung Q. Where are the Fairfield records for the court of Common Pleas? I have three land transfers that seem to be forced sales. One in the Camden District in 1767 with a James Martin Aiken then on 5 March 1794 the land goes to a John Glazier with a Sheriff Blair. This then goes from John Glazier to Joseph Wiley 23 Jan. 1802; a reference 24 Nov. 1834. David. Aiken vs. William McCreight case results in a Sheriff's sale. Hugh Barkley is selling 152 acres to John Wiley on 2 June 1835. There is a Court of Equity case of 18 May 1844. George Rowe, Ann Rowe and others s Thos. Rowe regarding estate of David Rowe died 29 Feb 1837. Would that estate record be in the Archives or in Winnsboro? Wonder if there is more info on this David Rowe? The David Rowe I was looking for is the son of Joseph Rowe who lived on the Wateree. Worked on him more recently and need to type up the sketch. I was trying to find an Equity suit on his estate, but it is a big family. This David Rowe died 29 Feb. 1837. Found this in the Deed J.B. McCants to John Wiley 1844 Nov. 2 FF deed by PP p.30-32. One of the Rowe families was living near the Wylie place or on it in1850 census and perhaps 1860. The land was on College creek could go back to a royal grant to Joseph Rowe. There is also a Samuel Rowe who gets a royal grant. Do you have Holcomb's set on the petitions?

A. We do have Court of Common Pleas Records on microfilm. Sent family record of the Roe's in Bible Records, 1953, by Rosson; Roe's listed in Fairfield County Marriages 1775-1789 Implied in Fairfield County, S.C. Probate Records by Langdon; Roe's listed in Roster of South Carolina Patriots in the American Revolution by Moss; Roe officers from Historical Register of Officers of the Continental Army during the War of the Revolution by Heitman; Yes, the Coleman book refers to Roe's that married into the Coleman's and lived mostly in the Northeast corner of Fairfield County. Yes, we have Brent H. Holcomb's books: "Petitions for Land From the South Carolina Council Journals", Volumes I-VII, minus Volume VI. Volume I: 1734-1748 Volume II: 1748-1752 Volume III: 1752-1753 Volume IV: 1754-1756 Volume V: 1757-1765 Volume VII: 1771-1774 "South Carolina's Royal Grants", Volumes I-VI. John Howell Q. Is anyone researching Cooks in Fairfield County? I am interested in Nathaniel Cook born est 1800 and any connections to the Howells of Fairfield. I have found the Fairfield Howells go back to the 3 Howell brothers who settled on the Congaree River prior to 1750; so far no connection to my Howells. John A. Howell, born 1830, Thomas James Howell, 1788-1860, Thomas James Howell, 1760-1788, William Howell, est 1730, sp, Lucy Center, daughter of Nathan Center, John Thomas Howell, born 1687, sp, Grace Raeford, daughter of Phillip Raeford. John Thomas Howell, Arthur Howell, & John Thomas Howell were three brothers who settled on the Congaree River; William being first prior to 1741. John Thomas Howell was known in records as Thomas Howell. According to Rev War records they were from Maryland. One researcher claims they were from Pennsylvania. Thomas James Howell, 1788-1860, resettled in Fairfield County. Thomas James Howell, 1780-1788, operated Howell's Ferry on the Congaree River. It was previously known as Russell's Ferry when William Howell's widow married a Russell. Sources, wills & census records

A. As a member, I hope you do know that you can sign into the FCGS Members Only pages and find digitized records. However, the Cook information even though digitized is not on the Cook Family web pages yet. I will attach the files (Home of Nathan Cook PDF, Cook Family Genealogy PDF, Capt. John Cook 1736-1798 Family Group Sheet PDF, Henry Cook Family Ancestry PDF, James Lawrence Cook Family Group Sheet PDF, Martha Pearson Cook 1805-1875 Family Group Sheet PDF, Nathan Cook Home Pictures PDF, Cook's Cemetery 1764-1800 PDF, Cooks from Effingham County, Georgia PDF) for now, that I think will help you with this request. I will be scanning the Cook, Major Nathaniel 1760-1848 - Family Group Sheet which is unreadable in our digitized files and will need to be redone.

Gayle Culbreath Q. I am researching my family in Fairfield County South Carolina and would like to visit. I wonder if you might be able to give me some information so that I can make the most of my visit. My research is on the Yarborough family. Ambrose Yarborough lived in you county when his son John was born. John Yarborough lived there from his birth in 1756 until his death in 1816. His son Arthur was born there in April 1779. Do you think you might have information about this family? I would like to find out where they are buried if possible; as much as possible. I am also going to visit Union County during the same trip. Ambrose lived there as well.

A. Yes, we do have Yarborough information in our research library. We are here normally Monday through Friday, 10:00 AM until 5:00 PM. Please find attached the will for John Yarborough, 1816, that mentions his son Arthur. It refers to land near Reedy Creek and the Havis and Stevenson families. We believe the Havis mentioned is located north of Winnsboro, see map attached. As a member you will have access to our digitized collection. Under microfilm you can find Deed information. Below are links directly to Deed information concerning Jesse Havis & Yarboroughs:

This is later than 1820 and not on the 1820 or 1854 maps.

Elizabeth Dietel Q. I would appreciate help in finding some primary resource material for the following ancestor who died in Fairfield County, SC: Alexander Irvin/Irwin/Erwin. He died c 1799. His will was probated 16 JUN 1803. His second wife was Mary Parr who survived him. I believe his first wife, Catherine Baker Whitaker, died in Kershaw County, SC, c 1790. I am interested in finding a genealogist who could help me find primary sources to prove this marriage and the birth of their child, James Chestnut Irvin/Irwin/Erwin. Catherine Baker Whitaker was the first wife of Alexander Irvin. She gave birth to James Chestnut Irvin. I do not believe she was married before because her brother, William Whitaker, Jr., mentioned her in his will as his sister with that name. Therefore "Baker" was her middle name, not her surname, and "Whitaker" was her maiden name. I need primary source documentation that shows she was married to Alexander Irvin. See p. 397, in Kirkland's Historic Camden. Unfortunately, that work is considered an anecdotal, rather than a primary source. William Whitaker, Catherine's father, was also married twice. He does not name Catherine in his will but makes the following reference to his children by his first wife, Elizabeth Wiggins: "equal sharers with my other children whom I have already portioned off and provided for." Catherine would be one of those "other children." Perhaps there is some record of property he gave her. I also need proof that James Chestnut Irvin was their son. Would you be able to find equity court records, 1792-1817, for Kershaw County Co., SC? There is a case filed Feb. 25, 1804, which mentions "other defendants, Margaret Irvin, James Irvin, and Catherine Irvin are infants...Thomas Whitaker was appointed their guardian. Another genealogist in 1980 stated that "the equity case proves that Alexander Irvin had a son James Irvin." James Chestnut Irvin moved from South Carolina to Wilcox County, AL, in the 1820's. I believe there may be some records of his career before he moved. He is called a judge in Alabama. Whom would you recommend in his place?

A. We have begun researching your request and have a question; do you know which wife was the mother of James Chestnut Irvin/Irwin/Erwin? Catherine Baker Whitaker, we believe was a Whitaker that married a Baker before marring Alexander Irvin/Irwin/Erwin. The father of Alexander Irvin was James Irvin that married Margaret Chestnut. James Chestnut Irvin was the son of Alexander and the grandson of James Irvin being named James Chestnut Irvin after his grandmother's family. An excerpt of the Chestnut family has been scanned and attached above from the Historic Camden Part I by Kirkland & Kennedy. Also mentioned in the above book, John Chestnut and James Irvin were in Camden at the time of the American Revolution. Also in "Names in South Carolina", Volumes 19-26 at Google Books mentions Margaret that her father was killed under Colonel George Washington at Braddock's Defeat at Ft. Duquesne. A paid researcher list also is attached. We recommend Brent Holcomb, if he is available. I am not sure where you are located, but the Camden Archives does have a good collection of early records. I also am not sure if you got much help; some of the research centers are not equipped to answer email gueries. We strive to assist as timely as we are able. Here is a link to help you get familiar with SC Counties. The central depository for documents for government, military, etc. and some family information is the South Carolina Archives in Columbia, SC. The central depository for family and public documents is the Caroliniana Library on the campus of the University of South Carolina, Columbia, SC. I am sorry to report that we cannot find anything as a primary source of documentation for the marriage of Alexander Irvin and Catherine Whitaker Baker and proof of James Chestnut Irvin as being their son in our collection. We verified that the probate records for Alex Irvin in Fairfield County did not contain any mention of the names of his children including James Chestnut Irvin. We also checked: SC Archives Online Index, South Caroliniana Library Index, USC Digital Library Index, Ancestry.com, FamilySearch.org, MyHeritage.com, Geni.com, GenealogyBank.com, Newspapers.com, Chroniclingamerica.loc.gov, BillionGraves.com and FindAGrave.com with no success for primary sources of documentation. If a family Bible exist, it would possible provide the information you need. Maybe advertising in the local paper for anyone that possibly could still have a Bible or any primary source information as a descendant of this family. Possibly Risher R. Fairey, a History professor at Midlands Technical College, Columbia, SC is still available. List mentions that this researcher's expertise is Columbia, Camden, and North Central South Carolina. Please share with us if you are able to find anything more; this will help expedite future inquiries for this.

Cheryl Wilk Q. I am attaching a report on my 4th great-grandfather, David Gresham, who lived in Fairfield District, South Carolina during the American Revolution as well as his son, John Gresham, my 3rd great-grandfather who was born in Fairfield District in 1785. I apologize for the delay in getting this information to you; as with most all family history, it is a work in progress and incomplete. It looks like I also descend from Jemima Mobley, daughter of William Mobley and Ann Osborne, and her husband Edward Lovejoy. They, like the Gresham family, seem to have ended up in Pike County, Georgia. However, I haven't done any work to confirm this relationship myself. David GRESHAM Report, Name Details Last Name GRESHAM First Name David Events 15 Jun 1755 Birth, Halifax County, Virginia1,2,3,4,5,6,7,8,9,10 Bef. Karen Hutson Q. My grandmothers father was: James Dolan Brown born Fairfield county SC March 4, 1861 died and buried Charlotte NC August 24, 1934 Father was Samuel Brown (although listed as possibly David in one source) Mother was MJ Brown; MJ was listed as Mary Jane in possibly 1860 census age at about 19 years (he at 22 yrs.) with 2 children, Elizabeth Brown age 2 and Robert Brown age 1; it listed Mary Jane as born in Ireland. The dates I have are general as both being born about 1840 and deceased before 1896. BUT I believe I remember my grandmother (born 1913) saying she lived with them at some point. It listed the post office as Winnsboro SC. I know Brown is a hard name but ANY information you could give me would be most welcome....where and when they lived, married and are buried, their family lines and how long they had been in your area. Their church, other children they may have had, Samuel's war records or where in Ireland Mary may have been from....anything. People have been so helpful, I've got most of my other grandparents lines pretty far back. A. I am sorry to report that we cannot find anything for the parents of James Dolan Brown, even though he was born in Fairfield County. I also checked: SC Archives Online Index, Ancestry.com, FamilySearch.org, MyHeritage.com, Geni.com, GenealogyBank.com, Newspapers.com, Chroniclingamerica.loc.gov, BillionGraves.com and FindAGrave.com with no success. He was a brick mason and moved to Charlotte, North Carolina early as a young man, apparently lived in Mecklenburg County over 50 years, had established himself, and become a contractor in the Charlotte area. See his obituary in the attachments. I have attached information (James D. Brown FindAGrave Index PDF, NC Death Certificate PDF, NC Death Index PDF, NC Marriage Record PDF, Obituary PDF, U.S. Census Records PDF) found for James D. Brown and his family while in the Charlotte, Mecklenburg County, North Carolina area. I have also attached a paid researcher list PDF that may be of some assistance for you. Hope you are able to find more results, if so, please share what you find with us.

Lisa Mattern Q. I was interested in about my 3rd great grandfather, Kelly Miller, as well as about his wife (my 3rd great grandmother), Elizabeth Roberts. I know that he served in the Confederate Army and I believe that he was at Appomattox. She was a slave, as were some of the children. My 2nd great grandmother was their daughter, Eliza Miller. I think maybe Big Kelly's father may have been named Aaron, but I am unsure. I am also interested in his status as a free man (my understanding is that he was born a free man). I know that Elizabeth belonged to Laban Chappell, but I can't find out any information about her parents. I am curious because I have seen that they give a first and last name for her, so I wonder if there is any information about her parents.

A. I have attached information (Confederates of African Descent MSWord, Kelly Miller Historic Marker Dedication in Newspaper PDF, Kelly Miller Property on Mill Creek PDF, Kelly Miller Richardson School Newspaper Article PDF, Kelly Miller His Life & Work Article PDF, Kelly Miller Historic Marker Dedication PDF, Kelly Miller Newspaper Obituary Article PDF, Isaac Miller Rocky Creek Colored School PDF) we have for Kelly Miller and his wife Elizabeth Roberts.

Nancy Jane Smith Q. I am trying to find a possible connection for James Calhum Peay and Peay families of Fairfield County. A. I am sorry to report that we cannot find any connection with your Peay information to the Fairfield County Peay families or in any of our collection of books and information. There is no James referenced in any of the Fairfield Peay families. I checked: SC Archives Online Index, Ancestry.com, FamilySearch.org, MyHeritage.com, Geni.com, GenealogyBank.com, Newspapers.com, Chroniclingamerica.loc.gov, BillionGraves.com and FindAGrave.com with no success. There are several references to James C. Peay at MyHeritage.com, but none of the references give the parents of James C. Peay. Not sure where the information you shared with us was found and documented to be true, but if possible it would be worth contacting the source person. Since James Calhum Peay was buried in Central, SC, I would suggest checking records in Pickens County and perhaps Spartanburg County. I have attached a paid researcher list that may be of some assistance for you. Hope you are able to find better results, if so, please share what you find with us. Nancy's response: Thank you so much for your effort. I feel like this guy might be from Newberry originally and I plan to investigate that line. I did check records in Pickens but found nothing even with people helping me there. Remember though that James only lived there for a while. He was from elsewhere and came there as a young man in his 20's. Regarding his burial, James died in Pacolet Mills, SC. He had never lived in Central but was buried there due to the river being frozen as they were attempting to take his body back to Pickens per his widow's request. His grave there is unmarked except for a stone. I did contact the person who listed the information on him on Ancestry.com. He was connected to the Wigingtons, (James's wife was a Wigington). His information seems to be correct based on what I know. Again, I think I need to pursue him in Newberry.

Margret Stephens Q. #1 Under Members Only Links (page immediately after sign-in) The first item mentioned is "Articles< Lists or Index Information, Not Books or Microfilm When I go to this PDF page there is a long list which includes the following item" Trapp of Ancient England and Colonial America Vol. II -- listed as FB TRA If possible I would like to have this item copied or scanned and emailed - if not, is there any way I can see it with interlibrary loan or some other program? #2 Under the same Members Only Links - there is a link for "Families" -- again, in this PDF there is a listing for the Trapp name -- listed as FF TRA I assume this is the information you have on the Trapp family in the vertical files or family information folders. Again (depending on size) is it possible to copy or scan these items for me. #3 Index to Family Files I understand these are being digitized - in alphabetical order. I should like to request that the Trapp file be digitized out of order when it is possible to do so. This might take care of item #2 above. #4 Is there a list of society members, with a listing of the family names they are working on, anywhere on the website? If so, where, and how do I add my information? Thank you so much for your help. I am excited to possibly be able to find some information that might break down one of my long standing "brick walls." I am sure I will find lots of information as I browse the items available on the website. My challenge is to determine the relationship of the early Trapp families of Georgia and South Carolina and discover where they came from. I have had my autosomal DNA done and will be in touch with the DNA people regarding that information. A. Brief Biography of Robert Rabb Shedd By Brian Shedd Brooks (his grandson)

Robert Rabb Shedd was born in Monticello, Fairfield County, South Carolina, on May 26, 1895, to Jonathan Rabb Shedd and Jennie Wright Crowder. Robert was the second oldest of eight children, but by the time he was 19, both of his parents were deceased. The oldest son, James Earle Shedd, and his wife, Emma Mae McMeekin, took in James' siblings and raised them to adulthood.

Each of the siblings had received a small inheritance from the sale of their parents' land, and James was content to stay on the remainder of the Shedd property just north of Monticello for the rest of his life. Robert, more commonly known as Bob, had grander ideas. He wanted to become the first member of his family to attend college. So, after graduating from high school, he enrolled at Clemson College in Clemson, S.C., with a dual major in electrical and mechanical engineering. Still, he came home every summer to help his older brother on the farm.

For Bob, mechanical engineering was a backup plan. He was fascinated by the emerging field of electrical engineering, and Clemson, then an all-male military college, was ideal for preparing him for a job in that field. By 1917, he had finished three years at Clemson and had risen to officer rank in the corps of cadets there. That spring, the United States entered World War I, and Clemson's entire graduating class signed up to go to war. Bob, although having just finished his junior year, made the decision in the Summer of 1917 to follow them.

He rode on horseback from Monticello to Winnsboro, where a recruiting office for the South Carolina National Guard had been established. He enlisted, and soon afterward – on July 24, 1917 – he was sworn in to military service in front of the Fairfield County Courthouse. Because of his major at Clemson, he was assigned to the South Carolina Engineers, a National Guard unit that had fought under General John J. Pershing in Mexico a couple of years earlier. Private Shedd was part of a group of enlistees intended to rebuild the under-strength South Carolina Engineers, which Gen. Pershing had personally asked the Government to activate based on its exemplary service under him in Mexico.

Bob Shedd went to Camp Jackson (now Fort Jackson) outside Columbia, S.C., for basic training, There, he was identified as a good candidate for promotion to sergeant and was trained to become a non-commissioned officer. The South Carolina Engineers had a shortage of NCOs at the time, and a major effort was made to identify good candidates for such positions. Bob was older than most of the enlistees and had completed three years of college in engineering, so he was an ideal candidate.

The old timers in the battalion – those who had served in Mexico – had been training in Marion, S.C., the hometown of Major J.M. Johnson, the unit commander. On Aug. 16, 1917, the Marion soldiers boarded a train in their hometown, stopped in Columbia to pick up Bob and the rest of the new recruits and proceeded to Camp Sevier in Greenville for further training and integration of the various companies. On Thursday, Aug. 23, Major Johnson announced to the assembled troops that they would become the First Battalion of the 117th Engineer Regiment, part of the 42nd (Rainbow) Division. A California unit would complete the regiment. The battalion left Greenville on Aug. 28, 1917, to proceed by train to Camp Mills, N.Y., on Long Island, where the Rainbow Division, made up of National Guard units from coast to coast, would be united and further trained.

En route to Camp Mills, Bob Shedd was informed that he would be promoted directly to the rank of sergeant, skipping the rank of corporal entirely. While there, he met the division chief of staff, Colonel Douglas MacArthur, who would distinguish himself with the Rainbow in World War I and become one of America's most charismatic and successful generals in World War II.

In the early morning hours of Friday, Oct. 9, 1917, Bob's engineers departed Hoboken, N.J., on the USS Covington, a converted and renamed German ship that had been docked in the U.S. when war was declared on Germany. Two weeks later, they arrived in St. Nazaire, France.

Bob's unit was shipped to Vaucouleurs, France, in crowded, unheated freight cars in an unusually cold period in early November, arriving on Nov. 8. It bounced around to various U.S. training areas near Vaucouleurs and General Pershing's headquarters at Chaumont. For almost four months, the engineers built firing ranges, barracks, hospitals, and other buildings in the U.S. training area behind the front lines. There also was time for rifle training because engineer units were expected to be used as infantry when needed.

On Feb. 18, 1918, the Rainbow Division headed for the Lorraine Front between the French towns of Lunéville and Baccarat, where eventually it became the first U.S. division to occupy a section of the front-line trenches without French support. It remained in those trenches for 82 days, the longest such tenure of any U.S. division during the war. While in Lorraine, the division engaged in small raids and skirmishes and endured multiple shellings and gas attacks. Bob was promoted to sergeant first class on April 1, 1918, and became a senior non-commissioned officer for Company C, 117th Engineers.

When the American National Guard units arrived, the French were not convinced that such units would fight well in a foreign country where they were not defending their own land. The Rainbow's success in the trenches convinced the French otherwise, and as the Germans began their great drive toward Paris, French commanders argued with each other for inclusion of the Rainbow in their commands.

Legendary French General Henri Gouraud's Fourth Army was expected to face the center of the German attack toward Paris, and he was delighted to add the Rainbow to supplement his forces. The French expected the German attack to begin on July 14, Bastille Day, but instead the Germans attacked early in the morning on July 15, 2018. The French and American comrades stopped the Germans in their tracks, a victory that essentially dampened any hopes the Germans had of capturing Paris. Bob Shedd was in the trenches in support of French and U.S. infantry.

Following that, the Rainbow moved quickly to the area of Chateau Thierry, where it launched an attack toward the Ourcq River on July 19. The intent was to reduce a bulge in the German lines that still threatened Paris. Fighting was intense, and when guns got too hot to fire, men fought hand-to-hand and with bayonets. Sergeant Shedd and his platoon built and maintained a foot bridge across the Ourcq that eventually led to an American victory and a German retreat. The engineers in Bob's platoon were under constant German fire for more than two days during the operation. After the battle, his unit, the 117th Engineers, and an African-American labor battalion had the unenviable task of burying the dead, Germans and Americans.

With the threat to Paris ended, Pershing sought and received permission for the U.S. Army to operate on its own without French command. The French High Command agreed, and Pershing moved most of his units to the St. Mihiel area farther to the east. There, he sought to reduce another German salient into the French-American lines. Bob's unit, having endured a lot along the Ourcq, was in reserve for this battle, which began Sept. 12. The engineers' primary job was to keep open the roads, which had been severely damaged in the fighting and by incessant rainfall. The American victory was huge and swift.

The Rainbow was immediately rushed to the Argonne Forest region north and west of Verdun, where American and French forces had launched another offensive designed to capture the French town of Sedan. Through that town ran railroad tracks that supplied the German Army to the west. If Sedan could be taken, the lifeline of those German troops would be severed. The 1st Infantry Division, a regular Army unit unlike Bob's National Guard outfit, had spearheaded the attack in the Argonne Forest, known as the Battle of Meuse-Argonne. The Rainbow relieved the badly bloodied 1st Infantry Division on Oct. 12 and attacked German positions on the morning of Oct. 14 outside the small towns of Exermont and Sommerance.

The officer in charge of Bob's platoon had become ill with the flu at St. Mihiel and had been sent to a rear-area hospital for treatment. Thus, when the attack was launched on Oct. 14, Bob was in command of a combat engineering platoon. Their mission was to cut the barbed wire in front of the U.S. positions to allow the infantry to advance. The Germans commanded the rise to their front and a hill to the right, and the Americans soon came under intense machine-gun fire from two directions. Bob was wounded twice in the right leg but tried to continue, only to be cut down with a machine-gun bullet to the left kidney. It was a tracer round, which seared the wound shut as it passed through his kidney. That saved him from bleeding to death.

When the shooting stopped eight hours later, medics came along to check for survivors and mark the bodies of the dead for removal. One, Private E.R. Jordan, noticed that Bob was moving and called for help. Bob was taken to a field hospital near Cheppy and was operated on there. Two days later, he was evacuated to a rear hospital at Toul, ironically one of the ones he had helped build a year earlier. Doctors there decided to send him back to the U.S. because his wounds would require extensive recovery time. He was taken to an evacuation hospital in Angers along the Loire River Valley and finally to Brest, the westernmost port in France, for the trip home.

Bob's medical evacuation ship departed Brest on Nov. 11, 1918, the day the Armistice with the Germans went into effect and less than a month after he had been shot. He arrived in Newport News, Va., on Thanksgiving Day and was sent by rail to a hospital at Fort McPherson, Ga., just outside Atlanta, for recovery.

There he met Lucille Dobbs, the woman who would become his wife. She brought candy to the wounded soldiers in the Fort McPherson hospital, and the two of them fell in love. Bob was sent back to Camp Jackson, S.C., on Feb. 13, 1919, and was discharged from the Army Feb. 15. Earle, his older brother, picked him up and took him home to Monticello.

Bob spent the summer of 1919 recovering from his wounds and building back his strength. In September, he returned to Clemson for his last year of college to complete his degree. He graduated in June 1920 with degrees in electrical and mechanical engineering.

He was fortunate to find a job with Westinghouse Electric Corp. in Atlanta, where he married Lucille Dobbs, a Georgia native, on Aug. 12, 1921. After training with Westinghouse in Pittsburgh, he was assigned to the Westinghouse office in Nashville, Tenn., and later to Chattanooga, where he sold most of the generators used to develop the hydroelectric capacity of the Tennessee Valley Authority. He was one of few to retain his job throughout the Great Depression thanks to his importance to the TVA and Westinghouse.

Bob and Lucille had two daughters, Dorothy and Frances Shedd, born in 1922 and 1926, respectively, and Robert Rabb Shedd Jr., born in 1928. (As of January 14, 2017, when this was written, both daughters were still alive and in their nineties.)

Robert Rabb Shedd Sr. became chairman of the board of deacons at Chattanooga's Highland Park Baptist Church, then the largest church in the Southern Baptist Convention, and was a founder of Tennessee Temple College, a Baptist-supported school in Chattanooga. He was a member of both the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

He died Aug. 4, 1950, of cancer, caused, his doctor said, by lead fragments left in him after surgery at the U.S. Army hospitals in France. He and his wife are buried at Greenwood Cemetery in Chattanooga.

The Shed(d) Family in Fairfield County By Brian Shedd Brooks

James Shed, born in Edinburgh, Scotland in 1708, was the first member of the Shed family in America. He immigrated to Loudoun County, Virginia, in 1740, but his sons, once adults, chose to move southward. Two of them, George Shed and James Thompson Shed, moved to Fairfield County, where they established a homestead south of Winnsboro and changed the spelling of the family's last name to Shedd.

James Thompson Shedd had a son, George Shedd, who was born in Virginia and moved south with his father. He inherited the Shedd property when his father died, and he farmed the tract south of Winnsboro until his death in 1846. Upon his death, the original Shedd property was sold, in accordance with terms of his will, and the proceeds were divided among his children. One, George Jr., used his portion of the sale proceeds to buy property near Monticello in the western part of Fairfield County. That's where the later generation of Shedds lived.

George Jr.'s son, Joseph Gladney Shedd, married Ida Mae Rabb. Joseph, although partially disabled in a farm accident, joined the Confederate Army late in the War Between the States and was a home guard in Columbia when the state capital fell. He managed to escape the Union Army and return to Fairfield County. Joseph was Robert Rabb Shedd's grandfather and is buried at Little River Baptist Church.

Thus, the Shedd family, having arrived in Fairfield County about 1770, provided a common surname in the early history of Fairfield. Shedds intermarried with many of the leading families of Fairfield – Crowder, Rabb, Wright, Jenkins, Gladney, McMeekin, Chappell, Youngue, Harrison and Ruff among them.

YEARBOOKS of FAIRFIELD COUNTY, SC Lawrence W. Ulmer

As future years come and go, I hope this recording of old Yearbooks will prove a source of happy memories for us, our parents, and all who have had a part in helping make these Yearbooks a reality. During the process of recording, the information was entered into a Microsoft Excel 2016 Spreadsheet and the Spell checker was used many times to check for keying errors. After entering the data, the spreadsheet was printed and manually rechecked for spelling and omission errors. Just in case I missed one, please let me know.

DNA report from the Fairfield Genealogical Society DNA Committee James W. Green III, chairman

There is a sale on DNA at FTDNA.com (FamilyTreeDNA.com) through 31 Dec. 2017.

The prices are: Family Finder $59 (Regular: $89) with coupons for $5 or $10 more off

Y-DNA37 $129 (Regular: $149 in projects, $169 outside of projects) with coupon for $10 to 10% to $20 off

Y-DNA67 $229 (Regular: $268) with coupons for $20 to $30 to $40 off. Same coupons may work to upgrade to Y67.

Y111 $299 (Regular: $359) with coupons for $20 to $40 off. Same coupons may work to upgrade to Y111.

If you want a coupon code, email Nancy Hoy (nacha.link@gmail.com) the Fairfield County Families Project Administrator (https://www.familytreedna.com/group-join.aspx?Group=FairfieldCoSC) or phone me, James Green III at 803-635-9236 (home) or 803-402-0224 (cell). If no answer, leave a message saying you want a coupon code or have a question about ... and say when to return your call.

If you have a kit at FTDNA, log into your kit to order a kit.

If you have an ancestor or sibling of an ancestor alive, it is more important for them to do Family Finder before you. The oldest living generation should do FamilyFinder first.

If you have done a DNA test at Ancestry.com or 23andMe, you can transfer it to FTDNA for free, but to get a chromosome browser and racial & sub racial results "myOrigins", FTDNA charges $19. Ancestry.com and 23andMe have changed the SNPs (base pairs) they test, making their test a bit incompatible with their previous tests and a bit incompatible with FTDNA, so it would be better to retest your autosomal DNA by doing a FamilyFinder at FTDNA while it is on sale. For Y-DNA SNP Packs that were $119, they are now $101, mtDNA Plus is $89, mtFull Sequence is $169 Regular: $199.

I do not recommend doing mtDNA unless you have a question about your mother's mother's mother's etc. line. You must do mtFull Sequence to get anything like significant matches.

The other companies are 23andMe, Ancestry.com & myHeritage. I cannot predict what sales they will have. They only do autosomal DNA. I would not use myHeritage because it has not been in business doing DNA as long as the other 3. It just started doing DNA. Since DNA is about who you match and don't match, it is important to have your DNA in big pools of tested DNA. Y-DNA is perhaps the most important DNA test and FTDNA is the only company doing Y-DNA so if money is a concern, I would just test at FTDNA. Ancestry.com makes you pay for a subscription to get full benefit so I cannot recommend Ancestry.com. Maybe uploading your DNA & genealogy (via gedcom) to Gedmatch.com will suffice for not testing at all 3 companies.

RESEARCHING VIRGINIA FAMILIES: THE CHALLENGES AND REWARDS

Learn about the many and varied resources available to trace your Virginia ancestors. RELIC staff genealogist Darlene Hunter will describe official records (and their substitutes), compiled records, finding aids and institutional records. She will also provide examples of how to locate and utilize them to document your Virginia genealogy.

Thursday, November 9, 11:00 a.m.

Washington scholar, Peter R. Henriques, examines Alexander Hamilton's relationship with George Washington as portrayed in Hamilton, the blockbuster Broadway musical. How important was it? Were the men friends? What caused their falling out during the American Revolution? Dr. Henriques, Professor of History, Emeritus, from George Mason University, is the author of numerous books and articles, including Realistic Visionary: A Portrait of George Washington, which will be available for purchase. He has informed and entertained audiences at Colonial Williamsburg, Gadsby's Tavern, and numerous other venues including Bull Run Regional Library.

RELIC INSIDER: GRAVE ENCOUNTERS

Close to 500 cemeteries have been identified in Prince William County. The earliest-known surviving grave marker dates to 1690 (Rose Peters, now at Rippon Lodge). Very few engraved stones date before 1800. Tombstones apparently weren't a high priority during the colonial period, or were expensive and difficult to obtain. Many of the old family graveyards have only rough "field stones."

The Israel Genealogy Research Association (IGRA) has just released new and updated databases on its website. This release of the databases is different than those we have done in the past. Of the eight we are releasing, six relate to the present.

You may ask how we can do that with privacy issues. The answer is that the details we offer do not include sensitive information and these lists were found on the internet so they are not included in the grouping of data we cannot release. Having information available about people in Israel today is also important in helping you to possibly connect with family. Please note, these databases do not include scans of images, but our upcoming release will.

A preview of the databases is available at https://www.slideshare.net/igra3/igra-release-sep-oct-2017

The Finer Things: Dining and Dishware at Winthrop

Louise Pettus Archives and Special Collections Winthrop University Exhibit October 9 – December 4, 2017

The Pettus Archives at Winthrop University has created an exhibit of china, silverware, dishes and other material highlighting dining at Winthrop 1890s-1960s. Over the past several years, the Archives has received into its holdings various dining accessories that have been housed in numerous places all over campus. The beautiful china, silver and other pieces have never been displayed in one place. The Archives has brought together this fascinating collection of objects to showcase the "finer things" used by students, faculty, staff, alumni and guests in their dining experiences at Winthrop. Also included are photographs of students in the dining hall, information about Mrs. Sarah McBryde, Winthrop Dining Hall manager and dietician, 1919-1945 and her management of the dining hall and clips from the 1919 film "Winthrop Day-By-Day."

The exhibit is available for viewing during regular Archives hours: Monday 8:30-7:00; Tuesday-Friday 8:30-5:00. The exhibit will be available two Saturdays November 18, 9:00-3:00 and December 2, 9:00-1:00 For more information contact Pettus Archives at (803) 323-2334 or archives@winthrop.edu.
