LAST TRIBUTE

11/23/1936
The funeral services for Mrs. Theodora Klinck Rabb were held at St. Johns Episcopal church, January 11th at 11 o'clock by a former rector of the church, Rev. William Preston Peyton of Rock Hill.

Mrs. Theodora Klinck Rabb, wife of Heber Alexander Rabb, deceased, was born in Charleston, September 11, 1861, and was the only child of Henrietta Ann Shriner Klinck and Captain John Henry Klinck of the Confederate Army, who was killed at the Battle of Petersburg, which fact was proved by the meeting of a nephew of his with the son of a Federal soldier. The officer of the Northern army picked up from the battlefield a watch and pocketbook with the name of Henry Klinck on them. These articles were given the nephew, Henry Klinck, of Charleston, a namesake, by the father of his room-mate at Princeton—the former Federal officer, to be sent to the southern widow, thus after forty years telling for the first time the resing place of her husband.

During the War Between the States, Mrs. Henrietta Shriner Klinck and small daughter, Theodora, who could scarcely remember the father's farewell, refugeeed to Anderson, later coming to Winnsboro to live after the close of hostilities between the North and South.

Theodora Klinck was married to Heber Alexander Rabb in 1888. H. A. Rabb was the son of Martha Robertson Rabb and Heber bbbbybbbRa hr hr hr rd taon Rabb. Of this union were born two children, Theodora K. Rabb, deceased, wife of Dr. Lionelle D. Wells, and William Robertson Rabb.

Mr. and Mrs. Rabb's first home was on the original Rabb plantation, 8 miles west of Winnsboro on the Jenkinsville road. After the death of Mr. Rabb, Mrs. Theodora K. Rabb with her children, moved to the home of Mrs. Martha R. Rabb and William Rabb, two miles south of the town. Several years later the family came to Winnsboro and Mrs. Rabb made her home with her son, at which place she passed away after an illness of long duration.

Mrs. Rabb with her mother took an active part in the care of the Confederate soldiers through organizations of this character. She was a life member of St. Johns Lutheran Church of Charleston. Until her illness prevented she was a constant and faithful attendant of St. Johns Episcopal church of Winnsboro.

She is survived by a son, William Robertson Rabb, three grandchildren, William, Rodgers, John Rabb and three grand-daughters, Catherine, Marjorie and Theodora R. Wells of Holly Hill.

Mrs. Theodora Klinck Rabb was a woman of sterling qualities and though unobtrusive in manner, always she took a definite stand for what she considered the right. She will be missed in the community.

Satchwell Is Honored

Work of late Father Of Mrs. E. D. Sloan Is Praised As Marker Is Unveiled In North Carolina.

Fortnight, ago in Burkaw, Pender county, North Carolina, a marker was unveiled to the memory of the late Dr. S. S. Satchwell, father of Mrs. E. D. Sloan, of Winnsboro. Many notables were present for the ceremonies, including Dr. Frank P. Graham, president of the University of North Carolina, Congressman G. A. Barden, and Dr. G. M. Cooper, assistant State Health officer.

Dr. Cooper gave a sketch of the life of Dr. Satchwell, who was born in Beaufort county, Oct. 26, 1821, and who died at his home in Burgaw October 9, 1892. He cited a report of a Medical Society committee (1899) which said: "He (Dr. Satchwell) died of typhoid fever while in attendance on several patients with that disease whom he visited while so sick himself that he had to be lifted into and out of his buggy." The speaker praised Dr. Satchwell for his efforts in behalf of the North Carolina Medical society which he helped organize and which he served as president. "Here was a man," he declared, "educated in the great medical schools of the world, casting his lot through preference among the people of the country village. No monument could be built too high to pay full tribute to the memory of Dr. Satchwell."

Among those who attended the ceremonies were Mrs. E. D. Sloan, and daughter, Miss Margaret Sloan, of Winnsboro, the former a daughter of Dr. Satchwell; Mr. and Mrs. Edward D. Sloan and two children, of Greenville; Claude D. Satchwell, of Washington, and Quincy B. Satchwell, of Wilmington, sons of the late Dr. Satchwell.

Mr. Sims died at his residence Saturday after a short illness. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Cora Sims of Winnsboro, and the following children: Mrs. Lizzie Reed Griffin, Clinton; Leona, Louise, Robert, Buddy, Henry and Jimmie Sims, Winnsboro.

Mr. Sims had lived at Winnsboro for the past six years.

W. J. SEIGLER

Former Fairfield Deputy-Sheriff Fatally Stricken Last Thursday In Local Store. Final Rites Held Friday Afternoon.

10/15/1936
William James Seigler died suddenly of a heart attack last Thursday afternoon at 5:45 o'clock. He was in his 74th year, having been born July 4th, 1863.

Mr. Seigler had not been sick and at the time of his heart attack, he was in the store of George R. Lauderdale on Main Street, and the seizure was fatal before the arrival of a doctor.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Annie Haynes Seigler, two daughters, Mrs. Haywood Merritt, of Mount Airy, N. C. and Mrs. Marion Brown, Winnsboro, and one son, W. J. Seigler, Mount Airy, N. C. One sister, Mrs. Alice Jenkins, of Columbia also survives.

Funeral services were conducted Friday afternoon at four o'clock at Zion Presbyterian church, by his pastor, Rev. G. G. Mayes, assisted by Rev. Charles Harris. Interment followed in the Presbyterian cemetery.

The floral tributes were many and lovely.

The active pall-bearers were, C. McMaster, G. R. Lauderdale, R. R. Macfie, Boyd Brown, S. E. Lyles, S. O. Taylor and J. H. Aiken. The honorary: J. M. Macfie, J. H. Gibson, J. M. Lyles, L. Gantt, Dr. J. C. Buchanan, W. L. Holley, J. M. Harden, John Ameen, Charlie, and Frank Norman, G. M. Ketchin, J. S. Ketchin, Dan Hollis, H. S. Wylie, C. A. Robinson, J. R. Cribb, John Floyd, Ernest P. Blair, Dan Crosland, Dutch Greer, B. B. Meng, Dr. J. L. Bryson, Dr. Samuel Lindsay, W. W. Dixon and Fred Auld.

Attending the funeral from out-of-town were: Mr. and Mrs. A. Haywood Merritt, W. J. Seigler, Jr. Mount Airy, N. C.; Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Morris, Mrs. Alice H. Jenkins, Mrs. James Murray, Mrs. J. M. Rushton, Thomas Rhea, Columbia; Mr. and Mrs. Austin Haynes, Greensboro, N. C.; Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Haynes and family, Sumter; Mrs. James P. Doyle, Orangeburg.

Mr. Seigler was born July 4, 1863 and grew to manhood in the most troublous and exciting period of South Carolina's and Fairfield's political history, the Reconstruction era and the redemption of the State from carpet bag domination. His youth and early manhood were spent in the Longtown section of the county where he exemplified physical bravery, moral courage and patriotism of a high order. He brought these traits of character to Winnsboro where he served for many years as deputy sheriff of the county for Sheriffs A. D. Hood and James Macfie. His conduct of the official position was exemplary—humane and sympathetic to the unfortunate in custody, but firm and fearless in the discharge of the duties of the office.

A citizen and neighbor it is to his memory to say that he was born a gentleman, that the uprightness of his nature, the deep seated courtesy in his heart and the refinement of his manners won him the respects of his acquaintances. Passing in review the long honorable record of his life, recalling what is known and what has been said of him there is nothing but good that comes in view. It may be said of him as was written of his lamented brother, J. W. Seigler. "He had a heart sealed high in courtesy, gentle as a woman, brave as a lion and loyal as the sun in his friendships among men."
