JESSE B. DOTY DIES AT HOME

Funeral Services Thursday (Today) Afternoon For Beloved Winnsboro Man Who Died Suddenly Yesterday.

Jesse Barclay Doty died at his home in Winnsboro Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, of a heart attack. He was 56 years old December 29th. 1939

Mr. Doty had been in precarious health since suffering an attack of angina pectoris more than seven years ago but by taking precautions he had been able to continue his activities. He had been confined to his bed only since Monday.

Born in Winnsboro in 1884, the son of William Royston and Mary Barclay Doty, Jesse Doty attended Mt. Zion, then entered The Citadel, from which he was graduated in 1905. He entered business here and at one time owned the Winnsboro Insurance and Realty Company. He was a farmer and a cotton buyer and was active up to the week of his death.

Quiet and reserved, Mr. Doty was a highly public-spirited citizen. For many years he was captain of the Winnsboro Militia, a unit of the National Guards. More recently he served as trustee of District Number 14 and he took a keen but inconspicuous interest in the improvement of our schools. He was a member of the local Rotary club.

Honest, courageous and friendly, "Cap't." Doty was beloved of all who knew him.

In 1913 he married Miss Lucy Abbey of Abbeville, who, with the following children, survive him: J. Barclay Doty, Jr., Honolulu, Ala.; Peter H., Lacy Hill, Mary Lide, Frank, Susan and Billy.

Also surviving are four sisters, Annie Doty, of Columbia. Sue and Edna Doty, of Winnsboro, Elizabeth Doty, of Knoxville, Tenn.; and one brother, W. R. Doty, and one sister, Mrs. W. J. Doty, both of Winnsboro.

Mr. Doty was a member of the Baptist church. Funeral services will be held at the home at three o'clock Thursday (today) afternoon and interment will follow in the Presbyterian cemetery.

Mrs. T. J. Douglas Of New Hope, Dies

Mrs. Georgia Shedd Douglas, 70, died Friday at the Baptist hospital, Columbia. She had been in declining health for six months and critically ill since Wednesday when she was taken to the hospital. 5/29

Mrs. Douglas was the daughter of Joseph Gladney and Mrs. Ida Rabb Shedd of Monticello but had lived all her married life in the New Hope community of Fairfield county. She was a member of the New Hope Associate Reformed Presbyterian church in Upper Fairfield, from which funeral services were conducted at 3:30 Saturday afternoon by the Rev. W. A. Kennedy. Interment followed in the church cemetery.

Surviving are her husband, T. J. Douglas; two daughters, Mrs. R. W. Wilkes and Mrs. Louis Roseborough, Winnsboro; four sons, Harold, T. J., Jr., John L. and J. Pryor, all of Winnsboro and Fairfield county, and 29 grandchildren.

The active pallbearers were: Harold Douglas, Jr., Thomas Lee Douglas, Thomas Wilkes, Robert Wilkes, Leslie Douglas and William Douglas, all grandsons.

The honorary pallbearers were: J. M. Lyles, F. M. Roddey, R. C. Sterling, Y. G. Lewis, Robert Patrick, W. W. Turner, John Y. Turner, J. W. Pope, Sr., A. H. Brice, Ed Kennedy, Sr., E. K. Rabb, Fitz Dove, Boyd Brown and Leon Rosborough.

Rev. John Walkup
Douglas, D. D. 1939

From The Associate Reformed Presbyterian

Dr. Douglas was of loyal Associate Reformed Presbyterian ancestry. His father was a leading elder in the New Hope church in Fairfield county for many years and his mother was a Boyce, of the Mecklenburg county, N. C., stock, who have been prominent in local and general church affairs for generations. Many of his relatives are found in the church today, some as ministers, others as elders and private members scattered throughout the territory occupied by our church. One of his brothers, Rev. J. Calvin Douglas was a minister in our church and Dr. Charles A. Douglas, who is a distinguished lawyer and a good churchman in Washington, D. C., is another brother.

Dr. Douglas received his academic education in the University of South Carolina and his theological education at Princeton seminary, graduating about 1900. He went immediately to Baltimore and began a mission there over a drug store in the Roland Park section of the city. The Roland Park Presbyterian church was founded in 1901 with twenty-five charter members and a structure was erected in 1903. Of this church he was the only pastor until his death January 30 of this year, a period of thirty-eight years. This was also his only pastorate.

At his funeral the moderator of the Presbytery presided and two other co-Presbyterers took a wise counsellor to many young ministers in their parish problems that made their lot hard. It is said that no study in the city was more frequently visited for counsel than the room in his church where he would patiently listen and out of his store of kindly wisdom and humor help them to straighten things out.

His remains were brought to Columbia, S. C., and interred in the cemetery there where the remains of some other members of the family lie.

A FRIEND

Charles A. Douglas Dies In Washington

Charles A. Douglas, well-known Washington, D. C., lawyer and native South Carolinian, died at 7:30 Tuesday morning at his home in Washington after a brief illness. 1939

Born in Fairfield county in 1862, he was graduated from Erskine college in 1880, and he furthered his education at Columbia university, Erskine and Georgetown universities.

He began his practice at Winnsboro, transferred it to Columbia and later settled in Washington. He was a member of the South Carolina house of representatives from 1884 to 1890.

Mr. Douglas was the counsel in many outstanding law cases. He was American counsel in the negotiations for recognition of the Mexican government under Carranza, the American counsel for Nicaragua, Panama and Cuba for many years, and he assisted in securing ratification by the United States senate of the treaty involving purchase of the Nicaraguan canal route and the Isle of Pines with Cuba.

Avon section of Fairfield. The late Mrs. T. K. Elliott, Mrs. J. F. Davis, Miss Mary Ellen Aiken and Dr. David Aiken were his sisters-in-law, and brother-in-law, respectively. Attorney W. D. Douglas is a first cousin, and he has many other cousins throughout Fairfield county.

W. D. DOUGLAS
CLAIMED BY DEATH

Beloved Winnsboro Woman Dies Sunday Morning After Long Period of Declining Health.

Floride Peyre Dwight Douglas, —April 26, 1866 — August 13, 1939. After a long period of declining health and a few days of acute illness, this fine woman of the old school died on Sunday morning last, at eleven twenty o'clock. Her husband, W. D. Douglas, three sons, Moultrie Dwight Douglas of Winnsboro, W. D. Douglas, Jr., Atlanta, Ga., & David Dwight Douglas of New York City and two daughters, Mrs. John C. Buchanan, Jr., of Winnsboro and Mrs. John LeMaster of Columbia, survive her. Four grandchildren for whom she had the most devoted affection brightened her declining years: John C. Buchanan, 3rd, Floride Dwight Buchanan, William Davis Douglas, 3rd, and Frances Cooper Douglas.

Mrs. Douglas was the daughter of Captain William Moultrie Dwight and his wife, Elizabeth Porcher Gaillard. What a heritage was hers! All that was best in old England and old France produced her. French quickness of sympathy and English sturdiness of spirit united in her. She was born early enough to imbibe the principles of Southern antebellum civilization — the most splendid culture that this continent has or will know—and late enough to know and feel the hardships of the generations that followed immediately the War Between the States. She was, therefore, both the Old and the New South. (She was a gentlewoman in the old sense, by birth and training, and in the new sense, through experience of hardships and sacrifice.

Winnsboro can ill afford the loss of women of her type. They link us to the past—the spacious past! High courage, quick sympathy, unflinching courtesy, love of beauty, loyalty to truth and belief in righteousness, friendliness and helpfulness—all these qualities Mrs. Douglas had as of right. She inherited them. The past gave them to her. The Porchers, the Moultries, the DuBoses, the Gaillards, the Dwights—she was the daughter of them all. And the first of all biological laws is that like begets like. In this hurrying modern age that seeks short cuts to all things, that is tearing down all the conventions, that is reducing right and wrong to mere questions of expediency, we need to remember that this law cannot be repealed, that there is a graciousness of manner, a dignity of demeanor, a largeness of spirit, that only long generations of culture can give.

Funeral services for Mrs. Douglas were held from St. John's Episcopal church on Monday afternoon at five o'clock, the Rev. Frank Allen officiating. Interment followed in the Episcopal cemetery.

Active pall bearers were Henry E. Johnson, M. H. Doty, W. A. Robinson, George W. Crawford, W. Y. Buchanan, J. H. McMaster, Honorary: S. D. Dunn, Dr. J. C. Buchanan, Sr., J. Longstreet Gantt, J. W. Hanahan, J. H. McClure, Chester, S. C., F. H. McMaster, Columbia, J. M. Lyles, C. A. Robinson, M. W. Doty.

Winnsboro Native
Dies In Raleigh

Funeral Services For Ernest Ellison Held In Charlotte Wednesday.

Ernest Ellison, 57, of Charlotte, N. C., died early Tuesday morning at the Rex hospital in Raleigh, N. C., where he was stricken with a heart attack while on a business trip. He had been in failing health for several months. 3/1939

He is a brother of Misses Ellen and Louise Ellison, Mrs. George Mend, and S. DuBose Ellison, of Winnsboro.

He was the son of Katherine Gaillard Ellison and Robert Emmett Ellison, and was born in Winnsboro August 21, 1881. He attended Mount Zion Institute at Winnsboro.

For several years Mr. Ellison was connected with the Southern Cotton Oil company in Columbia. He moved 29 years ago to Charlotte, where he had since made his home. When he first went to Charlotte, he was connected with the American Trust company, but in 1916 he established his own general agency, which he built up into one of the largest in North Carolina.

He married Miss Edna Lockwood of Providence, R. I., who survives. Besides his widow he is survived by two daughters Mrs. V. B. Hirst of New York City, and Miss Viola Ellison, who is now traveling in Europe; one son, Robert Emmett Ellison of Charlotte; four sisters, Miss Louise G. Ellison and Miss Ellen W. Ellison of Winnsboro, Mrs. George R. Mend of Atlanta, Ga., and Mrs. P. B. Burckmeyer of Hendersonville, N. C.; four brothers, David C. Ellison of Columbia, T. C. Ellison of Winnsboro, and Gaillard Ellison of Lancaster.

Funeral services were held at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at St. Peter's Episcopal church, Charlotte.

Fayssoux S. DuPre
Dies In Spartanburg

Husband of Former Winnsboro Woman Passes Thursday Night After Lingering Illness.

Fayssoux Stevens DuPre, 58, member of a prominent Spartanburg family, died Thursday at a Spartanburg hospital after a lingering illness. 6/1939

The son of the late Prof. D. A. DuPre, for many years a member of the faculty of Wofford college, and Mrs. Helen C. Stevens DuPre, he was born in Charleston November 27, 1880.

He moved to Spartanburg with his family in childhood and was graduated from Wofford college in 1902.

During his business career DuPre was connected with textile mills in Wilmington, N. C., Clio and Chester. He entered the real estate business in Columbia in 1913 and in 1915 came to Spartanburg to set up a real estate agency.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Sloise Elliott DuPre; two daughters, Mrs. James A. Berry of Augusta, Ga., and Mrs. Carl Moore, of Greenville, and a son, Fayssoux S. DuPre, Jr., of Spartanburg. Mrs. Helen D. Moseley, postmistress in Spartanburg, and two other sisters also survive.

Funeral services were conducted in Spartanburg at 11 a. m. Saturday.

Mrs. DuPre was the former Eloise (Pat) Elliott, of Winnsboro.

John Leslie Dunn

John Leslie Dunn, aged 14, died Tuesday at the John C. Buchanan hospital where he had been since Saturday night, when he was struck by a car on the main highway thru the Winnsboro Mills village. 11/1939

Funeral services were conducted Wednesday afternoon at three o'clock from the Stephen Greene Memorial Baptist church by Revs. M. C. Padgett and J. H. Ellenberg, and interment was at Bloomingdale church cemetery at Smallwood.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Dunn, of Winnsboro, and his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Bird of Cobbtown, Ga.; eleven aunts and an uncle.

John Leslie was a news delivery boy for the Charlotte Observer, and was riding a bicycle when struck. No inquest was considered necessary.

Active pallbearers were: Junior Braziel, Leroy Gardner, Robert Sims, Levy Sharpe, Bill Spires, Homer Johns.

Henry C. Elliott
Claimed by Death

Life-Long Resident of Winnsboro Passes At His Home Early Tuesday Morning. 4/39

Henry C. Elliott, 74, a life-long resident of Winnsboro, died at his home here Tuesday morning at eight o'clock. He had been in declining health for some time but had not been confined to his bed.

Mr. Elliott, the son of McKinney Elliott and Mrs. Ann Black Elliott, was born June 20th, 1865. He married Miss Katie Buhler of Charleston, who survives him. Also surviving are the following sons and daughters: Henry Elliott, Cartersville, Ga., James L. Elliott, Larchmont, N. Y., Joe Elliott, Philadelphia, Miss Margaret Elliott, W. F. Coleman, of Columbia.

Mr. Elliott was of a kind and gentle disposition and one of his traits that older Winnsborians remember was his fondness for children. While serving on the police force he often said: "Never try to discipline your child by teaching him to fear an officer. The policeman is his best friend."

Funeral services, conducted by Dr. Oliver Johnson, were held in the A. R. P. church Wednesday afternoon at 6 o'clock, and interment followed in the church cemetery.

Active pall bearers were Roy Robinson, T. K. McDonald, W. R. Elliott, R. H. McDonald, Oliver Johnson, Jr., C. E. McDonald. Honorary: Wilson Hanahan, Hamilton Hanahan, John W. Cathcart, J. C.
