NEGRO SHOOTS W. W. LATHAN

Blackstock Farmer Is Killed Instantly From A Close-Range Shotgun Blast.

W. W. Lathan, 63, a Fairfield county farmer of the Blackstock community, was killed Friday ev-ening around six o'clock by a 28-year-old Negro, Will Hood. The shooting occurred on/ Mr. Lathan's farm just out of Blackstock, in Fairfield county, and death, which resulted from a shotgun fired at close range, was almost instan-taneous. taneous.

A coroner's jury, called by J. H. Gibson, said at the inquest Satur-day morning "that Walter W. La-than came to his death by a gun wound inflicted by the hands of Will Hood." A witness, Roberta Biog Negross an employee of M. Will Hood. A witness, Roberta Rice, Negress, an employee of Mr. Lathan, said that Hood fired while Mr. Lathan was standing with his hands in his pockets, "like he was fixing to pay me." She said that Hood, who worked

"like he was fixing to pay me." She said that Hood, who worked n on Mr. Lathan's farm also, cursed h his employee before he fired. Hood (alias Willie Dixon) es-caped after the shooting, but Sheriff E. K. Rabb who arrived on the scene shortly afterwards, found out where the Negro was likely to go and himself went to Rock Hill Saturday night to lay plans for the culprit's capture. The hint proved a good one and Hood was captured near Rock Hill Sunday morning by a eity policeman. He was turned over to Sheriff Rabb, who took the Ne-gro to another city for safe-keep-ing, as feeling around Blackstock was running high. About a year ago the father of this same Negro was convicted of shooting at Bob Brice in a store at Woodword. He is now serving time on the chaingang. FUNERAL SERVICES

Mr. J. B. Ta, lor offered the in-vocation. The memorial message by Mrs. Moore, contained many historical facts pertaining to conditions ex-isting in Kansas prior to the war between the states. Her father, a young lawyer, native of South Carolina, later of Kentucky, who located in Kansas in 1854, became a prominent factor in political af-fairs at that time. His stand for constitutional rights and his effort to bring peace and harmony and to enforce the law, cost him his life and on June 29, 1857, he was killed by a hired assassin of the extreme fanatical party—just nine days af-ter his twenty-third birthday. # Dr. Samuel Lindsay Passes At His Home Here Sunday Beloved Fairfield County Physician Dies After Extended Illn ss. For Forty-two

Years He Had Practiced Medicine In On April 12th, 1914, Dr. Lind

Dr. Samuel Lindsay, 67, greatly-beloved Fairfield county physician, died at his home here Sunday ev ening at 6:45 o'clock, after an illness which had extended over a period of years. However, despite this illness, he had continued his Miller of Rock Hill, and Mirs. J. H. Beall of Lenoir, N. C., and three brothers, the Rev. William B. Lindsay of Charlotte, N. C., Joseph Lindsay and Robert J. Lindsay, both of Chester. Another brother, John Lindsay, died at his home in Camden in June, 1940. practice up until three months before his death.

Dr. Lindsay was born in Chester, S. C., September 29th, 1873. He was the fifth son of William L. Lindsay and Nancy Stewart Lindsay, people of Scotch-Irish descent who had come to America about the middle of the Nineteenth century.

He was graduated from Chester high school and after a few years work, he entered Bellevue Medica College, New York City, finished the course in three years, and ser ved his internship at the hospital He returned to Chester where he practiced medicine for one year before coming to Winnsboro, upon invitation, on December 6th, 1898 The high esteem in which he was held in his home town is shown by a letter written about this time by a native of Chester. It said, in part: "Dr. Samuel Lindsay has entwined himself around our hearts since childhood, and we are loath to give him up. We consider him one of our best young men. He graduated at Bellevue Ho.pital Medical College of New York and located here about a year ago. He fession both as a practitioner an practice hore. Chester's 1053 . certainly Winnsboro's gain and Winnsboro may congratulate herself on getting one of Chester's most enterprising sons. Dr. Lindsay is not only a doctor, but he is a Christian gentleman in every sense of the world. He is as gen-tle and sympathetic as a woman in the sick room. . . .'

Winnsboro citizens lived to learn the truth of that tribute and today they unanimously agree with it. For since that day in Decem-ber, away back in the year 1898. Dr. Lindsay has visited countless homes, eased the lot of thousands of sick people, both white and colored. As a general practitioner he has made a notable personal success, but what is more important he has endeared himself to every man, woman and child in the community which he served. His has truly been a service of love and no one who has needed his skilled attention has ever been lenied it, however lowly his sta tion, however distant his home.

In the earlier days, Dr. Lindsay traveled over the county in a buggy but after a few years he pur chased an automobile, being the third person in Winnsboro to own one of these "new-fangled mach-ines". During the first World War he served conscientiously and effectively as a member of the Fairfield county exemption board Fairfield county exemption board and it was at this period of his boro. Mrs. Clara Chamberlain of Winnslife that he was working eighteen hours a day combatting the violent influenza epidemic. He served as President of the Fifth District Medical Association and as Vice President of the State Association. He was an elder in the Associate Reformed Presbyterian church.
