The gift of business records covering twenty-five years may seem modest to all but the most intrepid of statisticians. The Harden Funeral home records of 1932 to 1957 present a different perspective to both scholars and local citizens in the incredible records of more than several thousand lives completed in Fairfield County in those years.

The Fairfield Friends of the Museum welcome this gift as a legacy to the future and wish to thank the late Mr. Joe C. Harden, his widow Mrs. Betty M. Harden, and his brother Mr. John M. Harden, III for their respect for such archives and the importance of preserving them.

The Friends must thank the efforts of Ms. Randy Sears of Myrtle Beach, SC for the many hours in transcribing these records and making their preservation a reality.

Editing Ms. Sears' work presented a pleasurable few weeks for Mr. John M. Harden, III and myself to both remember some of the details of our two adjacent generations and our respective points of seeing the history of Fairfield through these records.

Only some spelling considerations of proper names were found needing minor corrections. The simple index card method of recording the original details of these deaths and burials by the funeral home provided quite a provocative thought process for both of us who by profession are not statisticians. If any words could describe us, perhaps it would be "history lovers," and that is the intent and driving force behind this labor.

By way of introduction some brief observations must be shared.

Sharing the history of Harden Funeral Home requires knowing its history.

John M. Harden, Jr. returned to Fairfield County in 1918 at the end of his service in the First World War. In planning for his future in his native Winnsboro, he purchased the former Phillips Furniture Company on the northeast corner of Congress and Liberty Streets. This business included the retail operations of furniture and casket sales. Custom was a bit different in funeral arrangements at this time.

A family purchased a casket, took it to their home, prepared the body without embalming, and arranged the burial in either family plots or church cemeteries. This meant that caskets were sold on demand and the timing of the burial was usually within a few days of the death for health reasons. Home burial usually included the display of the open casket with family and friends' visitations. Some sort of wake was traditional at these funerals.

Customs began to change and John Harden found himself facing new laws enforcing embalming for health reason and new ideas about using funeral homes as parlors for visitation and display. In the course of the thirty-eight years he operated the business, he saw quite an evolution in funeral practices and by 1938 the location of the business was moved to a new location at 124 South Vanderhorst Street where it remained until it was sold in 1957 to Mr. and Mrs. John Pope. The Popes operated at the Vanderhorst location for about one year before moving to the current location of Pope Funeral Home at the corner of Buchanan and Congress Streets. Mrs. Bette Pope continues to operate the business today in this location.

Those these records only record some twenty-five of those years, the time period covered reveals much statistical material as to cause of death, funeral customs and costs, and the sociological makeup of Fairfield County in the interval. Perhaps these statistics alone make this project one of such significance.

As amateurs, John and I found the reading and editing provocative of our history searches in our beloved Fairfield County.

A few personal observations indicative of that process include the lack of a modern hospital until 1954 in the county, the use of Richland County Hospital and others in Columbia for final care and birthing facilities beginning in the 1930's, and deaths from accidents without the emergency services to which we are accustomed to today.

Another interesting observation is the number of stillborn infants due to the lack of neonatal facilities. Also, the number of deaths in childbirth, the infant death rate in the first few years, and the death of children due to diseases now controlled pointed to wonderful changes in health care over the period.

Just as interesting are the sociological aspects of the records.

As the Great Depression and the end of cotton farming due to the boll weevil plagued the economics of the county in the time of the records, it is difficult not to draw some conclusions as to cause of death due to those circumstances. Cases in the records show a large number of deaths to young adults in their twenties and thirties who worked in the textile industry. Many of these young adults died at the former SC State Park Hospital which specialized in lung disease, many perhaps caused by work environments. Large numbers of these workers had migrated into the cotton mill for work after losing their farms in rural South Carolina and Georgia. Many of these funerals required shipping the remains by motor hearse or railway to next-of-kin in those places.

Other observations can be made including the location or home of many of the deceased. Many families in the area took in boarders and often the informant is listed on the cards as the person operating the boarding home. This often meant scant family details and perhaps inaccurate next-of-kin details. Expanding on this observation reminded us that there was no Social Security until 1935, so many families took in their aging kindred and cared for them in extended family situations.

With great interest John and I found the death and burial patterns during the Second World War quite different than we imagined. Rarely did the remains of fallen servicemen get back to the county until the years after the war. There was no way to ship all the fallen during wartime. Funeral services did not bring closure until these remains were returned in those years.

Equally interesting were the deaths due to simple old age. Those deaths listed causes usually as heart disease or consumption, a family physician stating these causes.

A final observation in these statistics is the rural burial cemeteries for the funeral services. Many county citizens were members of large rural churches which today are no longer active or merged with other churches. The flight from the farms for urban jobs was a real cause of this phenomenon.

Thanks must be given to all who have assisted in this project. History must be studied if we are to appreciate our present lives.

State of South Carolina

County of Fairfield

Personally appears George H. Christy, who being duly sworn says that he is a resident and a citizen of the County of Fairfield in the State aforesaid, his Post Office address being Winnsboro, South Carolina. That he is the father of Charles Edward Christy who died on the 23rd day of October, 1937 at the Columbia Hospital, Columbia, SC, and who was born on the 21st day of May, 1918, at Great Falls, Chester County, South Carolina. That the said Charles Edward Christy, on the ___ day of ___, 19___, and Emily Boulware were married and from the date of their marriage until the date of the death of the said Charles Edward Christy lived together as man and wife and had one child born by said marriage. At the time of the death of the said Charles Edward Christy, the deponent made the necessary arrangements for his funeral and employed John M. Harden, Jr. of Winnsboro whose principal place of business is Winnsboro, and the said John M. Harden, Jr. in turn employed J.W. McCormick, Inc. of Columbia to assist in preparing the body for burial, this arrangement being made because the deceased died in Columbia. That the deponent furnished the said John M. Harden, Jr. with the required information as to the identity of the deceased and as to his status and through error the records show that the deceased was single, whereas in fact he was married and left his widow surviving, as well as his child. That the deponent is advised that the records in the Bureau of Vital Statistics of the State Board of Health of South Carolina show that the deceased was single at the time of his death, which record in that respect is erroneous and incorrect.

Sworn to and subscribed before me this 22nd day of June 1944

George H. Christie by J.M. _____ signed June 22, 1944

Attached is a letter from (Mrs. C.K.) Nellie Peck W. Douglas:

“Please let me know what expense is involved, if any, so that I may reimburse you. And please have the card in Charley’s temporary marker changed because I heard that one date was wrong. It was said that he died at 54 years of age, but he would have been 55 this next August. His dates are August 25, 1901 – February 10, 1956.

“I think there was a mistake in the paper about Charley’s mother’s age too. She would have been 85 her next birthday. There was a little discrepancy on Charley’s birth certificate, which was of course made out late in his life. Checking with his mother’s sister, who was in Winnsboro at the funeral, her dates should be put on a temporary marker as Nov. 17, 1871 – March 15, 1956. Perhaps you put just the years, but I want them right, because the monument people might get them wrong permanently. Thank you, if you change the cards in the markers.

“I am glad we could have most of the final rites for Charley’s mother in your nice funeral home. The weather was so damp and windy, I had laryngitis, and it would not have been easy for me to go to the cemetery so soon again.

“Thank you for all courtesies, (Mrs. C.K.) Nellie Peck W. Douglas.....
