

HYMENEAL.

MARRIED-On the 25th of November last, by the Rev. W.H. Hartin, at the residence of the bride's father, MR. ROBERT STEWART to Miss HATTIE MARTIN. All of Fairfield. 1890

MARRIED-On the 8th instant, by the Rev. W.W. Mills, at the residence of the bride's father, MR. WILLIAM H. WILSON, of Richland, to Miss MATTIE L. CAMAK, of Fairfield. 1890

HYMENEAL.

1890
Mr. Davis Harden and Miss Alice Gladney were married on Thursday night at the residence of Mrs. Jane Herron, by the Rev. W.B. White. They were given a reception on Friday by the groom's father, Mr. James Harden at his residence. We extend our congratulations and wish them many years of happiness.

Married in Gaffney, on the evening of the 21st, by the Rev. W. H. Hodges, Prof. James R. Dye, and Miss Kathleen M., eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Hall, of Fairfield County. 1899

White Oak Paragraphs.

...There was a delightful reception given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Wylie, on the 26th December, in honor of their youngest son and his bride, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Wylie, of Chester. Quite a number of invited guests were present. (The new Mrs. Wylie is the former Miss Lula McGarrity of Wellridge. The couple was married the 20th of December). 1899

A Sunday Morning Wedding.

At his residence shortly before the morning service Sunday, the Rev. Chas. E. McDonald united in marriage Mr. Clark Langford and Miss Kizzie Timms. The ceremony was witnessed by several friends of the young couple. The bride and groom are both of this county. Mrs. Langford is the daughter of Mr. James Timms. 1897

The Fairfield News and Herald, Winnsboro, S.C., Wednesday, February 25, 1891.

A BRILLIANT WEDDING.

One of the most notable social events of the season was the marriage last Tuesday evening of Miss Etta L. Wolfe and Mr. Samuel Nathan, of Denver, Colorado, which took place at the residence of the bride's parents.

Promptly at the appointed hour, 7 o'clock, to the strains of a beautiful wedding march, composed by Mrs. D.V. Walker for the occasion, the wedding cortege filed in the room; first came Mrs. Wolfe, mother of the bride, robed in a handsome black brocade silk, leaning on the arm of her son-in-law, Mr. U.G. Desportes; following them were Mrs. Jacob Wolfe, of Madison, sister of the groom, on the arm of Mr. J.R. Kaufman of Chester. Mrs. Wolfe wore a rich gown of ruby velvet and butter-cup yellow crepe entrain, square neck, diamond ornaments.

Mrs. U.G. Desportes came in on her brother's arm, Mr. Donald Wolfe, and was gowned in a beautiful costume of "Russian steel." Next came two charming little flower girls, Anne Belle Stewart and Gussie Desportes, both dressed in pale blue, who strewed the path leading to the nuptial canopy with posies from their baskets...Following them came, Miss Rebecca Wolfe, the "maid of honor," attired in white china silk, cut round neck, elbow sleeves, and Miss Rhoda Nathan, sister of the groom, also in white silk, richly embroidered and fashioned like a Greek costume. Both carried bouquets composed of Marchiel Neilroses, lilies of the valley, maiden hair fern. Mr. Nathan walked with Mr. J.F. Brannon, of Atlanta, who acted as best man.

Then came the bride leaning on the arm of her father, Mr. Wolfe. She was gowned in a robe of rich ivory color satin and brocaded faille with pearl trimmings, tulle veil, orange blossoms, and at her neck a magnificent diamond pendant composed of twenty gems, so set as to look like a single stone, which formed the centre of a five-pointed star. This and diamond screws were the wedding gift of the groom. Her bouquet was formed of nephotos buds, lilies of the valley and maiden hair fern...The young couple were united in holy matrimony (by the Rabbi, Mr. Levy) according to the ancient and beautiful Jewish rite, and in his usual impressive manner by this most gifted divine.

...Bride's cake and wine were passed to the guests and the health of the pair drunk in hearty bumpers...(The presents) were various and handsome, and besides those exhibited the young couple received many which were sent direct to their future home in Denver and a number of handsome checks.

The guests remained about an hour at the residence of the bride's parents, and then drove to the home of Mr. and Mrs. U.G. Desportes, where an elegant reception was held...

MARRIED. 1890

At the residence of the brides' mother on the evening of March 27th, 1890, by Rev. J. A. Wilson, Mr. Reuben Crumpton to Miss Emma Kennedy all of Fairfield County...

MARRIAGE AT BLYTHEWOOD.

Trinity Methodist Church, Blythewood, S. C, May 15, was tastefully decorated and festooned with evergreens and a massive mound of choice cut flowers adorned the chancel. This was the work of admiring friends of J. Willie Blain, the obliging friends of Richmond and Danville Railroad Company, and Carrie Belle, the beloved daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. N. Price, of Fairfield Co., S.C., where the couple stood quite composed under the massive "bell", composed of beautifully cut flowers, while the Rev. Wm. W. Mood performed their nuptials in a short and impressive service. The bride and groom at once boarded the train for Washington City and other points of interest. They have the kindest wishes of many friends. 1890

CRAWFORD-SHELL. 1896

Messrs. Editors: A brief reference to the occasion of our visit to this place will not be without interest to your many readers. We owe the pleasure of this visit...to the happiest event in the life of the handsomest of the bachelors-the marriage of Mr. S. B. Crawford to Miss Carrie Shell, the beautiful and accomplished daughter of Mr. G. W. Shell, of Laurens.

The groom, accompanied by his mother, Mrs. Dr. Madden, and his uncle, Mr. John S. Cathcart, and a number of young friends, boarded the south-bound train on Monday last, and were joined in Columbia by several other friends equally interested in the important event about to transpire. An uneventful ride of three hours and we were registered at the "Hotel Bendella" where we were royally entertained...we drove out with the happy but trembling groom to the handsome country residence of Capt. Shell, three miles from the Court House.

...The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J.D. Pitts, of Laurens, and the bride and groom received with calm dignity the congratulations of their friends.

...The bride was attired in cream cashmere and surah silk trimmed with lace; pearl buckles; natural flowers, ornaments, diamonds.

...The party broke up about two o'clock in the morning.

We leave for Winnsboro this morning...Laurens, April 30, 1890.

HOSPES.

Keister-Gladden

On last Thursday evening, the 14th, Bethesda church presented to the eye a lovely picture, for "merrily rang the bells" joyous wedding bells. The church was beautifully decorated in cedar, holly and flowers of all kinds. In front of the pulpit was an arch made of cedar, over which hung a graceful drapery of pink silk...At the sound of the wedding march played by Miss Marshall, the ushers handsomely attired in full dress suits and tan gloves, entered the church in couples as follows: Messrs. T. D. Wallace and M. E. Dye, Will A. Gladden and Harvey Ford, Hilliard Gladden and Will Jordan, crossing over and taking their places opposite each other on either side of the arch. Then followed Mr. A. N. Keister and Miss Sue Gladden wearing a handsome gown of gray silk...The groom is a young man of stalwart character and one of Mitford's most successful business men.

The bride, the eldest daughter of Mr. J. R. Gladden, is an excellent young woman. 12/1899