Hollowell Clark 1943

West Palm Beach, Fla.—Miss Margie Lynette Hollowell became the bride of Staff Sgt. Alva H. Clark, United States Marine corps, Saturday evening, July 17, in a candlelight ceremony at the Memorial Presbyterian church of West Palm Beach. The ceremony was performed by Chaplain First Lieut. Edmund Viser, Southern Presbyterian minister, now located at Morrison field, Fla. The immediate family of the bridegroom and many friends of the couple were present.

Nuptial music was furnished by Miss Mary Lind, vocalist.

The bride's dress was of honey beige. A hand-appliqued design featured the yoke of the dress and formed a square neckline. The accessories were white. She carried a bridal bouquet of white carnations, tubal roses and greenery with white satin showers to the length of her dress. The bride's only attendant was Miss Margaret Clark, sister of the bridegroom.

The bridegroom's best man was Sgt. T. E. Miller, who is now located at Camp Murphy, Fla.

Mrs. Alva Clark is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Hollowell of Goldsboro, N. C. For several years she has been connected with Belk-Tyler company in Tarboro, N. C. She attended school at Woman's College in Greensboro, N. C., and received her degree in home economics and science from East Carolina Teachers College in Greenville, S. C.

Staff Sergeant Clark is the son of Mrs. O. M. Clark and the late Rev. Mr. Clark of Ridgeway, S. C. He received his education from Campbell College, Buies Creek, N. C., and Port Arthur College, Port Arthur, Texas. Before entering the United States Marine corps he was connected in business in Tarboro, N. C.

The couple will make their home at 505 1-2 32nd street in West Palm Beach.

Miss Elizabeth Dianne Bennett became the bride of William Crawford Clarkson on Saturday, March 25, at four o'clock in the afternoon, in a candlelight ceremony at Memorial Baptist Church, St. George. The Rev. Eddie A. Fogle, Jr., pastor of the bride, officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Wilson Bennett of St. George, and Mr. Clarkson's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Johnson Clarkson of Winnsboro.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an A-line formal wedding gown of white dulcet satin. The empire waisted bodice, featuring a high fitted neckline, was of Alencon lace, embroidered with seed pearls and crystals. A wide border of the same embroidered lace edged the hem of the skirt and chapel length train. The fitted satin and lace pointed sleeves closed at the wrists with small, satin covered buttons. The buttons were repeated down the back of the gown. She wore an Alencon lace covered caplet to which was attached an illusion veil, featuring Swiss hand-embroidered edging. The veil was brought from Switzerland by the bride's parents. Her bouquet was phaealanopsis orchids and tuberose with white satin streamers.

The bride wore an heirloom cameo which belonged originally to the bridegroom's great, great, great paternal grandmother and has been worn by brides in the family since 1824.

The organist was Mrs. Marion G. Patrick and Daniel S. Dukes, III, was soloist. He sang "O Perfect Love" and "The Wedding Prayer."

Miss Linda Ivone Bennett, of Erskine College and St. George, was her scoop neckline. A cymbidium corsage completed her outfit.

Clarke-Davis 1947

On November 8th, at 8 o'clock in the evening in the First Methodist church in Winnsboro, Miss Dorothy Anne Clarke became the bride of John Charles Davis of Charleston in an impressive double ring ceremony performed by the bride's pastor, the Rev. T. C. Cannon, before a large assemblage of relatives and friends.

The church was decorated with palms and fern, banked artistically at the back of the altar. Arrangements of white chrysanthemums stood in front of the tall cathedral candelabra holding white tapers.

Mrs. G. M. Ketchin, presiding at the organ, and Mrs. T. K. McDonald at the piano, rendered a half hour of beautiful wedding music as the guests assembled, using "Andante Cantabile" (Tschaikowsky), "Adagio" (Beethoven), "The Swan" (Saint-Saens), and "Ava Maria" (Schubert). Mrs. John Johnson, soloist, sang "Calm as The Night" (Bohm) and "Because" (D'Hardelot). The "Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin (Wagner) was used for the processional and "Wedding March" (Mendelssohn) for the recessional. At the conclusion of the ceremony, "The Lord's Prayer" (Malotte) was sung as a benediction.

The candles were lighted prior to the ceremony by the senior ushers, S. D. Cathcart, Winnsboro, and Horace Carey, Jr., cousin of the groom, Charleston. The usher-groomsmen were: Christopher Mathews, Charleston; Frank W. Clement, Charleston; W. Burneston Baker, Charleston and Clemson college. The best man was Kenneth Young, Medical college, Charleston.

The maid-of-honor, Miss Nancy Eye of Charleston wore a hyacinth blue moire taffeta frock. Harriett Anne Likes, Charleston and Winthrop college; Miss Sarah Price, Charleston; Mrs. Frank Clement, Charleston; Miss Catherine Castles, Winnsboro and McMaster, Winnsboro; Mrs. Jerry Pursley, Rick Hill. Junior Winthrop college; Miss Christine bridesmaid was Miss Catherine Cathcart, Winnsboro. They wore dresses of deep American Beauty moire taffeta identical in design to the honor attendants, with matching gauntlets; hairdress of chrysanthemums and tulle; and carried muffs of hyacinth blue edged with tulle and showered with tiny pompom chrysanthemums and ribbon.

The bride, a petite brunette, was given in marriage by her uncle, W. M. Estes of Winnsboro. She was lovely in her wedding gown of lustrous ivory satin, fashioned with an off-shoulder yoke of illusion finished with a deep berth of imported Rose Point lace; long sleeves ending in points over the hands; fitted bodice with tiny satin covered buttons down the back; a full skirt ending in a long circular train. Her veil of bridal net was held in place by a coronet of orange blossoms. She wore as her only ornament, an exquisite diamond lavalier, gift of the groom, which is a family heirloom. She carried a showered bouquet of bride's roses.

The guests into the dining room were Mr. and Mrs. English Lyles, where the guests were served refreshments in green and white, of block ice cream, dainty wedding cakes, punch and mints. Entertaining in the dining room were Mrs. A. R. Smarr, Miss Libelle Curlee, and Mr. Ernest Blair. Serving were Misses Faye Brooks, Betty Lyles, Gladys Lewis, Martha Simpson, Ella V. Goudelock, and Vera Riser. Little Misses Perry Anne Cathcart, Kitty Rice McMaster, Nancy Hayes, and Jane Castles served mints.
