

In Columbia Church Wedding

Douglas-Summers Vows Spoken

MRS. DAVID LeROY SUMMERS

Miss Emily Isabel Douglas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Douglas of Winnsboro, became the bride of David LeRoy Summers of Cameron and Columbia, in a ceremony taking place in the Southern Methodist Church in Columbia at 8 o'clock on Tuesday, November 25.

The Reverend Lynn Corbett performed the double ring ceremony. The vows were spoken in the presence of relatives and a few close friends.

The bride and bridegroom entered the sanctuary together. The bride wore a beige antique satin dress with matching accessories. She carried a nosegay of tuberoses centered with a brown orchid nestled in bride's lace, showered with satin streamers. Her only ornament was a string of pearls, gift of the bridegroom.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was given at the home of Captain and Mrs. S. J. Summers, III, on Woodlawn Avenue.

Mrs. Summers received her education at Mount Zion Institute, Winnsboro, and Erskine College, Due West.

Mr. Summers is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel J. Summers, Jr., of Cameron. He was graduated from the Cameron High School and served in the United States Air Force for four years. He is now credit manager of Phillips Shoes, Inc., of Orangeburg.

After a wedding trip to the mountains of North Carolina, Mr. and Mrs. Summers will reside at 1303 Maple Street, Columbia.

Douglas-Alexander Engagement Told

Dr. and Mrs. Charlie Milton Douglas of Columbia announce the engagement of their daughter, Margaret Jeannette, and Edward Click Alexander, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Spears Alexander, Sr., of Spartanburg. The wedding is to take place on Sept. 8 in the Associate Reformed Presbyterian Church.

The bride-elect was graduated from Dreher High School and is a senior at Erskine College, Due West, where she will be graduated on May 28. At Erskine she is on the Dean's List, a member of the Garnet Circle, a club recognizing scholarship, and a member of the Philomelean Literary Society. The bride-elect attended the 1961 Columbia Cotillion Debutante Ball. Her mother is the former Martha Miller.

The bridegroom-elect was graduated from Spartanburg High School and attended Erskine College. He is now completing a two-year tour of duty with the 82nd Airborne Division, stationed at Ft. Bragg, N. C. He plans to return to Erskine College in the fall to complete his degree there. His mother is the former Mildred Click.

(Dr. Douglas, Columbia dentist, is a native of Winnsboro.)

Douglas-Foster

A wedding beautiful in its simplicity and of cordial interest to friends in the two Carolinas, was that of Miss Jessie Douglas and Samuel Harrell Foster of Monroe, N. C. which was solemnized Saturday morning at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. C. H. Douglas in Winnsboro. The ring ceremony was performed by Dr. Oliver Johnson in the presence of the immediate families and a few intimate friends. 8/1940

The house was tastefully decorated with gladioli, asters, fringed petunias and daisies. The vows were spoken before an improvised altar formed by tall baskets filled with white gladioli and floor candles holding cathedral tapers. The scene was reflected by a beautiful mirror above the mantel.

A program of prenuptial music was rendered by Mrs. George McMaster Ketchin, pianist and Mrs. James Airail of Columbia, soloist. Mrs. Airail sang "I Love You Truly," "Oh, Promise Me," and "My Herat at Thy Sweet Voice." During the ceremony, Mrs. Ketchin played "To a Wild Rose."

The tapers were lighted by Misses Jo Anne and Jane Douglas, nieces of the bride and the ring bearer was little Tommy Thomas, the bride's nephew.

Miss Nelle Douglas, sister of the bride, was her only attendant. She wore a dress of nutria, with brown accessories and her corsage was of Talisman roses.

The bridegroom had as his best man, Harry Barrett of Norfolk, Va.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Dr. Charles H. Douglas, of York, was attired in a dress of Cruise blue, with black accessories and wore a corsage of white orchids.

Following the ceremony, an informal reception was given by Mrs. Douglas. The dining room table was attractive with the wedding cake and crystal bowls of white fringed petunias and lighted tapers. Punch, wedding cake and mints were served by Miss Catherine Douglas and Mrs. Herbert Vassey.

Mrs. Foster received her A. B. degree from Winthrop college and her M. A. degree from Duke university. She is a member of Delta Kappa Gamma sorority and has been teaching in the schools of North and South Carolina.

Mr. Foster is a graduate of King's college. He is connected with the Seaboard Airline railroad.

Immediately following the reception, Mr. and Mrs. Foster left for a wedding trip and will be at home in Monroe, N. C.

Douglas-Stewart

A fall wedding of much interest and simple charm was that of Miss Catherine Douglas, daughter of Mrs. Charles Harrison Douglas and the late Mr. Douglas, and Lt. John Calvin Stewart, which took place Saturday evening, Nov. 22, at six-thirty o'clock at the First Methodist church in Winnsboro. Rev. H. Lester Kingman officiated in the presence of a large assemblage of relatives and friends. 1941

The church was decorated in green and white. The altar rail was lighted with cathedral tapers entwined with greenery. Ferns were grouped and on either side stood tall floor baskets of massive white chrysanthemums flanked with candelabra holding cathedral candles. The family pews were marked with white satin ribbons.

Before the ceremony a musical program was given. Mrs. H. Lester Kingman at the organ rendered Serenade (Schubert) and Because (de Hardelot) accompanied by Miss Elizabeth Moore on the violin. Ralph Beckham, as soloist, rendered "I Love Thee" (Grieg) and "O Perfect Love" (Gurney). During the ceremony "Liebestraum" was softly given. For the processional and recessional the traditional wedding marches were used.

The bridegroom had for his best man Angus Stewart of Woodward.

The usher-groomsmen were Tom Brice of Woodward, George Gage of Lancaster and J. Morris Lyles, Jr., of Winnsboro.

The bridesmaids were Miss Emmie Stewart of Woodward and Miss Emma Lou Williams of Springfield. Junior bridesmaids were nieces of the bride, Misses Jo Ann and Jane Douglas of York.

Miss Maude Douglas of Greenville was maid of honor. The bridesmaids wore taffeta dresses of Copenhagen. The junior bridesmaids wore identical dresses of shell pink. The maid of honor wore a dress of dusty rose. They carried arm bouquets of chrysanthemums and fern. In their hair they wore matching flowers.

Little Tommy Thomas, nephew of the bride, carried the ring on a white satin pillow. Little Lila Scott of Whitmire was the flower girl.

The bride entered with her brother, Dr. Charles Harrison Douglas of York, by whom she was given in marriage. She wore her mother's wedding dress, a lovely gown of white organza with sweetheart neckline trimmed with net frilling with satin bands. Tiny covered buttons extended down the back of the tucked waist. The very full skirt ended in frills which made the train. Her veil of bridal illusion was attached to a coronet of seed pearls and extended beyond the train. The bride's only ornament was a pin worn by her mother on her wedding day. She carried a showered bouquet of bride's roses centered with gardenias.

Mrs. Douglas, mother of the bride, wore a gown of black lace and a corsage of talisman roses.

Mrs. Stewart, mother of the bridegroom wore a dress of blue lace and a corsage of roses.

The ceremony was followed by a reception at the bride's home. Mr. and Mrs. T. N. Thomas greeted the guests at the door. Mrs. Sam Foster presented them to the receiving line, made up of the bridal party. Miss Maurice Brice and Mrs. Charles Harrison Douglas, Jr., received in the dining room. Block cream and white and green iced cakes were served by Misses Zelma Brice, Nelle Douglas, Tillie Brice and Bookey Smith of Columbia. On the bride's table was a lovely damask cloth. The three-tiered wedding cake was placed on a large reflector surrounded by bridal decorations. Also on the table were silver candlesticks holding white tapers.

In the hall coffee was served by Mrs. Herbert Vassey and Mrs. Boyd Brown. The bride's book was kept by Misses Marian Fellers and Bess Caldwell.

Mrs. Stewart is the youngest daughter of Mrs. Charles Harrison Douglas. She received her education at Winthrop College. For several years she taught successfully in the schools of South Carolina.

Lt. Stewart is the son of Mrs. John Calvin Stewart and the late Mr. Stewart of Woodward. He received his education at The Citadel and at present is at Fort Eustis, Virginia.

Later in the evening the couple left for their wedding trip. For traveling the bride wore a black dress trimmed with braid, topped with a fur coat and black accessories. She wore a small black hat, veil trimmed. The gardenias from her bouquet were used as her corsage.

Fairfield Man Married June 1

Miss Cushman Becomes the Bride of Harold Marion Douglas in Aiken

In a candlelight ceremony on Sunday afternoon, June 1, Barbara Nell Cushing became the bride of Francis Marion Douglas in Grace Presbyterian Church, Aiken. The Rev. Samuel G. Andreasen, pastor of the church, performed the ceremony before a background of emerald palms and candelabra entwined with southern smilax. A central arrangement of roses, chrysanthemums and carnations in shades of pink completed the setting.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, W. Gerald Cushing of Aiken, was lovely in an afternoon dress of ice blue silk organza over taffeta fashioned with draped folds at the neckline and a full, flared skirt with a dipped hemline. She wore mitts to match her dress and carried a showered bouquet of pink rosebuds and carnations. A veiled hat of pink petals over net and dyed-to-match pink pumps completed her attire.

Mrs. F. William Mauterer, Jr., of Columbia was the bride's only attendant. Her dress of pink nylon over taffeta was styled along lines similar to that of the bride. She wore short pink gloves, a white-flower bandeau on her hair and carried a showered bouquet of pale pink carnations.

The best man was Harold E. Douglas, father of the bridegroom, of Winnsboro. Serving as ushers were Thomas H. Self of Aiken and F. William Mauterer, Jr., of Columbia.

Prior to the ceremony a medley of wedding favorites was played by Mrs. Donald M. Law, organist, with Miss Tillie Senn, of Warrentonville, aunt of the bride, as soloist. Miss Senn sang "At Dawning" (Cadman) before the ceremony and "The Lord's Prayer" (Malotte) as a benediction. "O Perfect Love" (Barnby) was softly played during the ceremony, and the traditional wedding marches were used.

After the ceremony, a reception was held in the educational building of the church. The refreshment table was overlaid with an imported pink drawn-work linen cloth centered with a crystal punch bowl flanked by silver candlesticks holding pink candles. Arrangements of pink flowers and greenery were used elsewhere in the room. Assisting the bride's mother and the wedding party in receiving and entertaining were Mrs. W. Gerald Cushing, sister-in-law of the bride, of Aiken; Mrs. Raymond Long, Mrs. Harold E. Douglas, Jr., and Mrs. Leslie B. Douglas, all of Winnsboro; Mrs. Osborn H. Wells, Jr., Shelbyville, Tenn.; and Mrs. J. C. Herring, Birmingham.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Nell S. Cushing and the late Chesley B. Cushing of Steffletown. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Douglas of Winnsboro.

After a wedding trip to the mountains of North Carolina and Tennessee, the couple are now at home on the Edgefield Road.

Bell-Douglas

Miss Mildred Lynn Bell of Durham, N. C., and James Pryor Douglas of Avon were quietly married in Chester on July 13th. They are making their home for the present with Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Douglas.
