

Brenda Carolyn Starnes,

Clyburn -Douglas

Peay, sister of the groom, as her matron of honor. She wore an ensemble of lavender with white accessories.

Following a wedding trip, the couple is now at home in Winnsboro. Jesse is employed by Doty Motors.

Miss Angie Denise Douglas and Mr. Jeffery Craig Clyburn were united in marriage Friday, September 4, 1981 at 8 o'clock in the evening at Gordon United Memorial Methodist Church.

The Reverend Robert B. Campbell, pastor of the bride, performed the double ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white pleated organza over taffeta and a combination of imported French Alencon lace and chantilly lace. The fitted all-lace bodice featured a Queen Anne neckline and cap sleeves which were accented with tiny seed pearls and iridescents. Delicate lace quantlets covered her arms, forming a point over the hands. From the natural waistline fell the full pleated skirt which extended into a chapel length train, bordered with two small chantilly lace flounces. The bride wore a matching veil of silk bridal illusion which fell to waltz length from an all lace juliet cap.

The bride carried a bouquet of white rosebuds, miniature carnations and baby's breath. The bride wore a gold serpentine necklace, a gift from the groom.

Miss Lisa Carole Douglas, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a rose frost chiffon gown enhanced with white accessories. The couple will reside in Ridgeway.

Miss Douglas and Mr. Clyburn

Douglas-LeMaster

An event of statewide interest was the beautiful wedding in St. John's Episcopal Church, Winnsboro, last Wednesday afternoon at 4:30 when Miss Floride Peyre Douglas became the bride of John Nathan LeMaster, of Ridgeway and Columbia, the Rev. Frank Allen, rector of St. John's officiating.

The little church was simply and effectively decorated and redolent with great branches of fragrant Breath of Spring, Chinese Magnolias, ferns, smilax and long leaf pine, the latter brought from Mt. Hope plantation for the occasion. On the altar were vases of white roses, white snapdragons and ferns, white candles in seven-branch candelabra lighted the chancel adding artistic loveliness.

Mrs. George Mend, organist, used "The Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin for the processional and Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" for the recessional.

The ushers were Moultrie Dwight Douglas, brother of the bride, and Blake Edmunds, of Columbia.

The matron of honor, Mrs. John C. Buchanan, of Winnsboro, sister of the bride, was her only attendant. Mrs. Buchanan wore a dress of pink chiffon with shirred bodice, bouffant skirt and fuschia sash. She also wore a small fuschia hat of tulle with harmonizing accessories and carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses.

The groom attended by his best men, William Otis, of Columbia, came from the vestry room and awaited the bride, who entered with her father, W. Davis Douglas. Her slender loveliness was enhanced by the wedding gown of ivory satin fashioned with a yoke of lace, short puffed sleeves and a court train of rose point lace, her bridal veil of illusion was attached to a Juliet cap of rose point—wreathed at the back with orange blossoms. She carried an arm bouquet of exquisite calla lilies and ferns.

Immediately after the ceremony, the parents of the bride gave an informal reception at their home.
