

Miss Holsonback Becomes Bride of Mr. Graham in Christmas Ceremony

MRS. JOSEPH OSBORNE GRAHAM, JR.

The marriage of Miss Mildred Louise (Boots) Holsonback, daughter of Mrs. Callie Holsonback of Winnsboro and the late Arthur Duane Holsonback, and Joseph Osborne Graham, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Osborne Graham of Baltimore, Md., was solemnized at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. James Millard Smith, and Mr. Smith, in Forest Hills. The wedding took place at six o'clock Christmas Day with the Rev. Arthur M. Martin, pastor of Zion Presbyterian Church, officiating.

The bride was given in marriage by her mother, Mrs. Holsonback, who was gowned in black shadow crepe, with a white carnation corsage.

Mrs. Millard Smith, sister of the bride, was the matron of honor. She wore an ankle-length dress of Kelly green taffeta with a nylon overskirt and Kelly green pumps with a gold trim. Her flowers were yellow rolled gladioli.

The bride was gowned in white satin fashioned with double folds giving an off-the-shoulder effect, fitted bodice with a row of tiny covered buttons down the back and fitted pointed sleeves. The full gathered skirt ended in a train, with an overlapping train of imported lace falling from her crown of seed pearls. Her only ornament was a choker of pearls, and she carried a heart-shaped bouquet of American Beauty roses.

The candles were lighted by S.Sgt. William D. Lohan of Brooklyn, N. Y. and the United States Marine Corps, and Sgt. Carl Anderson of Kansas City, Kansas, also of the United States Marine Corps. James Millard Smith, brother-in-law of the bride, was the best man.

Prior to the ceremony Mrs. Caroline Weed Jacobs rendered a program of nuptial music, playing "Because," "I Love You Truly" and "Indian Love Call." The traditional wedding marches were used.

Immediately following the ceremony the bride wore a two-piece suit of light blue wool with matching hat with which she wore black accessories, and a corsage of American Beauty roses.
