Miss Watson, Mr. McCants Are Wed
Friday in Pretty Church Ceremony

In a ceremony characterized by charm and dignity, Miss Doris Faye Watson of Winnsboro and Columbia became the bride of James Glenn McCants, also of Winnsboro, on Friday evening, March 7, at seven-thirty o'clock, in the First Baptist church with the pastor, the Rev. Ollin J. Owens, officiating, using the double ring service.

The white background was banked with southern pine interspersed with traceries of smilax and asparagus fern, and white gladioli in a tall floor basket and white candles in seven-branched candelabra were used in decoration. The family pews were marked with white gladioli and white satin ribbons.

Mrs. W. P. Bennett, organist, of Winnsboro, and Miss Jane Ingram, soprano, of Hartsville, cousin of the bride, furnished the wedding music. Mrs. Bennett presented a nuptial program before the ceremony, and used the traditional wedding marches for the processional and the recessional. Miss Ingram sang "Sweet Mystery of Life," "Sweetest Story Ever Told," "At Dawning," and "The Lord's Prayer" as the benediction.

Usher-groomsmen were Charles Ingram, cousin of the bride, of Columbia, and John Heustess of Winnsboro and Clemson College.

Miss Helen McCants of Winnsboro and the University of South Carolina, Columbia, sister of the bridegroom, was the maid of honor. She wore a strapless gown of aqua net over taffeta, featuring a very full gathered skirt, fitted bodice with net ruffles around the neck, and used a matching stole. Her ornaments were matching pin and earbobs, gifts of the bride, and her fan-shaped bouquet was of mixed spring blossoms tied with wide orchid-pink satin ribbons.

Misses Joanne and Jeanette Watson, identical twin sisters of the bride, were the bridesmaids. Their dresses were of orchid-pink net over taffeta, made similar to that of the honor attendant, and their flowers were also similar but tied with aqua satin ribbons, and they wore matching pins and earrings, gifts of the bride.

The bride entered the church with her uncle, Hardy L. Bailey, of Winnsboro, by whom she was given in marriage. She was lovely in her wedding gown of Venetian lace over satin, made with fitted bodice, buttoned down the

McDANIEL—HEYWARD.
Of interest to friends here is the announcement of the marriage of Miss Mary Ethelyn McDaniel and Thomas Savage Heyward by the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. McDaniel, of Leeds. The young couple were married August 8 in Columbia.

The bride is the attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. McDaniel of Leeds but for the past three years she has made her home here. The bridegroom is the son of R. C. Heyward of Rock Hill. At present the couple will make their home in Denmark where Mr. Heyward holds a position with the state highway department.

McCrackan-Shull

A wedding, lovely in its simplicity and dignity, was that of Miss Nina Mae McCrackan and Lieut. Edwin L. Shull, which took place at eight o'clock Friday evening in the First Baptist church in Winnsboro, in the presence of a large assemblage of relatives and friends. The Rev. H. Floyd Surles, pastor of the church officiated, using the ring ceremony.

Smilax, ferns, white chrysanthemums and many lighted candles in candelabra, effectively decorated the church for the occasion.

Mrs. L. C. Brabham, pianist, assisted by a vested choir, furnished the wedding music. Before the ceremony, Mrs. Brabham played "To a Wild Rose," (McDowell); "My Wonderful One" (Whiteman) and "Traumerei" (Schumann). The choir rendered "O Perfect Love." Mrs. George Crawford, soloist, sang "Calm As The Night," (Bohm) and Mr. Herbert S. Sinclair sang "The Sweetest Story Ever Told." The "Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin was used as the processional and "Wedding March" from Mendelssohn's "Midsummer Night's Dream," as the recessional. Liebestraum (Liszt) was played softly during the ceremony.

After the ceremony and prayer, the choir sang softly as a benediction "The Lord's Prayer," while the usher-groomsmen formed an arch of sabers for the bridal party to pass through as they were leaving the church.

The usher groomsmen were Lieut. L. A. Hobbs, Lieut. Jack Hutchinson, Lieut. George Hagood and Lieut. T. D. Christopher, all of the United States army.

Misses Margaret Pope and Ella Rae Boulware, of Winnsboro, Edith Beard of Langley and Rosalie Shull of West Columbia, sister of the bridegroom, were the bride's maids.

They were gowned alike in ice blue moire taffeta, fashioned princess style, with sweetheart necklines and carried arm bouquets of deep rose chrysanthemums, tied with matching ribbons.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Edgar Johnson, of Edgefield, wore American Beauty moire taffeta, made similar to the bridesmaids' dresses and carried light pink chrysanthemums.

Miss Mary Lee McCrackan, of Richmond, Va., was her cousin's maid of honor. She wore Dusty Rose Marie taffeta and carried deep rose chrysanthemums.

The flower girls were Betty Sue Brabham, who wore a dress of pink taffeta, fashioned similar to the other dresses, and carried a bouquet of pink button chrysanthemums tied with matching ribbons; and Juanita Swindler, dressed in white taffeta, who scattered rose petals in the path of the bride.

The bride was given in marriage by her mother, Mrs. L. B. McCrackan. Her blond loveliness was enhanced by her wedding gown of ivory satin, charming in its simplicity, fashioned along princess lines. The basque bodice molded the body, ending in points back and front, over a full skirt, with long train. The long fitted sleeves pointed over the wrists, and the flattering sweetheart neckline was adorned with seed pearls. The veil of bridal illusion was banded with a wreath of orange blossoms, and her flowers were a showered bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley.

Captain A. H. Carter, United States army, was the bridegroom's best man.

Mrs. McCrackan, mother of the bride, wore a gown of blue crepe and a shoulder corsage of Talisman roses. Mrs. Shull, mother of the bridegroom, was also gowned in blue, with a corsage of pink rosebuds.

Immediately after the ceremony an informal reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, for the bridal party and the members of the two families.

During the evening, the bride and bridegroom left for a wedding trip of unannounced destination, and after December 2nd, they will be at home to their friends in Winnsboro.

For traveling, the bride wore an olive green suit, with brown accessories. Mrs. Shull is the only daughter of Mrs. Lewellyn B. McCrackan and the late Mr. McCrackan. She received her education at Mount Zion institute and graduated from a Columbia business college.

Lieut. Shull is the son of Mrs. Edward W. Shull and the late Mr. Shull, of West Columbia. He graduated from the University of South Carolina where he received his B. S. and C. E. degrees. He has been connected with the Soil Erosion service for several years, but at present is stationed with the United States army at Fort Jackson.

Miss Laura Faye McCants became the bride of Paul Conway Carter III, on February 26. Vows were exchanged in the Shelby Presbyterian Church, Shelby, N.C., at four o'clock in the afternoon. The Reverend James Holderness officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Glenn McCants of Shelby. Her grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. L.A.W. McCants of Winnsboro.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Conway Carter, Jr. of Shelby.

Armfield-McCormick

Of cordial interest throughout the Carolinas is the announcement by Mrs. Dion Griffith Armfield of New York City of the marriage of her only daughter, Dion Griffith, and Sam Charles McCormick, which was solemnized in that city in "The Little Church Around the Corner" on Saturday, June 28, at high noon. The Reverend D. W. Hathaway of the Presbyterian church, using the beautiful ring ceremony, officiated and the vows were spoken in the presence of the immediate families and close friends of the couple.

Following the ceremony a lovely reception was held in the private dining room of Hotel George Washington.

Mrs. McCormick, a young woman of great charm and attraction, is originally from Greensboro, North Carolina, where her family is an old and prominent one. She, however, has lived in New York for several years. Her mother before marriage was Miss Dion Griffith of Lexington, North Carolina.

The bride was graduated from Salem Academy and Salem College of Winston-Salem, North Carolina, and was a member of the Alpha Delta Pi sorority.

Mr. McCormick is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam McCormick of Great Falls. He was born in Columbia, South Carolina, but at an early age moved with his parents to Palatka, Florida.

The bridegroom is a graduate of the Palatka High school of Palatka, Florida, and of the University of Florida, at Gainesville, Florida. While there he was a member of the Pi Kappa Phi social fraternity.

Mr. McCormick is connected with the general office of the Union Bag and Paper company of New York City as an accountant.

Mr. and Mrs. McCormick are now on a wedding trip South, after which they will be at home at 137th East 28th St., New York City.
