Turner-Smith

"The Cedars," the beautiful ancestral Turner home, was the scene of a lovely wedding Sunday, June 30, at high noon, when Miss Annelle Turner became the bride of Charles Wilson Smith.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Charles Harris, pastor of the bride.

Forming a beautiful background for the wedding party were Southern pines and ivy-twined floor baskets of white gladioli and Queen Anne's lace. Tall floor candelabra held white tapers which were lighted by Carroll Turner, brother of the bride.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. O. C. Scarborough, pianist, Miss Elizabeth Scarborough and Dozier Jordan, soloists, rendered a program of nuptial music.

The bride's only attendant was her sister, Miss Edna Turner, who was maid of honor. The bridegroom had as his best man, Henry Stultz of Winston-Salem, N. C.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, W. K. Turner. She wore a becoming dress of navy sheer with navy and white accessories, her hat being a French model. Her shoulder bouquet was of white orchids and lilies of the valley.

Following the ceremony a delicious luncheon was served to the guests.

The bride is the daughter of William Kennedy Turner and the late Jeannette Carroll Turner of Winnsboro. She attended Mount Zion institute of Winnsboro and Erskine college at Due West. For the past several years she has taught in the Fort Mill schools.

Mr. Smith is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wharton Smith of Asheville, N. C. He received his education at Lincolnton high school and Cecil's Business college. He is connected with John Carroll's Specialty Shop of Asheville.

After a wedding trip to New York and the World's fair, Mr. and Mrs. Smith will be at home in Asheville, N. C.

Turner-Foley

Characterized by charm and simplicity, the marriage of Miss Mary Turner of Winnsboro and New York City and Thomas Martin Foley of New York was solemnized at ten o'clock Thursday morning, May first, in St. Peter's Catholic Church in Columbia with Monseigneur Murphy officiating. Only the members of the two families and a few intimate friends were present for the ceremony.

The "Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin (Wagner) was used for the processional, and during the ceremony "Tramuerel" (Schumann) and "Ave Maria" (Schubert) were softly played. During the Nuptial Mass appropriate hymns were sung by the Ursuline School Choir. Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" was used for the recessional.

Miss Isabel Turner of Winnsboro was the maid of honor. She was dressed in a flame-colored wool suit with which she wore black accessories and a shoulder corsage of white rosebuds.

The bridegroom was attended by his brother Frank Foley of New York City as his best man.

The petite blonde bride entered with her father, J. Andrew Turner. She was gowned in a white faille suit, made with long sleeves and a neplun, and wore a white sate half-hat with tiny white rosebuds on it and a pale green illusion veil. She carried a prayerbook which was showered with white rosebuds and lilies of the valley, the gift of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Turner, mother of the bride, wore a dress of blue crepe and a corsage of pink rosebuds. Mrs. R. Y. Turner, the bride's grandmother, was gowned in a black dress and her corsage was of white rosebuds.

Mrs. Foley is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Andrew Turner of Winnsboro. She is a graduate of Mount Zion Institute and attended the University of South Carolina. For the past eighteen months she has been Flight Stewardess with Eastern Airlines out of New York. After their wedding trip,

Turner-Sweatman

A wedding characterized by unusual beauty and impressive solemnity was performed Thursday evening at 8 o'clock at the Lebanon Presbyterian church before a large assemblage of relatives, friends and out-of-town visitors, when Miss Ruby Lee Turner became the bride of Dr. Carl Alden Sweatman of Columbia.

The Rev. Charles Harris, the pastor, performed the ring ceremony. The nuptial music was rendered by Mrs. J. M. Lemmon, pianist, and Miss Olive Kirby and Dozier Jordan, vocalists.

A towering background of Southern pines, smilax, ferns and other greenery, interspersed with innumerable cathedral tapers in an arch and branched candelabra, and tall baskets of white gladioli and Queen Anne's lace formed a lovely setting for the wedding. The pews for special guests were marked by bows of white tulle and streamers of white satin ribbon.

Before the marriage service Mrs. Lemmon played "Traumerel" (Schubert). Miss Kirby sang "I Love You Truly." Following this Mr. Jordan sang "O Promise Me." Miss Kirby and Mr. Jordan sang a duet arrangement of "At Dawning." Mrs. Lemmon played "Venetian Love Song," while the candles were being lighted. "Bridal Chorus" from "Lohengrin" was used for the processional and Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" from "Midsummer Night's Dream" for the recessional. "To a Wild Rose" was played softly during the ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, William Kennedy Turner. The bridegroom was accompanied by his brother, E. W. Sweatman of Columbia, as best man.

Miss Annelle Turner, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and Mrs. Frazier Blair of Hendersonville, N. C., also the bride's sister, served as matron of honor. Their dresses were of mist pink net with shirred bodices, square necklines, and trimmed with net ruffles on the sleeves and waist. As headdress, they wore a band of pink rosebuds. They carried shower bouquets of pink roses and blue delphinium.

The bridesmaids were Misses Edna and Frances Turner, sisters of the bride, Miss Martha Marion Carroll, cousin of the bride, all of Winnsboro; Miss Rebecca McComb of Abbeville, Miss Eva Dominick of Clinton and Miss Sara Sweatman of Columbia, sister of the bridegroom. They also wore dresses of mist pink net with square necklines and shirred bodices and their head band was of pink rosebuds. They carried bouquets of deep pink gladioli and blue delphinium.

Little Merrill Jennings and little Turnice Pope, cousins of the bride, were flower girls and wore dresses of mist pink to match those of the other attendants.

The groomsmen were Dr. Bill Fox, Dr. Erby George, Dr. William Hall, Gene Fulmer and Joe Wyman, all of Columbia, and Dr. Arthur Welling of Newberry.

The ushers were: Tom Plaxico of Clinton, Frazier Blair of Hendersonville, N. C., Walter Burkett of Hopkins and Lewis Pope of Winnsboro.

A white Duchess satin wedding gown was worn by the bride. It was fashioned with tight bodice and sleeves that ended in a point at the wrist. The collar, yoke, and train were of lace. Her misty veil of white illusion was worn with a coronet edged with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley.

Turner-Felder Nuptials

Of much interest throughout the Carolinas was the wedding of Miss Willie Frances Turner and Lieutenant Candler H. Felder, which took place at 7:30 Saturday evening, December 5th, in the Lebanon Presbyterian church of Winnsboro, S. C. The Rev. B. W. Wilkerson, pastor, officiated. 1942

The church was beautifully decorated with Southern smilax, ferns, white gladioli, daisy chrysanthemums and white lighted candles in candelabra. A program of nuptial music was furnished before the ceremony by Mrs. W. Thomas Sprott, Miss Anne Thompson of Liberty Hill sang "Ich Liebe Dich" (Grieg) and "I Love You Truly" (Bond). "The Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin was used for the processional and Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" for the recessional. During the ceremony "To a Wild Rose" (MacDowell) was given softly.

The ushers were Charles W. Smith of Asheville, N. C., and Frazier T. Blair of Hendersonville, N. C., brothers-in-law of the bride, Carroll Turner, Jr., and Hayes Pope, Jr., of Winnsboro, nephews of the bride, Pete Marshall of Walterboro, brother-in-law of the groom and Max Stringer of Columbia.

Dr. Duncan Felder of Clinton, S. C., was his brother's best man.

The bride had for her maid of honor her sister, Miss Edna Turner. She wore a dress of champagne satin with a sweetheart neckline, and bouffant skirt. She carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses tied with floor length red satin ribbon.

The bridesmaids were Mrs. William Stringfellow of Chester, Misses Etta Clarke and Nelle Coleman of Columbia, and Anna Lola Stevenson. Their dresses were of Nile green satin fashioned after that of the maid of honor and they carried bouquets of poinsettias tied with full length satin ribbon.

The two little flower girls were Jeannette Blair of Hendersonville, niece of the bride, and Anne Martin of Columbia. Their dresses were identical of those worn by the bridesmaids and they carried nosegays of red rose buds.

Master Edward Kennedy of Chester carried the ring on the groom's cap.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, William Kennedy Turner, was lovely in her wedding gown of white silk faille with flattering long leg-mutton sleeves. The waist line was fitted and fullness at the sides of the skirt extended into a lengthy train at the back. Her veil of bridal illusion was edged with Queen Anne's lace. The bride carried a showered bouquet of bride's roses and swansonia. Her only ornament was a string of pearls, gift of the groom.

Mrs. Turner was becomingly attired in electric blue satin and wore a corsage of Talisman roses.

Mrs. Felder's dress was of japonica velvet and she wore a corsage of American Beauty roses.

Immediately after the ceremony a reception for the wedding guests was held at the Fairfield Inn. Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Smith of Asheville greeted the guests at the door. In the receiving line were Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Turner, the bride and bridegroom, Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Felder, Mrs. William Stringfellow, Misses Etta Clarke, Nelle Coleman and Lola Stevenson. The guests were invited into the dining room by Mrs. John Crawford and Mrs. Frazier Blair and refreshments were served by Misses Mary Edith Turner, Mattie McGill, Isabelle Turner, Dot and Virginia Cothran and Mrs. Vincent Wyman.

During the evening the bride and bridegroom left for their wedding trip. For traveling Mrs. Felder wore a wool suit of straw beige with brown accessories.

After their wedding trip the couple will be at home at Sebring, Fla., where Lieutenant Felder is stationed at Hendricks Field. Ashby College, Wilson, N.C.
