

Plowden-Wylie

In a beautiful and impressive ceremony in the Protestant Episcopal Church of Prince George, Winyah, in Georgetown, on Saturday afternoon, July 9, Miss Charlotte Daggett Plowden became the bride of Mr. David Campbell Wylie, Jr., of Winnsboro and Chester. The Reverend Henry DeSaussure Bull, rector, officiated before a large assembly of relatives and friends at five-thirty o'clock.

Palms, Southern smilax, and white gladioli were used in decoration. Floor candelabra held lighted cathedral candles. Tall baskets had arrangements of gladioli. The family pews were marked with nosegays of white tulle and ivy, showered with satin ribbons and ivy leaves.

Mrs. Harry Schooler at the console of the organ played "To a Wild Rose," "Claire de Lune," "Berceuse" and "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice." Miss Rosalyn Fogel sang two selections, "Could My Songs Their Flight Be Winged" and "O Perfect Love." "Bridal Chorus" from "Lohengrin" (Wagner) was used as the processional and "Wedding March" from "Midsummer Night's Dream" (Mendelssohn) as the recessional.

Serving as usher-groomsmen were Young G. Lewis, Jr., of Chester, Lawrence Scott of Columbia, cousin of the bridegroom, George R. Lauderdale, Jr., of Winnsboro, and Ernest Ferguson of Winnsboro. Mr. Wylie had as his best man his brother, Amos Wylie of Winnsboro.

Miss Harriet Plowden was her sister's maid of honor. She wore a frock of Nile green marquisette over taffeta, with hoop skirts. A fold of material and ruffle of green around the yoke of the fitted bodice gave a drop-shoulder effect. Her picture hat of green horsehair braid had an open crown circled with tulle and sprays of forget-me-nots. She carried a nosegay of yellow carnations tied with yellow ribbons.

The bridesmaids, Miss Ina McCatha of Denmark and Miss Sarah Crawford wore gossamer and hats identically like those of the honor attendant and carried nosegays of pink carnations, tied with pink ribbons. All the attendants wore green tulle mitts and single strands of pearls.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Edwin Ruthven Plowden. She was lovely in her wedding gown of white marquisette with satin foundation and hoop skirt. The pointed basque bodice had long sleeves and was fastened with self-covered buttons. The yoke ended in a bertha of marquisette and Chantilly lace, embroidered with seed pearls. The full skirt had a bustle effect and ended in a long train. A tiara of pearls held the veil of bridal illusion, edged with Chantilly lace. She wore a necklace of pearls. Her bouquet was fashioned of bride's roses and lilies of the valley, centered with a purple throated orchid, and showered with lilies.

Winnsboro, sister of the bridegroom, pinned on the favors.

Mr. and Mrs. Wylie left on a wedding trip. Mrs. Wylie traveled in a two piece dress of gray silk pongee with gray lizard accessories. She wore a white flower-trimmed hat and the orchid from her bouquet.

Mrs. Wylie, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Ruthven Plowden of Georgetown, is a graduate of Winyah high school and Winthrop college. While at Winthrop she served as president of Winthrop Literary Society and the secondary Education Club. She was also a class senator and a member of Kappa Delta Pi. She has taught in Winnsboro at Mt. Zion Institute and in the Mullins schools.

Mr. Wylie graduated from Mt. Zion Institute and from Clemson College in 1947. He served with the 99th Infantry Division during the war. He is now the assistant county agent in Chester county. They will make their home in Chester.

Wylie-Tyler

In a ceremony characterized by charm and simplicity, Miss Margaret Livian Wylie became the bride of Jack Stevenson Tyler of Florence at eight-thirty o'clock, Thursday evening, June 19, at Sion Presbyterian church in Winnsboro. The Rev. Arthur M. Martin, pastor of the bride, performed the ceremony, assisted by Dr. James E. Cousar of Florence, pastor of the bridegroom.

The church was effectively decorated with tall floor baskets of Admiral Byrd daisies against a background of palms, southern smilax and white cathedral candles in seven-branched candelabra.

Mrs. George McMaster Ketchin, organist, Miss Ann Norwood of Myrtle Beach and R. T. Haynes, Jr., of Davidson, N. C., vocalists, furnished the wedding music. Prior to the ceremony, Mrs. Ketchin rendered a number of nuptial selections. Mr. Haynes sang "Because" (deHarlot) and Miss Norwood "I Love Thee" (Grieg). "Bridal Chorus" from "Lohengrin" (Wagner) was used for the processional, and "Wedding March" from "Midsummer Night's Dream" (Mendelssohn) for the recessional. During the ceremony "O Perfect Love" (Burlingame) was softly played, and at the close of the service, Miss Norwood sang "The Lord's Prayer" (Malotte).

The candles were lighted by Daniel W. Tyler of Florence and William O. Sellers of Clayton, Alabama. Usher-groomsmen were Walter D. Tyler, Jr., and D. W. Tyler, brothers of the bridegroom, Major Joseph A. Foss, Rev. James B. Tubbs, all of Florence, W. O. Sellers of Clayton, Ala., and Herbert S. Meng of Winnsboro.

The bridegroom had as his best man, his father, W. D. Tyler, Sr.

Bridesmaids were Misses Margaret Jager and Lillian Wylie of Charleston, Susan Doty and Sarah Frances Wylie of Winnsboro, Mary Agnes Wylie of Darlington and Turner Goudelock of Hartsville. They wore pale yellow dresses of featherweight moire, fashioned with heart-shaped necklines, cap sleeves, tight-fitting bodices and full skirts which were caught at the back with double bustles giving them a train effect. With the dresses, they used long matching mitts, and the bouquets were of giant Shasta daisies tied with green ribbons, and wore matching flowers in their hair.

Mrs. Herbert S. Meng, matron of honor, and Miss Nelle Wylie, maid of honor, sisters of the bride, were gowned in green dresses and mitts made like those of the bridesmaids, and their bouquets were tied with yellow ribbons, and they also wore matching flowers in their hair.

A reception was held at the Presbyterian manse. During the evening the bridal couple left for a wedding trip to Florida. For traveling the bride wore a two piece suit of white tropical worsted, aqua flowered hat and matching bag, and an orchid corsage.

Mrs. Tyler, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hilliard Gibson Wylie, is a graduate of Mount Zion institute and Winthrop college, where she was a physical education major, and has taught two years as a physical education director, first in Danville, Va., and the past year in Florence. Mr. Tyler is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter D. Tyler of Florence. He attended the Citadel and the Presbyterian college of Clinton. Since his discharge from the armed forces, he has been in business with his father in Florence, where the couple will make their home.

Wylie-Arnette

A wedding of much interest throughout the state was solemnized Thursday afternoon, November sixth, at four-thirty o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Ellison Wylie, when their only daughter, Sarah Francis, became the bride of Edward Mobley Arnette, son of Mrs. Robert E. Arnette and the late Mr. Arnette of Winnsboro.

The ceremony was witnessed by the immediate families and close friends of the bride and bridegroom, and was performed by the Rev. Arthur M. Martin, pastor of Sion Presbyterian church.

The ceremony room was simply but beautifully decorated, having an improvised altar with a background of palms and magnolia branches, encircled by tall candelabra with lighted candles, and tall baskets of white chrysanthemums, in the alcove where the vows were spoken.

A prenuptial program of wedding music was rendered by Mrs. John Creight Leavell, pianist, while the guests assembled.

At the first strains of Lohengrin's Bridal Chorus, the bridegroom entered with his best man, his brother, Davis Arnette.

The bride came in with her father, by whom she was given in marriage. She was attired in a suit of moss green gaberdine, featured with a fullness at the shoulders, and fitted at the wrists, with a tucked-front Gibson style blouse of egg-hell color. Her shoes and bag were of alligator, and with this ensemble she wore a brown hat trimmed with blended feathers, and a brown orchid.

Mrs. Wylie, mother of the bride, was dressed in a navy triple faille crepe and wore a corsage of Killarney rosebuds tied with blended talisman ribbons.

Mrs. Arnette, mother of the bridegroom, wore a dress of black crepe, aqua accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Immediately after the ceremony, a large reception was held in the home. Guests were greeted at the front door by Miss Ida L. Wylie and Mrs. Sue Hall Davis, and presented to the receiving line by Mrs. Lillie Edrington and Miss Belle Crawford.

In the receiving line with the bridal couple were Mr. and Mrs. Wylie, Mrs. Arnette, Davis Arnette, Mrs. Mamie Hall, Mrs. Jack W. Jenkins and Mrs. Ed Vereen.

Mrs. Lindsay Wylie and Mrs. Pressley Crawford showed the guests into the dining room. Here a color motif of green and white was carried out in the decorations, table appointments and refreshments. A madeira linen cloth bordered with Irish lace covered the table which was centered with an artistic arrangement of white chrysanthemums in a silver bowl, flanked by silver candlesticks holding lighted tapers.

Assisting in the dining room were Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Brice, Mrs. Samuel Lindsay, Mrs. E. L. Jager. Pouring coffee were Mrs. M. M. Stewart, Mrs. Maxcie Turand Mrs. A. E. Jeter and Sammy, Mrs. Julian McIlwain and Joan, Miss Belle Crawford, Mrs. Annie Mae Raul, all of Columbia; Dr. C. W. Bloodworth, Mrs. Jack Jenkins, of Macon, Ga.; Mrs. John C. Stewart, Mrs. A. W. Brice of Woodward; Mrs. E. L. Jager, Miss Margaret Jager of Charleston; Mr. and Mrs. K. H. Patrick of White Oak; Mrs. Joseph Sprott of Lynchburg; D. G. Carter of

New York; Mrs. L. D. Wilson, Jr., of Hogansville, Ga.; Mrs. M. V. Wells and Jane of Greensboro; Dr. and Mrs. T. P. Crawford of Manning; Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Crawford and Ernest Crawford, Jr., of Strother; Mrs. W. S. Douglas and Wylie Douglas of Blackstock.

YATES-CHALMERS

The marriage of Miss Mary Elizabeth Anne Yates and Lieut. Rives Coleman Chalmers, Medical Corps, USNR, was solemnized on Tuesday evening, May second, at eight-thirty o'clock, in the First Methodist Church in Winnsboro. Rev. H. Lester Kingman, pastor of the bride, officiated and the ring ceremony was used.

The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion. Effective formal arrangements of Southern smilax was used for the back ground, while floor baskets of white gladioli and potted hydrangeas adorned chancel and pulpit. White candles burned in cathedral floor candelabra.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Eugene W. Yates. Her dainty brunette beauty was enhanced by her exquisite bridal costume. She wore a white satin wedding gown made with lace yoke, long sleeves, full skirt with panel and sweeping train. Her veil was of illusion, bordered with Chantilly lace. She carried a white Bible, topped with a white orchid, and showered with white ribbons.

Attending Miss Yates as bridesmaids were Misses Lil Boulware, Laura Glenn McCants and Isabel McCants, all of Winnsboro, and Mrs. Robert F. Black of Clinton. They wore light blue costumes with bodices of jersey, and bouffant skirts of marquisette, and carried old-fashioned nosegays of mixed flowers.

Mrs. John J. Barnhardt, Jr., of Walterboro was matron of honor. Her dusty pink gown was patterned like the maids' and she carried a similar nosegay.

Lieut. Chalmers was attended by Lieut. L. W. Farinholt, Lieut. G. J. Longley, and Lieut. G. G. Linn, all of the Newberry College Naval Training Unit, V-12, and Mr. Hamish Turner of Spartanburg, usher-groomsmen, and by Dr. H. P. Deyerle, of Charleston, as best man. Master Laughlin McDonald, young son of Mr. and Mrs. T. K. McDonald, attired in a boy's white naval suit, carried the wedding ring on a white satin pillow.

Nuptial music consisted of three vocal solos by Miss Barbara Caughman, contralto, of Newberry. They were: "Because" (D'Harlot); "I Love Thee" (Grieg); and "O Perfect Love" (Barnby). Mrs. W. Thomas Sprott, organist, played a program preceding the ceremony, including "Andante Cantabile" from 2nd movement of the 5th Symphony by Tchaikowsky "Prayer" from "Hansel and Gretel" by Humperdinck, and "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice" from "Samson and Delilah" by Saint Saens.

Mrs. Chalmers is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Wilson Yates of Winnsboro. By her personal charm and gracious personality she has endeared herself to hosts of friends here, and in Spartanburg where she was graduated from Converse College in 1942, and in Newberry, where she has been Assistant Registrar at Newberry College for the past six months. At Converse she participated in many extra curricula activities, was an honor graduate, and member of Senior Order. She was crowned May Queen there in 1942.

Lieut. Chalmers of Phenix, Va., is the son of Dr. and Mrs. H. C. Chalmers. He was graduated in medicine at the University of Virginia, where he was a member of the Phi Beta Pi Medical fraternity. He joined the U. S. Naval Reserve in 1941, and has served on a destroyer in the Pacific for the past year. On the fifteenth of May he will report for duty at Bethesda, Md., where he will take a post-graduate course.

Young-Jackson

Miss Nina Kincaid Young of Westville became the bride of Chesley Carlyle Jackson of Camden at 8 p. m., Sept. 24, in the First Methodist church of Kershaw. The Rev. W. F. Baker, pastor of the bride, officiated, using the double ring ceremony.

The church was effectively decorated with palms, ferns, tube roses and white gladioli. Candelabra, holding cathedral candles, were placed so as to give prominence to a central arch upon which rested a beautiful floral arrangement.

The bridesmaids were Mrs. L. L. Wilson of Bishopville; Mrs. W. L. Jackson of Camden; Mrs. Earl Shannon of Pawtucket, R. I.; and Miss Marjorie Workman of Westville. They wore identical dresses of peacock taffeta with sweetheart neckline and matching mitts. Their bouquets were of yellow chrysanthemums.

Miss Harriet Edwards of Marion, was maid of honor. She wore a dress of heather rose taffeta fashioned like those of the bridesmaids and matching mitts. She carried a bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums also.

Little Edith Shealy of Winnsboro, was the lovely little flower girl. The ring bearer was Gale Jackson of Charleston.

Ushers were Claude Jackson of Charleston; W. L. Jackson of Camden; L. S. Mayer of Camden; and T. P. Castles of Great Falls. Joe Jackson of Camden, was his brother's best man.

The bride entered with her father, who gave her in marriage. She was lovely in her wedding dress of ivory satin with tight fitted bodice, a drop shoulder creation with yoke of mousseline de soie. The long fitted sleeves ended in points. The gathered skirt formed a long train. Her veil of bridal illusion fell from a coronet of orange blossoms and formed a train. Her only ornament was a necklace of pearls, the gift of the bridegroom. Her bouquet was of gardenias centered with a purple throated orchid and showered with tube roses.

Immediately after the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents in Westville.

During the evening the couple left for a wedding trip to New York. For traveling the bride wore a brown gabardine suit with matching accessories. Her corsage was the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

Mrs. Jackson, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Young, is a graduate of Coker college. For the past three years she has taught in the high school at Winnsboro.

Mr. Jackson is the son of Mrs. W. L. Stokes, Sr., and the late William Leslie Jackson. He is a graduate of Clemson college and a veteran of World War II.

Mr. and Mrs. Jackson will reside in Camden where Mr. Jackson is in business with his brother in the Jackson nursery.
